MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all those people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Stock Law in Beat 6

Dear Editor—I want to say to the people in Beat 6 I hope they will study both sides of the stock law question and see if they don't think it will be a great injury to the county. We are getting along very well now in this county. I think when we get the stock law there will be more hard feelings between our neighbors than there ever have been heretofore. I don't see how a man that has a feeling for his neighbors can vote for stock law. We have good men in our county today that don't own a foot of land; what can they do with the stock law? It is high time we were putting on our studying cap and keep it on until the 15th day of January. Let everybody save the money that they are going to spend for whiskey and spend it on the stock law if necessary to do so. If we get it will have extra work to do; we will have to take our axe and go out every morning before we go to work and cut down black jack bushes for our cows to eat the leaves off of. So everybody go to the election on the 15th day of January and vote against it.

Yours truly,
JOHNNIE BILLINGSLEY.

IMPROVE and BEAUTIFY the COMPLEXION.

Stumps Hill.

We noticed in the last issue of the Banner that the cutting affray of Martin and Littlefield was at Stumps Hill, not Ocampo. However, we are glad to say that Jesse Littlefield is improving. This community is surprised that the man that did the shooting is still at large.

Miss Lucy House from Ensley is visiting her parents this week.

Payton and Stanley Burkhalter of Birmingham spent Christmas week with W. S. Alston, their uncle.

Three Hill brothers from Oxmoor are at C. L. Arledge's bird hunting this week.

Mr. Joe Burnett from Pineywoods was in our community Sunday, we think to see a young lady, but it rained.

Mr. Alonzo Arledge and family are visiting Sylacauga this week.

AN INSIDIOUS DANGER

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given, that at the next ensuing session of the Legislature of Alabama, a bill will be introduced to provide for the establishment of a Board of Revenue for Chilton county, Alabama, and to prescribe the powers and duties of said Board of Revenue.

W. W. RUTLAND.

Shady Grove.

Editor Banner—If you will allow me a small space in the columns of the Banner, I will say a few words. The health of this community is very good at present.

Christmas was very dull in this part of the country.

Mr Miller Evans accidently shot and instantly killed his little brother, Dec. 26, one mile north of Verbena. I will close with best wishes to the Banner and its many readers. NOBODY'S DARLING.

Sardis.

Dear Editor—Please allow me a small space in the dear old Banner. I am very glad to say that our Sunday school has revived and is progressing nicely. We all met last Sunday and elected some new teachers. I would like to ask that some more of the old folks attend our school as it makes we young folks feel backward in trying to go ahead by ourselves.

We are glad to say that the school will start at Mt. Nebo, Jan. 7; Prof. J. F. Bone is to be our teacher, who we trust will teach us a successful school. There is also talk of having a school at Vermont, which is needed very much, for there are 96 pupils in that district.

Little Miss Minnie Broadhead has gone to Birmingham to spend a week with relatives. We wish her a nice time.

Well, Xmas is over and all have had a good time.

Mrs. Belle Campbell and two charming daughters, Misses Ethel and Anna, are spending a week with the former's parents.

The young folks enjoyed a very nice play at Mr. L. B. Broadhead's Thursday night last; we hope for another one soon.

I am very sorry to say that Mrs. Lucy Hayes is on the sick list, but hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hayes are the happy parents of a fine girl.

This place is on a boom, there is saw mills in every direction.

Miss Cansadie Bone has visited this place recently.

With much love to the Banner and its readers, I will ring off and come again.

How to Avoid Appendicitis

Most victims of appendicitis are habitually constipated. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. Upchurch Drug co.

PIONEER PICTURES.

We are back to make our next and last pictures for 99c, $1.98. Prices go back to the old prices—$1.98 and $3.96—after we put in the next shipment at the low price. Never before have pictures been enlarged in 16x20 size at our prices, and we can't afford to continue to make them and get no more out of them. So if you have pictures you ever expect to have copied, it will be to your interest to take advantage of this last opportunity in getting them made cheap. We expect to call at every home in the county. So get your pictures ready. Look for us.

When ironing move the iron with the weave of the goods and iron until perfectly dry.

Sociologists will notice with grief the theory of Dr. Powers, of the Census Bureau, that pride and vanity are the cause of high prices.

Since you've got to go one way or another there's no law at all against taking the worry route out of life, advises the Atlanta Constitution.

A citizen named Adam Littlepage was recently running for office in West Virginia, and his political opponents had some fun with him by printing his name with a space after the first letter.

Those two Massachusetts chambermaids who have just fallen heir to a $7,000,000 estate will now have to see the servant girl question from its seamy side, declares the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

As we near a solution of the problem of sailing the air interest in the subject grows more intense and widespread, and the views and predictions of eminent experts are found more fascinating than any fiction.

The Government's search for valuable foodstuffs pays. Macaroni wheat, imported from Prussia at a cost of $10,000 annually, yields $10,000,000. Sorghum was brought from China in 1864 at a cost of $2000. The nation's source of income from that crop is $40,000,000 annually.

England was invaded by balloons from the Continent a few weeks ago, and now returns the compliment. Percival Spencer and one companion have succeeded in reaching the vicinity of Geneva from London, after a voyage lasting sixteen hours. When such results can be attained with self-propelled airships instead of by simple drifting in the atmospheric sea a new era in aeronautics will be opened.

The Chicago Record-Herald learns that an Eastern contractor who is accused of laying an asphalt pavement with a top crust only one inch thick, instead of three inches, as the contract provided for, explains the matter by saying it would be almost impossible to tear up a three-inch pavement. In view of the fact that asphalt pavements seem to be put down simply that they may be torn up, the contractor has clearly shown that he was endeavoring to be a public benefactor.

There is apparently an end of the great Russian revolution, which has failed from the want of any plans on the part of its leaders and from the apathy of a semi-barbarous and ignorant people. As a result of the failure of reaction, long processions of chained victims are on the march from Holy Russia to the steppes of Siberia amid the seeming indifference of the peasants, states the Philadelphia Record. Revolutions are not made by bomb-slinging and rapine, much less by resounding phrases about liberty and humanity. But the Russians have had a small concession to representative government in the Duma, and unless the Czar perjures himself there will be a new Duma. Untoward as are the existing conditions, it would be rash for the supporters of autocracy to predict that a new revolution will not arise.

POLICE FOIL ANARCHIST PLOT

Hundred Leaders of the Social Democrats Held For Conspiracy.

SECRETS ARE TOLD TRAITORS.

Association Had Plans to Corrupt Army and Overthrow Government by Its Own Fighting Force.

St. Petersburg—Acting on information furnished by a traitor, the police during the last few days captured more than a hundred leaders and members of the St. Petersburg military organization of the social democrats, who were conducting a propaganda in the army and navy. Among those taken into custody was the editor of a secretly published paper entitled the "Barracks," twenty-five soldiers and several women. The police who arrested many members of an important group of terroristic social revolutionists and captured, according to report a list of twenty-seven high officials who had been sentenced to death. Finally, it is asserted, that the police accidentally obtained information which frustrated a plot to blow up a number of persons at a conference which was to be held in the near future.

The recent arrest of the members of the military organization, which was responsible for the Sveaborg and Kronstadt outbreaks and the mutinies on board warships of the Batalic Squadron in August, have been reported from various places in the interior, notably Moscow.

The propaganda in the army and navy is now the chief work of the so-called majority faction of the social democrats which, after the civilian insurrections of last winter, had been crushed by military force, decided that the government could only be overthrown by subverting the army. The minority faction which is numerically stronger than the majority faction, has foresworn violence and has adopted resolutions in favor of purely political activity, as in Germany. The two factions now are virtually independent.

Spent by Railroads.

Birmingham, Ala.—Alabama railroads spent, inside the state, in 1906, $22,000,000 in round numbers. This sum was apportioned as follows:

A., B. & A.	$8,000,000
Illinois Central	7,000,000
Louisville & Nashville	3,000,000
Terminal Company	1,250,000
'Frisco	1,250,000
Southern	750,000
Central of Georgia	250,000
Seaboard	250,000
A. G. S.	500,000

The above figures include the construction of practically the entire Illinois Central line from Jasper to the western state line; the construction of of a large part of the line of the A., B. & A. from Birmingham to the eastern state line; the immense amount of tunneling and track improvements and the extensive yards built at Boyles besides the double tracking of many miles of its main lines by the L. & N. and work upon the splendid new depot fast being shaped up, and upon the remodeling of the L. & N. terminals, etc.

Trolley Wreck.

Cincinnati, O.—At least thirty persons were injured, one of whom has since died, in the wrecking of a runaway electric car on the Warsaw-avenue hill in this city. The motorman discovered at the top of the hill that he had lost control of the car and tried to use the emergency brake, but it failed and the car ran at an increasingly high speed for five blocks, jumping the track at what is known as the horseshoe curve.

The car struck a telegraph pole and turned turtle, the passengers being thrown in a heap in the mud beside the track or buried in the wreck of the car. Hiram Leister, a passenger, by operating the brake on the rear platform, probably prevented a much worse accident; as his action, taken at great personal risk, reduced the speed of the car materially before it left the track.

Adolphus Busch Improving.

St. Louis—The condition of Adolphus Busch, who has been suffering from a sudden attack of pneumonia, was reported as showing steady and rapid improvement.

Edward Approves Bryce Appointment.

London—The foreign office announces that King Edward has approved the appointment of James Bryce as ambassador to the United States.

Insurrection Gaining Strength.

Victoria, B. C.—The insurrection on the borders of the province of Kiangsi China, is gaining strength rapidly. Government troops sent here were defeated by the insurgents and additional forces have been dispatched from Wuchang. Foreigners menaced by the Emeute are still safe and have escaped to Chang Sha. The rebellion is antidynastic and has been plotted for ... t a year.

Anti-American Feeling Revived.

Hong Kong—Dispatches, received from Canton report, that more than 1,000 persons were present at a meeting held to discuss the American-Chinese exclusion act.

The following resolutions were adopted at the meeting:

First—To revive a boycott against American goods.

Second—That newspapers shall not advertise American manufacturers.

Third—To dissuade laborers from proceeding to Panama.

Fourth—To petition the viceroy asking the imperial government to negotiate with America for a modification of the exclusion act, and lastly, that these resolutions be placarded throughout the country.

Contract for Fifty-story Skyscraper.

New York—Announcement has been made of the awarding of the contract for the structural steel for the seven hundred foot tower which is to complete the block of buildings of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Out-topped in height by only one man-built structure in the world, the Eiffel tower and nine stories higher than the tallest office building ever planned, the Metropolitan tower, as a fifty story addition will be known, will cover the plot on which formerly stood the Parkhurst church at the southeast corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Sleeping Car Passengers Held Up.

Richmond, Va.—Near La Crosse, Va. on the Seaboard Air Line the passengers in the sleepers of train No. 81 out of Richmond, were held up and robbed of about $800 besides jewelry. The robbers, two in number, got on at Richmond, as passengers, and one remained in a day coach while the other went through the sleeper.

The Pullman conductor while attempting to arrest the man robbing his passengers, was shot through the arm by the robber. The man then pulled the emergency brake cord; stopped the train and with his confederate escaped to the woods.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts Expires.

London—Baroness Burdett-Coutts who has been ill at her residence since Christmas eve, is dead.

The death of Baroness Burdett-Coutts, occurring at the age of 92 years besides depriving the country of one of its greatest and most famous philanthropists, removes from London a unique personality and an interesting social figure. As a link with the almost forgotten past, her life beginning during the reign of Napoleon, she lived during the reigns of five British sovereigns. Inheriting an immense fortune, she so used it as to die beloved by the whole country.

Receivers Ousted.

Mobile, Ala.—The old management of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad company have secured control of the property again by ousting F. E. Dewey, and J. L. Dantzler appointed for the road December 26 on a petition filed by the Monell-Merrison-McLeod faction alleging fraud, and mismanagement.

The order ousting the receivers from control, was issued by Chancellor Smith of the chancery court here, who in his order, states that W. D. Stratton, Bird M. Robinson, A. McDonald, R. W. Jones, Jr., Charles Levy, E. O. Jackson, J. W. Whiting, W. H. McIntosh, Charles Willoughby, T. F. Whittelsey, Edmond K. Stalic and the Alabama Securities Company have applied for and obtained an appeal to the supreme court of Alabama returnable January 14, to suspend the order appointing receiver on December 26. The appeal bond is fixed at $100,000.

Receiver Dewery gave up control gracefully.

State of Health of the King.

Stockholm—The bulletin concerning the state of health of King Oscar says:

The King's temperature Saturday evening was 98.8. His Majesty slept well during the night. His appetite is good. The action of the heart is unchanged, and there is still some discharge of mucus from the windpipe."

To Spend Six Millions.

Mexico City—Sir Weetman Pearson has entered into a contract with the government for building a sewerage system in the city of Mazatland. The work will nesessitate the expenditure of a little more than $6,000,000 and must be completed within two years after the work has been commenced.

Engineer Killed in Seaboard Wreck.

Charlotte, N. C.—The Seaboard Air Line's fast mail northbound from Atlanta crashed into a string of loaded freight cars at Peachland, a flag station nineteen miles east of Monroe, partially wrecking the passenger train and killing Engineer S. E. Maxwell of Raleigh.

Maxwell was caught between the engine ond tender and slowly roasted to death. No one else was hurt.

Timber Depredations.

Washington—Secretary Hitchcock agreed to a compromise of $156,000 growing out of the alleged timber depredations. This compromise is the outcome of suits begun several years ago against companies in the northwest, charged with denuding the public lands of timber. This the largest recovery growing out of timber depredations in the history of the interior department.

ALL OFFICIALS ON SALARIES.

Representative King, of Jefferson County, is Loaded for Bear on That Subject and Some Others.

Montgomery, Ala.—Jere C. King representative-elect from Jefferson county, proposes to make his first and best attack as a law-maker of the state upon the fee system as it prevails in the jurisprudence of the commonwealth. He said:

"The most far-reaching bill that I will introduce will be the one to abolish the fee system in Alabama and put every county official on a stated salary. The plan will be that of a sliding scale; that is to say, the several counties will be put into classes on a population basis. Jefferson will be in the first class. Mobile and Montgomery in the second class, Jefferson coming into the class above 100,000 population, and Mobile and Montgomery in the class above 60,000 and under 100,000 population. The third class will take all counties from 30,000 to 60,000, the fourth all above 18,000 and under 30,000 and the fifth class all the counties under 18,000.

"Under the salary law the probate judge of Jefferson county will get $5,000, as will the sheriff, with the clerks of the several courts, tax assessor, tax collector and treasurer $3,000 each. The probate judge of Mobile and Montgomery will be put on a salary of $4,000, as will the sheriff of each of these counties, and so on down the scale until the fifth class, in which the probate judge will get $1,500. The salary in each instance is to be paid monthly by warrant drawn on the county treasury. All office help which is provided for in this bill, is to be paid out of the county treasury, and all fees received in each office shall go into the county treasury at the end of each month."

He modestly concludes by saying that he does not prophesy that the bill will pass, but he does say that he will do everything in the world he can to bring about its adoption. In his opinion it will mean an enormous saving to the state, especially in big counties like Jefferson, where exceedingly large fees are collected. He further relates that he has prepared a bill to cover the situation as he sees it, and will have it ready at the opening of the session.

Other Legislation.

Touching other legislation which he will undertake to have adopted, Mr. King refers to the coal lands of the university, and expresses the opinion that they should be utilized for the production of coal by the state convicts. He continues:

"I shall introduce four local bills regulating the fine and forfeiture fund in Jefferson county and the payment of state witnesses in state cases. It is more than likely that I will try to wipe out the 'hopjack' business, or help to do so, as it is a blind for selling liquor in violation of law. I will also introduce a bill authorizing the governor, attorney general and state auditor to make a contract with the trustees of the State University to work the state convicts on the coal lands of the university, paying the university a royalty, with the proceeds the proceeds of the coal to be mined to go into the school fund of the state. This will help out the university, by giving to it a constant source of revenue from her idle lands, place the state convicts at work for the school interests of the state instead of public service corporations, and also take the convicts out of competition with free labor in a sense. The university lands lie on the Warrior river, where transportation is already solved by an outlet to the sea. I regard this an important measure.

"I will vote with the Comer forces on the railroad rate question, and favor local option, as well as the municipal code law now under discussion by the heads of the several cities of the state."

Local Option Bills.

Frank S. Moody, who will come to the legislature from Tuscaloosa county, will introduce and undertake to have passed a local option dispensary bill. During the interval between now and the time the body convenes he is perfecting the bill with a view to meeting all the conditions that are expected to arise. Mr. Moody has been interested in the dispensary question for some time, and he will come to Montgomery as one of the best posted men in the south on the subject.

W. J. Jones, who will come to the lower house from Butler county, will support, he says, a local option law. Several other gentlemen who will be associated with Mr. Jones have expressed their intention to back up this kind of a measure. The fact is there is going to be a very large following in favor of this plan of handling the whiskey traffic.

Mr. Jones says further that he is in favor of a law whereby the public highways will be improved and kept in good condition, and also one for the protection of all kinds of game. "I hope to see the next legislature put the pistol toter out of business. I have no children, but am in favor of better schools and longer terms, and I also stand for the best that we can do for the old soldiers. I will stand squarely with Gov.-elect Comer on the railroad question, though I am in favor of treating the railroads with every fairness."

Comer's Appointments.

While there has been much discussion of the recent announcement of Gov. Comer concerning the appointment of men to be with him at the state capitol, there has been so outspoken criticism so far as the general run of men can hear. On the other hand, many expressions of approval have been heard. To be sure, men who were on the other side in the race in the primaries think that they know other fellows who would have done better, but the Comer followers have agreed in general unanimity.

There is, however, marked regret at the retirement of Dr. Shirley Bragg and M. W. Camper from the convict board. Especially is this so with Dr. Bragg, he having been the developer of the present system of health provisions on the board, as a result of which the death rate is lower with the prisoners than with free people of the same classes. Mr. Camper has been on the board only a part of one term, but has made many friends in the state and at the capitol.

Henderson and Fort.

The elevation of Charles Henderson to the head of the railroad commission is in line with what many expected when he was chosen a member of the commission. As a merchant and citizen he has become known for soundness of judgment and conservatism, and friends of the railroad indicate that they do not fear but he will treat them justly. "I am feeling already the responsibility of such an important position and need the encouragement and best wishes of my friends," he said to a friend one day this week. "It is only by correct action that I expect to retain the confidence of my friends and their advice and suggestions will always be gladly received."

W. E. Fort, who is to be private secretary to the new governor, is anxious to give the very best service to the state and the administration. While here this week he said: "I am very thankful for the expressions of good will on the part of my friends. It is heartily appreciated and I trust I may be able to serve the people of the state with satisfaction." It is well known that Mr. Fort was doubtful of the good judgment of accepting the appointment and many of his friends thought he had made a mistake in so doing. However, others have pointed out to him that he owed the service to the administration he had been identified with and that argument caused him to accept.

Other Places Filled.

William F. Feagin has been appointed chief clerk to the new state superintendent of education, Harry C. Gunnels, who takes office next month. H. J. Willingham will succeed Mr. Feagin as secretary and member of the state board of examiners of the educational department, and Miss Sara Clarke, at present teacher in the high school at Brewton, but a resident of Montgomery county, will be the other member of the board. These appointments were announced by Mr. Gunnels today. Mr. Willingham resigned as president of the Fifth district Agricultural school at Wetumpka to take the new place, and his successor has been elected in the person of L. L. Varn, a well known teacher of Water Valley Miss. The resignation was accepted, and the new man chose at a meeting of the board of control in the office of the governor this morning.

Mr. Feagin is a graduate of Auburn of the class of 1892. His citizenship is at Gadsden, in the Seventh district, and he has just been appointed one of the trustees of his old college by the governor. He taught in the rural schools of Barbour and Bullock counties and went to the Seventh District Agricultural School at Albertville in 1894. In 1879 he was made president of the school, which he resigned in 1903 to become secretary of the board of examiners. He holds a life certificate as a teacher.

Hamburg, Miss.—Thad Stanley was killed in a pistol duel here and Dick and W. F. Magee were seriously wounded.

Rock Island's Changes.

Fort Worth, Tex.—The directors of the Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf Railroad have accepted the resignation of Vice-President and General Superintendent S. G. Hovey, and appointed J. W. Robbins, Superintendent of the Santa Fe, to his position. The office of chief engineer has been abolished. The work will be handled hereafter by a district engineer. The appointment for this position has not been announced.

Great Northern Injunction.

St. Paul—Judge Orr of this district court, at the instance of Attorney General Young, has signed an order directing the Great Northern company to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be granted pending the final adjudication of the proceeding to restrain the proposed stock issue January 4. The order is returnable and will be argued January 2.

With the wall so prepared not any man can paint one of those big pictures. To do this work success- the painter must be himself a good free hand artist, with knowledge and facility with the brush; with these lines on the wall and the model original conveniently be- him on the scaffolding, the ex- goes at it with dash and vigor, and with certainty of results. For il- On the original lined-off figure the nose of a shoulder may enter a cer- tain inch square at such a point and at such an angle and sweep curves that square with such and such a curve to go out of it, into the next square at such a point and angle, and all these things the paint- reproduces in their same relative proportions, but enlarged to their due proportions in the corresponding four inch square on the wall.

The artist might be able to paint four-inch vertical squares at once, stepping from one into the other when he could and painting up and down, so through two he might sweep his brush to side of a head as he pro- gressed, getting the line of one ear and then eyes and the bridge of the nose and finishing that course with the line of the other ear in the other square before he changed his scaffolding. And at this stage of its development the face may present a strange appearance.

But though he must thus paint two pictures, so to speak, in patches, there is no danger that the painter will get lost "down" in it will come out all right. The artist has always the squares to guide him, and in due time the wall picture appears complete in every detail, a reproduction of the original on a giant scale.

If a number of giant figures of the same sort are to be painted in differ- ent places at the same time, copies of the original portrait painting are made and duly lined off for the use of the several painters of the big pictures.

Sometimes these big wall figures have been the work of two men, one starting on the head of the figure and the other on the feet. And these two men, one painting downward from the sky and the other painting upward from the earth, would meet, some- where about the middle of the figure, and their work would meet there as accurately as do, for instance, the hands of a tunnel built out from either side of a river. But while these two painters might be of equal skill, there might be a difference in their touch. So now, for the sake of unity of effect, it is the practice to have the entire figure done by one man.

But that doesn't necessarily mean much delay, for a skilled expert in this work can paint a giant thirty or forty feet high in one day.—New York Sun.

NEW YORK WEALTHIEST STATE.

But Pennsylvania Leads in Value of Railroad Property.

Surpassed only in the value of railroad property by Pennsylvania, the State of New York was shown to exceed all other States in the extent of her material possessions by a report issued by the Census Bureau covering the work of an examination made to tabulate the "estimated true value of all property and of specified classes of property in the United States." The work has long been in progress, and covers the period up to the close of 1904, with comparisons of the figures of 1900, a regular census year. This comparison shows an increase in the total wealth of the country from the 1900 figures of $88,517,306,775 to the 1904 record-breaking total of $107,104,192,410.

Real property and improvements—New York, $9,151,979,081; New Jersey, $1,9000,273,091; Pennsylvania, $6,591,055,583.

Live stock—New York, $189,622,403; New Jersey, $32,319,327; Pennsylvania, $160,130,227.

SEA FISH IN FRESH WATER.

Interesting Experiment Which May Have Important Results.

An interesting experiment that may have far-reaching results has just been brought to a successful termination in Germany. It has been proved beyond question that deep-sea fish can be acclimated and will live and breed in fresh water.

A number of different kinds of fish were taken from the sea, including whiting, herring, sole and flounders, and placed in a pool of salt water. The percentage of salt was then gradually lessened by the addition of fresh water until finally no salt remained.

Practically no material difference took place in the fish, which were as lively and healthy after the treatment as when they were taken out of the sea.

So encouraging has been the result, after a test extending over several months, that deep-sea fish are now being introduced into rivers and freshwater lakes in various parts of Germany. What changes may take place in the nature and habits of the fish remain as yet to be seen, as does also the question of their market value. The complete success of this experiment will completely change the fishing industry, and will prove an especial boon to communities far removed from the seaboard. An American who has lived for any length of time in the Middle West, where he is equally remote from both the Atlantic and the Pacific, knows how greatly deep-sea fish are missed as a part of one's diet.—Philadelphia Record.

Ignorance of the Bible.

In the course of an article on "Religious Life in American Colleges," by Dean Hodges, in the Outlook, he recounts that one time last year, in the English department at Harvard, the assigned topic was an Old Testament story—any Old Testament story. The men came into the class having no idea as to what awaited them there, and were told to set down on paper whatever narrative they might chance to remember between Genesis and Malachi.

Under these conditions some retired in hopeless confusion, finding themselves destitute of any knowledge whatsoever. Half a dozen told the story of the Prodigal Son. Others gave more or less of an account of Adam, of Abraham and especially of Joseph, getting the facts fairly in place, but remarking incidentally that these patriarchs were Christians. The world said one, was very bad, but there was one very good man. Noah was a Christian!—Detroit News Tribune.

A system of electric lighting for railroad cars has been tested in England which works automatically, without care or fresh supplies of any kind, for months at a stretch.

The tunnel which will eventually connect Sicily with Italy will be nearly nine miles long.

PERSONALITY OF IDA TARBELL.

The Secret of This Woman Historian's Success.

Accompanying this article is the latest and a very good picture of Miss Ida Tarbell, the American historian. Miss Tarbell, though a lifelong student, has little of the appearance of the bookworm. There is a merry twinkle in the brown eyes, which reflects a keen sense of humor. Her dark hair is worn pompadour style above a broad, thoughtful brow. Hers are clear-cut features, the mouth showing determination and the chin being well molded. Above medium height, with a dignified carriage, Miss Tarbell is a figure to attract attention in any assemblage.

Few people possess greater powers of discrimination and a clearer grasp, it is said, than does Miss Tarbell. She believes in specializing, and has concentrated her efforts in literary work along historical lines. In this sort of thing she has proved herself an expert.

Miss Tarbell is a native of Pennsylvania. She was born in the oil regions, and was, so to speak, "soaked in oil," so that when the time came to write on the timely subject of the history of oil production manipulation, she had a lifelong experience to draw from and unique sources of information. A foreign education has helped in giving the indefinable touch of culture to a strong, womanly personality, and Miss Tarbell stands to-day in the front rank of the great host of American women writers.

Jot For Retired Councilor.

That the bandits throughout the country are not all low fellows is seen in the fact that the leader of one band is no other than a former member of the privy council in Seoul.—Korea Daily News.

Prompt Action Necessary.

"Is this Lawyer Sharpley?" asked the caller, who appeared with a big lump on his jaw. The man in the swivel chair admitted that he was Mr. Sharpley, and also that he saw the bump.

"Yes, it is quite noticeable," said the caller, with a cheerful smile. "I got it a couple of days ago, while I was stepping on a street car. The motorman started too soon, and he made me hit my jaw against the side of the car. I thought at first that it had broken the bone, but it hadn't quite. It hurt me awfully, though, and I want you to bring suit against the company for damages."

"I am very busy just now," said the lawyer, "but I can take it up for you in the course of three or four days."

"That won't do at all."

"Why not?"

"Because," answered the caller, hesitatingly, "that might be too late. The lump is getting smaller every day."

New Type of Railroad Car.

The tendency in the construction of modern railroad equipment is to design cars which are absolutely fireproof. Statistics prove that more lives are lost in the fires which inevitably follow serious wrecks on the road than are actually caused by the collision. Railroads in every part of the United States are at present experimenting with passenger coaches of fireproof construction, and are building no more of the old wooden type. The majority of these new fireproof cars have been of steel construction throughout, with the exception, of course, of the seats. It has been found that this is the ideal material. The one disadvantage is in the fact that this type of car retains heat to a great extent, and the problem has narrowed down to a successful method of ventilation. One of the most recent devices for overcoming this fault is shown in the car here illustrated. This car is covered with a removable hood, which is supported over the car, a space intervening between the hood and the top and sides of the car. This is claimed to afford efficient means for keeping the car cool. The hood is also made with the top and sides convex and tapering ends, thus assisting in securing speed.

PICTURESQUE LOURDES.

A charming view of the famous shrine, showing the Pyrenees in the distance. It is said that the French Government is to end the pilgrimages which for many years have been made to this revered spot.

Want New Station.

Cordele, Ga.—The mayor and city council, supported by business men of the city, will soon inaugurate a movement to secure a handsome new union passenger station for this city.

In Hands of Receiver.

Mobile, Ala.—On application of Messrs. Monnell, Morrison, and McLeod, the Chicago and Gulf Railroad, formerly a narrow guage line between Pontotoc, Miss., and Middleton, Tenn., was placed in the hands of Mr. F. E. Dewey and J. L. Dantzler by order of the chancery court of New Albany, Miss. The road has a very large local traffic.

Court Orders Phillipps Held.

Rome, Ga.—Frank Phillips, who shot and killed William Morris, in Lindale row on Monday, was held by Justice Foss, of Lindale, to answer the charge of voluntary manslaughter.

Cassatt Dead.

Philadelphia.—Alexander Johnston Cassatt, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and one of the foremost railroad men and financiers in the country, died suddenly at his home here. Mr. Cassatt, who was a little more than 67 years of age, was stricken with heart disease and died before assistance could be given. He was a victim of an acute heart attack known professionally as "the Stokes-Adams syndrone."

Big Damage Suit.

Gadsden.—A suit for $500,000 was instituted against the Southern Steel Company for alleged personal injury in the circuit court here today. The suit is the outcome of the death of Roy Burns, a 9-year-old boy, who was killed on December 10 by coming in contact with a window grating which was charged with electricity at the steel company's commissary near this city. The bill charges wilful and wanton neglect.

Charged With Owning Interest.

Savannah, Ga.—The grand jury remained in session in an effort to conclude the investigation of the recent fireworks tragedy.

Among the witnesses summoned were two city officials, who have been charged with having an interest in the factory. Political orators blamed the administration and numerous other persons.

The investigation has been very searching.

Burglars Break Meter.

Macon, Ga.—Bold thieves made an entrance to the cellar under the Royal barber shop and after breaking through a door and a partition they came upon a gas meter with a slot maching attachment. The meter was hammered to pieces and $2.00 was se-

Macon, Ga.—At the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Macon Railway and Light company, held yesterday afternoon, Hon. William W. Osborn, of Savannah, was elected a director of the company.

Mr. Osborn is one of the best known men in the state, and his many friends in Macon will be glad to know that he will have interest here.

Hon. Hermann Myers, president of the company, came up from Savannah to attend the meeting.

Want Battleship at Norfolk.

Savannah, Ga.—There is a division of sentiment here in regard to the visit of the battleship Georgia in February. The cotton exchange would have the monster mon-of-war go to Jamestown on "Georgia" day, while the board of trade thinks that she should come to Savannah on the high May tides.

Saloons Will Hold On.

Huntsville.—None of the saloons of Huntsville will quit business the first of the year, although the chances favor the enactment of a bill putting them out of business later in the season and substituting a dispensary. Petitions for state and county saloon licenses are being filed in the probate court and all the saloon proprietors will take out licenses for the whole year. No saloon man will quit business unless compelled by the new law to do so.

Cleveland Deplores French Action.

Cleveland.—Resolutions deploring the action of France toward the Roman Catholic church in that country were adopted at a mass meeting tonight of the federation of Catholic societies. The meeting represented 150,000 members. Bishop Ignatius Horstmann, of the diocese of Cleveland presided.

Given Reception.

Eureka Springs, Ark.—Ex-state Senator F. O. Butt of this state, was given a farwell reception by the citizens of Eureka Springs just prior to his departure to Little Rock to surrender himself to the authorities and begin prison sentence of two years for bribery.

Cardinal Cavagnis Dead; Tripepi Dying

Rome.—Cardinal Cavagnis was found dead in bed, having succumbed to paralysis of the heart.

Cardinal Tripepi also was reported to have died of paralysis, but after remaining unconscious for a short time he revived. According to the latest reports from the Cardinal's bedside he was sinking fast.

NEW INDIC.

Six Bills Found Perkins and C. S.

BASED ON A DEAL IN

In Presentment Jury Say They Are Led to Believe Accused Acted in the Interest of Policyholders.

New York City.—The Grand Jury handed down six indictments against George W. Perkins, of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., formerly Vice-President of the New York Life Insurance Company, and six indictments against Charles S. Fairchild, formerly President of the New York Security and Trust Company and a member of the Finance Committee of the New York Life. The indictments charge forgery in the third degree. Mr. Fairchild is in Europe. Mr. Perkins was in court with his counsel and gave bond of $10,000.

A presentment which the Grand Jury handed in, following the indictments, was virtually an apology for the action taken by the body. The Grand Jurors—or some of them—held that neither Perkins nor Fairchild profited pecuniarily by the transaction upon which the indictments are based, but that it redounded to the benefit of the policyholders.

Five years ago the Prussian Government passed a law prohibiting American life insurance companies doing business in that country from holding as assets the stocks of railroad companies in the United States. The New York Life Insurance Company was doing business in Prussia and held railroad stocks. Books and records of the company show that, in order to deceive the Prussian Government, 10,000 shares of the stock of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad and 3500 shares of stock of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad were transferred to the New York Security & Trust Co., a subsidiary corporation of the New York Life.

On the books of the company the transaction was so disguised as to appear to be bona fide. As a matter of fact, the stocks never changed hands. A colored porter named Marshall and a clerk named Mattison gave notes for them. The deal was engineered by Mr. Perkins and Mr. Fairchild.

From testimony gathered by the Armstrong Committee this and other similar transactions were exposed. The law is specific in stating that any falsification of the books of a corporation constitutes forgery in the third degree.

When the Grand Jury made its presentment, Recorder Goff told the members they had done their work faithfully and thanked them for their efficiency. District-Attorney Jerome followed the Recorder, calling the attention of the court to the fact that one of the indicted men was already in court, referring to Mr. Perkins. He asked that the man be brought forward and arraigned, and this was done.

Then Mr. Jerome remarked that six indictments had been brought against Mr. Perkins, each charging forgery in the third degree, and he suggested to the court that a reasonable bail would be $2000 in each case.

Mr. Perkins was then lined up at the bar. The clerk arose and in formal manner told him that he stood charged with forgery in the third degree in six indictments, and asked him if he had any plea to make. Mr. Delafield answered, saying that his client would plead not guilty.

Recorder Goff then fixed the bail at $10,000, which was immediately given.

A. J. CASSATT FALLS DEAD.

Sudden End of President of Pennsylvania Railroad.

Philadelphia.—Alexander J. Cassett, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died suddenly at his home in this city. The announcement of his death was made from his office in the following bulletin:

"Mr. A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died suddenly of heart disease at 1 p. m. The symptoms were those known to the profession as the Stokes-Adams syncope, and as is often the case under these circumstances, death was instantaneous."

Mr. Cassatt fell dead, surrounded by the members of his family, who were at home at the time.

Mr. Cassatt's illness, which culminated in his death, dates from the Pennsylvania Railroad scandal last summer.

Alexander J. Cassatt was born in Pittsburg, December 8, 1839, was educated in Germany and at the Troy Polytechnic Institute. He entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1861 as a rodman. In 1867 he became superintendent of motive power and machinery, and in 1870 he became general superintendent of the Pennsylvania system. From this time on his rise was rapid, and in 1880 he had become first vice-president. In 1882 he resigned and did not again hold an official position in the company until he was elected to the presidency in 1899.

COLORADO MURDERER LYNCHED

Forty Masked Men Break Into the Jail to Take Lawrence Leberg.

Las Animas, Col.—Lawrence Leberg was lynched by masked men, for the murder of Henry Lavenmeyer. About forty men entered the jail and easily overpowered the sheriff, the under-sheriff, and two other officers, and locked them in a room of the building. His captors formed a procession and hanged Leberg to a telegraph pole. The confessed murderer made no resistance

Hard to Catch Up.

Two Silesians, seated in a music hall, began to argue about the music of Wagner. The argument as it progressed grew heated. The upshot was that the younger challenged the older Silesian to a duel.

But the older Silesian declined to fight.

"No, no," he said. "I refuse to meet you. The risks are not equal. You, you see, are a bachelor, whereas I am a married man with three children. I'll tell you what to do. Go get married and wait till you've a family as large as mine. Then, when our risks are alike, come and challenge me again."

The younger man complied. He married. Three years passed and one day three years later he went, accompanied by a nursemaid, to his opponent's home.

"Here I am," he said fiercely. "My wife is at home. In this coach are my three children. Now for the duel."

But the older man shook his head.

"Not yet awhile," he said. "I have five now."

Exercise For Business Men.

The average city business man without physical impediments to fight against can probably get along successfully on such an exercise schedule as the following:

First.—Five minutes each day of purely muscular exercise, such as can be taken perfectly well in one's room without any special apparatus.

Second.—Short intervals during the day of fresh air, brisk walking, deep breathing. This can all be secured in the regular order of the day's business. A man can easily spend as much as half an hour walking out of doors every day. This is for heart, lungs and digestion.

Third.—The reservation of at least one day a week for rest and recreation, for being out of doors, for playing games, etc. This is essential. This is for both body and mind. A man who thinks he can get along without at least one vacation time a week simply proves his ignorance.—World's Work.

The Bite of a Girl.

The bite of a girl may be as productive of poisonous germs as improperly prepared foods, according to the statements of Professor W. D. Miller of the University of Berlin. In a lecture the professor said that a bite of a pretty girl would often bring a quicker and more horrible death than the bite of a serpent. Professor Miller, who has made a special study of the bacteria of the mouth, said that only a short time ago he experimented on a beautiful girl in Germany and found that an arrow dipped in saliva from her mouth would send its victim in death throes more terrible than one dipped in the venom of the most deadly snake.—What to Eat.

Twins Born in Different Years.

"I have often been present at the birth of twins," said an old nurse. "Only once was I present, though, when the twins were born in different years."

"Twins born in different years? You are crazy," said the young bride.

"Not a bit of it," said the old nurse. "The thing happened in Pittsburg in 1890. The first twin was born at 11:30 o'clock on the night of Dec. 31, 1899, and the second was born at 1 o'clock in the morning of Jan. 1, 1900. There are, ma'am, a number of other cases recorded of twins born in different years."

The Cat Had Chickens.

The old housekeeper met the master at the door on his arrival home.

"If you please, sir," she said, "the cat has had chickens."

"Nonsense, Mary," laughed he. "You mean kittens. Cats don't have chickens."

"Was them chickens or kittens as you brought home last night?" asked the old woman.

"Why, they were chickens, of course."

"Just so, sir," replied Mary, with a twinkle. "Well, the cat's had 'em!"

A Comprehensive Verdict.

A child in an English town was killed by a steam atomizing apparatus falling on it. The coroner's jury brought in the following curious verdict: "Death resulted from shock following bronchitis and whooping cough, caused through the shaking of the house by the firing of a gun at the government proof butts on the Pulm

The Under Side of Fish.

Experiments have been made with flounders in order to determine whether the whiteness of the under sides of those fish is due to the exclusion of light, and the presence of color on their upper sides to exposure to light. The fish experimented upon were kept living in a glass tank, having a mirror placed beneath, so as to reflect light upon the under sides of the fish. One of these prisoners survived for three years under conditions so strangely different from its ordinary habits of life, and all of them exhibited the development of spots of pigment on their lower surfaces. The experimenters concluded that it is exposure to light that causes the coloration of the upper parts of the bodies, not only of flounders, but of other fish, and, conversely, that it is to the comparative absence of light that the whiteness of under sides of fish is due. They extend the same principle to explain the colorless condition of the skins of many animals that pass all their lives in caves.

Bird Songs.

Naturalists have long been puzzled as to how birds learn to sing. Does it come natural to a bird of a certain species to sing the song common to its kind or does it learn to imitate whatever song it most hears during the early days of its life? Experiments made by a well known student of bird life proved that most birds simply learn by imitation. He placed young linnets to be reared by skylarks, woodlarks, titlarks and other breeds, and in every case the linnet learned the song of his foster parents. Again, a number of linnets were reared where they had no chance of hearing the song of any bird at all. In due course they began to sing, but their song was entirely original. The cuckoo, however, seems to be an exception, for although it is almost invariably reared by foster parents of any species but its own, it always sings to perfection its own peculiar song, quite uninfluenced by the vocal efforts of its guardians.

Origin of the Strike Fund.

The earliest mention of a strike fund occurred in the strike of the Parisian stocking weavers in 1724, when a crown a day was subscribed for every striker and all blacklegs were mercilessly boycotted. But the biggest strike under the "ancient regime" was that of the silk factory hands at Lyons in 1744, when 12,000 men went on strike and so alarmed the mayor that he conceded everything they asked and wrote to his brother that he had "la tete cassee par cette vile canaille." The "vile canaille," however, had had their moment, and it was no longer theirs. Two months later the king sent down 20,000 soldiers "pour remettre l'ordre dans la bonneville de Lyon," and we hear no more of strikes till the supreme strike of 1789.

A Snaffle Sense of Smell.

Professor E. Yung of Geneva discovered that the keen sense of smell attributed to the ordinary snail is distributed over the entire body not covered by the shell, the two pairs of tentacles, the lips and the edges of the feet being particularly sensitive. In the experiments made a brush dipped in various odorous substances in turn was brought near the different parts of the body, and responses were noted at distances of one twenty-fifth of an inch to several inches. Only in exceptional cases was odor perceived as much as fifteen or twenty inches away, showing that smell cannot guide these creatures to food far removed.

The Mulberry Tree.

Silk is the great industry of northern Italy, and the plains of the quadrilateral are dark with mulberry trees. The mulberry tree is the hardest worked piece of timber in the world. First its leaves are skinned off for the worms to feed on, then the little branches are clipped for the worms to nest in, then the large limbs are cropped for charcoal, and the trunk has not only to produce a new crop of leaves and limbs for next year, but must act as trellis for a grapevine.

His Bucolic Business.

"That was a perfectly lovely gentleman I met last night," declared the pretty milliner. "He has a good, reliable business too."

"What is it?" asked her friend.

"Why, he sells farm implements," continued the pretty girl.

"What kind of farm implements?"

"Buckets—nothing but buckets. He told me he kept a bucket shop."—Detroit Free Press.

Adams.

I am glad I can consider the past year the happiest one of my life, because in it I have been trying to do more for others than ever before, and I have the sweet satisfaction of knowing that it has not been in vain. I have so many pleasant experiences retained in my mind which bring me great joy. If we love Christ and claim to be followers of Him, we also must love the erring. The most erring, the most simple, were not passed by him; His labors were especially for those who needed salvation.

The erring can only be restored in spirit of meekness, gentleness and tender love. If we have a good word let us speak it while the ear can hear, the heart can feel. Let us bring all the beauty, love and kindness we can into our lives. Let us all be patient, thoughtful, grateful and forbearing in our intercourse with one another. Then if death parts us from our friends to meet no more till we stand at the bar of God we shall not be ashamed to have the record of our words appear. Yes, I will know you up in heaven and join with you in singing praises of the Lamb for sinners slain. Glory and praise be to the blessed name of Jesus.

It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and there is no better medicine in the world for these diseases. It is not only a certain cure for croup, but, when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given as directed. It contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and may be given as confidently to a baby as an adult. For sale by Upchurch Drug co, clanton, and A Horn, Thorsby.

Marbury.

On last Friday night the new movement Bible class gave a banquet to its members in the Masonic hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in red and white. The menu consisted of six courses, and a string band furnished music. The speeches were replete with "lufinite jest, most excellent fancy and flashes of merriment that were wont to set the tables on a roar." Mr. Kingcome was toastmaster. It was an occasion long to be remembered and we hope for more such occasions.

"Marbury is the best saw mill town I ever saw," is the evidence of several men who have been over several States. The moral atmosphere is excellent, with one of the best preachers in the State, and one of the best Sunday schools; also a splendid literary school, with Prof W. G. Walker as principal. Shadeless Forests.

Large tracts of dense forests in Australia are practically shadeless. Many kinds of trees in that strange country turn their edges instead of the flat surface of the leaves to the sun, and thus one may stand under a tree of enormous size and be as fully exposed to the sun as though he were in the open plain. Travel through these forests is said to be exceedingly arduous work, as the trees, while they do not cut off the sun, prevent the breeze from reaching the ground, and thus the traveler experiences a stifling heat.

Use For Spoiled Beer.

"There is no need," said a brewer, "for us to throw away beer that has turned sour, nor is there any need for us to try to doctor it up. We have a ready sale for our spoiled beer among cement makers. Don't think from this that cement makers have a morbid taste for sour beer. Nothing of the kind. They use this beer in making cement for leather joints. It takes the place of acid, being cheaper and yet just as good."

Not an Impostor.

A proud young father telegraphed the news of his new responsibility to his brother in this fashion: "A handsome boy has come to my house and claims to be your nephew. We are doing our best to give him a proper welcome." The brother, however, failed to see the point and replied: "I have not got a nephew. The young man is an impostor."

A Funny Eagle.

A Russian grand duke was once the guest of a German prince. It was early in the last century. In Russia the imperial double headed eagle is to be seen everywhere and on everything throughout the empire—stamped, painted, embroidered or sculptured. At that period the education of grand dukes was somewhat limited. This grand duke went out shooting in Germany and, among other things, shot a large bird. He asked an experienced huntsman who accompanied him what the bird was. "An eagle, your highness," was the answer. The grand duke turned on him in an irritated way. "How can it be an eagle," he asked, "when it has only one head?"

"I had tried everything for my baby, until Dr. Lyle recommended cascasweet. I can truthfully say it is the best medicine i ever used for baby. NO RELIEF FOR 15 YEARS.

All Sorts of Remedies Failed to Cure Eczema—Sufferer Tried Cuticura and is Entirely Cured.

"I have had eczema for over fifteen years, and have tried all sorts of remedies to relieve me, but without avail. I stated my case to one of my friends and he recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I bought them with the thought that they would be unsuccessful, as with the others. But after using them for a few weeks I noticed to my surprise that the irritation and peeling of the skin gradually decreased, and finally, after using five cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment it disappeared entirely. I feel now like a new man, and I would gladly recommend these remedies to all who are afflicted with skin diseases. David Blum, Box A, Bedford Station, N. Y., Nov. 6, 1905."

Keep Your Blood Pure.

No one can be happy, light-hearted and healthy with a body full of blood that cannot do its duty to every part because of its impurity; therefore, the first and most important work in hand is to purify the blood so that every organ will get the full benefit of a healthy circulation. There is no remedy we know of so good as that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills. Each pill contains one grain, of the solid extract of sarsaparilla blended with two grains of a combination of pure and mild vegetable produces, making it a blood purifier unexcelled in character. One or two taken every night for awhile will produce surprising results.

Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, plain or sugar-coated.

Baby Talk Bad.

"If parents would begin to speak English to a child as soon as he can talk, instead of some absurd 'baby talk' lingo, the work of a primary school teacher would be lightened by half," said one of them recently.

"Half the children who start going to school don't understand what you are saying to them, and it adds to their terror in their strange surroundings and to the work of their instructors.

"One little boy whom I have just transferred impressed me at his first appearance here as one of the dullest children I had ever encountered. I soon found what the trouble was. The boy was the only child of a widow, who made him her constant companion, and never spoke a word to him that was intelligible to any one else. All food was known to him as "doody," chairs as 'rakkey,' and money as 'kip.'

"It took that poor child two years to learn enough of the King's English to be transferred from my grade to the next."—Washington Post.

CRIED EASILY.

Nervous Woman Stopped Coffee and Quit Other Things.

No better practical proof that coffee is a drug can be required than to note how the nerves become unstrung in women who habitually drink it.

The stomach, too, rebels at being continually drugged with coffee and tea—they both contain the drug—caffeine. Ask your doctor.

An Ia woman tells the old story thus:

"I had used coffee for six years and was troubled with headaches, nervousness and dizziness. In the morning upon rising I used to belch up a sour fluid regularly.

"Often I got so nervous and miserable I would cry without the least reason, and I noticed my eyesight was getting poor.

"After using Postum a while I observed the headaches left me and soon the belching of sour fluid stopped (water brash from dyspepsia). I feel decidedly different now, and I am convinced that it is because I stopped coffee and began to use Postum. I can see better now, my eyes are stronger.

"My friend of mine did not like Postum, but when I told her to make it like it said on the package, she liked it all right." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Always boil Postum well and it will surprise you.

TORTURED WITH GRAVEL

Since Using Doan's Kidney Pills Not a Single Stone Has Formed.

Capt. S. L. Crute, Adjt. Wm. Watts Camp, U. C. V., Roanoke, Va., says:

"I suffered a long, long time with my back, and felt draggy and listless and tired all the time. I lost from my usual weight, 225, to 170. Urinary passages were too frequent and I have had to get up often at night. I had headaches and dizzy spells also, but my worst suffering was from renal colic. After I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I passed a gravel stone as big as a bean. Since then I have never had an attack of gravel, and have picked up to my former health and weight. I am a well man, and give Doan's Kidney Pills credit for it."

Four Days in Russia.

The following synopsis of four days' telegrams from all parts of Russia (exclusive of Siedlce) is sent us by our St. Petersburg correspondent: Armed assaults—eight policemen, gendarmes and soldiers killed, seven wounded, thirty-eight private persons killed, 133 wounded. Outrages—Five policemen, etc., killed, six wounded, nineteen private persons killed, thirty-seven wounded. Robberies, including nine on trains, two on tramways, three on banks, two on factories, seven on churches, seventeen on vodka shops, three on post, five on shops, twenty-five on private persons; as a result, fifty-three persons arrested, sixteen policemen, etc., killed, two wounded, four private persons killed, seven wounded. Fires—Two factories, seven estates, eighty-one private houses, fifteen farms, two government buildings.

Sentenced to death by hanging, twenty-six; to forced labor, seventeen; arrested (by domiciliary visits, etc.), 543.

Disturbances in prisons—Eight killed and fourteen wounded; eleven escaped. —London Mail.

Padre Knox, writing on suicide, says self-destruction is far more frequent in Protestant than in Catholic countries. From 1871 to 1900 no fewer than 300,000 cases were registered in Germany alone.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children whenever a laxative remedy is required.

Harry O'Briant's eagle is dead. Six fancy, highbred, game chickens have also gone over the dead line. The chickens went first and the eagle followed suit. The eagle killed the chickens and O'Briant killed the eagle. The big bird had been in captivity about a week and had his eye on the chickens all the time. He was allowed certain liberty with one foot tied to a rope. Until his untimely death the eagle had been cock of the walk in the neighborhood of Crowell street, in South Atchison. He even had the dogs bluffed. The other day, when no one was looking, he got into the chicken coop. Well, there was something doing on the jump. Right and left the eagle startled to snatch the game fowls bald-headed. And he did—six of them. They were game chickens in name only when it came to fighting an eagle. The bird from the mountains will be stuffed.—Atchison Globe.

SUNDAY SERMON BY REV. W. [illegible] BEST.

t: The Higher Criticism.

[illegible], N. Y.—The following sermon by the learned divine, the Rev. [illegible] Best was recently preached [illegible] telling effect. The subject of his discourse was "The Higher Criticism: Its Advantages and Disadvantages." Dr. Best said:

criticism is defined as follows: "The discovery and verification of the facts regarding the origin and value of literary productions upon the basis of their internal characteristics and contents." Another man defines higher criticism as follows: "Higher criticism is a phrase which expresses all investigation relative to the genuineness, authenticity and integrity of ancient literature, especially the various books of the Bible."

There are three classes of critics. First, the radical, who reject the supernatural in Scripture. Second, the conservative who admit it. Third, the conservative-radical, who hold a middle position.

There are four principles upon which the higher critics seek the history of the books of the Bible. First, literary treatment; second, historical settings; third, religious purpose; and fourth, cumulative evidence or combination of principles. Upon the same basis the critics are divided as to their aims; some are purely literary aims, others simply historical aims, while by far the largest class have religious aims.

The advantages and disadvantages of higher criticism may be viewed from two different standpoints: as they affect the critics and as they affect the church.

As they affect the critics: If the higher criticism is an enemy of the Bible, then every other enemy of the Bible is its friend and it has the advantage of whatever aid they may receive.

But is the higher criticism an enemy? For one, I believe it is. I do not wish to imply by this that every form of criticism is wrong. I believe every higher critic is an enemy of the Bible, for many are its most ardent friends; but taking the matter as a whole and judging it by its fruits, I believe higher criticism to be an enemy of the Word of God.

Advantages.

If an enemy of the Bible, it is to be seen that the higher critics have the following advantages:

1. The devil.

The devil was the first person to question the authority of God's word. He was the first person to question Moses. If there is no preacher in hell, it will not be because the devil does not known anything about the Bible, but like the higher critics he misquotes it correctly, but always leaves out those parts which are to him unreasonable. He will come to you as an angel of light and tell you that Moses did not write the Pentateuch, Isaiah only wrote a part of the book that bears his name, the book of Daniel is a falsehood, Jonah and Jonah, the song of Solomon is a drama, the book of Job is only a parable, etc., etc., and by the time you have taken everything out of the Bible that he may tell you is a falsehood you will be qualified to stand before the world upholding its empty creed and say: "Of course I believe in the Bible; the only thing I am opposed to in it is the supernatural."

2. The flesh.

The fact that so many Christian people do not enjoy the blessing of holiness is one of the strongest proofs that the flesh is a higher critic. He does not believe in those portions of the Scripture that refer to the death of life.

3. The world.

The world is one of the most earnest and enthusiastic friends of higher criticism. The very supposition that it is superior to the Bible, coming from men who are looked upon as the greatest scholars and religious leaders in the world, is one of the most infecting thoughts to the world, the hypocrite. The politician, who when he is at home has no life, is a deacon in the church, a Sunday-school superintendent, and when he is in Albany has three wives and does not know where the children are, will find great consolation in knowing that the Bible is not all true. The accomplished young lady, who is a member of the church, does not see any harm in dancing, will be pleased to learn that men of God know so much more than her mother does, have decided once and for all that the Bible is not always to be relied upon. A young man, who is a graduate of one of our leading schools said to me some months ago: "Science has not fully settled the question as yet whether Enoch was translated or not." Mormonism, Mohammedanism, atheism, spiritualism and all the other isms are friends of the higher criticism.

4. The disadvantages.

Here are many disadvantages; I can only name a few of them.

(1) The Bible will not stay [illegible]. As soon as they get the Book of Genesis fixed up the way they think it ought to be, somebody over in the Chronicles says or does something that upsets the whole plan, so they have either got to destroy Chronicles or change their former position. By the time they dispose of all the witnesses throughout the Bible that testify against their position the Book of Genesis has gotten back to where they say it is the first place, and the work has all got to be done over again. The Bible is like a cube of granite, you may upset it as many times as you please, and it is always right side up.

(2) The principles of higher criticism are not to be relied upon. Dr. Harman says if they were applied to American history they would create havoc of it. If you apply them to the Declaration of Independence you would place that document about the year 1867, as all men were not looked upon as equal, nor did they enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness until after that time. Applied to the tombstone of Jefferson, it could be proven that it was another Jefferson that was President of the United States, for while the great acts of his life were recorded it was not said he was President. Bishop Warren, in his book, "The Bible in the World's Education," says: "It is the higher criticism applied to Shakespeare that has produced the idiotic assertion that his works were written by Lord Bacon. The laws of historical criticism applied to Napoleon have proved that no such man ever lived." The same principle applied to a letter written from a husband to a wife, might prove that the first part of the letter was written by a husband, while the latter part was written by a lover. The chief difficulty with the critics is, they forget that a man may possess a variety of gifts. Julius Caesar was at one and at the same time a general, a statesman, a lawgiver, a jurist, an orator, a poet, an historian, a philosopher, a mathematician, an architect, and was equally fitted to excel in any or all of these departments.

(2) The theories and methods of the higher criticism exclude and destroy each other.

Dr. Milton S. Terry, author of "Biblical Hermaneutics," has devoted the greater part of one chapter to exposing the fallacies of higher criticism. Here it is clearly seen that if one critic is right the others are all wrong. But who can tell which one is right? Dr. A. C. Zenos, author of "The Elements of Higher Criticism," shows that there are two leading difficulties in the way of the critics: First, the field of operations is vast and bewildering in its complications, and second, the science of higher criticism is born of strife. "Bauer laughs at Paulus, Strauss laughs at Bauer, Renan laughs at Strauss, and the hour-glass laughs at them all."

(4) Recent discoveries of archaeologists.

From the outset the literary critics instinctively felt that the testimony of archaeology would be against them, and they endeavored to evade it by deprecation or denying it in advance. Archaeologists, by proving that the art of writing existed in Egypt a century before the exodus, have taken the very foundation stone from under the higher criticism. Every little while the pick and shovel are bringing to light as facts the very things that the critics laughed at as myths, such as the existence of Kruder-Laghamer, Menes, etc. Dr. A. H. Sayce, of Oxford University, says that the archaeological method is the scientific method of investigating history and is, therefore, the only critical method to establish beyond doubt the genuineness of the Bible.

(5) The last disadvantage we will name is the testimony of experience.

Thousands of men, women and children in all parts of the world, at all ages, and in different circumstances, are proving by practical experience that the Bible is to be relied upon. It matters not whether they place their faith on a passage in the Epistle of Peter, the Book of Daniel, or even the much disputed Pentateuch; God is faithful and true to His promises. This method of testing the truthfulness of the Bible is also open to the higher critics, but as Bishop Warren says, very few of them wish to use it.

II. As they affect the church.

1. Disadvantages.

It will be seen at a glance that whatever is an advantage to the higher critics is a disadvantage to the church. But as these are the general disadvantages we will name in this division the particular ones.

(1) The difficulty of mastering the science.

The higher criticism, as yet, is largely in the hands of college professors, and it requires constant study in order to keep up with the ever increasing opinions of different critics. It is said that very few pastors have either the time or means to thoroughly investigate the subject, so, at best, can only accept the opinions of men who make a study of the matter.

(2) The uselessness of the science to the average pastor.

The preacher of the Gospel is called to the work of saving men. Ministers who are carried away with the higher criticism generally fail to do this work. They become a burden not only to their congregations, but to themselves, and sooner or later drop out of the ministry altogether. The pastor of to-day might better preach the Gospel and let the higher criticism alone.

(3) It destroys reverence for the Word of God.

The man who believes in it goes to the Bible, not in a reverent spirit, but in a critical spirit.

(4) It has a tendency to destroy the authority of the Bible.

When a critic reads, "Thus saith the Lord," he has to stop and decide whether God says anything or not. He becomes an interrogation mark and is compelled to live a life of doubt.

(5) It questions the inspiration of the Bible.

The fruits of this principle are: Prophecy is set aside altogether, miracles are explained on natural grounds, the unity of the Bible is destroyed, and several Biblical narratives, like that of Jonah, are said to be the products of imagination.

2. The advantages.

While the higher criticism may be looked upon as an evil, God has overruled it for good. Criticism is as old as the Bible. Before John had written his Gospel, the agnostic had appeared on the scene. The Bible has been overthrown, demolished, exploded, etc., etc., and now it has to be done over again. The fact of the matter is, the oftener it is supposed to be overthrown, the harder it seems to overthrow it. Many a man has run his head up against the Bible, but history proves it has been all the worse for his head. Let us now look at a few of the advantages of the higher criticism, as they affect the Christian Church.

(1) The inability of the critics to get at the truth.

The Holy Ghost wrote the Bible, therefore, the Holy Ghost must explain it. The majority of the critics, though they may be scholarly men, are unconverted. How can such men understand the Bible?

(2) Higher criticism has very little to boast of.

An idiot with a knife in hand, let loose in an art gallery, can destroy more in an hour than Raphael could create in a lifetime. It is an easy matter to criticise and tear down, but a hard matter to build up. Many of the supposed new discoveries of higher criticism, such as the "document hypothesis," the age of the earth, etc., are centuries out of date.

(3) The higher criticism will be productive of the true Biblical criticism.

It may be truly said that, in most cases, higher criticism has driven Christian men to the Bible, rather than away from it. A Biblical criticism is now in process of formulation, before which mere theory and speculation will disappear as did the Spaniards before the guns of the Americans. Such a criticism will embrace, as Dr. Mendenhall said, the following characteristics: [a] It shall be scientific in method and results; [b] it shall be Biblical in spirit, scope and influence; [c] it shall be historic in tests and material; [d] it shall be evangelical in tone, character and form; [e] it shall be rational in its use of facts, non-theoretic in its inquiries and authoritative in its ultimate decision. The Bible is not opposed to reverent criticism, for its standing invitation is, "Come, now, and let us reason together." The Lord Himself has said, "My people are consumed for lack of knowledge."

(4) A call for the retreat of the higher critics has sounded.

A reaction has taken place in Germany against the higher criticism. Many of the pastors of the country are denouncing it from their pulpits. Book after book is being written against it. One of the most important victories on the side of orthodoxy is the fact that Professor Harnack, the star of Berlin University and one of the foremost leaders of higher criticism, has so changed his opinions regarding the dates of a number of the New Testament books, as to favor the traditional view. A revolution among the critics will undoubtedly be the result.

(5) The Almighty God has declared that not one jot or tittle of the law shall fail until all be fulfilled.

A curse has been pronounced upon the man who would add to or take away from the sacred words of Scripture. I am aware that the devil does not like the Bible. He has always been urging his followers to stamp it out. Porphyrius tried it by his philosophy, Celsus by his brilliancy, Lucien by his ridicule, Diocletian by the power of the Roman Empire, and thousands of others have tried it by this means and that, yet,

"It shall stand in its beauty and its glory."

It has withstood the storms that have covered the ocean of time with shipwreck, it has outlived the mythology of Greece and seen the downfall of the Roman Empire. It has withstood the attacks of ridicule and buffoonery, the criticism of scientists, the intrigue of diplomacy, and the agonies of the Inquisition. It has stood the test of fifty-eight centuries; her trophies are the conquests of the nations, and her crown of glory the benediction of a thousand generations; and as the ages come and go, she will abide, while the lamp of her glory, as the Pharos of the world, will burn and shine, "until Heaven's last thunder shakes the world."

Cheering Influences.

In the mountains of the Tyrol it is the custom of the women and the children to come out at the close of day and sing. Their husbands, fathers and brothers answer them from the hills on the way homeward. On the shores of the Adriatic a similar custom prevails, the wives of the fishermen coming down to the beach about sunset and singing a melody. After singing the first stanza they listen for awhile for an answering melody from over the water, telling that the loved ones are almost home. Thus the weary fishermen are cheered by song when the task of the day, through its long continuance, is becoming most burdensome. And so ever a cheery Christian praisefulness, a hearty optimism, a burst of melody that floats over the waters of life, heartens up a toiler and makes all work or warfare light.—Ram's Horn.

Difficulties.

I have known a brother wanting to go abroad to preach the gospel to the heathen, but a great many difficulties have been thrown in his way, and therefore he said: "I can see that I am not called to go." Why not? Is no man called unless his way is easy?

I should think myself all the more called to a service if I found obstacles in my way. The course in true service never did run smooth. I should say, "The devil is trying to hinder me, but I will do it in spite of all the devils in hell." Will you always be wanting to have your bread buttered on both sides? Must your road be graveled and smoothed with a garden-roller? Are you a carpet knight, for whom there is to be no fighting? You are not worthy to be a soldier of Jesus Christ at all if you look for ease.—C. H. Spurgeon.

Opportunities.

A fall is an opportunity to get up again. A disappointment opens the way to achievement. Many a man, overwhelmed with the sense of his own failures, and his own weakness, drops hopelessly down wherever he is, and wonders how his neighbor ever manages to keep up in the face of a startling variety of hard trials. He cannot see how it is that, when things look so dark in the affairs of that most singular neighbor, he goes about with a cheerful face and head erect. But the neighbor has character that costs in the making, and counts always for more than it costs. He has his hours of weariness and his momentary sinking of heart, but never overwhelmingly, for he trusts in God and does his very best.—Ram's Horn.

With God's Help.

Wendell Phillips said that at the beginning of his Christian life he asked God that whenever a thing was wrong it might have no power of temptation over him, and whenever a thing was right it might take no courage to do it. "From that day to this," he said later in life, "God has answered that prayer." This, then, is the chief reason why the name of Wendell Phillips lives to-day. He was a man of strong will and that will was for justice and righteousness.

POTTERY OF VEGETABLES.

CUPS AND SAUCERS FASHIONED FROM THE PULP OF PLANTS.

Peculiar Ware Used in East—Astringent Fruits Boiled Until They Have the Plastic Properties of Clay Without Its Fragility.

The use of the dried fruits of trees, such as the gourd and the cocoanut, for holding water and liquid substances is familiar, but it is not so generally known that cups, saucers and jars to take the place of ordinary earthenware are made in the Orient of a glutinous and plastic material entirely of vegetable origin, which is easily moulded and dried. Says David Hooper in a communication to the Asiatic Society, of Bengal, India, quoted in the National Druggist:

"There is more than one instance in history of vegetable matter being confused with earth or clay. . . . The pulpy parts of various astringent fruits have the peculiar plastic property of clay, and by hardening in the air, after being moided into pots, they are impervious to water, and have the additional advantage that they can fall to the ground without being broken.

"The use of the fruit of the aoula for making pottery was described in 1896 in a letter from Mr. James Martin, written from the Tumgaon district, Raipur, Central Provinces, to the reporter on economic products to the Government of India. He writes: 'I have come across a peculiar ware that is made by the Banjaras of the district from the fruit of the aoula (Phyllonthus emblico). The fruit is collected and dried. It is then boiled in water until quite soft and pounded, the stones removed and the pulp beaten up and worked with the hands into a thick, darkbrown, sticky mass. When this is quite ready the manufacturer takes an earthen vessel—any shape that pleases him—and covers it all over with a thick layer or coat of the pulp. This is then put aside to set a bit, and, when hard, rude devices are stamped round the neck and shoulders of the article, which is then set aside to dry. When quite hard, the gharra inside is broken and the pieces removed. These vegetable pots are sold according to size from 4 annas to 8 annas each, and are much sought after by the people of the place. Oil and ghee stored in them are well preserved and show no evidence of rancidity.'"

The aoula tree, we are told, is abundant throughout the forests of tropical India and Burma, and the fruits are frequently employed in medicine and for tanning. The advantages which the fresh pulp possesses for preparing vessels are recommended by the author for more extensive trial, and he suggests that probably other fruits could be similarly utilized. To quote again:

"Another material used in making jars is the root of the great asphodel (Eremurus xuchetianus, Boiss). The fleshy root of this plant, by drying in a sand bath and grinding, is prepared into a flour, which, when mixed with hot water, yields a most tenacious vegetable glue with which the Persians make great vessels for holding oil and clarified butter. The native cobblers employ it in preference to animal glue in their work. Dr. J. E. T. Aitchison describes the method of making these vessels in Persia: 'The tenacious gum is painted over a hollow earthen mould that has a single layer of some coarse cloth covering it; on this cloth, layer after layer of the glue is painted until a sufficiency is reached; this forms, when dry, a parchment-like skin, the mould is then broken up and removed through the mouth of the jar, and then usually the jar is sewn into a goat's hair sack. With ordinary moisture, or the amount of moisture likely to affect the jar through the goat's hair covering, no harm is likely to accrue, but if the jar is allowed to stand in water for days it will in time dissolve or melt away.'

"Sarish-i-narm is the name of the flour made by grinding down the dried roots of Eremurus with the intention of converting them into glue. Sarish-i-kakl is the vegetable glue ready made for use. Daba-i-sarish are the vessels made in the above manner. There is said to be a large trade in this material in Khorasan."

ASK THE HEN.

Chicago Doubts if Chickens Are Like Poets.

"Is a spring chicken born?' was the question that came up to puzzle the wise heads at the hearing before Master in Chancery Kelly to determine the legality of the city's seizure of frozen poultry from the Northwestern Cold Storage Warehouse.

Leon Hornstein, Assistant Corporation Counsel, was cross-examining F. A. Becker, commission merchant and the owner of the condemned poultry.

"You say the price of poultry in January," asked the attorney, "is lower than in the early spring?"

"Why, certainly it is," replied the witness.

"And how does that come?" persisted the attorney.

"Well, you see," went on the poultry man, "from April to June is the mating season. The farmers are holding their chickens for the eggs. The meat is liable to be coarse and stringy during this period."

"Ha," said the lawyer, as he jotted down some memoranda, "and it is then that a spring chicken is born?"

"I—don't — quite — understand," gasped the astonished witness.

"Repeat the question," ordered Master Kelly.

"And it is then," read the stenographer, "that the spring chicken is born?"

"I object to that," put in Attorney Dudley for the defense.

The objection was overruled.

"I don't know," said the witness, "but I should not say that a chicken is born."

"Chickens are made and not born, then," said the Assistant Corporation Counsel.

"Rather," replied the witness, "they are hatched out."

"Make the correction," ordered the master.

"Now, the eggs that they are hatched from," continued the attorney, "are they cold-storage eggs?"

The witness cast a look of pity at the lawyer in his struggle after knowledge.

"No," he replied kindly, "chickens usually are hatched from fresh eggs."

This did not conclude the examination, as many other things were gone into. The yellow corpse of the cold-storage rooster that had been thawed out during the night in water was again passed from nose to nose.

The lawyers and the witnesses and the reporters sniffed. Then the master gingerly held the exhibit under his own nose.

"I don't know," he said judicially; "the proof of the chicken is in the eating; but I don't know as I'd care"——

"Will you accept an invitation to a frozen chicken dinner to be given Friday night at a restaurant?" asked Mr. Becker. "It is the best stuff in the world."

"I'll render a decision later," said the master.

Chief Food Inspector Murray, who likewise has received an invitation, regretted that a previous engagement will prevent his acceptance.—Chicago Post.

The Point of View.

So much depends upon the viewpoint of the reader, or listener, that we can not always be sure that the full meaning of what is written or said, will be understood.

General Lew Wallace, when he was Minister to Turkey, was requested by Chekuk Bey to tell him how American children were raised. General Wallace said: "We keep our children outdoors all the time possible. They live under the trees and in the sunshine. They gather nuts and wild fruits. They play baseball and ride young horses. They go to school without servants, and the girls and the boys study in the same classes. The boys are taught to till the soil or work in shops or stores. The girls do housework and fit themselves to become wives and to have children. The children sit at the same table with father and mother. They are taught to be polite and to love God."

Chekuk Bey listened attentively and said he would translate this to his secretary and have him write it down, as it was very interesting. The following translation is what finally got into the Turkish state document, according to The Boy's World: "American children are kept in the warm sun all the time, living like heathen under the sky. They have trees for homes. Their food is nuts and untamed fruit, which they eat without cooking. They capture wild horses and play a strange game with a ball, the name of which can not be given. As they have no servants they are sent to school, and indecently the boys and the girls sit in the same room and look upon each other's faces. They do not respect women. To keep the boys subject to their masters, they are made slaves, and work land, while the girls are servants in the kitchens until they can work no more, and then they are married off. They show no respect to father and mother, since they eat with them. They love a strange god, and are polite, but the meaning of the last word is unknown."

We are hoping for a clearer understanding of our meaning by the readers of the Home circle than General Lew Wallace met with from his Turkish confrere.—The Circle.

Look For the Beautiful.

Some one said that we are saved by our admirations. Our characters are certainly molded by our ideals. The man who holds an admiration-ideal, so to speak, who finds something good, something to admire, in everybody, is infinitely superior to the one who holds a critical ideal, who is always looking for ugliness, deformity and inharmony.

Nothing else so hardens character, so demoralizes manhood and womanhood, and so utterly precludes the possibility of upward growth, as the deadening habit of fault-finding, of criticizing. As a rule, we find what we seek. If we look for light and beauty,—if we try to find something to admire and praise in others,—we shall find it. On the other hand, if, like the hog, we root in the mire, seek something filthy, keep constantly on the watch for the faults, the unlovely qualities in others, we shall find what we seek. But we must remember that whatever we are looking for, whatever we are striving to find, will color and influence our characters; in other words, we shall become like what we strive and yearn for. So, if we wish to become beautiful and strong, in mind and body, we must seek symmetry, beauty, nobility,—all that is vigorous and elevating,—continually, in nature and humanity.—Success.

When are soldiers and carpenters alike? When drilling.—Philadelphia Record.

The Western railroads have decided to raise the charge for use of freight cars by other roads from twenty-five cents to fifty cents a day after one day's detention, which amounts to doubling the demurrage account, observes the Hartford Courant. The State of Connecticut by law gives the person who receives freight four days in which to unload his car.

An ostrich feather if held upright, will be seen to be perfectly equal on both sides, the stem dividing it exactly in the center. In other feathers the stem are found to be more or less on one side.

The metal tungsten is remarkable for the great density of its alloys, and on this account, since the introduction of repeating rifles of small caliber, many attempts have been made to flatten the trajectory of the bullets by augmenting their density through the addition of tungsten. This fact has led to a singular situation with regard to the tungsten deposits found in the eastern part of France that have hitherto been exploited by a German company. The question is now seriously debated whether the French government should not assume entire control of this supply of what may become an important material of war.

Sea Birds Warn of Storm.

Sea birds soaring in from Mobile Bay sounded the first note of alarm and in true Paul Revere style warned the people of that stricken city of the approach of the coast storm that later brought such havoc to life and property. Through some inexplainable atmospheric condition these sea birds have advance knowledge of coming storms, and they invariably seek the shelter of the inland country.

As early as Sunday night the people of Mobile had given recognition to the first flights of "Mother Carey's chickens," a rather timorous sea bird, which were coming in droves from the coast and passing Mobile in their early haste for shelter. Monday morning the more courageous seagulls began to follow in the path of the timid "Mother Carey's chickens," and later in the day white flocks of pelicans brought up the rear of the procession that was headed to safety.

The shrill notes of these frightened birds could be plainly heard above the din and noise of the busy city, and in the outskirts their presence had been widely commented upon and accepted as a sure forerunner of the disaster that followed so soon after. The people had no further knowledge of the coming storm than that supplied by these aquatic birds, but that was assurance enough to satisfy all that a storm was invading the coast section and that it might take its course up the bay.—Memphis Commercial.

Her Flattering Estimate.

"Kate!" cried a distressed looking woman rushing up to a girl friend on an Asbury Park hotel piazza, "don't breathe a word about it, but I've lost that wretched little diary; dropped it somewhere. And the plaguey thing contains my dearest secrets. I wrote just what I thought, too. There it is in black and white that Beatrice dyes her hair and looks like a fright, that Helen is turning green with jealousy, that Howard has not the courage to propose when he has the chance and that Jack is just too lovely for anything."

"Why don't you post a notice and offer a reward?"

"Indeed I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If any one returns it I shall declare it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Maud?"

"Oh, I don't quite remember, but something pleasant; you can depend upon that."

"Let me help your memory a little. You wrote that I am the most inquisitive little minx you've ever known, and that I think it my special business to look after other people's affairs. Here's your diary. You left it on that chair."

Then they glared at each other haughtily but a little later began to cry, fell into each other's arms and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.—New York Press.

Ptomaines.

Ptomaines, according to Quain, are alkaloids produced by the decomposition of animal substances. The word ptomaine was at first restricted to alkaloids produced by cadaveric decomposition, but it is now also employed to designate alkaloids of animal origin formed during life as a result of chemical changes induced by some agency or other acting within the organism.

The Gordian Knot.

The Gordian knot was said to have been made of thongs used as a harness to the wagon of Gordius, king of Phrygia. Whosoever loosened this knot, the ends of which were not discoverable, the oracle declared should be ruler of Persia. Alexander the Great cut away the knot with his sword until he found the ends of it, and thus, in a military sense at least, interpreted the oracle, 330 B. C.

Food don't digest? Because the stomach lacks some tone of the essential digestants or the digestive juices are not properly balanced. Then, too, it is the undigested food that causes gas urges and painful indigestion. Kodol for Indigestion should be used for relief. Kodol is a solution of vegetable acids. It digests what you eat, and corrects the deficiencies of the digestion. Kodol conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold here by Upchurch Drug Co.

The Antiquity of Football.

If it is not the oldest game in the world football is not far from it. But it has never been a game in which punnations played. The Greek game was originally called pheninda, or feinting later it was called episkyrus, epikoinos and lastly harpaston, under which name it came to resemble football. The Roman game was follis and was less rough. There was a center runner in harpaston, around whom the game was fought out. One side was given the ball; the other side chose a center. The side with the ball stood some distance back from a line on which the center runner was posted, and at signal the ball was thrown past the middle man. Players could be held back from securing the ball in any way, though the Greek youths had no rush formation never seeming to have learned the value of team work.—Outing.

Acute Sense of Hearing.

"Yes," said the prosperous lawyer in speaking to a friend, "I had a long wait before I got any practice, but I am certainly satisfied now with my profession and its emoluments.

"The early days, the waiting for clients, was hard, though. Why, do you know that I got so after awhile that when I heard a footstep on the stairs I could tell ninety-nine times out of a hundred whether or not the person was coming to my office?"

"Well, that is strange," replied his friend. "Your sense of hearing must have been very acute."

"Not so much that," replied the lawyer. "You see, I made up my mind that they were not coming to my office, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred I was right."

Raising His Wages.

Y.—You know I told you a few days after he employed me that he said he'd raise my wages in a month or so?

Z.—Yes. And didn't he?

"No. I misunderstood him. He said he'd try to raise my first week's wages by that time. I haven't had a shilling yet."—London Tit-Bits.

Compromise.

"I have a little granddaughter," said a senator, "who is very fond of animals, especially dogs. Her mother has taught her to pronounce the word until it sounds like dahg. Her father sticks to the good old fashioned dawg, so the child has compromised, and now every canine is a dahg-dawg."

American Exuberance.

A prominent English statesman who visited this country a few years ago was talking with friends about the national characteristics of Americans and gave it as his opinion that the westerner is the most truly humorous of the citizens of the United States.

"Why," said the Briton in explanation, "a relative of mine who frequently visits the States for purposes of sport tells me that he was entranced by the reply made to him by the proprietor of a hotel in Nebraska when he asked if there were any quail in the vicinity.

"'Quail!' exclaimed the proprietor. 'I should say so! Why, they've got to be a regular nuisance round here. My cook complains that she can't throw a piece of toast out of the window without four or five fat quail fighting to see which shall get on it?'"—Woman's Home Companion.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Absorbing Point at by Florence Drug Co.

When a man comes in to this store and calls for any particular indigestion remedy, we always give him what he ask for, but in case he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or Florence Drug co., are ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Worry Makes Disease.

A man who keeps worrying about the state of his liver will almost be sure to have trouble with it eventually. Indigestion can be brought on in the same way and a long list of other ailments.—A Physician in World's Work.

Shoe Superstitions.

Never place a pair of new shoes higher than your head, says an old superstition, or you'll have bad luck wearing them, and never black one before putting the other on for a similar reason.

The secret of being tiresome is in telling everything.—Voltaire.

Youth and Pleasure.

Youth is not the age of pleasure. We then expect too much, and we are, therefore, exposed to daily disappointments and mortifications. When we are a little older and have brought down our wishes to our experience, then we become calm and begin to enjoy ourselves.—Lord Liverpool.

Fortune.

Fortune is like the market, where many times if you can stay a little the price will fall, and again it is sometimes like a sibyl's offer, which at first offereth the commodity at full, then consumeth part and part and still holdeth up the price.—Bacon.

A proper secrecy is the only mystery of able men. Mystery is the only secrecy of weak and cunning ones.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all those people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Clanton, Ala., Jan. 7, 1907

Editor Banner—Mr. Middleton, our Representative in the Legislature, has just shown me a call he is going to publish this week in both papers, requesting all that were interested in good roads that could to meet in Clanton, Thursday, the 17th. Now, I hope we will have a good meeting and that as many as can will come out to this meeting. We are all talking good roads, and let us start to making them. I hope every road apportioner, and as many overseers will come as can. The Commissioners' Court will be in session counting the votes of Beat 3, 4, and 6 of the stock law election. Let every good roads man in the county turn out.

Respectfully,

Sardis.

Editor Banner—I want to say a few words in opposition to stock law. It is detrimental to our well being in this county. We don't want it, we don't need it. It will cause a perpetual confusion, and in the end a perpetual starvation. You friends of stock law just go down in Dallas county and there you will see the bad condition of affairs brought about by stock law. Men who have lived in stock law sections for thirty years say it is one of the worst things ever imposed on a people. So I say vote it down, nip it in the bud, and let us continue in peace and prosperity, for as Bro. Nix said it is hard to get rid of a bad thing.

Respectfully,
S. B. MCCARY.

PIONEER PICTURES.

We are back to make our next and last pictures for 99c, $1.98. Prices go back to the old prices—$1.98 and $3 96—after we put in the next shipment at the low price. Never before have pictures been enlarged in 16x20 size at our prices, and we can't afford to continue to make them and get no more out of them. So if you have pictures you ever expect to have copied, it will be to your interest to take advantage of this last opportunity in getting them made cheap. We expect to call at every home in the county. So get your pictures ready. Look for us.

Happily Married.

At the home of the bride's mother, on Dec. 22, Miss Emma Sims and Mr. Elbert Littlejohn were happily married. It was a quiet marriage, only a few being present. The home was beautifully decorated. The bride was charmingly gowned in white mohair. After the marriage the bridal party was invited to the dining room. There a beautiful supper was spread. The happy couple left Selma Monday morning for Clanton, accompanied by the bride's cousin, Miss Naomi Williams, of Thorsby. The bride is one of Selma's most charming young ladies; the groom is one of Chilton's prosperous young men. The writer wishas them a happy life.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blackman, the 23d. ult., Mr. J. P. Gardner and Miss Ida May Blackman were united in holy bonds of matrimony, Dr. H. W. Caffey performed the ceremony. Many wishes to the happy couple.

One of the pleasantest of the holiday entertainments was the reception given Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Caldwell in honor of the latter's cousin, Miss Eula Daniel, of Birmingham. The Xmas colors of red and white were carried out in the decorations. A profusion of holly and mistletoe being used with Xmas bells of crepe paper. Pit and fiddledywinks were the features of the evening's entertainment, Miss Daniel having the honor of winning the greatest number of games in pit, closely followed by Miss Willie Mills; while Mr. Jerome Williams carried off the palm in kiddledywinks. A delicious buffet supper was served, and at a late hour the guests departed hoping for a speedy repetition of the charming hospitality of their host and hostess.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

A single tear in the study does more for a sermon than a whole flood in the pulpit.

When a man wants to sell his automobile it is generally a sign that one or the other of them is broke.

According to reports from Amsterdam the two hundred years' war of the Dutch in the Celebes has ended at last in the capitulation of the hostile tribes. For war will now be substituted the policy of "benevolent assimilation" as practiced by the Dutch in their colonial possessions.

A great many people—more, perhaps, than is imagined—are pleased to learn that Bernard Shaw and Leo Tolstoy agree with them that Shakespeare was not a thinker or a moralist. They are glad to have their own want of taste encouraged by such high authorities. Voltaire said that "Hamlet" was the work of a drunken savage, and asked who listened to plays of Shakespeare that had an opportunity to hear or read the divine dramas of Corneille and Racine. The question may now be reversed, in spite of Tolstoy and Shaw, whose self-applause blinds them to the transcendent merits of the greatest of poets, who probed deeper than any other into the human heart.

The skyscraper building, which is now the fashion in nearly all large cities, is an effort to relieve surface congestion of business by building skyward. The New York Tribune points out that the remedy, instead of ending the trouble, only adds to it unless the streets can be broadened to correspond with the increased capacity of the skyscraper. It is pretty well settled in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and in some other of the lesser cities that the difficulties of transportation, for persons and materials, must put an eventual limit upon the profitable concentration of business in limited areas. Freedom, celerity and economy of movement, when too much circumscribed, bring about corrective results.

It is safe to say that any child brought up to be kind to animals will preserve through adult years a compassionable nature. — Providence Journal. To which comment the New York Herald add: Our kindly contemporary is preaching sound doctrine. The child who is taught to love animals and to have a dog as a companion is introduced to a friend of the truest and best kind—the kind of friendship that lasts. Have you never had a dog? Then you don't know what pleasure can be had in his companionship in rambles, in his quiet presence in your room, his unobtrusiveness when human company would bore you; a little "chum" who always adapts himself to your mood when man or woman would jar upon you. By all means cultivate in children a love of animals, especially of "man's best friend," the dog.

Recents accidents to submarine craft have directed general attention to the whole question of submarine construction and its possibilities and achievements. In response to this popular interest, Harper's Weekly has secured from Mr. Lawrence Y. Spear, late Naval Constructor in the United States Navy, a remarkable article setting forth with authoritative impartiality the dangers of the submarine, real and imaginary. Mr. Spear points out that "years of practical experience and thousands upon thousands of submerged runs made all over the world under all conditions of weather and sea, have conclusively demonstrated that all the problems in connection with the normal control of the boat have been generally solved. The danger, therefore, of uncontrolled dives reaching enormous or fatal depths is in fact imaginary. This becomes further apparent when it is remembered that a depth of fifty or sixty feet is the greatest for which there is any ordinary tactical use, while the boats themselves are able to withstand the depth of 300 feet. In conclusion, he quotes Captain R. H. Bacon, Commander of the British battleship Dreadnaught, as follows: "Nowhere is the extent of possible danger known better than among those who man the boats, and nowhere would the idea of excessive liability to accident be more scouted. . . . It is rather outside the navy than in it that apprehension as to the safe use of the boats arises."

FIRST SESSION OF LEGISLATURE.

Senators and Governor Take Oath of Office. Message Delayed.

A RECESS UNTIL THURSDAY.

J. LEE LONG OF BUTLER ELECTED CHAIRMAN AND WILLIAM MARTIN SPEAKER.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 8.—The Alabama legislature met in quadrennial session today.

Alfred M. Tunstall, speaker of the house four years ago, presided over that body.

Organization of the senate was completed in thirty minutes, and adjournment taken until tomorrow at 11 o'clock. The house was an hour or more organizing.

All but Senator Forrester, of Houston, were present.

Took the Oath.

Lieutenant-Governor Cunningham then asked the senators-elect to rise and take the oath of office. The senators arose and in a slow and solemn voice repeated the following oath after Dr. Cunningham: "I solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of Alabama and faithfully and honestly discharge my duties to the best of my ability, so help me God."

Senator Lusk, of Marshall, asked that the senators be required to enroll their names one by one. The senators came up and attached their signatures to the roll of the senate. Lieutenant-Governor Cunnigham announced that the enrolling of the senate had been completed, with the exception of Senator Forrester, of Houston.

Senator Lusk, of Marshall, then made a motion that the senate adjourn until 12 o'clock Wednesday, and the motion prevailed.

Immediately after adjournment Senator Lusk, who is the leader of the Comer forces, announced that a democratic caucus of the senate would be held tonight in the senate chamber. The democratic caucus will include every senator.

The object of this caucus is to elect the senate officers.

The House.

The house was called to order at 12:17 p. m. by Alfred M. Tunstall, former speaker of the house.

The invocation was asked by the Rev. R. B. Ellison, of the Forest Avenue Methodist church. A certificate of the secretary of state showing those who had been returned as qualified to the house of representatives for 1907 was read by William W. Brandon, auditor-elect, who acted as reading clerk. It showed 105 representatives. Enrollment followed, each member stepping forward and writing his Montgomery address as his name was called.

The completion of the roll call showed only two members absent. Those absent were Cannon, of Fayette, and Foster, of Tuscaloosa. The members then arose and were sworn in in a body by General R. F. Ligon, clerk of the supreme court. The oath was the same as the one taken in the senate.

Caucus Held.

A motion to take a recess for an hour was made and upon motion of O. C. Maner, of Montgomery, the house resolved itself into a caucus.

The name of J. Lee Long, of Butler, was placed in nomination for permanent chairman of the democratic caucus.

There are only two republicans in the house. The roll call of the caucus was dispensed with.

Martin Speaks.

The name of W. L. Martin, of Montgomery, was placed in nomination for speaker of the house by his colleague, O. C. Maner. Mr. Martin was elected by acclimation, and by a committee of five was notified of his election. When the new speaker was escorted to the rostrum he outlined his policy saying it would be his purpose to be speaker of the whole house. He said he would endeavor to carry out the wishes of the people.

Recess Thursday Until Monday.

It is generally understood that after the house and senate have thoroughly organized a recess will be taken Thursday until Monday. This is said to be part of the administration programme, and comes from a reliable source. The purpose of adjourning from Thursday until Monday is to give the speaker of the house and president of the senate time to make up their committees and at the same time save two legislative days.

It is also argued that the house and senate could not make any progress until the committees had been selected and there is no disposition to proceed with undue haste in their selection. The fitness of every man who is to be appointed must be taken into consideration, and no one must be overlooked.

The reason why Thursday has been named as the day of adjournment is because neither house will be fully organized until that time. When the two houses met for the first time today adjournment was taken pending the holding of the democratic caucus tonight at which officers and clerks will be selected. These newly elected officers will take charge tomorrow after which time we will hear the message of Governor Jelks, which is expected to go in at noon tomorrow.

This message has been delayed because of the decision to hold the caucus tonight instead of last night. Governor Jelks has also been interrupted in the preparation of the message, and it was not entirely finished until today.

Transport Troops Free.

At least eighteen companies of infantry, three troops of cavalry and three batteries of artillery of the Alabama National Guard, together with five military bands, will participate in the inauguration next Monday of Hon. P. B. Comer as governor of Alabama.

This was assured by an announcement made last evening to Captain W. G. Forbes, president of the Commercial club, that the Louisville and Nashville railroad would transport all the militiamen on its lines in the state of Alabama to Montgomery for the inauguration ceremonies free of charge.

New School Building.

Gadsden, Ala.—The board of education met Tuesday to consider plans for the new school building to be erected on the corner of Chestnut and Eleventh streets. The lot is well located having good natural drainage and being on three streets, will be easy of access. All arrangements for the sale of the $20,000 worth of bonds have been perfected, and the building will be commenced as early as possible in order to have it ready in ample time for the fall session. It is thought the attendance for the spring term of the city schools, which have just opened will reach 1,200 or more.

Increase of Stock.

Gadsden, Ala.—According to papers filed in the probate office the Herzburg-Loveman Dry Goods Company have increased their capital stock from $25,000 to $50,000. The increased capital was authorized at a stockholders' meeting held on December 31. The officers of the company are: Louis Loveman, president; L. L. Herzburg, secretary and treasurer. R. K. Foster and R. L. Miller are also stockholders. The Herzburg-Loveman Company is largest mercantile establishment in this section of the state and has enjoyed a large patronage for many years. It is stated that the company intends to greatly enlarge and extend its business in the near future.

Murder Trial Monday.

Decatur, Ala.—Clift Way and Raymond Moore, who were indicted by a special grand jury, charged with the murder of Policeman J. Lem Jones, were arraigned before Judge D. W. Speake and their cases set for trial in the circuit court Monday.

Cortelyou Resigns.

Washington.—George B. Cortelyou has announced his retirement as chairman of the republican national committee. Harry New, vice-chairman will become acting chairman of the committee.

Cortelyou's nomination for secretary of the treasury has not yet been confirmed by the senate.

Madrid.—It is expected that King Alfonso will sign the nomination of Ramon Pina as Spanish minister to the United States. Senor Cologan, who has never presented his credentials, is to be transferred to Mexico.

New York.—President Hubbard, of the New York Cotton Exchange, has announced that Henry W. Taft has been retained to represent it in any proceedings which may result from the fraud order filed in Washington by Representative Livingston and Harvie Jordan.

Paris.—According to a dispatch to the Petit Parisienne from Tangier Raisuli, who was constructing walls at Zinat, was taken prisoner Tuesday and brought to Tangier.

The official reason given for his arrest is that he made the campaign against the chief Fahs, because they submitted to the decisions of the board of foreign affairs.

Fire From Earthquake Counts.

San Francisco, Cal.—Judge Hosmer in the superior court rendered a decision holding that under the earthquake clause contained in many insurance policies is to be included fire damage resulting from the earthquake, as well as damage resulting solely from the earthquake.

Vienna.—News has been received of a serious mutiny in the Austrian navy on three of the largest battleship. An inquiry will be held.

New Publication at Gainesville.

Gainesville, Ga.—Application has been made in the superior court for a charter for the Gainesville Publishing Company. The capital stock is to be $10,000, with the privilege of increasing it to $25,000. It is understood that W. H. Craig, now connected with the Gainesville Eagle, is to be the editor of a new paper, the name of which has not yet been made public. The corporation is to be composed of sixty-two stockholders, and it is expected that the first issue of the paper will appear in a few months.

CONVALESCENCE.

At 9 poor Tom was sick in bed,
A towel wrapped about his head.

At 10 the pain is somewhat less,
But still he feels too ill to dress.

May possibly get up for tea.

He takes some nourishment at noon,
And hopes he may feel better soon.

At 1 he groans, and says, perhaps,
He may be getting a relapse

"It's wonderful," he says at 2,
"What good fresh air will sometimes do!"

At 3, to see him slide down hill,
You wouldn't know he'd been so ill.

AN ESSAY ON HENS.

A boy who was required to write an essay on hens produced the following: "Hens is curious animals, they don't have no nose nor no teeth nor no ears. They swallow their wittles whole and chew it up in their crops inside of 'em. The outside of hens is generally put into pillers and into feather dusters. The inside of a hen is sometimes filled with marbles and shirt buttons and sich. A hen is very much smaller than a good many other animals, but they'll dig up more tomato plants than anything that ain't a hen. Hens is very useful to lay eggs for plum puddings. Hens have got wings and can fly when they get frightened. I cut off a hen's head with a hatchet and it frightened her to death."—Chicago News.

TO RIDE OR TO DRAW.

For some days I have been much interested in two little boys playing in the street with a cart. They are about the same age and equally well dressed, but one rides and the other draws the cart. At almost any time of day you can hear the insistent "get-ap" of the driver, and the little horse responds. He gallops down the hill and patiently plods back, always with his little driver on the seat. Being curious to know if the "little horse" ever got a ride, I have observed them for several days, but so far he is a horse indeed.

Surely, if "the child is father to the man," one will ride and the other draw the cart through life.

Let us not forget that "as the twig is bent the tree's inclined," and teach our children to respect the rights of others, then there will be fewer who will ride all the time, fewer who will draw the cart all the time, and more who will ride a part of the time.—Christian Register.

WEE BOY LOST IN SWAMP.

Colonel Sanger's hounds, when they found three-year-old Raymond Dowd in Nine-Mile Swamp, near Sangerfield, Otsego County, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, gathered around the boy and licked his face.

The child wandered away last Friday when his father was picking hops. An all night search by 300 men was fruitless. Lanterns were carried and fires built to attract the lad's attention, but he gave no sign.

Saturday morning the four hounds arrived. After smelling of a jacket belonging to the lost boy they began searching for his tracks and soon found them. Following a circuitous course, estimated to be ten miles long, they came upon the child lying at the foot of a tree, exhausted from hunger and exposure.

There was a tremendous demonstration when one of the horsemen took the boy home perched on the pummel of a saddle, and the dogs came in for their share of the ovation.

HOW TO MAKE A BUTTERFLY.

Directions for making butterfly flap its wings:

Cut out the two wings through the heavy black line, leaving them joined at the line marked x. Now fold the two wings together at the line marked x; then cut out both the butterfly bodies marked 3 and 4, paste them together, back to back, leaving the legs unpasted, as they may be spread apart to form six legs. Cut out the two feathers and slip them between the paper at dots over eyes, as in the model; spread apart down to the head. When this is finished, says the Brooklyn Eagle, fold the wings over body, as in model No. 1. Then take between finger and thumb, as in model No. 2, and pinch them together. You will then see the butterfly flap its wings in the most lifelike and pretty manner.

A TRICK OF TIME.

Ask any person to think of some hour of the day, tell him to deduct it from twenty and remember the remainder. You take out your watch and inform him that you are going to count around on the dial, and that when you have counted the number corresponding with the remainder that he must remember, he must stop you.

Suppose he thought of 5 o'clock. Five taken from twenty leave fifteen remainder. You now count promiscuously (mentally, not orally) pointing at each count with a pencil to one of the hours on the dial (which must be provided in advance and is made by cutting out a circle of cardboard and marking on it with ink the twelve figures of the clock face).

Beware when you make the eighth count to point to the "twelve," and thence in regular rotation backward toward the left. When you come to the figure "five" you will be stopped, as this will be the fifteenth count, corresponding to the remainder—fifteen—which he was to remember. You will thus know that 5 o'clock was the hour thought of.

If this trick be repeated more than two or three times, it is well to vary the number from which the deduction is to be made. Thus instead of deducting as in the foregoing example, five from twenty, the person addressed may be told to deduct the hour thought of from eighteen, but as eighteen is only six more than twelve, you must be sure to make your sixth (not the eighth) promiscuous count be at the figure "twelve" on the dial.

In the first example, with twenty, the eighth count was made at "twelve" because twenty is eight more than twelve. If twenty-two be the number adopted, the tenth count must be made on figure "twelve," twenty-two being ten more than twelve—and so on with any other number.

When your friends see you are able to tell the time they thought of from different numbers to be deducted from, then they will be more mystified than ever, and will become convinced you are a real mind reader, if you don't let them into the secret.—New York Mail.

PATHETIC STORY OF SANDPIPERS

A few weeks ago, while shore bird shooting on the Chatham (Mass.) flats, my father and I were eye witnesses to a very remarkable and interesting occurrence, which might be of special interest to some of our writers and students of bird life, especially while discussion is made by various writers about the possible reasoning powers of birds and animals.

While we were sitting in our blind a small flock of least sandpipers, or as they are more familiarly known, peeps, came by, and when about ten yards beyond us one of them suddenly left the bunch and lit on the open flat, and for quite a while remained perfectly still.

Soon another single peep came by, and seeing the first little fellow, immediately whirled, emitted his greeting "tweet," and joined him.

Almost immediately the well bird seemed to see there was something wrong, for after walking around the sick bird two or three times he seemed to actually begin to push him toward a small clump of beach grass ten or fifteen feet distant from where they stood.

Arriving there he again walked two or three times around the sick bird, then came close to him and laid his head across the other little fellow's back, after which he settled down on a bit of seaweed and watched him very intently.

In about twenty minutes or half an hour he again started the sick bird toward the heavy beach grass which joins the edge of the flats, and both disappeared within.

Waiting ten minutes or so, I walked over to where they had disappeared and saw what to me was quite a remarkable sight. There, about three feet inside the grass, was the sick bird, evidently grown very weak now, squatting on some seaweed, and standing in front of him, as straight as he possibly could stand, and with wings partly spread, as though to screen him from view, was the well bird, intently watching every move I made. I left them there.

Having observed shore birds for a good many years myself, and knowing their wild and wary nature, also my father having shot them for the last thirty years, during which time he has never seen anything like this incident, the occurrence was to me quite remarkable, as it not only showed that the well bird realized there was something wrong with his fellow, but he showed a loyalty and constancy to him in time of need.—Correspondence in Forest and Stream.

Final report of committee.
Adjournment.

Speakers are requested not to exceed the limit of thirty to forty minutes in the delivery of their addresses. This is necessary in order to complete the program of speakers and give ample time to reports of committees and transaction of such business matters as will require the attention of the convention.

Railroad rates, one fare for the round trip, plus 25 cents, from all regular ticket offices in the South.

Upon arrival of delegates at Birmingham they are requested to call at once at the bureau of information so as to secure prompt hotel accommodations and such other information as is desired.

All resolutions must be presented in writing. Delegates are earnestly requested to be prompt in attendance on all sessions of the convention.

Very respectfully,
HARVIE JORDAN,
President Southern Cotton Association.

Cotton; Varieties.

Corn; Varieties, and Williamson Method of Culture.

In a test of thirty-two varieties of cotton in 1905 the five yielding the largest amount of lint and the highest combined value of lint and seed were, in order of yield, Toole, Cook's Improved, Cleveland, Bancroft's Herlong and Christopher. Among twenty varieties tested in 1906 the five varieties at the head of the list were, in order of rank, Cook's Improved, Cleveland, Layton, Toole and Pullnot. Valuing lint of all varieties in 1905 at 11 1-2 cents and in 1906 at 10 cents per pound, and seed at 70 cents per hundred pounds, the ranking variety in 1905 afforded a total value of $67.94 per acre, and in 1906 of $69.30 per acre. The largest amount of lint cotton was 531.2 pounds in 1905, made by Toole, and 617.6 pounds in 1906, made by Cook's Improved.

In a test of nineteen varieties of corn the largest yields were made respectively by Sanders, Marlboro, Mosby and Henry Grady.

A test was made of the Williamson method of corn culture. The special features of this method consist in (1) dwarfing the plant by omission of early cultivation; (2) application of very large amounts of commercial fertilizer after the plant is dwarfed, and (3) thick planting in the drill.

As compared with corn similarly planted and fertilized, but cultivated as usual and given the usual distance in the drill, the Williamson method afforded much smaller stalks, slightly smaller ears, ears nearer the ground, a larger number of broken-down plants and fewer ears per hundred plants.

The yield on poor sandy land, on which velvet bean vines had been plowed under, was 30.5 bushels per acre by the Williamson method and 29.5 bushels on the check plot.

Rains were abundant and well distributed at the time when the usual cultivation was omitted, which circumstance favored the Williamson method.

Boston, Mass.—A lengthy protest has been filed by members of the advisory board of the Jamestown Exposition against the diversion of the exposition to the service of militarism. The document sets forth that the display of so much of the pomp and glory of war will have a bad effect upon the people and retard the growth of peace between nations.

Guthrie, Okla.—The constitutional convention here voted against the states rights doctrines, thus reversing its former action and also offering two amendments to the federal constitution, one favoring a federal tax and the other the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

New Orleans, La.—It is reported that a Boston company will ask the United States to send a warship to Nicaragua to protect American interests.

Christiana.—It is reported that the steamer Lindholmen caught fire off Farsend and four passengers were suffocated.

Washington, D. C.—Representative Williams, of Mississippi, has addressed a letter to the postmaster-general asking for a full investigation of the methods of doing business of the New York cotton exchange.

Birmingham, Ala.—In a wreck here on the Seaboard one man was killed and two injured. The wreck was caused by a switch engine jumping the track.

Centreville, Ala.—Will Frost, who killed Noah Suttle several months ago, has been arrested and is in the county jail.

Andalusia, Ala.—Jake Martin, who killed Jack Kennedy at Falco on December 24, will be given a preliminary hearing on January 10. The killing was the result of an old feud.

Andalusia, Ala.—George Rodenburry, guard for the Henderson Lumber Company, has been arrested on the charge of the murder of a white convict who was attempting to escape. He made bond.

Andalusia.—The Covington County Farms Land Company has begun business with strong business men backing it and the intention of developing 27,000 acres of farm land.

Montgomery, Ala.—S. J. Russell and his son, Tillman Russell, have been bound over for killing Harvey Toles, a negro. They gave bond of $500 each.

Huntsville, Ala.—The local municipal fight will soon be on. So far there are no announced candidates, but it is understood William J. Mastin will be one of the mayoralty candidates.

Montgomery, Ala.—The State Publishing Company, capital $20,000, has been chartered by Alva Fitzpatrick and others. They will publish an afternoon paper.

Huntsville, Ala.—The Terry Bros. Dry Goods Company has been organized here with an authorized capital stock of $$75,000. The incorporators are: S. L. Terry, E. T. Terry and Mrs. Mary McGowan. The incorporators will continue the business of Terry Bros. & Rodgers, dissolved.

Body Floats Two Hundred Miles.

Gadsden, Ala.—The body of Luther Walraven, a young man who was drowned in the Oostanaula river above Rome, Ga., was found in the Coosa river above this city and has been sent back to the young man's home. The body was badly bruised and decomposed, having been in the water so long, and had floated nearly 200 miles. Young Walraven had been to call on a young lady and was attempting to cross the river when it had become very high and was washed down and drowned.

Simpson Found at Sheffield.

Sheffield, Ala.—Paul Simpson, the young man who wandered from his home in this city on the night of December 1, was seen by Conductor Shirling, of the electric car line, walking aimlessly near the tracks between this city and Tuscumbia. Shirling took Simpson to his home and refused the reward offered by the unfortunate young man's father.

Line From Chattanooga.

Birmingham, Ala.—It is generally believed in railroad circles that the Louisville and Nashville railroad will build a line from Chattanooga to the main line of that road from Atlanta to Cincinnati. The Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern, the new line of the Louisville and Nashville from Atlanta to Cincinnati, has just been opened for passenger traffic, the first train being operated during the past week.

This line runs about thirty-five or forty miles east of Chattanooga, and if a line were built from Chattanooga it would tap the main line about Etowah. It is known that a survey has been made of this line making the connection.

Louisville, Ky.—Traffic on all the railroads has been much impeded by the heavy rains for the past few days.

Insurance Department.

Montgomery, Ala.—In a report on the office of state commissioner of insurance, E. R. McDavid, commissioner, and A. C. Sexton, deputy commissioner, State Examiner G. F. Sedberry shows that the entire receipts from June 1, 1906, to the end of the year were $3,627.58. He pays a high compliment to the conduct of the office and reports that the laws have been kept in every way.

Founders' Day at Judson.

Marion, Ala.—Founders' day at Judson College will have an unusually fine program, the main feature of which will be an address by Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D., the distinguished and eloquent pastor of the First Baptist church of Elgin, Ill.

At night from 8 to 10 Mother Judson will celebrate her birthday, to which all her daughters, granddaughters and friends are cordially invited.

APPLY TORCH TO COUNTY JAILS.

President of State Convict Bureau Submits Spicy Report.

BETTER TO STAKE THEM OUT

Like Wild Animals Than Confine Prisoners in Places Reeking With Disease and Filth.

Montgomery, Ala.—Dr. Shirley Bragg, president of the Alabama convict bureau, has submitted his biennial report to the governor. In this report he states he has grave doubts as to the working of convicts in the mines. He states that the convicts are subjected to many accidents and that nearly all the deaths of convicts in the state occur at the mines. There were 360 accidents to state men in the mines last year, but only three were fatal.

He says the county convict system if anything is worse than ever before in its history. "If the state wishes to kill its convicts it should do it directly and not indirectly," he says. He favors persons convicted of crime to be sentenced to the penitentiary and distributed according to their physical condition.

In reference to the county jails Dr. Bragg says: "I am more convinced that the ideas of humanity and civilization would be better carried out if the torch was applied to every jail in Alabama. It would be more humane and far better to stake the prisoner out with a ring around his neck like a wild animal than to confine him in places that we call jails, that are reeking with filth and disease and alive with vermin of all kinds."

He favors the appointment of a jail inspector to see that the places are kept in proper condition and that the prisoners are properly fed. "I tell no secrets," he says, "when I say that in many jails men and women remain for months without means of washing their faces and hands. He said those convicted of burglary and highway robbery should suffer death, and this should not be left discretionary with the judge or the jury.

The receipts of the department from September, 1905, to September, 1906, amounted to $759,757.47, of which $368,000 was clear profit. There are 2,059 convicts under the charge of the bureau.

Explosion Jars City Miles Away.

El Paso, Tex.—The magazine containing 8,700 pounds of dynamite at the Denn, Ariz., shaft in Lowell, Ariz., exploded with terrific force. Every window pane in Lowell was shattered, and the shock was felt at Douglas, twenty-six miles away. Rumors were current for many hours that many were killed and many imprisoned, but investigation shows the report as untrue. Thirteen were at work in the shaft, all of whom escaped. The most seriously injured was Joe Collie, foreman of the mine, who sustained a fracture of the skull.

Lee Wyatt, carpenter at the mine was driving home in his buggy when the magazine blew up. His buggy was demolished and his horse blown to atoms, but Mr. Wyatt escaped with trifling injuries. Superintendent Pattison estimates the damages outside the loss of the explosion, at $5,000. The cause of the explosion is unknown. Nearby towns were severely shocked, but escaped serious damage.

Nashville Girl Killed.

Nashville, Tenn.—Two bad accidents occurred on the lines of the Nashville Railwayand Light Company. Miss Susie Smith, 17 years old, a telephone operator, while attempting to board a moving train at Twenty-second avenue and Church street, fell under the second car. She was horribly mangled and led in a fe wminutes.

During an exceptionally heavy fog through which lights of the blocking system could not be seen, two heavily loaded passenger trains collided, head on, at Ninth street and Indiana avenue. Eight persons were painfully injured and several others received bruises and cuts.

Terrorists Executed.

Warsaw.—Three terrorists were executed in the citadel here, and nine others condemned to death are awaiting execution.

Macon, Ga.—At a meeting held here the Seaboard railway acquired possession of the M. D. & S. railway, which is a direct line from Macon to Savannah, connecting with the Seaboard at Vidalia.

General de Bathe Dead.

London.—Gen. Sir Henry Percival de Bathe, whose son, Hugo Gerald de Bathe, is the husband of Lillie Langtry, is dead. He was born in 1823.

Smith Denies Report.

Louisville, Ky.—Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, denied the story published recently that he was to resign the presidency of that road.

Libel Threats Please Jordan.

Atlanta, Ga.—"I sincerely hope the New York cotton exchange will issue a warrant for libel against me, as it threatens, for this will bring out in the courts the charges I have made against it and result toward its own undoing."

This statement was made by Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Association, on his return from New York and Washington.

"Before I left Washington agents of the postoffice department were authorized to inspect the warehouses of the New York exchange and make an examination of the grades of cotton stored there. This will disclose the truth of my allegations. I believe Secretary Cortelyou will investigate thoroughly the charges I have made, and the fraud order I have asked for, I believe, will be granted."

Volunteer Regiments.

Washington, D. C.—Secretary Taft sent to congress this week the draft of a bill for the organization of volunteer regiments in time of war, similar to those organized in 1899 for service in the Philippines, which were officered by the officers of the regular army. The measure is most comprehensive and is intended to eradicate the plan of having state volunteer regiments organized and officered by civilian officers appointed because of the political influence rather than because of any particular ability they have shown for military duty.

To Build New Reservoir.

Augusta, Ga.—Commissioner of Public Works of Augusta Nisbet Wingfield, in his annual report to the city council Monday night, recommended that a new reservoir be built in Summerville, so that Augusta's water supply will never be in danger of exhaustion. At present this city has one large reservoir, but in the event something should happen that would prevent the water from it being used in the city, or should the single water main that connects it with the city break, Augusta would be without water probably for many days. Commissioner Wingfield's plan is for the council to appropriate $26,000 each year until the reservoir is finished.

Commissioner Wingfield also recommended the destruction of the old South Carolina bridge, which is now in disuse on account of its foundations becoming decayed from a lack of proper care.

Anti-Pass on Street Car.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The local street railway company is one of the few systems of its kind in the south that is affected by the anti-pass clause of the new rate bill. The company has a line extending from Chattanooga to Fort Oglethorpe, in Chickamauga Park, and now when the Georgia line is reached newspaper men, public officials and others who formerly rode on passes and free car tickets are compelled to pay over to the conductor a cash fare for the balance of their journey if they are going to the end of the street car line.

New Corporations.

Montgomery, Ala.—Secretary of State E. R. McDavid has been informed of the following new corporations:

McKenzie Mercantile Company, of Greenville; capital stock, $20,000; incorporators, W. F., S. P. and J. C. McKenzie.

International Stock Cooperage Sales Agency, of Madison count: capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, E. H. Nixon, W. I. Wellman and A. E. Nixon.

Forest Home Mercantile Company, of Forest Hill, Butler county; capital stock, $6,000; incorporators, H. D. and J. A. Lazenby and J. E. Wall.

The Alabama Land and Colonization Company, of Escawba, Washington county, has notified of its name being changed to the Alabama Land and Lumber Company. Its capital stock has been increased from $35,000 to $50,000; incorporators, T. E. Cayeski, B. B. Simbor and W. B. Miller.

Birmingham Man Killed.

McComb City, Miss.—J. L. Hancock, of Birmingham, was instantly killed and three other men injured by the explosion of a logging engine near here.

Four Killed by Powder.

Racine, Wis.—An explosion occurred in the grinding mill at the Laflin & Rand Powder Mill Company, located in Pleasant Prairie. Four persons were killed outright, two fatally injured and two otherwise. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

Uruguayan Minister.

Washington, D. C.—The new Uruguayan minister, Dr. Luis Melian Lafinur, has been forinally presented to President Roosevelt by Secretary Root.

New Orleans, La.—Thomas O'Connor, Jr., was killed, having his throat cut with a knife while scuffling with his father. The elder Thomas O'Connor has been arrested and charged with the murder of his son.

Found Dead.

Anniston, Ala.—J. W. Haynes, of beat 14, was found dead with a gunshot wound in his chest. It is believed a shotgun, which he was carrying, accidentally discharged.

Eufaula, Ala.—The Chawalla mills will be put up for sale on the 23d. Its bonds have been purchased by a syndicate, and it is deemed probable it will operate the plant.

GRAY LOOKS LIKE WINNER.

The Influence of Comer is For his Appointing Senate Committees.

TWENTY SENATORS PLEDGED.

Lieutenant-Governor-Elect Sees Muddle in Thomas' Loyalty to Those Opposing and to Comer.

Montgomery, Ala.—The impression gained from talking to members of the legislature is that there will be two sessions, the first to run about twenty-four days and the latter to follow about September. Col. S. W. John, of the Jefferson delegation, said that he could see no other way to get through with the work.

It will take, he says, six weeks to read and digest the new code, let alone other work.

Col. J. L. Bulger announced that he was not in the race for speaker, and while some friends had complimented him along this line, he was not a candidate. It is understood he will be for Martin.

Probably half of the members of the legislature are here. Martin and Goodwin both express confidence in their race for speaker.

It has developed definitely that all the influence of the Comer administration is to be on the side of Henry B. Gray, lieutenant-governor, in his contention that he is charged by the people with the duty of appointing the committees of the senate. In the contention of Perry Thomas, who is to be president pro tem. of the senate, this is opposed on the ground that no such authority exists and that the president pro tem. shall make the selections. Lieutenants of the Comer following will be here to aid Mr. Gray in the fight, which is growing warmer as the time of the session draws nigh. Mr. Gray made the following statement:

"I can say that I have the hearty support of Governor Comer and his friends. Frank S. White and W. D. Nesbitt, of Birmingham, and Bibb Graves and J. Craig Smith, of Montgomery, all ardent supporters of Mr. Comer, will be here to lend me their enthusiastic aid. I have twenty senators pledged to me, all of whom supported Mr. Comer save two, these two being for me for personal friendship.

"Up to now no senator who voted for Mr. Comer has announced his intention to support Mr. Thomas. At present the men working here for Mr. Thomas are Reese, of Dallas; Teasley, of Montgomery, and Blackmon, of Calhoun, all of whom were for Dr. R. M. Cunningham for governor. Mr. Thomas was for Dr. Cunningham, and if he has concluded to support the incoming administration, as he says he has, I am sure he will have difficulty in controlling the men about him and those who support his contention as to the organization of the senate.

"It seems to me that Mr. Thomas' environment is as nearly that of Dr. Cunningham as anything I can conceive. I forget to say, in addition to this, Dr. Cunningham has recently given out an interview in which he says that he is strongly for the position taken by Mr. Thomas. It may be that with Dr. Cunningham supporting him, as well as other Cunningham members of the senate, that should Mr. Thomas organize the senate, the Comer administration will have his hearty support, but I can hardly see how even Mr. Thomas with all the power of the president pro tem. could accomplish so much. I do not see how Mr. Thomas can be loyal to his supporters, who are opposed to Mr. Comer, and to Mr. Comer at the same time."

Armed Revolutionists.

San Salvador.—The Salvadorean government officially declares that a group of armed revolutionists disguised as soldiers have appeared in Estanquelas. They fired upon the garrison and immediately disappeared. Later they continued their disorders. A number of persons caught with the rebellion have been imprisoned here and in Honduras.

Land Commissioners.

Montgomery, Ala.—T. W. Coleman, of Eutaw, and M. P. LeGrand, of Montgomery, have been appointed commissioners for the government lands given the State University by act of congress approved April 22, 1854. Of the three commissioners appointed at the last date only one, Dr. A. Smith, of Tuscaloosa, is now living. The others were J. Burns Moore and A. C. Hargrove.

Shot At Judge.

St. Louis.—Just after Judge J. A. McDonald, of the circuit court, had convened court, Miss Rosa Weil suddenly arose from among the spectators and fired point blank with a revolver at the judge. The bullet missed him. She was disarmed and arrested. She was a litigant in a case concerning a disputed inheritance that was tried before Judge McDonald two months ago.

THE Democratic Executive committee is called to meet at Clanton, Saturday, Jan. 12, at 11 a.m.

THE Legislature convened in general session at Montgomery, Tuesday, with plenty of work confronting it, including a large number of local bills.

Among these are some which more particularly concern Chilton county, and first in importance is the

for Clanton, which may or may not prove a good thing for the town. Some towns have tried it and it has proved a success, while in others it has turned out a failure. There is no disputing the fact that a considerable quantity of liquor is disposed of in Clanton, and the advocates of the dispensary claim it would be much better for the town to legally control the traffic, realizing from its sale an income sufficient to properly police the town, and to carry out some much needed improvements.

The opponents of the measure declare it is inimical to the best interests of the town, and that it is better to suffer from blind tigers than to legalize the sale of whiskey in any town.

An influential voter of Beat 5 says that Clanton, the county seat of a prohibition county, has not the moral right to undertake to sell whiskey to debauch the county, and that if a vote was taken on the subject throughout the county it would not carry.

Many of Clanton's leading citizens, however, have decided to put it to the test, and the town election next Monday, when so far only one ticket is in the field, and that one pledged to the dispensary, will determine the question for some time.

Another thing of importance to the people of Chilton is the proposition to establish a to supercede the Commissioners' Court. We do not know the originators of this scheme, nor who is at the back of it, but we do know that the Commissioners were duly elected by a majority of the voters of the county, and while we cannot endorse some of the acts of the Commissioners, feeling they have needlessly wasted some of the county's money, still we believe in the Democratic doctrine of the rule of the majority, and as they have been elected they should be allowed to serve their terms.

The much talked of question of

is to be placed for settlement before the voters of Beats 3, 4 and 6 next Tuesday when an election has been ordered, and we confess we are very undecided as to the result. Both sides claim they are right, those in favor of the law vowing it will benefit the county, improve the breed of cattle, etc., while those opposing it declare there is plenty of timber at present and the county has not advanced to that stage where stock law is necessary.

A Curious Custom.

In certain parts of India in families where there are several daughters the youngest sisters may only marry after the elder sister is married. Of course it frequently happens that no suitor appears for the elder, in which case she is got out of the way by a very neat expedient. She is wedded to a tree or a large flower, and then the younger sister may marry. The elder sister must be careful, however, to choose a plum, apple or apricot tree, from which she can get a divorce, for if she married an elm, pine or poplar these are sacred trees and must not be trifled with.

Southern Cotton Association.

Editor Banner—Kindly publish in your next issue the enclosed list of delegates from your county appointed by me to the annual convention of the Southern Cotton Association to be held in Birmingham, January 17, 18, 19.

Chilton—F A Gulledge, J D Sims, T J Jackson, W. H. Conway, W H Killingsworth, L. H Reynolds, Moses Robinson, Tipton Mullins, N J. Calloway, Frank Crichton, J. O. Middleton, J. C. Elder, Tom Hand, W. I. Mullins, A. G. Dake, J. N. Dennis.

Every one who is in sympathy with the aims and purposes of the association is invited to attend this convention, and it is earnestly hoped that the delegation from your county will not be restricted to the delegates named, but that every one who can do so will attend. Rates to Birmingham for that occasion will be one fare plus 25 cents, and it is expected that it will be the largest convention ever held in this country.

Hoping to meet with you on that occasion, I am,

Yours very truly,
W. H. SEYMOUR,
Pres. Ala. Div.

THE ORIGINAL

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Upchurch Drug co.

That Birmingham will provide for the entertainment of the 5,000 to 7,000 visitors who will come to the third annual convention of the Southern Cotton Association which meets from the 15th to 18th of January inclusive, is a foregone conclusion. People unacquainted with the town and its spirit of enterprise will wonder how much an undertaking can be accomplished. But the answer is very simple. In the first place Birmingham has more restaurants, cafes and lunch rooms and greater hotel and boarding capacity and hence is better prepared to take care of large conventions, than any other town in the south. Not only this, but Birmingham is in the covention habit. She has handled within the past few months delegations of all descriptions from Methodist conferences to college fraternities, and she has many more yet on the string for the near future. But in making the coming cotton convention a success she has even more at stake than merely to sustain her reputation as a hostess. First of all, feeling that she is just now coming into her own so to speak in being recognized for what she really is, the actual, geographical and productive center of the cotton belt, Birmingham intends to become the permanent home of the Cotton Association.

And then again, the business men of Birmingham are not unmindful of their opportunities in this regard. They also know that to have the goods is not all of a business transaction. They know that Birmingham must be pleasing to the strangers in her personality as well as in her physical aspects and that by impressing the visitors with a glad hand welcome is to sow the seed of the most enduring form of mutual benefit.

The coming convention of the Cotton Association will be the biggest thing of the kind ever held in the south. There is every reason why it should be an unqualified success.

The railroads have made a round trip rate fare, plus 25 cents for the occasion.

Editor Banner—I seldom communicate through your valuable paper, therefore, I hope you will be indulgent enough to give me a small space now. I have recently seen a petition in which the tax payers of Chilton county are asked ¼th of one per cent to improve the roads of said county. It seems to me if this petition meets a favorable consideration, all persons now liable to road duty will be exempt from such service. If I am correct in my opinion, such a law would be a great hardship to property holders in Chilton county. If such a tax could be added to the present system of road working, I think it would be a blessing otherwise it woulb not why not ask for a road law similar to the one in Dallas county. Hope to have opinions of others. MILO.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Safe Remedy for children.

In buying cough medicine for coildren, never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. It is intended espcially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and there is no better medicine in the world for these diseases. It is not only a certain cure for croup, but, when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given as directed. It contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and may be given as confidently to a baby as an adult. For sale by Upchurch Drug co, clanton, and A. Horn. Thorsby.

To the Sunday School Workers

To the Sunday School Workers of Chilton County, Greeting:

Dear Co-Workers—The year 1906 has come and gone with all of its opportunities closed forever. And I presume, as we look back over its opportunities, we can all see where we could have done much better, but what is the use to grieve about the past as it will not change the facts in the least. The only use we can possibly make of the past is to profit by our mistakes and lost opportunities, and thus make them serve as stepping stones to the opportunities that will come to us during the year 1907.

The important question to us is what are we as Sunday school workers going to do with these opportunities? Are we going to let them slip by as we have been doing, or are we going to make the most of them? Some one may ask what are the opportunities that you allude to? We answer, the opportunity of being a regular attendant at your own Sunday school, of attending your district convention, and of attending your county convention, and helping in every way possible to make them a success. And lots of other opportunities that I can't mention here that will come to each of us and knock at our doors for attention. Let me plead with you, as one that loves the Sunday-school work, let us each put forth our best endeavors to make this the best year of our lives. And thus make it count big for God in the uplift of fallen humanity.

Here is my hand in Christian greeting and fellowship, brother, sister, will you grasp it by faith, and in God's name enter into sacred Christian covenant with me and each other and with our blessed Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, that you will do your very best? I believe you will and I am going to act on that belief, and ask you to be true to your promise.

As your acting county president, I would like the opportunity of attending all district meetings that may be held between this time and the county convention. And I most earnestly wish to urge upon you the great need of each district holding one or more meetings during each year. Dear workers, will you awake and put on the whole armor, and go out after the neglectful ones and bring them in, for there is plenty of room and to spare. Please let me know when and where your district meetings are to be held, and I will be there if not Providentially hindered And when I say Providentially, I mean just that and not trivial hinderances. So let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and make this the best year in our lives.

Yours for success in His name,
A. HORN,
Acting County President.

GOOD ROADS MEETING CALLED.

Clanton, Ala., Jan 7, 1907

To the People of Chilton County:

I leave this evening for Montgomery to attend the sessions of the Legislature, but before doing so I desire to point out to you a matter in which all of our people are vitally interested, viz.: The improvement of the public roads in Chilton county.

This is a question that has impressed itself upon the minds of progressive people all over the State, and as a result af this agitation, no doubt, measures will be introduced in the Legislature seeking to provide for the better construction and maintenance of the public roads in the State.

These measures may, or may not, suit the conditions of our county, or comply with the wants and wishes of our people. It is my purpose, in order that I may act intelligently in the premises, to ascertain the sense of the people of the county on this question, and to that end, I earnestly request every citizen in the county, who can possibly do so, to meet me at the court house in Clanton, on Thursday, the 17th day of January, 1907, at 10 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of discussing proposed legislation along this line, and for suggesting that legislation which is considered best for our county.

This is not a question of politics, but a question affecting the material interests of every citizen of the county, regardless of the political party with which he affiliates. It is my sincere desire, as a member of the Legislature, to subserve, as nearly as it is possible for me to do, the very best interest of every citizen in the county regardless of political faith or creed; and in effectuating this desire I feel confident that I will have the hearty co-operation of every good citizen.

I hope that each one will become active in this matter and see that his neighbor is informed of this meeting. By so doing the attendance will be large, and the greater good will be accomplished.

Faithfully yours,

J. OSMOND MIDDLETON.

WHEN MOTHER IS AWAY.

When mother is away the day seems very long.
The dollies do not care to play, and will not mind a thing I say.
The bubbles will not blow, nor the toys wind up to go.
But everything seems out of sorts when mother is away.
When mother is away cook makes tarts so nice and light,
But I can't swallow them, because my throat seems shut up tight.
And when she speaks, I answer very loud and clear,
For my own voice seems small and queer when mother is away.
But when I hear my mother come, the house begins to shine.
I just fly down those stairs, I tell you, in no time.
She takes me in her arms and says, "My little girlie, all alone?"
And I just jump and shout and dance, 'cause mother's home.

MAFFET'S FIGHT FOR HEALTH.

By EDWIN L. SABIN.

Until that noon when in the Mid-Day Club he encountered by chance his acquaintance, Hodgers, Solomon Maffet had been, as men go, a healthy, plump, self-satisfied individual of the bourgeois-family type, a prosperous American business man.

"It's the finest thing ever invented," said Bodgers, enthusiastically. "I wouldn't be without it for a thousand dollars. Never felt so well in all my life." He paused and scanned Maffet critically. "Say—why don't you try it? Seems to me you look a little run down. It'll make a new man of you."

"Oh, I don't know as I care to," grunted Maffet, complacently. "My time's taken up——"

"But you needn't give much time to it," insisted Bodgers. "That's the beauty of it. And, besides, what's a little time compared with health?"

"Oh, I'm healthy enough," responded Maffet.

"I don't know about that," said Bodgers, cautiously. "The eternal round of business tells on a man. I thought I was in pretty good shape, myself; but, heavens and earth, what I am now and what I was a month ago are as different as day from night. The system that I speak of stirs all your sluggish organs, expands every cell, send the blood coursing like a boy's through every vein. Why, you fairly tingle with electric life, and thank God that you're alive. Did you ever think how few people are perfectly well?"

Maffet murmured non-committedly. The reflection suggested by Bodgers was not exactly inspiring.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," volunteered Bodgers. "I'll ask Professor Streng to send you particulars of his system. It will explain clearer than I can. You'd better go into it, Maffet. You look kind of fagged—you do that."

Maffet forgot all about the offer made by Bodgers, until reminded, the next morning, by the arrival in the early mail of a packet containing a booklet and several circulars—literature referring to the "Streng System of Exercise for Physical Culture."

The circulars were glowing, the booklet was seductive. "Did you you ever think how few people are perfectly well?" asked the booklet. "Do you want to stir all your sluggish organs, expand every cell send blood coursing like a boy's through every vein, so that you fairly tingle with electric life, and thank God that you're alive? Well, you can do it, and at the expenditure in time of only ten minutes a day!" The language sounded familiar to Maffet—but, of course Bodgers had quoted unconsciously.

As to the truth of the assertions in the booklet, there seemed to be no reasonable doubt, backed as they were with testimonials of prominent city men. By Jove. By Jove, what a chorus of thankfulness and gratitude they sent up!

Mr. Maffet felt dull. His head ached slightly. It came over him that really he had very little exercise, save as to his legs when he caught a car. Just as the booklet stated, most of his muscles were idle, their tissues stagnant. Man was not intended to live that way. The wonder was, that he lived at all—and no wonder was it that he was subject to pains and distempers.

Maffet glanced into the glass, as he washed his hands in the office toilet-room. Yes, he did look fagged. His eyes were puffy. Straightaway symptoms of functional derangements kept occurring to him. There were times, he remembered, when he couldn't dictate a letter without making blunders. Fatness and sedentary routine were telling on him. How could they help it?

"Clear brain and clear blood. The Sick made Well, the Well made Better. Be a MAN!" exhorted the booklet and all the circulars.

Maffet decided to be a MAN—and not lose more valuable time ere beginning.

* * * *

Six exercises were outlined, to be performed, preferably, just before retiring; and with Mrs. Maffet as an amazed spectator, Mr. Maffet, reduced to a free and easy costume, made his first essay.

The sight of a rather rotund, middle-aged man, with naught to modify his lines save that the gas was turned low, achieving a series of postures rather more laborious than graceful, and less dignified than earnest, is not consistent with gravity; and from between the covers (for it was necessary that the window be open at top and bottom) Mrs. Maffet now expostulated, and now chuckled.

Occasionally Mr. Maffet desisted, to inspect directions, peering at the printed page, under the dim gas-jet. Perhaps that it was upon this account that he was so long in consummating his schedule.

"For goodness' sake! Come to bed!" expostulated Mrs. Maffet, sleepily, curious as she was.

Mr. Maffet had proceeded with two arm movements and two waist movements, and was now upon leg movements.

"I'm through, dear," he announced triumphantly. And, puffing, he extinguished the light, and presently climbed heavily into bed, where he lay panting and wheezing and grunting.

In the morning he was loud with declamations as to how he had slept, and all Mrs. Maffet's assertions as to the way he had groaned and kicked made no impression upon him. He was sore and she had to help him on with his overcoat, but of course the soreness was only proof of the need of certain muscles for exercise.

"Rheumatism?" inquired an observant friend, witnessing Maffet's involuntary grimace as he sank stiffly into a seat of the car.

"No," replied Maffet; and then he informed the friend upon the exercises.

"Streng's all right," said the friend. "But did you ever try Thew's system? That's the system for you! It doesn't stiffen you up, and it's the all-round best system out. It's the only practical system. You see——" and by the time Maffet was down town the principles of the Thew System of Home Gymnastics were firmly impressed upon his brain, and in his note-book.

The Thew system appeared to have some advantages; and the Streng system being so absurdly simple that (although as a fact, it had made him sore), evidently it could not be very rapid in its results, Maffet decided to combine with it a few exercises, adapted from Professor Thew.

That night when he entered bed, at last, Mrs. Maffet was soundly sleeping, and the clock said eleven.

* * * * * * *

Maffet's exercises had now grown to a really cumbersome length. His repertoire, typewritten and posted in his bedroom (he slept apart from his rebellious spouse) extended to fill a whole sheet of regulation paper, thirteen inches long, and he was in constant fear lest he should omit some item of his schedule and thereby slight a muscle. He commenced at 8 o'clock, and his duties to his body had compelled him to decline all social engagements for an evening. Once he had gone out with Mrs. Maffet, and had not arrived back until almost midnight, and it was after 2 before he had been enabled to crawl between the waiting sheets.

Another night, by reason of the lateness of the hour, he had been persuaded to forego his exercises, except five or six very hastily executed; and the next morning he felt wretched, as he knew that he should.

Part of his exercises were taken standing, and part more or less recumbent. As much as anything else, it was the spectacle of her husband balancing on the nape of his neck and waving his feet over his head, that impelled Mrs. Maffet to banish him to another apartment. She said that it made her dizzy. Maffet had other exercises, however, such as lying prone on his stomach and swimming in a peculiarly warped fashion, or sitting and endeavoring to flop over sideways without lifting either extended leg.

Having exercised his neck, and chest, and abdomen, and back, and upper and lower arms, and upper and lower legs, and remembered his liver and lungs and their co-operates in his interior mechanism, having been careful to breathe deeply an approved number of times, and to drink an approved quantity of water, Maffet crept wearily into bed, and pretended that he slept "like a boy."

But with his heart doing sixty miles an hour it was very difficult sometimes for Maffet to ignore the thumping in his ears, and compose himself to the "dreamless sleep" which was his by rights, as guaranteed in the directions.

And despite all his heroic efforts he was going down hill rapidly. He could not deny it. Not only did he look wretched, with dark rings under his eyes, and flabby cheeks, but also he was wretched. Mornings he languidly arose, with about as much stamina as a wet rag, was only a little livelier by noon, and by evening hill faded away again. He hung to his exercises as his last anchor on this existence below, and in the meantime put by as much as possible, day by day, for his wife, against her widowhood. Yes, he was surely breaking down or breaking up, whichever is preferred. His gallant fight was in vain.

His friends noticed it; his wife noticed it, and to please her he consented finally to see the doctor.

"Um-m-m," commented the doctor, pursing his lips after having hearkened to Maffet's complaints. "Mr. Maffet, you're overworking. The trouble with you business men is that you don't take enough exercise. Now, I want——"

"But," interrupted Maffet, "I do take exercise. I——"

"Yes, yes" commented the doctor. "I know what you chaps call exercise. You catch a car and you ride in it down town, and you walk to your restaurant at noon, and you ride back home at night, and you call that exercise. Now, look here. What time do you go to bed?"

"Oh, from 8 to 11," replied Maffet, cautiously—yet very truthfully.

"Well," continued the doctor, "to-night and every night, I want you to walk at least a mile, briskly, before dinner—an hour before dinner, if possible. At least, a half hour before dinner, so that there may be an interval for rest. Then, just before you get into bed I want you to stand at the open window and breathe deeply, and completely exhale, ten times, with your elbows raised and your hands clasped behind your head—so. That is all. I'll give you a simple tonic, also, to take for a while. It will brace you up. Go to bed at 9 o'clock sharp. Nine o'clock, mind you, and exercise as I say, and take the iron tonic."

It was with absolute shame that, upon this night, Maffet, in his bedchamber, stood before the open window, according to dictation, and with his elbows raised and his hands clasped behind his head, breathed deeply, and exhaled completely, ten times. Alas, his pooy, neglected neck and chest and back and biceps and triceps and calves and thighs and liver and everything else except lungs—and even they were having a niggardly dose! What was ten times, when they were used to at the least forty or fifty! It was criminal—positively criminal.

Yet, it was with an involuntary sigh of relief that he stretched himself in bed. There was a luxury in thus evading his rigorous duties. Of course, swimming on the carpet, like a stranded merman, was very beneficial for the kidneys and loins—but it was hard work.

With a grunt of solid comfort he sank to sleep, and when he waked 'twas morning.

"Dear, how well you do look this morning!" exclaimed his wife.

Indeed—strange as one might deem it—he felt well, too. The next day he felt better yet, although still somewhat sneaky. And, incredible as it may seem, at this moment he is in perfect health again, and he has not stood on the nape of his neck for three years!

Probably it was that tonic. He insists it was the tonic; the doctor scoffs and declares exercise is the best medicine of all.—What-To-Eat.

THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW.

What Kind of Hat Does Your Best Friend Wear?—Has He a Beard?

"I wonder," said Mr. Glimmerton, "how many of us could tell with certainty, if at all, just what sort of hat our best and longest known friend wears.

"For instance: Here is a man whom I have known well for ten years and whom I meet often; and I don't know what brought it up to me, but when the question did come up the other day I found that I didn't know whether he wears a derby or a soft hat. I am perfectly familiar with his form and figure and I could tell him a block away; but I cannot tell you at this minute what sort of hat he wears.

"I fancy it would be found just the same as to our recollection of men's beards. Take Jones, or Robinson, or any man you can know well and see often. Could you tell, right off or could you tell at all, whether he wears a beard or not; or if he does wear one, how he wears it?

"If some long time friend or acquaintance should take to wearing a hat of another sort from that in which we had been long accustomed to see him or if he should trim his beard in a different fashion, why, that we would be sure to notice right away. But you try to recall these features in the personal appearance of almost any man of long acquaintance that you know, try to tell yourself what sort of hat he wears or how he wears his beard, and it's an even thing that you will find yourself greatly puzzled about one or the other, or both.

"The same would be true as to our power of exact recollection of them about many familiar things."—New York Sun.

Bad Men of the West.

Searchers for real Western color with which to illuminate their tales of the frontier have for some time been complaining that all the snap and ginger of the old life in the West had departed. To a certain extent this is true. The genuine Indians have nearly all followed the buffalo over the divide into the happy hunting ground of the Great Spirit. The modern cowboy is less careless with his shooting iron and his branding iron than he was in the old days, but it is an error to believe that all of the picturesque deviltry which gave color to early days in the West has been eliminated. The bad man with the gun out on the fringe of civilization is fully as bad as his predecessor of earlier years.—Portland Oregonian.

A magnificent hospital, to be known as the Ho Min Ling, has just been opened by the Governor of Hong Kong. It was built at the expense of Mme. Wu Tingfang, wife of the late Chinese Minister to the United States.

THE PULPIT

A SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON, THE FAMOUS DIVINE.

Theme: Jesus Christ; an Estimate.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme, "Jesus Christ; an Estimate," the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, pastor, took as his text St. John 1.14: "And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us." He said:

The history of many lands and of many people through two thousand years is the record of the influence and the inspiration of Jesus Christ. Upon the story of the world none has made a deeper impress, none has marked a richer fame. Born in a manger, His early acts almost unknown, a mere pittance of His royal wealth of mind and divinity of soul preserved to us to this day—and that pittance a storehouse of wisdom and eternal life—the character and the claims of Christ stand forth pre-eminent and predominant before the world. Through every epoch and in every age the might and majesty of His life have been a force for uplift among nations, and a factor for righteousness in individual lives. Listening to the admonitions of the Saviour, rulers have learned the way to reign. Attending to the advice of the Master, many a sin-seared soul has entered into Heaven's haven and found safety in a sure salvation. Laying His hand upon womanhood, Christ has bid her rise. Speaking to the hearts of men, He has counseled justice, and has bid mankind be fair. To the statesman, to the craftsman, to the captains of industry and to the tillers of the soil, the words and the works and the life of Christ have been the measure of true manhood and the guarantee of His divinity. Sent of Almighty God to be the Saviour of human kind, Jesus has taught every mortal how to live. Preaching no gospel of minutiae, our Lord has given unto us a rule of faith and practice that must revolutionize the world. Born into a world of caste, class and prejudice of birth, Christ taught the value and nobility of each and every soul. Finding pride to be more of account than purity, He demanded cleanliness of heart. Finding hypocrisy to be far more prevalent than high-mindedness, He asserted the necessity for sanctity of soul. Trusting in the assurance of divine guidance, and feeling the impulses of divine love, the Son of Man came to seek and to save that which was lost. With sublime confidence in the invincibility of the right, and that truth must win, the Christ assailed and arraigned, with fearless fervor, all the host of spiritual wicked ones who prostituted to their own ends the holy places and the hallowed purposes of the Most High. Filled with sympathy for all the army of the earth's oppressed, He spread a loving arm about them all, and bade them take courage and have peace and cheer. Knowing the beauty and the blessedness of holiness, and seeing the hideousness of sin, our Lord yearned that men should experience and know the joy and glory of the Father's favor.

First and foremost in the world of human action, Jesus Christ stands to-day, yesterday and forever as the Saviour of mankind. The incarnation and the revelation of the Father, He has preached and practiced that nobility of life that awakens within the human heart the recognition of His divine authority. Hearing His words of love and of light, and seeing His blameless life of beauty and of grace, men have recognized in Him that word from Heaven which shall sanctify and save the world. Experiencing the inability of wisdom to reveal Jehovah in His fullness, and longing for that preachment from on high which shall point the way to salvation and the perfect knowledge of our God, men have ever since the days of Christ known in Him that power and ability which can save. "Words are good only when backed up by deeds." Christ proclaimed His saving mission and His cleansing grace, and lived a life of love. "Actions speak louder than words." Declaring His integrity with God, the Lord of Life revealed, in outward act, an inner and diviner grace. Urging the need for purity, He was pure; stating the nobility of righteousness, He was just; standing firm for holiness and for sanctity of life, He never strayed from God; a counselor of loveliness, He was patient and kind and true; persuading men to godliness, and dissuading human souls from sin, the Christ ever exemplified in His own career that godly and sinless life that His promises inspire.

Christ as the Saviour is supreme. Of imitators He has many, and of equals none. To be the saviour of this world from sin, a man must have within his soul the fullness of divinity and of Godhood. To be accepted by mankind as the revelation of the Father and the healer of the race, a man must show forth in act the hidden, inner power. The Christ rings true. The melodies of Heaven peal through His words. He speaks, and lo! we hear eternal truth. He acts, and the very manner is divine. We listen and we see. Our hearts respond. We take Him at His word, and prove His power. We trust His promise, and we imitate His life. Christian experience sustains Him. He is indeed a Saviour. He is in truth the way and the life.

Revelation is information. To reveal is to disclose. To inform is to disclose facts which were before unknown to those who may give ear. Disclosure is an uncovering. Christ the Revealer has disclosed to man what is the character of God, not only by the words He spoke, but also by the life He lived. He has taken the veil away and informed us of the fullness of the glory of Jehovah. He has revealed to us not only what God is, but also what man should be.

Christ has revealed to us the loving Father of each of us in our God. The Fatherhood is individual and not alone racial. Sonship is no mere matter of nationality, but is rather the victory of personality. Salvation at bottom is not political, but personal, not social, but individual. Through the individual recognition of the obligation of sonship is national salvation secured. The agreement of sanctified personalities to serve God and that well is the basis and the beginning of social deliverance from the bondage of sin. God is the Father of Israelites first, and through them of Israel. His love is the heritage of every heart and not alone the portion of the priests. His grace will lift all men to glory and through them the State.

The power of Jesus Christ in the world to-day is due to the fact that, in His capacity of Revealer and Saviour, He measured true to divine demands. Truth triumphs. Sincerity counts. To straddle is unsafe. In spiritual power is the greatest strength. The straight way is the safe way. Principle is potent to gain respect. Sham and shoddy are soon discovered. Christ claimed divinity, and He lived a godly life. He insisted that His was the way unto life eternal, and we know He spoke the truth. Investigation of His life finds His action and speech in harmony. The measure of His conduct by His uttered ideals can find no flaw. He is as He claims to be, and His glory is as the glory of the Father.

The Christ was a stalwart man. As the Anglo-Saxons had it, He was a man who was "foundation-worthy." Fixed firm and constant the Christ was never guilty of deflection from the strict, straight path of loyal duty. Full worthy was our Lord to be the founder of a spiritual and moral renaissance that will overcome the world. Built strong and firm and true was He, upon whom the hopes of humanity are fixed.

The Christ was a man of courage. He was a man of heart. Courage is heartiness. To be hearty is to be full of heart. He did not shrink from danger. Without a sign of fear or fright, our Lord defied the very prince of the powers of darkness. Gallantly, bravely, nobly He cleansed His Father's house. How mightily He inveighed against the powers of Palestine we may all attest. The Christ was not weak hearted. Having a work to do He did it with a will. Conscious of the odds against Him, He had no fear.

Out in the open, despised, forsaken even by His friends, trusting only in the power of the truth, He battled ever on for human liberty. Bearing upon His broken body the sins of an evil world, He was yet courageous; He had always heart. The Christ was sound to the core.

The Christ was a man of determination. He was a man of resolution. Having determined His sphere and His call in life, He was resolved to fill it. To be determined is to be ready to go to all lengths—that is to say, to see the thing through to the finish. The Christ was true to His resolves, even unto an ignominious end. Having marked a clear line of duty, He walked without swerving. Hearing the call of the dying world, He saw and conquered Calvary.

The Christ was a sturdy man. He had power of resistance, and He could not less well force the fight. Born with antipathy to evil, He stood against sin firmly. Seeing the inhumanity of mankind to man, He forced the issue, and He flayed, with burning words, the evil of His day. Strong as the oak He stood against the storm. Keen as the tempered blade He smote His adversaries. Were they wary He was more. Were they subtle He was shrewder. Did they lay a snare, He did but tangle all of them in the meshes of their selected net. When they were most cautious than did the Christ confound them. They smote Him and He did not flee. They showed him Caesar's image, but He was not caught. They predicated marriage in the heavenly country and He pointed their mistake. They asked a sign and got not one.

But sturdy and stalwart and strong of purpose and of will, as the Master was, He was yet the soul of sympathy. Hating iniquity and scoring evil, He had yet a healing hand for men. Disdaining sin, His heart held pity for the sinner. Crucified by wickedness, He could yet pray mercy for His persecutors. His was the sympathy that cured. His was the tenderness that touched. Filled with divine compassion, He knew the sufferings of human souls, and He preferred healing and a rich release.

"Men, like nails, lose their usefulness when they lose their direction and begin to bend," runs a piece of sterling wisdom. The Saviour had His bearings, and He kept the goal in sight. For Him the straight way was the surest, and He walked the middle of the path of duty. The offer of a whole world's wealth could not swerve Him from His course. "Get thee behind Me, devil," was the motto of His life as He dealt with sin. His fidelity should be the fashion of our faith. His directness should insure our zeal. His sympathy should sustain our love toward men and for God. His stalwart energy and stardiness of soul should be our pattern. Our lives should radiate His light. Our spirits should suffuse His love.

What Titian and Corot and Turner did for art; what Bach and Beethoven and Mendelssohn did for music; what Tennyson and all the lyric host have done for the conservation and the culture of the minds of men, that, and infinitely more, can Jesus do toward the saving of a soul. Sturdy and stalwart and strong He stands to-day the Saviour of the race, the incarnation of the Word. His actions are an open book, and he who runs may read. His words are mighty unto life that is eternal, and he who hears and heeds may live. The imitation of His character is the calling of the Christian. The re-presenting of His strength, His power, purity and love, is the sign of Christly grace. Have you much or none?

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections as eczema, tetter or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

* * * * * *

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English, on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath.

Skin Disease From Birth—Fortune Spent on Her Without Benefit—Doctor Cured Her With Cuticura.

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. G—— suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies, which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost all a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed with them two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years, but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. Mrs. W. P. Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

Up to Nature.

"Thanks," said the tragedian "many thanks for your good opinion. I always study from nature, sir. In my acting you see reflected nature herself."

"Try this cigar," said an admirer of nature reverently. "Now, where did you study that expression of intense surprise that you assume in the second act?"

"From nature, sir, from nature. To secure that expression I asked an intimate friend to lend me £5. He refused. This caused me no surprise. I tried several more. Finally I asked one who was willing to oblige me and as he handed me the note I studied in a glass the expression of my own face. I saw there surprise, but it was not what I wanted. It was alloyed with suspicion that the note might be a bad one. I was in despair."

"Well?" said the other breathlessly.

"Then an idea struck me. I resolved upon a desperate course. I returned the £5 note to my friend the next day and on his astonished countenance I saw the expression of which I was in search."—Tit-Bits.

The idea of catching fish by means of a beehive with a hole in the top of it is a strange though one. Meteorite Taken For Duty.

A meteorite fell on a Vermont farm in 1896. It was a valuable meteorite, and the landlord at once stepped up and claimed it. "All minerals and metals on the land belong to me," he said. "That's in the lease."

But the tenant demurred. "This meteorite," he said, "wasn't on the farm, you must remember, when the lease was drawn up."

The landlord perceived the justice of that claim. He thought a moment. Then he said, decisively: "I claim her as flying game."

But the tenant was ready for him. "She's got neither wings nor feathers," he said. "Therefore, as ground game, she's mine."

They continued their argument, and in the heat of it a revenue officer, arriving with a truck, proceeded to put the meteorite aboard. "I claim her for the Government," he said, "as an article introduced into the country without payment of duty."

Sold, not Soled.

Some new testimony as to the efficiency of Chinese body servants is furnished by a Philadelphian, who returned from the Philippines, and who brought a Chinaman who had served him faithfully there as a valet. It took John but a short time to learn the new ways of his master in this city, the new lingo and some other new things, and all went well until it came to a question of cleaning out a shoe trunk. The master, in looking over the stock, picked up a pair of low shoes that had seen better days. "These you may throw away," he said to John, "and these (picking up another pair) I want soled." Next day John came to his master with 35 cents. "Shoes I sold not much good," he said. "Only catch 35 cents."—Philadelphia Record.

Safe, Sure and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscles, nerves and skin.

Allcock's Plasters are the original and genuine porous plasters and like most meritorious articles have been extensively imitated, therefore always make sure and get the genuine Allcock's.

Spenders I Have Met.

In order to ascertain how often and for what a dollar is spent, a California society is sending into circulation a hundred silver dollars, each fastened to a parchment tag. The person into whose hands one of the dollars falls is requested to write in blank spaces on the tag the date, place and occasion of the transfer of the coin to his possession, and then pass it on in the course of ordinary business. Ten coins will be sent by each of several trades and professions, bankers, artisans, retailers, and so on. It is hoped that the coins will be returned according to directions, with all the blanks filled, to the projectors of the scheme, and that they may draw "practically scientific" conclusions about the habits of American purchasers. In school compositions "The Autobiography of a Cent" used to be a favorite subject, and those innocent fictions are no doubt the progenitors of these real travels of real dollars.—Youth's Companion.

Beware of Ointments For Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

What is Pe-ru-na?

Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic, or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great catarrh remedy.

Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic?

Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there can be no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic.

In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have a specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have a general tonic action on the nervous system.

Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of some mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to give tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.

Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBEBS and COPAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed in Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned tonics as COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON SEED, ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations in the body.

From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The use of Peruna confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the earth furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.

Brighter Prospects
Increase Your Yields Per Acre
We have many actual photographs of cotton fields on which no fertilizers were used and pictures of fields on which "other makes" of fertilizers were used. Results of these crops were dismal failures. There are much "brighter prospects" ahead for the progressive farmers of the South. Two and three bales to the acre are only ordinary yields where are used with proper cultivation. Make your cotton mature early and thus escape the boll weevil and other damaging insects. You can easily do this, as well as increase the number of bolls and the size of your plants by plentifully using Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers. This method will tremendously increase your yields per acre. Don't be fooled into buying a substitute.
Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

New Kind of Brick.

It is reported from Germany that the granulated slag from blast furnaces is being utilized for the manufacture of brick. The making of slag brick is not a new thing, but heretofore fluid slag has been employed for the purpose, and the brick thus produced has been found unsuitable for building purposes because it is impermeable to air and steam. But the slag bricks made in Germany are, it is said, not open to this objection. On the contrary, while exceeding the strength of ordinary bricks, and possessing an extraordinary resistance to heat, they are more permeable to air, and consequently are well suited for the building of houses. They do not absorb water as rapidly as ordinary bricks.

WHY

should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless, don't experiment on him and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, greatest known worm medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa, Fla writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing happy and well." Sold by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton, and A. Horn, Thorsby.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says—"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

A GOOD BOY FROM HOME HARRIES

"I want a license that will tie us up for life, and we want it done right quick, and lose no time about it." These were the words that a young man spoke as he rushed into the office of the county court clerk yesterday afternoon. Lagering a few feet in the rear was a pretty girl of nineteen summers, with a pair of brown, dreamy eyes, that attracted attention to her the first thing. The clerks were all busy completing the marriage paper of the man ahead, and a Journal and Tribune reporter was trying to make a copy of the more than thirty issued during the day. However, the hurried demand of the young man was sufficient to attract attention from all, and the clerks being used to such things put in a hurry call for 'Squire Alex A. Allison. Deputy Moore issued the papers, both the young man and the young lady signing the book, with newspaper man going their bond. The young man gave his name as Joseph E. McKee, aged 23, of Montgomery, Ala., and the young lady is Miss Nora B. Hollenberg, of Crockett's Depot, Va. He holds a position with the American Telephone company, under General Manager Miller, of Nashville with headquaters in this city. She is a young woman who easily and readily gave up ideas of business and fortune, etc., to marry the man she loves. To make the story short, 'Squire Allison reached the courthouse almost on the run, the necessity for the haste having been explained to him. He found the couple waiting in the parlors of the clerks suite, and telling them to join their right hands, he performed a pretty little ceremony which unites them for life, and concluded by invoking the angels of joy and happiness to always hover near them. A round of congratulations and best wishes followed while the young couple awaited the coming of a carriage to take them to their hotel. It seems that some two months ago, Miss Hollenberg and her brother came to this city from their Virginia home to take a course in the Knoxville Business college. She is a daughter of Hon. W. G. Hollenberg, of Wythe county Va., which he represents in the Virginia legislature. He is a prominent republican politician of Crockett's Depot. About two months ago (she says it is two months.) Miss Hollenberg and Mr. McKee met in this at her boarding house 406 walnut street. It was one of those cases of love at first sight, and McKee pressed his suit from the jump and won out. Her parents, knowing nothing of McKee and desiring that their daughter complete her business course, refused their consent authorized her brother to break up the wedding at any cost, and it to avoid his coming up that the young people were so anxious to heve it over with yesterday. They had been trying to get away from him for a day or two, but he had watched them with a jealous eye, and not until late yesterday afternoon did they give him the slip and hurry to the courthouse.

Miss Hollenberg is a tall, dark young lady, almost as large as young McKee, who is four years her senior. She stated that she would continue her course at the business college, this being one of the conditions of their marriage which she insisted upon making that she might appease her father who was anxious that all of his children have a business education.

Food don't digest? Because the stomach lacks some tone of the essential digestants or the digestive juices are not properly balanced. Then, too, it is this undigested food that causes scurnes and painful indigestion. Kodol for Indigestion should be used for relief. Kodol is a solution of vegetable acids. It digests what you eat, and corrects the deficiencies of the digestion. Kodol conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold here by Upchurch Drug co.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGES. 1909.
Stevering & Stem at by Florence Drug Co.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particular indigestion remedy, we always give him what he ask for, but in case he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsi bola tablets

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsibola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or Florence Drug co., are ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

A stock law is wanted in Chilcoatty, or at least in Beats 3, and 4, as is evidenced by the election Tuesday. The people greatly interested and all day a crowd was assembled outside the court house where the election for Beat 4 was held. It was counted, after the close of the polls, that 111 voters were in favor of the law in Beat 4, but 153 [illegible], and that settles it in Beat 3 reports us it that stock law by 24 votes.

In Beat 6, 17 votes were cast in favor of stock law and 144 against. It is evident that the time is not for stock law in these beats. The Commissioners are in special session and will announce officially the result today.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all these people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

PIONEER PICTURES.

We are back to make our next and last pictures for 99c, $1.98. Prices go back to the old prices—$1.98 and $3 96—after we put in the next shipment at the low orice. Never before have pictures been enlarged in 16x20 size at our prices, and we can't afford to continue to make them and get no more out of them. So if you have pictures you ever expect to have copied, it will be to your interest to take advantage of this last opportunity in getting them made cheap. We expect to call at every home in the county. So get your pictures ready. Look for us.

Rev. T. J. Deason filled his appointment at this place Saturday and Sunday and preached excellent sermons to large congregations, and offered some new plans of work which we hope will be a success. We are going to organize a Sabbath school in the near future.

Our good sisters showed their appreciation to our pastor last winter by sending his wife two nice quilts, and they are planning for another now. Let us all take hold of the work with new energy and make it one of the greatest years in our history.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Curlee is improving; hope she will soon recover. With best wishes to the Banner and all of its readers, I am ONE OF THE BOYS.

Pleasant Grove.

The health is very good now in our community. Xmas is gone and the old year with it. As we enter in the new year let us start with a determined will to do better and live more for God than we have in the past.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes visited Mr. Gip Henley Sunday night and report him resting better. We hope he will soon be up again.

Mr. Willie Culp has been visiting on Mulberry to the delight of his many friends.

We have heard such good talk as Mr. J. J. Culp and family moving back in our midst, and oh how gladly we would welcome them back, we know that Mt. Pleasant settlement would loose some of its best neighbors but their loss would be our gain, as they are a family any settlement should be proud of. I hope the time will soon come when we can see them back among us again. Well, I will ring off and come again soon.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

In the opinion of the National Co-Operator, if the young men would devote as much of their time to money making as they do to love making there would be more Rockefellers in the world.

Says the Philadelphia Record: Secretary Shaw has had his ear to the ground listening to the roar of prosperity. The sound of it all, like the trampling of some tens of millions of runaway horses, has scared him white, and he wants people to begin to pray. "Get down on your knees," says he, "and pray God to save this country from its prosperity." Mr. Shaw forgets that John D. and other able gentlemen are on guard to see that prosperity doesn't break the dam and drown us all.

The economists and the lawyers, the statesmen, philanthropists and sociologists have spoken at the meeting of the National Civic Federation, and much wisdom was dropped. A frank or cynical person, Mr. N. W. Meagher, expressed this unsympathetic opinion: The reason we rail against John D. Rockefeller is because he has succeeded. All the world is a confidence game, and we are only players. I have come to learn that and to learn that Mr. Rockefeller has played the game only according to its rules, and that we are sore because he has been the most successful.

Last fall the President of the United States issued an order directing that the Eight-Hour law be extended to apply to all public work under the supervision of any department of the Government. This law had already been applied in a number of departments. The Commissioner of Labor recently made a report to the President, concluding as follows: "I might add here that I found one very noticeable effect has already been produced in this matter of the Eight-Hour law. Contractors fully realize now that the law is going to be enforced with earnestness and they no longer dismiss it as a matter of no consequence. They probably like the law less than ever, but their attitude none the less is rapidly changing into one of becoming respect for the statute."

Among a number of unpublished manuscripts left by the philosopher Leibnitz is a modus docendi in which the great thinker proclaims his faith in the power of science to better immeasurably the conditions of human life. The happiness of humanity, he affirms, will develop with the progress of science. Happiness, according to his view, depends on three things—perfection of the soul, health of the body, and the commodities of life. Perfection of the soul is obtained through science, which teaches us what we are and what we ought to do, and is the basis of rational ethics. Health of the body also is obtained through science, for medicine and medical skill, as well as prevention of disease, depend on the knowledge of nature. Finally, the commodities of life are furnished by science, which evolves the useful arts and makes them independent of, if not master over, nature.

The scheme for teaching the British soldier a trade, which is to be put into operation, is eminently practical, and if carried out thoroughly it will go a long way toward solving the problem of employment for ex-soldiers. The regulations give directions for the soldier whilst serving with the colors to be taught a trade, but the rule is a dead letter, and there is a danger of the scheme drawn up by Sir Edward Ward's committee being taken up half-heartedly. In this case it would assuredly be a failure. A circular letter has been sent to commanding officers drawing their attention to what can be done to provide soldiers with technical training during their color service, and the carrying out of the instructions therein will, no doubt, be strictly insisted upon. A very practical list of trades is submitted, and officers are instructed to study the question of what trades can be most advantageously learned in their command and also to make every effort to induce men to interest themselves in their future prospects. All of the trades enumerated would prove of the greatest utility to the time-expired soldier; that is, if he is made proficient during his service with the colors.

BUSY OPENING OF LEGISLATURE.

Ten Hour Law Among Bills Introduced. Common Schools.

MR. LUSK HEADS JUDICIARY.

Overton Will Have Charge of Railroad Rate Legislation.

Montgomery, Ala.—Among the proposed measures presented there are many reforms. Mr. Rushton, of Crenshaw, presented a bill which seeks to regulate the stock exchange business. The bill provides for the abolition of the bucket shops or any wire brokerage firm which trades in options on cotton or other commodities. In order, however, that the farmer and merchant may get the benefit of the market quotations, Mr. Rushton's bill provides that any bona fide commercial exchange may post quotations. This bill will go to the committee on commerce and common carriers.

Ten-Hour Law.

Mr. Smith, of Elmore, presented a bill which prohibits the employment of any person to labor in or about the factory of any manufacturing plant for more than ten hours a day. This is an important measure. Many mills and plants now work their employes on a twelve-hour basis.

For Education.

Several members of the house literally ran over themselves in their haste to introduce bills to increase the appropriations for the common schools. Mr. Henley, of Escambia, lead with a bill carrying an appropriation of $200,000 annually to the schools. Mr. Bulger introduced a bill seeking to increase the appropriations to the common schools. Mr. Arnolds, of Calhoun, presented a bill which provides for an appropriation of $50,000 annually to repair and rebuild rural school houses.

Colonel John Busy.

Colonel John, of Jefferson, probably leads the list in the number of bills introduced. He was the author of sixteen bills. The following are the propositions embraced in Mr. John's bills: To provide adequate punishment for corrupt and corrupting legislators; to provide for an increase in the pension of Confederate veterans and their widows; to provide for a system of juvenile correction; to provide for the working of the convicts on the University and Montevallo school lands; to establish a hospital for inebriates, and to provide $50,000 for the erection of a building in connection with the State Insane Hospital; to establish a sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis; to provide for the extension of the city limits of towns of over 25,000 inhabitants; to authorize the county boards of revenue to erect court houses; to provide for a civil service system to have control of the organization of deputy sheriffs, constables and police forces.

Against Short Weights.

Mr. Cooper, of Calhoun, introduced several important bills. He presented a bill which seeks to regulate and fix the weights of flour, corn meal and grits packed in Alabama, for the purpose of protecting dealers and the consumers from short weight.

Patent Medicines.

Mr. Cooper also presented a bill to regulate the sale of patent medicines and to prohibit the sale thereof, except in cases where the correct analyses are given on the label.

Quit Smoking.

Perhaps one of the most sweeping proposed reforms was the bill of Mr. Kornegay, of Dallas, which prohibits the managers of cafes or theatres from allowing any person to smoke tobacco while females are present. The bill provides that managers shall have signs posted around, "No Smoking Allowed." In many of the most fashionable safes in the country smoking is not prohibited.

Court Spectators.

Mr. Sanford, of Talladega, presented a bill to provide for the exclusion from court rooms of all person except such as may be necessary in the prosecution of the trials of rape, attempt to ravish, seduction and incest.

In making up his standing committees Lieutenant-Governor Gray, who will preside over the coming session of the legislature, stood loyally to his friend. He gave every one of the twenty-three senators who supported him the chairmanship of a committee. John Lusk, of Marshall, who is the floor leader for the administration, was selected as chairman of the judiciary committee.

The most important committee, possibly, in the senate was given to Senator John Overton, of Randolph. Mr. Overton will head the committee on commerce and common carriers. This committee will deal with the railroad rate bill and all other measures seeking to regulate the railroads. The bills which will be introduced to abolish bucket shops and regulate stock exchanges will have to be considered by Mr. Overton's committee. On the whole this will be the most important and one of the busiest committees in the legislature.

Rate Reform Leader.

Mr. Overton, who by virtue of this post will be the railroad rate reform leader in the upper house, is one of the youngest men in the senate. This is his first year in the legislature. He is a lawyer by profession and a man of all around sound common sense. Mr. Overton will measure up to the requirements of his important position.

Senator Overton is an original and genuine railroad rate reformer. He did not wait until Mr. Comer had been elected railroad commissioner and practically elected to the governorship before he embraced the doctrine of rate reform. Mr. Overton was a member of Mr. Comer's committee during the first campaign. He was also manager of his campaign in his district during the race for governor. Mr. Overton has been a hard and consistent fighter for railroad rate reform and for Comer and Gray. He deserves the honor that has been conferred upon him.

Mr. Miller's Post.

Senator Miller, of Jefferson, will fill the important post of chairman of the committee on taxation and finance. Mr. Miller is also a member of the committee on judiciary, local legislation and on county and county boundaries.

The important post of chairman of the committee on local legislation was awarded to Senator Merritt, of Macon county. Mr. Merritt was an untiring supporter of Comer and Gray in the late campaign. He is a prominent young attorney of Tuskegee and is well equipped for his duties.

Birmingham Interested.

The chairmanship of the committee on mining and manufacturing was given to Senator J. F. Wilson, of Blount. This committee is one that vitally affects the Birmingham district. Mr. Wilson represents a county that is next door neighbor to Jefferson. He fully understands the condition in the Birmingham district and industrial North Alabama.

Senator Doster, the editor of the Prattville Progress and prominent in the Alabama Press Association, was made chairman of the committee on corporations.

Max Hamburger.

Editor Max Hamburger, of Mobile, it will be noticed, is the only Cunningham man who was given a chairmanship. Mr. Hamburger is chairman of the committee on military. Mr. Hamburger, although an original Cunningham man, was a warm supporter of Lieutenant-Governor Gray, and was one of the twenty-three who voted to give the lieutenant-governor the power to appoint the standing committees of the senate.

Submarine Boat Sinks.

Cherbourg, France.—The submarine boat Algerian sank at her mooring here during the night. There was no one on board.

1,200 Bales of Cotton Burned.

Grantsbury, Tex.—Twelve hundred bales of cotton were burned in the Catts cotton yard. A large percentage of the cotton had been delivered to the railroads for shipment. The estimated loss is $90,000.

11,750,944 Bales Ginned.

Washington, D. C.—The census bureau has issued a report on the cotton ginning, showing that up to January 1 there were 28,399 active ginneries in operation, and that 11,750,944 bales were ginned, compared with 9,725,426 bales in 1905.

Round bales were counted as half bales.

By states, the number of bales ginned and the number of ginneries in operation are given as follows:

States.	Bales.	Ginneries.
Alabama	1,199,740	2,628
Arkansas	732,201	2,299
Florida	59,030	273
Georgia	1,572,701	4,351
Indian Territory	350,383	536
Kentucky	1,362	3
Louisiana	536,646	2,046
Mississippi	1,228,697	3,727
Missouri	58,441	79
North Carolina	572,143	2,753
Oklahoma	349,143	381
South Carolina	868,378	3,128
Tennessee	242,419	695
Texas	3,626,269	4,182
Virginia	12,907	118

The number of sea island bales included is 54,168. The sea island cotton for 1906 distributed by states is: Florida, 23,144; Georgia, 23,596; South Carolina, 7,428.

Warrior Gets $2,000,000.

Washington, D. C.—Appropriation for the rivers of the state of Alabama closely approximating three and a quarter million dollars will, it is believed, be carried in the forthcoming rivers and harbors bill. A tentative agreement has been reached on all the Alabama rivers and harbors. The Warrior is down for a sum slightly in excess of two million; Mobile harbor will receive something like six hundred thousand, and the Alabama river gets two hundred thousand. In both the Alabama river and Mobile cases the amounts are far in excess of the engineers' recommendations. The big appropriation for the Warrior means the opening of the river to Squaw Shoals and the coal fields around them. It is a big thing, and if the information is correct Representative Bankhead, of the committee, has put in some good hard work.

$35,000 Gold Mined.

Washington, D. C.—The director of the mint has issued a statement which shows that $35,000 worth of gold was mined in Alabama last year.

TENNESSEE COMPANY WILL BUILD CANAL.

W. J. Oliver Bids Lowest For Whole Panama Construction

$8,450,000 PROFIT FOR WORK

Knoxville Contractor and New York Associate Offer in Sealed Proposals to Complete Undertaking for 6.75 Estimated Cost.

Washington, D. C.—Proposals opened by the canal commission for the entire construction of the Panama canal were as low as had been expected by experts on construction work. For some time it has been known that several members of the commission believed 7 per cent upon the estimated cost of the construction would be a fair remuneration for a contractor under the form of a contract prepared by the commission. The lowest proposal, that of William J. Oliver, of Knoxville, and Anson M. Banks, of New York city, who offered to do the work for 6.75 per cent of the estimated cost, falls even lower than had been hoped.

Granting that the estimate of $140,000,000 for the construction of the canal, which has been frequently spoken of in congress, is accurate, the remuneration of the Oliver-Banks combination would be $9,450,000 in case it was to be awarded the contract. Much discussion has been caused by the great difference in the only four bids received, as they ranged from 6.75 to 28 per cent.

William J. Oliver and Anson M. Bangs have both been in the contracting business for many years, and statements they furnished with their proposals show that they have done much improvement work. Mr. Oliver states that he has completed $18,000,000 worth of work in the past ten years and now has $31,500,000 worth of work in progress. He gives his assets as $3,000,000. Mr. Bangs gives his assets as $2,000,000, and states that he was a contractor for the Zoo lock at Saulte Ste Marie, Mich., Delaware breakwaters and Buffalo breakwater, the contract price for each of these being $2,500,000.

The contract provides that each bidder shall undertake the entire work of construction. No bar was offered to corporations associating in the undertaking, but they were required to be legally organized into a single body, with which the government can deal.

The actual work of constructing the canal is to begin sixty days after signing the contract, and the contractor will take over all employes on the isthmus which the commission does not wish to retain. It is also provided that no American employe is to work more than eight hours. There is no time limit for the completion of the canal in the contract.

The percentage system of payment was adopted because this method is being employed increasingly by the most successful corporations in the country.

L. & N. Conductors to Get Increase.

Louisville, Ky.—The proposition of the Louisville & Nashville conductors members of the Order of Railway Conductors, who have been meeting for the past week, for an increase in pay affecting specified runs on the various divisions of their road, was presented to General Manager Starks, of the Louisville & Nashville. The changes decided upon, it is understood, affect certain runs on the different divisions and tend to equalize the pay the different men are getting. Some of the increases will reach as high as 10 per cent., but the average will be much lower than that.

Minister of Justice Wants Duel.

Budapest.—Minister of Justice Polonyi has sent his seconds, Secretary of State Bolgar and Baron Kaas, the author, to Herr Halmos, ex-burgomaster of Budapest, to demand explanation of the charge publicly made by Halmos that Polony: had abused his position in order to obtain advantages for a personal friend. The minister considers himself to have been insulted by the accusation, and demands a retraction and an apology. Should Halmos refuse the latter's seconds are instructed to make arrangements for a duel.

Fighting Between Police and Workmen

St. Petersburg.—Desperate fighting between police and workmen has occurred in the Okhta quarter of this city during a domiciliary search. When the police appeared three workmen, who were in the building, extinguished all the lights and opened fire on the police. The latter responded, and the fusillade was continued for some time in total darkness. The workmen finally retreated, after killing two district inspectors and two policemen and wounding three policemen.

Copper King Sued.

El Paso, Tex.—W. C. Green, the Cananea copper king, has been sued in New York for $500,000 by Enos Randolph, president of the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern railroad, and of the Cananea, Yaqui and Pacific River railroad, for 6,000 shares of stock of the Cananea Central Copper Company. The other defendants are L. Lindsay and the Cananea Central Copper company.

Struggle for Leadership.

Washington, D. C.—A comprehensive review of the remarkable change that is taking place in China as a result of the promulgation of the recent decree reorganizing the Chinese government is supplied to the state department by Edward T. Williams, Chinese secretary to the American legation at Pekin. Reciting the orders for the formation of the two commissions which were to deal with reform projects, Mr. Williams says that for more than a month past these commissions have been holding daily sessions wherein two strong parties have been struggling for leadership, one bent on securing a liberal government in modern lines and the other determined that there shall be no departure from the traditions of the fathers. As far as has gone, their report is a compromise, but many valuable features are retained. Particularly worthy of note is the abandonment of the scheme for a cabinet and of the proposed consolidation of the council of custom affairs with the new board of finance, probably because of foreign opposition to further interference with the customs administration.

Lynch Wife Murderer.

Waterloo, Ia.—A crowd of more than 1,000 men battered through the walls of the county jail at Charles City, Ia., with railroad irons and tore hinges from the doors and took James Cullen out and lynched him for wife murder. Cullen, who murdered his wife and step-son, was the man lynched. The murder was premeditated, Cullen telephoning for his brother.

The angry mob took Cullen two blocks from the main part of the city and hung him to the county bridge over Cedar river. The mob conducted prayer meeting, and asked Cullen to pray. Cullen had been demented for over 25 years. He was 60 years of age. The sheriff offered no resistance, and was easily overpowered.

The mob was composed of many of the leading citizens of the town, and even the leaders made no attempt to disguise themselves. Cullen fought like a tiger, but was overpowered. He declared that his wife and son had attacked him, and that he had killed them in self-defense. Four or five ministers and a large number of women were in the crowd.

Smoot to the Front.

Washington.—The first speech to the senate in defense of the right of Reed Smoot to a seat was delivered by Senator John Hopkins, of Illinois. He argued that senators are not federal officers to the extent that the senate can pass upon their qualifications and eligibility, or impeach them for high crimes or misdemeanors. If a senator is to be punished, it must be done by the state, or the federal courts. The precedent sighted was the unsuccessful effort to impeach Senator Blount, of Tennessee, charged with treasonable correspondence with a foreign nation more than 100 years ago. The conclusion then, Mr. Hopkins said, had never been reversed, and that was that a senator was not an officer of the United States.

Japanese in Philippines.

Tokio.—A Philippine-Japanese association has been formed to cultivate commerce relations between Japan and the Philippine Islands, develop navigation between Japan and the islands and found a Japanese bank and an insurance company at Manila.

The minister of finance in a public address condemned the increasing speculative craze, which he said was endangering the government's effort to place the finances of Japan on a satisfactory footing without extraordinary measures, such as an increase of taxation, or further foreign loans.

Asks $2,000,000 to Mend Break.

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt has transmitted to congress a special message bearing on the break in the Colorado river, which is threatening a large area in Southern California.

About $2,000,000 will be required, the president says, and what amount if any, should be paid to the California Development Company for the work it has done since the river started on its rampage, must be determined later.

The president suggests that the government in the end take over the entire irrigation plant, and make it part of the reclamation service.

At Flood Stage.

Pittsburg.—A flood stage in the Ohio, Monongahela, Allegheny and Youghiogheny rivers is expected here within 24 hours, and river men are engaged tonight securing craft with stout cables. A heavy rain has fallen for the past 24 hours.

Captain Lytle Dead.

San Antonio, Tex.—Captain Lytle, secretary and general manager of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association is dead here.

Sigsbee to Retire.

Washington, D. C.—Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, former commander of the Maine, will retire on account of his age.

Time Limit on Railroads.

Washington, D. C.—The senate has passed a bill providing that railroad employes shall not work for a longer period than sixteen consecutive hours, and this shall be followed by a ten-hour rest.

Higdon Assumes Charge.

Birmingham, Ala.—Col. E. [illegible] don, who was elected sheriff of Jefferson county at the recent election, took formal charge of the office Monday at 12 o'clock.

There was no ceremony connected with the transfer. Indeed the transfer has been in process for several days as to the clerical machinery connected with the office. For several days clerks had been checking up books in the office and in the county jail, and everything was ready for the formal transfer.

Invited to Cotton Convention.

Birmingham, Ala.—The secretary of the Commercial Club of Birmingham has sent telegrams inviting the legislatures of Texas, South Carolina, Tennessee to attend the cotton convention in Birmingham on January 15 as a body.

This is the date on which Governor Duncan C. Heyward, of South Carolina, will address the convention on "Immigration." Lieutenant-Governor Henry B. Gray will extend an invitation to the legislature of Alabama to attend the convention on the same day.

It is understood that Governor James K. Vardaman, of Mississippi, will be an attendant on the convention as a delegate.

Prepare for Lee's Birthday.

Florence, Ala.—Preparations are making in the local organization of Confederate Veterans, Daughters and Sons, for a great celebration on the 100th anniversary of Lee's birthday. Rev. Mr. W. O. Waggenor will [illegible] the address and the old veterans of Florence have given notice that they [illegible] to be their day. Bishop Gailor of Tennessee, will deliver an address at the State Normal College.

Four Out for Mayor of Gadsden.

Gadsden, Ala.—J. E. Blackwood, well-known attorney, has made formal announcement as a candidate for mayor. This is the fourth name in the race, and it is thought will be the last. Mr. Blackwood was defeated for mayor six years ago and had [illegible] ponents, and was elected by a small majority. Owing to the fact that many candidates are in the race it is thought a primary will be necessary and the executive committee will probably meet next week and set a date for the primary.

Attempts to Murder His Wife.

Huntsville, Ala.—Jim Burke, a [illegible] man of Dallas village, was arrested and lodged in jail on a charge of attempting to murder his wife. He is believed to be demented as the result of injuries received in a saw mill accident, and will be sent to the Bryce asylum in Tuscaloosa. Neighbors broke into his home and prevented him from killing his wife.

To Increase Salary of Judges.

Montgomery, Ala.—A bill has been introduced in the legislature to increase the salary of the justices of the supreme court from $3,000 to $4,000.

Another bill has been introduced to allow the circuit judges and chancellors $500 a year for expenses.

Both of these bills have warm supporters, and it is expected they will pass.

Anti-Lobbying Bill.

Montgomery, Ala.—Sam Will [illegible] of Birmingham, has introduced a measure in the legislature which promises to create more discussion than probably any other measure. He would make lobbying prohibited except under certain conditions. His bill is said to be favored by Governor-elect Comer.

Gave Up All.

Eufaula, Ala.—J. N. Bradley, a merchant, who took the bankrupt law, has deeded everything over to his creditors without exemption. It is the first action of the kind in Alabama courts.

Farm Fetches $20,260.

Huntsville, Ala.—Luke Matthews bought the Miss Jane Bierne farm of 599 acres on the Whitesburg pike for $20,260.

Child Labor.

On account of the development of the cotton factories and similar industries of the State opportunity has been given for the employment of large numbers of children, which the best interests of the State demand that legislation be enacted in reference to the age of these children.

General Primary.

The governor recommends that a resolution be passed requesting the congressmen and senators to favor an amendment to the federal constitution to have the federal senators elected by the people instead of by the legislatures as at present. He recommends a general primary, which should be held on the third Monday in August preceding a general election, in which all the political parties of the State can vote for the candidates of their choice whether candidates be for state or federal offices, and the cost of holding said primary be paid by the state.

Militia.

The governor also mentioned his appreciation of the high state of efficiency of the militia of the state, which standard should be maintained. The counties of the state should be encouraged to maintain their roads in the best possible condition, as transportation is one of the chief elements which enters into the cost of production. Legislation should be enacted looking towards this end. Life insurance, local option, bucket shops and immigration likewise came in for their share of attention.

The Negro.

In his message the governor dwelt at much length upon the negro question, giving as his opinion that there is much friction between the races and that this friction is growing. The governor said that the negro had his sympathy and would receive every help in his power for the furtherance of his development, but that his future depended almost wholly upon himself. He must give up his habits of vagrancy and unlawful conduct and avail himself of the opportunities which have been extended to him.

"The question of social rights has been settled, settled even before the fourteenth and fifteen amndmnts of the constitution of the United States were adopted(were settled by a higher power than all the white people of the south or all the white people of the north; it was settled by the Anglo-Saxon race. The color line is older, longer, broader, more comprehensive and lasting than that drawn by Mason and Dixon—God Himself established the metes and bounds of it, and it is eterhal. The white men of America will unite, whether they be from the north or south, east or west; the prophetic scroll of all time will forever rewrite the principle that the Anglo-Saxon race, whether they cut off the head of Charles the First today, whether they hang the dead body of a Cromwell tomorrow, whether as Puritan, Quaker or Cavalier, they will unite and stand together, and what is the use of discussing and fighting over these things in this good year of 1907?

Pensions.

"Our state in its poverty has not done a very great deal to alleviate the conditions of the old soldiers. It is more than two score years since they laid down their arms and commenced the struggles of life. Many of them are practically unable to earn a living and from the very nature of the case, unless the state holds out a helping hand and discharges its duty to these old men, the last days of many of them will be spent in poverty and want.

Schools.

"The regular assessment for pensions last year was $343,201.06. To this was added an extra appropriation of $150,000, and to this will further be added $30,000, their share of the increased tax valuation of $30,000,000, made last year, making a total of $523,201.06. I advise that you increase this amount by an extra appropriation of $300,000, making $823,201.06, and if the assessments increase $75,000,000, as I think they should, it will further increase it to $898,201.06—this in addition to the care of the home at Mountain Creek.

"The Alabama Insane Asylum is one of the largest benevolent institutions in the state and should be kept in first-class condition, both as to the money necessary to run it and keep it in repair, and also as to necessary enlargements of every description as may be necessary to meet the requirements of the state. Dr. Searcy, the superintendent, in his report, has made quite a few suggestions for your consideration, which I refer to you and suggest such necessary legislation as you may deem best to secure the economic requirements and correct development of this great institution.

"I will divide our schools into seven classes, the rural and common schools of the village and country, the normal or teachers' institute schools, the Alabama School for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind at Talladega, the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo, the nine agricultural schools of the congressional districts, the Polytechnic Institute at Auburn and the university at Tuscaloosa. These seven schools represent, as they do, seven distinct departments in our educational system, and should without prejudice or jealousy of one of the other, hand in hand, covering, when properly cared for, the necessities of the people, and you, representing all of the people, should represent and care for all of the schools.

"The educational fund for the common schools last year was $1,041,342; this is their constitutional share of 2 mills on the general assessment and valuation of the properties of the state; to this amount will be added $90,000, their share of the increased valuation of assessments of $30,000,000, making $1,131,342. I advise a direct appropriation of $500,000 a year out of the general fund to be added to the above constitutional assessment, and which would increase it to $1,631,342. As suggested in the article on taxation, I think, if there was an equality of assessment on the properties of the state, that there would be an increase of $75,000,000. If this was done the common schools would get their constitutional share of 3 mills, or $225,000, making $1,656,342. There is quite a demand that a part of this fund should be used in aiding a plan to give the rural districts better school houses and better furniture.

"The normal schools, founded for the purpose of preparing and fitting teachers, have succeeded and expanded beyond expectations. I will call your attention to the fact that it is at these schools the teacher for the other schools is prepared, and it is very important that this preparation should be thorough and commensurate with the work to be done. They have outgrown their limits and come to you for help. Your should thoroughly investigate the requirements of these schools and should meet them in a just and liberal way.

"The Alabama School for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind at Talladega has outgrown its bounds, and is asking for means of expansion. President Johnson's report show that there is a deficit of $20,000, and $5,000 is still required to complete the building and heat it. There is also a deficit of $3,000 on the central building, which was burned in 1905. In other words, the school owes about $28,600 for building more than there were appropriations.

"The Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo is accomplishing more than its founders expected, having now about 400 pupils, and asks for more expansion and more money. The nine agricultural schools, located one each in nine congressional districts, are doing a great work, and should be encouraged.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"The Polytechnic Institute, one of the greatest schools south of the Ohio river, has exceeded the expectations of its founders and friends, and today, expanded to the utmost limits of its acapacity, is knocking at our door for more means, more room.

"The institute is asking $226,000, or about $56,000 a year for four years, to erect new buildings and to properly equip same, and it should have it. I will call your attention that the state owes the fertilizer fund quite a sum of money, which has in previous years been turned into the general treasury; but aside from this, the state owes it to the farmers of the state and to those who want an agricultural and technological education to give an ample sufficiency of the general fund, if necessary, for buildings and equipment, and ample further equipment of managers and teachers to extend their expansion as the necessities of the case demand.

The University.

"The university, once the pride of the state, was burned in 1865 by supposed military necessity. Rebuilt, it is true, but that rebuilding was like the restoration of the temple and walls of Jerusalem by Nehemiah, Ezra and Zerubabel; when the work was completed and compared with the old Jerusalem they sat themselves down and wept.

"Alabama has been very negligent of the university, recognizing in the most meagre way the state's debt to the school, arriving by some strange vagary of conclusion that it was right to compromise the state's debt to this their own institution, having by the state's own conduct lost the independent trust funds of the university, making a settlement somewhat like that of an impecunious debtor—fifty cents on the dollar. As a result the university stands today a beggar struggling with inadequate means. The university is asking for $25,000 a year increased appropriations, and they are also asking for $100,000 a year for the next four years for increased buildings. It looks to me that these are reasonable requests of this body and that you could make no better investment. No state can build higher than its school system, and any state that fails to satisfy the aspirations of its young people for even the highest education, and fails to take such young people into its commensurate care, then that state has failed in its duty."

TWENTY-FOUR PERISH ONLY DOG SAVED

Entire Crew of British Vessel Drowns Off Germany.

MEN ALL REFUSE TO JUMP.

Cargo of Salt Petre Is a Total Loss. Capt. Williams Commanding—From Chile October 6.

Cuxhaven, Germany.—The British ship Pengwern, Captain Williams, from Taltal, Chile, October 6, for Falmouth, with a cargo of salt petre, grounded off Schapern, about ten miles northwest of Cuxhaven. Twenty-four men, comprising the crew, were drowned, and her cargo is a total loss.

The tug Vulkan went to the assistance of the stranded vessel, and passing closely to her, the crew of the Pengwern threw a live dog and a bundle of clothes aboard the tug, but disregarded the appeals to jump into the water, so that they might be rescued. The Vulkan made repeated attempts to reach the Pengwern, but a heavy sea broke over her and she disappeared from view.

Go to Court With Firearms.

Louisville, Ky.—A special from Prestonburg, Va., says:

"Many armed men are here to hear the proceedings in the county court on the motion of the Eastern Kentucky Land Corporation to list 83,000 acres of land in Floyd county for taxation. The corporation claims that it has title to the land under grants made by the state of Virginia in the latter part of the eighteenth century. The present holders of the land are greatly excited over the case, and it is believed there is danger of an outbreak in case of a decision in favor of the corporation. James P. Harris is the county judge, who must pass on the validity of the claim."

Want Japanese Kept Out.

Washington, D. C.—The house committee on foreign affairs granted a hearing to Representatives Kahn, McKinlay and Hayes, all of California, the committee named by Pacific coast representatives to oppose an attempt to modify the Chinese exclusion act and to work for a Japanese exclusion act. It was stated by the Californians that they will fight vigorously the bill under consideration by the committee to amend the Chinese exclusion act by having inspection of Chinese at ports in China from which they sail as well as in the American ports where they land. The bill is regarded by the Californians as a relaxation of the exclusion act.

Will Not Be at Jamestown.

Caracas, Venezuela.—Venezuela will not take part in the Jamestown Exposition according to a decision made by the government. Announcement was made Saturday to this effect, and the further statement was made that it was impossible to make arrangements in response to the invitation which was accepted last year. The illness of the president is the reason given for this action. In view of the fact that until two weeks ago President Castro was officially reported in good health the announcement is considered significant.

Firms Incorporated in Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Standard Hardwood Company, organized under the laws of New York, with headquarters at Buffalo, has informed the secretary of state of its intention to do business in Alabama and has named S. A. Frazier, of Sheffield, as its state agent.

Other corporations are:

Jackson Hardwood Company, of Oakman, Walker county; capital, $7,500; incorporators, N. W. Jackson, W. W. Earnest and E. A. Jackson.

The Alabama-Tennessee Stone Company, of Franklin county, has increased its capital stock from $10,500 to $30,000.

Spanish Cabinet in Danger.

Madrid.—Indications are that the ministry will not last out the week, as the efforts for concilation by the moderate and advanced sections of the liberals have been unsuccessful. The principal point at issue is that proposed anti-clerical association's law. Doubt is expressed as to whether the liberals, although they have a strong majority in the chamber, will be able to form a new cabinet.

Bell to Major General.

Washington.—The senate has confirmed the nomination of Brigadier-General J. Franklin Bell, chief of the army staff, to be major-general.

RAYMOND MOORE FOUND GUILTY.

Goes to Penitentiary for Twenty-five Years for Killing Policeman Jones.

Decatur, Ala.—The jury in the Raymond Moore murder case returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at twenty-five years in the state penitentiary.

His attorney filed a bill of exceptions, but Moore will commence to serve his time at once.

Moore was charged jointly with Cliff May with the murder of Policeman J. Lem Jones on November 24 last. May's case resulted in a mistrial Saturday afternoon.

Girl Chases Highwayman.

New York.—Margaret Hoffman, 14 years of age, with $340 clasped to her breast, the payroll for the employees of an East Side factory, was held up and the money snatched away from her, while she was on her way to the shop from the German Exchange Bank at Bond street and the Bowery.

With a fast gathering crowd at his heels, the young highwayman ran through the streets to Broadway, where a policeman caught him. The robber threw the wallet containing the money into a gutter, and almost as it fell, the girl, who had followed breathlessly, pounced upon it and then sat down on the curb in the rain and cried.

628 Pension Bills in Hour and Half.

Washington.—All previous records of the House of Representatives were broken Friday when, in an hour and thirty-five minutes, 628 private pension bills were passed, including 175 originating in the senate. With Representative Capron of Rhode Island in the chair, the house passed seven bills a minute.

The largest previous record made by the house for celerity in passing private pension bills was 535 in one day.

Life Company Organized.

Dustine, of New York; second vice-president, John H. McNamara, of Chicago; secretary, E. V. Stevens, of New York; treasurer, H. K. Makin, of New York.

Negotiations With Mexico.

El Paso, Tex.—Mexico's new ambassador to the United States, Enrique Creel, has been called to Mexico City, where it is said he will receive instructions relative to negotiations with the United States under the terms of which the Mexican republic may be able to reach and punish those of its people who come to America to plot and act against their own government.

Royal Society Elects Roosevelt.

London.—The Royal Geographical Society has elected President Roosevelt an honorary member. There are only nine honorary members of the society. They include: Emperor William, King Leopold and King Oscar. The society has just received Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance of the distinction.

Chile to Have an Ambassador.

Santiago de Chile.—The government has proposed to parliament that the Chilean legation at Washington be raised to the rank of an embassy, and Domingo Gana, the minister of Chile in London, is regarded as being likely to be appointed the first ambassador.

Newspaper in New Building.

Florence, Ala.—The Florence Herald, owned and edited by H. E. Moores has moved into new quarters in the opera house block, and is now housed and equipped in a manner befitting a city paper. The water power for running the press has been superceded by an electric motor, and the Herald, the oldest paper in North Alabama, is keeping abreast of the city in its rapid growth.

Commits Suicide.

Vicksburg.—Harry N. Nathan, of this place, committed suicide by cutting his throat from ear to ear. No cause is assigned for the deed.

Twenty Persons Perished.

Strassburg.—Twenty persons perished in a fire which destroyed the book bindery of Hudert & Co., near this city.

Hundley Case Postponed.

Washington, D. C.—Owing to the absence of the chairman the consideration of the Hundley case will be put off for two weeks.

Water Works Election.

Newton, Miss.—An election was held in Newton on Tuesday for the purpose of voting as to whether or not a bond issue of $50,000 will be made to install a first-class water works system.

Americus, Ga.—The Sumter County Medical Association met here. The association consists of the physicians of this county and Americus.

Macon, Ga.—Dr. Wade H. Brown, of Johns Hopkins University, has returned to Baltimore, after spending a few days in Macon as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Brown.

THE INAUGURATION SPLENDID AFFAIR

Extensive Plans Make Memorable the Great Event.

COMER IN THE PARADE.

Bibb Graves Was the Grand Marshal of the Inaugural Formation, Which Included 2,500 of the State's Militia and Bands.

Montgomery, Ala.—The ceremonies of the inauguration of Governor Comer were the grandest which have yet occurred in this city, and the hopes of those having the matter in charge were realized to the fullest extent, as the day was one of the most enjoyable of many years. The state was thoroughly alive to the situation, and consequently great were the preparations, culminating in a most successful issue.

The program of the inauguration began with the military parade at noon.

The troops formed on Church street, and after receiving Governor Comer into the line at the corner of Church and Catoma streets, proceeded down Church street to Lee. The line of march from this point was along Lee to Tallapoosa, to Commerce, to Court Square, then to the capitol on Dexter avenue.

In the procession were fully 2,500 men in military uniform. Captain Forbes requested that Governor William D. Jelks ask his personal staff to act as escort of honor to Governor Comer. Five hundred uniformed cadets of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Auburn, were in line.

The state troops in line, with the number of men, were as follows:

Brigadier-General Louis V. Clark and staff, ten men.

Col. R. B. DuMont and staff, ten men.

First Regiment Infantry, officers and men, 380 men.

Col. C. R. Bricken and staff, ten men.

Second Regiment Infantry, officers and men, 350 men.

Major V. B. Atkins and staff, five men.

First Squadron Cavalry, officers and men, 120 men.

Major S. T. Westcott and staff, five men.

First Regiment band, fifteen pieces.

Second Regiment band, twenty-two pieces.

Third Regiment band, thirty-two pieces.

One hundred men from the Mobile Military Institute were in line. The battalion of the state school at Abbeville was present. To these and all other cadets in uniform the railway companies granted a rate of 1 cent for each mile traveled.

The inauguration took place upon a dais raised before the capitol steps, and so constructed as to permit every person in the vast assemblage to witness the ceremonies, an extension being built out from the main part of the platform. On this the governor and the chief justice of the supreme court stood when the oath of office was administered and repeated.

When the oath of office was administered Battery B, Captain Sam Roswalt commanding, fired a governor's salute of seventeen guns.

When the inaugural ceremonies were completed the governor and his party went to a reviewing stand on the northeast corner of Dexter avenue and North Perry streets, and there reviewed the troops of the National Guard and the cadets of the scholastic institutions represented.

The subsistence, consisting of sandwiches and coffee, was served in the armory at the expense of the citizens, who subscribed about $1,000 for the purpose.

The public reception to Governor and Mrs. Comer was given in the auditorium on North Perry street, between Dexter avenue and Madison avenue, the ball taking place at 10 o'clock in the same place. To both affairs the general public was invited, although a restriction was put in force after 10 o'clock to limit the number of dancers to those wearing dress suits.

American Honors for King Emanuel.

Rome.—King Victor Emanuel has received in private audience the American ambassador, Mr. White, who invested his majesty with the academic hood of the University of Pennsylvania, and presented the king with his diploma as doctor of laws.

Vatican Not Represented.

Rome, Italy.—The newspapers here deny the statement that the vatican is to be represented at the next Hague conference.

Must Pay 'Frisco Losses.

Hamburg.—The North German Fire Insurance Company, according to a decision rendered by the local court in a test case, must pay the losses which it incurred as a result of the San Francisco earthquake last year.

Liquor Not Subject to State Laws.

Washington.—The house committee on judiciary decided by a vote of 9 to 7 not to consider the Hepburn-Bulliver bill making liquor carried in interstate commerce subject to the laws of any state it enters.

20,000 Spindles Idle.

Charlotte, N. C.—The failure of two large cotton mills has been announced, which puts about 20,000 spindles out of business.

Coal Is Scarce.

Montgomery, Ala.—Grate coal is selling 50 cents a ton higher than last year, and there is only a three days' supply. There is danger of a famine and suffering if a cold spell sets in.

To Entertain U. D. C.'s.

Florence, Ala.—The United Daughters of the Confederacy of the Tri-Cities held a joint meeting and made elaborate plans for entertainment of the state body in May.

For Tuscumbia's Mayor.

Tuscumbia, Ala.—Mayor James E. Isbell has announced for re-election. William T. Farley is also in the race, and others are mentioned as probable candidates.

Thecity of Kingston, Jamaica. was destroyed by earthquake Tues. and as in the case of San Francisco. fire is finishing what the earthquake begun. About 100 lives are reported lost, but full particulars are not yet to hand.

We wish to call special attention to the statement of the Peoples Savings Bank published in this issue. Its financial position, shown by this statement, is about the strongest of any bank in Alabama. The banking laws require a reserve of 15 per cent of deposits to be kept in cash and in banks. This statement shows that the Peoples Savings Bank had over 100 per cent reserve. This is a remarkable showing and we commend this strong bank to the public.

The following bills have been introduced by Mr. J. O. Middleton, in the legislature:

81—To submit to the people of the State at the General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1908, for their consideration and amendment to section 178. Article 8 of the Constitution prescribed the qualification of electors in the State of Alabama. Judiciary.

82—To submit to the people of the State at the General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first monday in November, 1908, for their consideration and amendment to section 194, Article 8, of the Constitution, providing for the compulsory payment of poll tax, creating a lien for collection of the same in favor of the State, and providing a fee to be paid the Tax Collectors of the several counties of the State for the collection of the same after it becomes delinquent. Judiciary.

NOTICE.

The public will take notice that a Bill will be introduced in the Legislature of the State of Alabama, during its next session, to establish a Dispensary in and for the Town of Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, for the sale of spirituous and vinous liquors, malt liquors, wines, ciders, and other intoxicating liquors.

This the 29th day of December, A. D., 1906.

Larvae Nests.

By breaking open rotton logs one can find in midwinter the grubs or larvæ of many of the wood boring beetles, and beneath logs and stones near the margins of ponds and brooks hordes of the maggots or larvæ of certain kinds of flies may often be found huddled together in great masses. The larvæ of a few butterflies also live over winter beneath chips or bunches of leaves near the roots of their food plant or in webs of their own construction, which are woven on the stems close to the buds whose expanding leaves will furnish them their first meal in spring.

He Didn't Hush.

"Mamma," queried little Willie, "what is 'hush?'"

"Why do you ask, dear?" said his mother.

"Because," explained the observing urchin, "when I asked sister what made her hair all mussed after her beau was here this afternoon she said, 'Hush, dear.'"—Chicago News.

The Caller.

"Mary, has any one called while I was out?"

"Yes, ma'am; Mr. Biggs was here."

"Mr. Biggs? I don't recall the name."

"No, ma'am; he called to see me, ma'am."—Strand Magazine.

Christmas Island.

"I spent last Christmas on Christmas island," said a globe trotter. "In the morning I bathed in the sea and in the afternoon, dressed in white flannel, I played tennis. Christmas island is in the Indian ocean. It is always summer there. The thermometer never falls below 70 and never rises above 90 in the shade. There's always a cool, pure wind from the southeast. Fresh fruit and flowers and vegetables are as plentiful in January as in July. The little paradise is nine miles long and ten miles wide."

Ozamp.

The new year is with us and for the most part so far, has given us genial days of sunshine and gentle breezes, I trust the brightness is symbolical of what is in store for us during its reign. With us the old year passed out with a "night watch" to welcome the coming guest 1907. A goodly number assembled at the church, and with songs of praise and feeling prayers at the midnight hour, the bell from the tower "rang out the old and rang in the new year."

Christmas eve Santa Claus held a reception at the church where a beautiful tree was laden with presents and souvenirs of loving hearts that made glad the old as well as the young. songs and recitations beguiled the time prior to the distribution of the gifts Mrs. Loudie Fant our organist, being absent, Miss Esther Shaw of Mt. Moriah, kindly supplied her place, for which service we are gratefully appreciative. There were a number of visitors from the surrounding country, and I think the occasion was a joyous one to all. We have a live Sunday school and semi-weekly prayer meetings. Rev. W. A. Crim has been recalled to serve us and will give us two Sabbaths a month instead of one as was the case last year.

Within the past two or three months we have lost two of our most prominent citizens and active lenders in Sunday school and general religious work, Mr. F. T. Frierson and Mr. J. L. Dunlap, the former moved to Birmingham, and the latter to Calera where he is engaged in merchandise. Mr. Frierson still holds an important position with the Robinson Mining and Manufacturing Co.

Miss Tina Griffin of Stanton, is a welcome and charming guest of Miss Pearl Maroney.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith are visiting Mr. Zack Whitener.

Mrs. Leon Bean gave a tacky party Saturday night which was much enjoyed.

Wishing the Banner a happy and prosperous new year, au revoir.

Long Lane.

Editor Banner—Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a few words.

The health of this community is very good at present. The weeds and morning glories are coming up, the birds are singing like it was spring time, the old year has passed and the new year has come in; let us all try to improve ourselves and see if we can't make ourselves more useful in the future than we have in the past.

Now a few words to the boys of this community. Every boy and young man naturally wishes to succeed in this world. Here are a few rules, follow them and success will surely be yours. Have respect for the aged; Have profound reverence for father and mother; Be choice of your language; Keep your mouth free from smut of any kind; love the church; shun evil companions; seek to develop mentally, morally and physically; have high ideals and constantly strive to attain them. Boys, for goodness sake, do not go off in company with your breath smelling like a whiskey barrel, if you have got to drink whiskeg stay at home and don't be going along the public highway leaving your bottle in the fence corners. If you have no respect for yourselves do have some for other people. If you will take this advice I am sure you will be thought more of.

Now, a few words to the girls. Girls, I think that if you would not kee company with such boys they would strive to do better, for if a boy will drink that vile stuff and try to keep your company at the same time, he has not got any respect for you even if he is a good boy when sober. A real gentleman will not go to see his best girl on Saturday or Sunday night, with a bottle in his pocket and before he gets there ride it, and when he wants a drink makes his excuse to go to the well to get some water. So I guess this will do for this time. Success to the Banner and its many readers.

GUESS WHO

Wise Counsel From the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved out to an absolute certainity that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles, I was completely cured; so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Mountain Creek, Jan. 12, 07

Editor Banner—Will you allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to a new road law for Chilton county. I noticed one correspondent suggested the Dallas county road law. Now, I would like for the people of the county to consider the road law that is in force in Calhoun county. The grand jury of Aurauga county recommenden this road law to the people of that county. This law provides that all who are subject to work the roads, work four days per year or pay four dollars, one dollar for each day they don't work, and the commissioners may employ the county convicts on the roads. The commissioners may also levy a special tax on the taxable property of the county, also provides that the commissioners supervise the roads and bridges in their respective districts and make quarterly reports of the conditions of the roads and bridges. They also appoint the overseers who make regular sworn reports, and also collect the funds and pay them over to the commissioners. This road law could be modified to suit the conditions in Chilton county.

Respectfully,
W. E. PRICE.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Safe Remedy for children.

In buying cough medicine for coildren, never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and there is no better medicine in the world for these diseases. It is not only a certain cure for croup. but, when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given as directed. It contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and may be given as confidently to a baby as an adult. For sale by Upchurch Drug co, clanton, and A. Horn, Thorsby.

Pletcher.

The health of this community is very good at present.

The Autauga boys have got the parties going, but they don't like to see the Chilton boys down in old Autauga, they are afraid they will get their time beat with the girls.

Miss Ula McDaniel of Birmingham, spent the holidays with Mrs E. G. Caldwell at Pletcher.

The music entertainment at Mr. J. A. Poole' was enjoyed by a large crowd; the music was made by the Abbotts' boys and Walter Kendrick.

Well, I will close for this time, I will try and come again if this don't reach the waste basket.

LITTLE GAME BOY.

Adams.

Dear Editor—As we have not seen anything from this place in some time we thought that we would write and let the people know that there are a few young folks left, as we have had four weddings recently, although those remaining are waiting patiently for their time to come.

Master Kent Roebuck of this place left Sunday eve for Maplesville, where he will attend school.

The singing at Mr. Wheelers' Sunday eve, was greatly enjoyed by all present, we hope to have another soon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rollinson visited the formers parents Sunday.

Mr. Thos. Deramus, we are delighted to say has moved to Adams.

Mr. M. M. Abrams and family will leave Adams soon, to the regret of their many friends

We will call a halt for this time and if we are recognized we will come again; much love to the Banner and its many readers.

TWO ONLY.

Verbena.

Well, Christmas has come and gone once more and another new year is here, and oh how sad. On last Christmas some of our loved ones were with us that during the year have left us forever until we meet in heaven to dwell forever with the many loved ones gone before, and then the question is how many of us will be here to witness another Xmas. So then, dear friends, realizing this fact to be true, that our time is short and that we may be summoned by Almighty God at any time, let us strive to do more for Him this year than we have ever done in the past. Let us begin the new year's work with more zeal, with renewed courage, and in the words of the apostle let us lay aside every weight and the sin that doth so easily beset us and let us run the race with patience that is set before us, ever looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith.

Well, I wonder if every one enjoyed Xmas, but as that is a time almost every one is glad to see, I suppose they did. I was down at Mr. Jonas Swells, near the M. & O. railroad, and you could not guess what they had saved from their field for Xmas. You would be surprised if I should tell you it was a watermelon, and it looked strange to see a watermelon at this time of the year, Good luck to the Banner. W. M. D.

Water In Old London.

London's original water supply, says the Chicago Daily News, was the river Thames, and every apprentice was supplied with a water tankard for transporting liquid to the house. As early as 1479 there were "water thieves," "for in this yere a wex chandler in Fleet street had bi craft perced a pipe of the condit withynne the ground, and so conveied the water into his selar; wherefore he was jugid to ride thrugh the citee with a condit upon his hedde." The first official water supply for London was made in Germany. In 1582 Peter Maurice, a German, made an engine at London bridge by which water was conveyed in lead pipes to the citizens' houses, and he and his descendants became rich on the proceeds.

For Bronchitis

TAKE VINOL
it heals the bronchial tubes and remedies the cough

For centuries old fashioned cod liver oil has been prescribed by physicians the world over for coughs, bronchitis, weak lungs and consumption, but many could not take it on account of its useless fishy oil.

Anyone can take our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, which contains all the medicinal and curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but no oil, and wherever old fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions would do good, Vinol will do far more good.

Try it on our guarantee.

ON CAL'S BRICK KORNER

Zacheus, my little man from far off Jericho, is lame in the foot, rheumatiz, the doctor says But Cal is all and straight, and hungry all the time and waiting for the trade, talks smooth and easy, just like he did years ago, both to men and women too. While Krump himself looks bad, ugly and old. It was no the age that did it though, it was hard, brought up and little thought of in the long run. And he bets still on a coming day, for making hay in the sweet bye and bye.

Chas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adjt. 5th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lanham, Md., as follows:

"Though somewhat averse to patent medicines, and still more averse to becoming a professional affidavit man, it seems only a plain duty in the present instance to add my experience to the columns already written concerning the curative powers of Peruna.

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat. I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions. I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack.

"Members of my family also use it for like ailments. We are recommending it to our friends."

What Will Mr. Burroughs Say to This.

The following story which has just reached me from a well-known Devonshire clergyman, shows how the life in the kennel is brightened by play.

"Some fifty years ago I was visiting Mr. Garth's kennels when the first whip showed me a tunnel in the airing ground about six feet long, which the hounds had dug themselves and utilized as follows: They use to choose one of themselves and start to run round the yard, they being in full pursuit, till he had enough. Then he went to ground in the tunnel, whilst another hound took his turn to be hunted and go to ground. This is one way in which hounds train themselves."—T. F. HAD NEVER SEEN WHITE MEN.

A Primitive Nomadic People Found on Prince Albert Land.

Details of the finding on Prince Albert Land in the Arctic of a people who had never seen white men were given at Victoria, British Columbia, by an officer of the Revenue Cutter Thetis, who learned the facts from Capt. Klinkinberg of the steam whaler Olga, who found the people.

Last winter when his vessel was in the ice near Prince Albert Land, Klinkinberg, accompanied by an Eskimo, started inland on a hunting trip. He went 250 miles in a northeasterly direction over the snow, finding traces of people. Other whalers had also seen traces of natives in this region, and by means of signs Klinkinberg Klinberg came up with 150 or more of them.

When they saw him they came toward him, armed with copper knives and bows and arrows. They held these above their heads, and he pointed a rifle at them. One advanced alone, and the captain laid down his rifle, whereupon the native put down his weapons. They became friendly, but never sighted them. Capt. Klinlearned that they had never before seen white men.

He visited the village, and found about 600 people, all of whom lived by hunting and fishing. They use the most primitive utensils, fashioned from bone and native copper. Their dress was not like that of other Eskimos, but similar to that of the Greenland natives, made of soft tanned skins sewed with deer sinews. Their winter houses were of sod, with an inner lining of skins, and different in shape from those of other known tribes. They are nomadic. The only article seemingly brought from civilization seen by Capt. Klinkinberg was a piece of steel, evidently from some ship which was converted into a spearhead.—New York Times.

Cellar Excavation Becomes Coal Mine

With two coal strikes threatening and coal prices soaring into the luxury class, Allegheny comes to the rescue. Coal can be had on the North Side for $1 a ton. There is 5000 tons of the precious fuel and as fast as it is mined it is being eagerly bought up by families in the Nunnery Hill, Conservatory Hill and East street, or Butchers' Run districts. The mine is at the bottom of an excavation for the Twelfth ward school building, Fairview avenue.

Murphy Bros., the general contractors of the job, in excavating for the cellar of the building, reached a five foot vein of coal at the depth they intended to complete operations.

On the advice of Architect William E. Snaman the contractors started to build the foundation over the mine. Supt. Ellsworth Murphy of the Allegheny bureau of building inspection ordered that the coal be taken out first.

The contractor then began digging out the coal, and they are selling it at $1 per ton. The coal burns well in stoves and if the contractors succeed in disposing of the product at $1 per ton they will be well paid for the extra excavation they have to make.—Pittsburg Post.

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female illnesses or such hosts of grateful friends as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing all forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Ulceration, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregularities and periodical pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it; also deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearing feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues". These are indications of Female Weakness or some derangement of the organs, which this medicine cures as well as Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

THE PULPIT

A SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON, THE FAMOUS DIVINE.

Theme: The Life Spiritual in Christ.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme, "The Life Spiritual in Christ; the Fundamental in Christianity," the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, pastor, took as his text John 3:5: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God," He said:

It is my desire, as the Spirit may give me wisdom, to unfold to you what, to my mind, is the fundamental in Christianity. From the words of our Master I conceive the truth to be that, save as we apprehend the spiritual verities revealed in Jesus Christ; save as we see the world, man, our God, with the spiritual vision, we cannot become partakers of the glories of the kingdom of our Father. Only as we open our hearts and minds to the indwelling Spirit of Almighty God do we enter into the promised land of the new dispensation, to possess it, to enjoy it. Filled with the Spirit we live, but if the Spirit of God abide not in a man he is none of His.

In that beautiful figure of the vine Christ cuts clear for us the nature of the spiritual life. It is our oneness with the Author of the universe and of us. It is the merging of our lives into the life of God. The perfect spiritual life expresses itself in union within the Maker. Entirely within the living Christ moves the flawless human. Fashion a man according to the stature of Jesus Christ and you have a spiritual man. The spiritual life is that life within Christ which will make you always ask, "What would Jesus do?" The ethical judgment always referring for its sanction to the spiritual.

Spirituality and godliness are synonymous. Apart from the glorified Nazarene there is, Christianly speaking, no spiritual existence. Spirituality is no mere statement of philosophy; it is a fact. A vital and a vivifying reality is the life within the Son of Man. The Christ life is not merely a state of mind, but a mode of action. The living of the man within Jesus and for the Father, and the Holy Spirit dwelling in him, that is the life spiritual. As the late Dr. Maltbie D. Babcock well said: "Spirituality is seeing God in common things and showing God in common things."

Now this spiritual life is not esoteric in its nature. It is not a life for the few. It is a life for us all. The economy of the good news of the Master is worldwide in its application and inclusiveness. To all men the opportunity to dwell within Christ is offered. To all the higher life has its appeal. From Nicodemus of the Sanhedrim, to Onesimus the slave. From the mighty in intellect, to the unlettered and unlearned. To the banker, to the beggar, without money and without price, are given all the wealth at God's command if they will.

The highest Christian life is inseparable from the highest spirituality. We cannot understand the soul of the message that the Master brings to us until we enter into His point of view. The mightiest Christians of all the ages were men of the deepest sanctification. And sanctification is the soul's progress toward the perfectness of God. Witness Peter as he stands before the wondering, polyglottous multitudes, on the day when the Spirit filled the church. Witness Saul of Tarsus, as, "ringing down the grooves of change" he sends the watchword, "For to me to live is Christ." The secret of the success of Wesley, of Spurgeon, is spiritual force. The most helpful power in the world to-day is the strength of soul of consecrated men and women. Men may come and men may go, but the influence of the soul which is growing into Godlikeness is the influence which bends hardest upward and heavenward. To be truly Christlike, we must be truly spiritual.

The greatest value of the spiritual life is that, through it, we are enabled, more and more, to understand Jesus Christ Himself. The Christ cannot be comprehended save through the spiritual depths of His nature. As true it is to-day as it was when Nicodemus went through the sable night to learn wisdom at the feet of Jesus: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh. That which is born of the Spirit is Spirit." Save as we enter into the Spirit we cannot enter into the things of the Spirit. We cannot grasp heavenly things until we let Heaven into our hearts. Only as we discern the soul forces which underlie the activities of the Saviour can we understand Christianity and Christ. Only as we are filled with the Spirit can we understand the Lamb of God.

The fullness of the promises of the Prince of Peace can come to those only who are strongest in soul service. Christ has left us certain promises. He has conferred upon us certain privileges. But those promises and those privileges are realized, in their fullest measure, by those only who live the fullest life. Christ says to us with reference to prayer: "If ye abide in Me and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you." A promise and a privilege. But to whom? To us all indeed. But fully to those of us only who live fully within Christ.

The promises of Christ are constant. Prayer is the same blessed privilege to-day that it was on that fateful night in Gethsemane. To you and to me Christ grants the same access to the Father that He had Himself. But we need the deepest spiritual insight to learn the secret of success in prayer. Read that petition of our Lord in the seventeenth chapter of the fourth Gospel and see if it is not the spiritual fervor of it which enthralls you. The secret of the success of Christ in His earthly career is the secret of the prayer in the grove by the Kidron. Christ has revealed the secret to us. It is for us to decide whether or no, using the spiritual energy that we have, we shall go on to farther glories in the life within our Saviour.

In our time the material needs of men are, instead of being subordinated, pushed into primary importance. The mad rush for wealth and power among the leaders in society has its influence on those in the rear ranks. Materialism masters all men save those who see clearly and think profoundly. And in this there is cause for fear.

Would that we might look less at the world material and more to the realm spiritual. Christ came not to save the pockets, or the power, or the position of men. The Saviour, crucified on Calvary, died, not that we might be enabled to gain riches or honor or glory in this world. Rather did He suffer that, through Him, we might be led to discern the spiritual realities of life. Rather did He offer up Himself that, through Him, we might gain an eternal weight of glory; that, through Him, we might gain spiritual plenty, power, peace.

Would that we might discern that the spiritual life that we are to live hereafter is the normal life now. Would that to-day we might cease to sear our souls with sin. Would that we might, here and now, re-dedicate ourselves to the spiritual service of our spiritual God. Let us cease to make the passing pleasures of the present the motive in our lives. Let us rather strive for the primal and the fundamental in life. To the attainment of the eternal graces, the endless powers, the everlasting possessions, let us bend our energies. If we are to live the life spiritual hereafter, then, by all means, let us gain all spiritual wisdom now. If, through the aeons, we are to dwell within the light of the countenance of the Christ, then let us become accustomed to the glory of His presence here.

The student studies against his life's labors. The scientist devotes his larger energies to his field of investigation. The disciplines of the student subordinate all else to themselves. The scientist specializes. All else is secondary. Not otherwise is it with the Christian. The Christian is fitting for spiritual specialism. His duty it is to draw so near to God that the divine life is within him and he within the divine. His duty it is, here and now, to subordinate all things in this life to the soul's development.

Wealth, position, power, all are secondary, all are incidents. None is primary. None is fundamental. Poverty with purity is peace. The true wealth is the wealth spiritual. Real content comes from above and abides within. The purest happiness is the gift of the Spirit. The power that persists is Pentecostal.

Do you doubt? Come then to the hovel that they call home who are poor in earthly possessions but who are rich toward God. Poor? No. Rich? Yes. Unhappy? No. Happy? Yes. And you ask: "How can this be?" Listen to the words of our blessed Master: "Let not your heart be troubled. Ye believe in God, believe also in Me." "I will not leave you orphans, I will come to you." "These things I have spoken unto you that ye might have life." "I am the bread of life." A son of God unhappy? A daughter of our Father in tears?

The need of the church and of the individual Christian to-day is spirituality. The power of the Holy Ghost the Comforter is sadly neglected. The church relies too much upon the might of man and not enough upon the grace of God. We need to secure, as a real and virile fact in our own lives, the consciousness of our being within God through Christ. Thus may we be clothed with the might of the Master. Thus may we gain in soul energy. Thus may we grow from spiritual childhood into spiritual maturity. Leaving the miasma of the prison house of the body material, we may climb ever higher to the spiritual heights where the air is pure, and clear and vigorous. Escaping from the bonds of sin we may clamber upward toward the pinnacle of perfectness.

Beloved, we must lead. The position of the church is at the front. We must move up to our colors. Our ideal is Christ. Our aim the spiritual regeneration of the world. An anemic church cannot lead. We need red blood in our veins. The church of Christ must be filled, individually and collectively, with the deepest spiritual grace. The Christian man must be "one who measured by the spirit level of his own ideals, justifies." If we are Christians let us live the life. Let us place the emphasis upon the enduring things. Let us bring men to the knowledge of the spiritual truths revealed in Jesus Christ. Let us teach mankind that he is richest who is wealthiest toward God. Let us live as we pray and preach and teach.

And having dedicated ourselves to the service of the Lord of Light and of Love let us go out to men with the truth. To the highest, to the lowest, the cultivation of the soul's powers has its appeal. The spiritual chord struck by Jesus Christ can awake an antiphonal note in the soul of every man who wants to hear.

Waves.

The waves of the ocean spring up, we know not where or why. They come careering past us, the very emblems of resistless power. They subside and are lost among the succeeding waves. In like manner, on the vast sea of human life, individuals, then empires, mysteriously emerge. They raise their ephemeral forms conspicuously high, overwhelming whatever stands in the way of their march. They also subside and are lost, but the unfathomable abyss of humanity still remains, and God's eternal purpose moves on toward the determined end.—Draper.

RADISH REVELATIONS.

How to Write a Sketch of Sublimated Marriage.

She sat in the cool library with a closed volume in her lap. Sweet flowers in tall vases nodded at her as the gentle breezes played around them and a yellow bumblebee purred drowsily through the air.

But the atmosphere of peace did not extend into her soul. There a tempest was racing; the foundations of things mental were shaken, the veil of her inner sanctuary was rent in twain. Was this all it amounted to? Was this to be the only result of months of infinite pains and breathless anticipations? Was this all that living meant? All that faith, hope and charity meant? In her agony she could have thrown the book, or anything else within reach, but she was well bred; she had always been referred to as a lady in her girlhood.

Her girlhood! Where was her girlhood? What had become of it? That was what she wanted and it was gone! She glanced through the open window at her husband out in the garden. Would he understand if she spoke? But the futility of speech came over her. How could a man understand how she felt about her girlhood?

She glanced again at her husband. After all, he was her husband; perhaps she might have had a little to do with making him such. She remembered in a vague, dazed way that she had said "yes" when he had asked her about it. Now he was dropping radish seeds into the warm, brown earth. She had always been fond of radishes and he knew it. A thought flashed through her mind. Perhaps the answer to the turmoil of her soul awaited her out there in the garden.

In the light of this divination she walked out and laid her hand on her husband's shoulder.

"Did you know?" she challenged. He answered lightly, but with deep meaning: "From the first, dear," he said. The revelation nearly suffocated her, but she pursued: "And the radishes?" A smile broke over his grave kind face. "They are the apotheosis, the symbol, the epitome!"

And at last she understood.—Judge.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR JANUARY 20 BY THE REV. I. W. HENDERSON.

Subject: Man's Sin and God's Promise, Gen. 3:1-6, 13-15—Golden Text, 1 Cor. 15:22 — Memory Verse, 15.

This lesson, which is termed Man's Sin and God's Promise, might better be termed "The result of disobedience." When God put Adam and Eve into the Garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it, the Lord God commanded the man, saying, "Of every tree of the Garden thou mayst freely eat, but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil thou shalt not eat of it, for in the day that thou eatest thou shalt surely die." God gave this command unto the man and the woman because He desired to teach them the lesson of obedience. If the story in Genesis tells us anything it clearly tells us that. The man and the woman being gifted with the power of free moral choice were to be tested as to their fitness in this demand of God that they obey Him in this one thing. Strictly speaking the Genesis story tells us that the man alone was definitely commanded of God to obey. But in God's plan it is preposterous for us to assume that the woman was not as conscious of the divine decree as was the man. It is noticeable that God gave to the man and woman in the Garden of Eden absolute freedom save in one particular. Their test of fitness lay in their ability to obey one simple solitary command. The results of that disobedience we have read. The age long consequences of this first disobedience and of centuries of sin we know.

Wherever man is commanded to obey and disobeys the demands of God there trouble comes. So long as Adam and Eve obeyed the will of God so long were they happy. And in like fashion in our day and generation joy only is to be found in the service of God, in the keeping of His eternal commandments, in the doing of His divine will. Sin is disobedience. Adam and Eve were sinners because they willed to disobey their God. Disobedience brings for us as it brought to them inevitable, inexorable, vicious consequences. If we are to enjoy life to its fullest we must as individuals and as a society obey God. And if we shall decide by the exercise of our own free wills to disobey the voice of God as He speaks to us in our soul's life we must expect logically, consequentially and inescapeably to endure suffering and sorrow. That is the law of life.

But thanks be to God we have the promise that however great may have been our disobedience true repentance will meet with divine favor and human sins will be nullified by the grace of God in Christ. Listening to His gospel, accepting His revelation of the redeeming and sanctifying love of God, taking Him as our guide and our Saviour, we may enter into eternal happiness and become the possessors of eternal life.

The following special notes may prove of some value:

Vs. 1. "Serpent," represents sin and evil external temptation. Without much of an imaginative stretch we might consider it the symbolism of inner self will. "Yea—said," a subtle implication that the command was nonsensical. "Any," but God hadn't made such a prohibition. He had commanded abstinence from but one.

Vs. 2. "Fruit—eat," the woman with a greater fidelity to the truth corrects the erroneous statement of the serpent.

Vs. 3. "Touch," but with a laxity of expression that was possibly born of not the best of motives, she herself makes an addition to the divine command. God didn't tell them not to touch it.

Vs. 7-12 inc. are skipped in the lesson, but they ought to be understood. Especially is it wise to call attention to verse 8. The man and the woman in their sin "heard the sound (R. V.) of the Lord God walking in the garden." They didn't have to see Him to know the depth of their disobedience. They had merely to hear Him in order to become frightened. The lesson is obvious. In passing the man's unmanly excuses are worth noticing.

Vs. 13. God passes over the man's excuses and addresses the woman for an explanation.

Vs. 14. "Belly," it would seem that at some time the serpent moved upright, as anciently he was sometimes represented. "Dust," the serpent was supposed to eat dust.

Vs. 15. "Bruise," better "crush." Of course we all understand that the heel is the part of a man's body a snake can reach quickest. And we are also aware that our first instinct is to crush a snake with the heel. But aside from other meanings it seems as though there is a deeper meaning in this verse. We are told by reliable commentators that "this verse is regarded as the first announcement of the gospel of redemption. The seed of the woman is Christ, who crushes the serpent's head, i. e., destroys the power of sin and Satan, although He Himself suffers in so doing. There is nothing to indicate that such ideas were in the mind of the writer, but the contest between mankind and the serpent naturally became the symbol of the conflict between good and evil, in which good triumphed in the person of Christ, but conquered through suffering. Moreover, ancient readers of this story knew parallel narratives, in which the serpent was an evil god and his antagonist a divine redeemer, and would naturally find a similar meaning here."

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers: those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and in order to buy the genuine article and to get its beneficial effects, one has only to note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package. Price, 50c. per bottle. One size only.

WHY
should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless, don't experiment on him and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge greatest known worm medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa. Fla writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing happy and well." Sold by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton, and A. Horn, Thorsby.

A Fox Race.

On Wednesday evening January 2nd, Fonza Culp, J. S. Bone and Joe Williams, Jr., left near Center Point for a fox race. They journeyed southward and at Billingsley they were joined by Mr. Patrick thence they marched towards the southeast until they were in the community near Whitepond church someone informed them that there was a fox in that community that could not be caught, but they were well prepared with dogs and plenty of food to spend the night.

Mr. Williams said, "I don't know boys whether we will catch him or not, but we will give him a Xmas chase," so they let the dogs go and in a little while they were in hot pursuit of an old fox. There were twenty dogs after one fox, and the pretty music they made resembled, to some extent, the Star Spangle Banner as sung by our boys after the famous battle of Santiago. They ran the fox one hour and captured him, then they started for home but had not gone far before the dogs struck another one, after running this one a short while, someone exclaimed; "you are now after the one that cannot be caught," but by this time the pretty music made by the dogs had many listeners, they only ran him about four miles until he was compelled to climb a tree for safety. They made him come down and the dogs made short work of him. He was an old fox and gave us a nice chase, but when you need a fox caught, send for us. THE REPORTER.

Food don't digest? Because the stomach lacks some tone of the essential digestants or the digestive juices are not properly balanced. Then too, it is this undigested food that causes sourness and painful indigestion. Kodol for Indigestion should be used for relief. Kodol is a solution of vegetable acids. It digests what you eat, and corrects the deficiencies of the digestion. Kodol conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold here by Upchurch Drug co.

Sardis.

On the morning of the 27th ult., at their home, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Broadhead entertained their neighbors and friends. The occasion was a delightful one and the best day we spent during the holidays, of course we want the readers of the dear old Banner to know we helped eat the turkey. Oh my; how I wish every reader had enjoyed every day during the holidays as well as we enjoyed this one day, such a bountiful dinner. I wonder why the good things of Christmas time always have a flavor so unlike that of the eatables of ordinary days? I have a fancy that the spirit of the season, in some unexplainable way gets into the pies and puddings and cakes and turkeys, and imparts to them the peculiar flavor which they never have only at Christmas time. Long will this day be remembered by every one who was present. We wish to return thanks through the Banner to Mr. and Mrs. Broadhead for their kindness and wish for them a bright and happy new year.

Well, I'm sure the Editor is a good man if he prints this sorry letter, but maybe as I don't come often he will not send me to the waste basket this time, so wishing the Editor and each reader a happy new year, I remain. SOME ONE.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against Lee Kicker, in favor of John Vinson and John Mims, Defendants, for the use of the officers of said Court, out of the goods chattels, lands and tenements of the said Lee Kicker, I have levied on the following property, towit:

One (1) black mare about 7 years old; one (1) bay horse mule about 8 years old; one (1) rubber tired single buggy and harness, and about fifty-five (55) bushels of corn, more or less, in the shuck.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale at public auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named Lee Kicker, in and to the above described property, on MONDAY the 28th day of JANUARY, 1907, during the legal hours of sale, at Mrs. Drucilla Wilson's residence in Beat 10 in Chilton county, Alabama.

Dated at Clanton, this 12th day of January, 1907. J. M. MORGAN, Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala.

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.
Statement by Florence Drug Co.
When a man comes into this store and calls for some patent indigestion remedy, we never give him what he asks for but if he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.
Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years and from actual observation we know it must be good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.
You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or Florence Drug co., are ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all these people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

In Memoriam.

On the night of September 3rd, the angel of death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dickinson, and bore away the spirit of their sweet little grand daughter, Ruth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dickinson, aged one year, 6 months and 20 days.

TO THE MEMORY OF RUTH.

Fold the waxen fingers
Across the snowy breast;
Sadly close the drooping eyelids
Ruth is at rest.
On the downy pillow
Lay the sunny head,
Lay our little darling gently
In her lonely bed.
Never can a pang of anguish
Pierce that tender breast,
She is freed from earthly sorrow
Ruth is at rest.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

Men are needed behind the guns, and they are needed there now. Artillery work is team work, and to attempt to recruit suddenly in an emergency to the full force required would convert our fine artillery corps into a mob.

Although "no hunting or trespassing" signs may not always have the desired effect of checking the city hunter from running over your farm in quest of game, it will be generally worth while to display such notices. The trespassing will be much diminished, nevertheless.

Why, asks Life, have thirty millions of people to starve in Russia, this winter? For the same reason, perhaps, that twenty-four millions starved in France, once upon a time; that is to say, in order that their children and their children's children might be free. It takes want to work a revolution, and, above all, the want of food. In the French Revolution there were many voices, but the groundtone of that tremendous performance was the scarcity of grain. Russia, writhes in pain, but if it is the pain of labor, what wise physician advises anodynes?

The question of hours of labor on the farm is being discussed in the agricultural community, notes The Circle. Whether "ten hours is enough" can be answered in the same way as whether ten acres is enough. It depends entirely upon what is to be done and how intensive the work. Ten acres is not enough for a cattle ranch and is too much for an ordinary strawberry patch, and ten hours may be more than necessary for winter chores, while it might let the hay get wet in the windrow. The successful man in business or farming is the one who counts naught done while aught remains to do. It is not necessary to attempt to do two days' work in one, but breaking off in the middle of a job because the clock strikes is about as puerile as anything can be.

James R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior, delivered the second Trask lecture at Princeton University, speaking on the subject, "The Relation of the Government to Corporations." Mr. Garfield said that the activities of corporations have so increased that almost all business is now done in the corporate form. These corporations, he said, have more power than the individual, because of their almost fictitious credit and, in the case of public corporations, of their power of eminent domain. Secretary Garfield stated that the evils of corporations have arisen because these bodies have been treated as individuals and have contended that they have an individual's right of privacy. To remedy these evils, he said, all their busines must be made public. In conclusion, he said: "I think that the Federal license will be the method which will control corporations and prevent unjust monopolies. By this means we may know exactly what they are doing. Is the corporation to rule the Government, or the Government to rule the corporation? We must take measures now to place the power of control in the hands of the Government."

"Next season," says M. Santos-Dumont, "people will be able to go to the seashore in their aeroplanes. It will become the fad, and the commencement of a new industry." Golly! But allowing that M. Dumont is over-enthusiastic in his expectations, it is the truth, Life admits, that the airship is coming along ahumming. Let it come! It will take some of the strain off of the country roads, and will lighten the public burdens by accelerating the transmission of large estates from heir to heir, thus increasing the proceeds of inheritance taxes. The automobile is pretty good in this line, but the aeroplane will be better. And the thing is really coming! Think of it! Flying machines that will fly! M. Dumont says: "Men will drive aeroplanes as they now drive automobiles." Some men will, maybe. It begins to be possible for persons of ordinary credulity to believe that much, and if you can believe that much where are you going to stop? You needn't believe anything about it unless you like. Only keep eyes in your head to make sure they don't pop out at unexpected sights. Give the aeroplane sharps a little more time, and they will do the rest.

SOUTHERN COTTON GROWERS ASSOCIATION.

In Convention at Birmingham. Many Delegates Present.

HARVIE JORDAN RE-ELECTED.

Revolt Against Wall Street Gamblers and the Foreign and American Spinners Who Have Been Forcing Down Prices of South's Great Staple.

Birmingham, Ala.—The third annual convention of the Southern Cotton Association began here Thursday morning with a large attendance, every one of the eleven cotton states being well represented. Major George B. Ward welcomed the convention on behalf of the city of Birmingham, W. H. Seymour, of Montgomery, president of the Alabama division, replied on behalf of the cotton growers, saying that the question which the association had to deal with was the not production of cotton so much as its marketing.

M. L. Johnson, of Georgia, president of the Georgia division, responding to the welcome addresses, said in part:

"My friends, it is war. Not war of powder and lead, but a war requiring as much bravery, demanding as much brains and calling for as much sacrifice and patriotism as nerved the arms and inspired the spirits of the Lees the Jacksons and the Johnstons, heroes of our lost cause, but a cause never to be forgotten.

"For forty years," he continued, "we have paid tribute to Wall street gamblers, the spinners of Europe and spinners of our own country. Are you ready for the battle against this robbery?"

The speaker scored the American spinners for "allying themselves with the interests of the foreign spinners to the detriment and impoverishment of their own people and their own consumers." He also pointed out how the government had protected other products with a tariff and had discriminated against cotton.

President Harvie Jordan then delivered his annual address.

President Jordan in his address reviewed the remarkable success which has attended the efforts of the association in the past in its campaign for higher prices. He stated that it cannot be denied that the farmers of the south have made a net saving of at least $250,000,000 in the marketing of the crops for the past three years through the effective aid of this association and allied organizations.

The greatest evil with which southern cotton growers and the manufacturers of American cotton have had to contend has been the speculation in cotton futures. The unbridled manner in which this business has been carried on for many years in the cotton exchanges, private wire houses and bucket shops of the country has at last aroused the whole people of the country to the enormity of the evil and is causing them to make an emphatic demand for its suppression by state and national legislation. The Southern Cotton Association is the only organization in the south which has forcibly presented the evils of speculation to the people and begun an active campaign for its suppression.

Numerous other topics concerning the movement were also discussed by Mr. Jordan in his address.

Before the morning session of the convention adjourned committees were named on resolutions, cotton acreage finance, warehouses, marketing and organization. No resolution was discussed in the convention until some committee had reported upon it. The committee on acreage was considered the most important, for the reason that the working out of this problem was one of the leading subjects before the convention. This committee consisted of A. P. Smith, Alabama; A. E. Love Arkansas; T. J. Hudson, Georgia; G. W. Sevier, Louisiana; A. R. Killingsworth, Mississippi; W. S. Shaw, North Carolina; C. M. Scott, Tennessee, and S. U. Shaw, Texas.

The speakers at the Thursday afternoon session were W. L. Foster, of Shreveport, on "The Average Cost of Producing a Pound of American Cotton;" Bernard Suttler, of Atlanta, editor of the Southern Cotton Journal, on "The Benefits of Closer Organization," and R. R. Dancy, of Houston, Tex., on "The Relation of American Cotton to the Civilized World."

The speakers at night were: John D. Walker, of Sparta, Ga., and Col. T. G. Hush, of Birmingham.

Friday morning's programme of the Southern Cotton Convention embraced three set speeches. The first was by Hoke Smith, of Atlanta, governor-elect of Georgia, whose subject was "Practical Means for Making Lint Cotton Bring to the Farmer a Just Price."

Immediately after Governor-elect Smith concluded his address the convention was photographed. Mr. Smith and President Jordan stood up in the aisle just in front of the rostrum. They were surrounded by the state presidents and officers of the association.

After the delegates were seated and the aisles cleared President Jordan introduced the Rev. F. H. Hyatt, of Columbia, S. C. His subject was "How Shall We Finance the Cotton Crop?"

When Mr. Hyatt had concluded his talk, Delegate B. S. Marsden, of Louisiana, arose and made a short talk. He paid a tribute to Hoke Smith of Georgia, saying he had more presidential timber in him than the whole south put together.

Mr. Marsden's talk was along the line of organization and financing the association.

E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, also made a short talk on the subject of financing the cotton crop. He said there is money enough in the south today to properly handle the cotton crop if judiciously handled.

The next set address was delivered by the Hon. S. A. Witherspoon, of Meridian, Miss. His subject was "Probable Profits to Stockholders in a Corporation to Buy and Sell Cotton and the Best Plan to Operate On."

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Southern Cotton Association Harvie Jordan was unanimously re-elected president of the association.

He was put in nomination by J. P. Allison, of North Carolina, and was seconded by every state in the association. His re-election was by acclamation and was unanimous.

J. C. Hickey, of Henderson, Texas, was elected vice-president by acclamation. He was put in nomination by President W. H. Seymour, of the Alabama state division, and was seconded by all the state.

Dr. Will H. Wood, secretary of the Mississippi state division, was elected secretary of the association by acclamation. He was put in nomination by F. L. Maxwell, of Louisiana.

F. H. Hyatt, of North Carolina, was re-elected treasurer by a unanimous vote of the committee.

E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, was unanimously re-elected general organizer.

B. H. Burnett, of Arkansas, was elected financial agent by unanimous vote.

Two Birmingham speakers held the attention of the Southern Cotton Association convention Saturday morning. They were B. B. Comer, governor of Alabama, whose subject was "The American Cotton Crop," and W. D. Nesbitt, who spoke on "The Modern Warehouse; Construction and Economy of Operation."

President Harvie Jordan was detained at a meeting of the executive committee, and the meeting was called to order by W. H. Seymour, of Montgomery, president of the Alabama division, who introduced Governor Comer.

The Governor said he had been busy at Montgomery trying to get laws enacted in the interest of agriculture, "and I am here to tell you," he added, "that we are going to get them." He spoke on his experience as a cotton planter, saying he had not had time to prepare a set address. He declared that the boll weevil is not half as dangerous to the south as over-production. He said that the south today is a colony just as much as India, Canada and other dependencies.

Governor Comer then discussed the freight rates, and said Alabama proposed by law to take a hand in naming freight rates. "We are going to help name the price which helps to send cotton across the deep, blue sea," he declared.

Plans were also agreed upon for the complete financing of the organization it being announced that money was in sight for the execution of all the plans the association has on foot. J. E. Norment, of Columbia, S. C., was elected assistant secretary of the association for South Carolina.

Those in attendance were Duncan Heyward, president, South Carolina; Dr. C. H. Irion, president Louisiana Board of Health; F. Y. Anderson, Birmingham; J. E. Norment, South Carolina; E. W. Traylor, Virginia; N. F. Thompson, Tennessee; J. R. McMullin, secretary, Gadsden, Ala.

President Heyward accepted an invitation to address a joint session of the Alabama legislature January 29, on the subject of immigration.

After a lengthy conference with the executive committee Harvie Jordan accepted the presidency of the Southern Cotton Association for another year. It is understood that the one question upon which Mr. Jordan's acceptance depended was that of financing the association. The executive committee unanimously re-elected Mr. Jordan Thursday night, but he was slow in making answer.

After going over all the details and receiving the assurance of the committee that he would be given all the financial backing he needs for the purpose of making the question of cotton and the rights of the cotton grower a national one, Mr. Jordan made a brief speech of acceptance.

Bucket Shop Law Gets Ten.

Atlanta.—The Fulton county grand jury has returned indictments against ten persons, charging violation of the Boykin anti-bucket shop law, passed by the Georgia legislature at its last session, prohibiting the operating of brokerage houses or firms at which options on various commodities are traded in. Bench warrants were issued and bond fixed at $1,000 for each defendant.

Dying Refugees Reach Santiago.

Santiago, Cuba.—The steamer Otera has arrived here from Kingston with about 135 passengers. Nearly all of them have been through the earthquake at Kingston, and 36 of them are injured. Some of these may die.

The cutter Caulca, which was sent to Kingston with supplies from Havana, has been driven back to port by a heavy storm.

UNCLE SAM'S AID REJECTED BY ENGLISH.

Sensational Letter Asks Rear-Admiral to Leave Kingston.

COMPLIANCE WITH ORDER.

Mission of Humanity Brought to Painful Conclusion After United States Battleships and Gun Boat Sail Away.

Kingston, Jamaica.—Rear Admiral Davis' mission of mercy to stricken Kingston came to an abrupt and painful conclusion in consequence of Governor Swettenham's objection to the presence of American sailors engaged in the work of clearing the streets, guarding property and succoring the injured and sick, culminating in a letter to the admiral peremptorily requesting him to re-embark all parties which had been landed.

Admiral Davis was greatly shocked and pained, and paid a formal visit to Governor Swettenham, informing him that the United States battleships Missouri and Indiana and the gunboat Yankton would sail.

To the Associated Press Admiral Davis said that immediate compliance with Governor Swettenham's command was the only course consistent with the dignity of the United States.

The friction between the governor and the admiral began with the arrival of the American war vessels, when the governor objected to the firing of a salute in his honor, on the ground that the citizens might mistake the firing for a new earthquake. He also declared there was no necessity for American aid; that his government was fully able to preserve order, tend the wounded and succor the homeless.

Rear Admiral Davis landed parties of blue jackets, who patrolled the streets, cleared the debris, razed ruins, attended many of the injured and won the highest praise from citizens and military officers for excellent work.

Five Liners at Mercy of Gale.

Buffalo, N. Y.—A terrific gale, which blew ninety miles an hour at times, has swept this city for eighteen hours and has done $1,500,000 damage to shipping. Five big liners just inside the breakwateer wall were torn loose from their moorings and driven aground.

The gale still rages and no aid can be given the endangered vessels. They are believed to be resting on soft bottom and unless the gale becomes worse will probably not suffer more damagae.

5,000 MADE HOMELESS.

Houses Are Carried Away in Several Towns in West Virginia.

Cincinnati.—The entire Ohio valley is in the grip of the worst flood within twenty years. The sixty-foot stage in the river has been passed. All the towns and cities are suffering from a limited fuel supply and shortage of food. Thousands have fled to the hills. In Newport, Ky., at least 5,000 persons are homeless and destitute.

Cumberland, Md.—Elkins, Davis, Buckhannon, Grafton, Rowlesburg, all report sections under water and great loss as the result of Thursday's incessant rains.

Water invaded the lighting plant at Davis. At Buckhannon it moved many houses, while some small ones were carried away. The tannery was flooded. A number of streets in Elkins and Grafton are under water. The Cheat river is a torrent at Rowlesburg and the damage is severe.

Still After Treaty.

St. Petersburg.—The foreign office has been informed by M. Motono, the Japanese minister, that his government has directed him to renew negotiations for a commercial treaty, the difficulties regarding the conclusions of the convention having been overcome.

Express Company Indicted.

Cartersville, Ga.—A bill of indictment was returned to the Bartow county superior court charging the Southern Express Company with selling by retail rum, gin, whiskey and other intoxicating liquors without license and without taking the oath prescribed by law.

Another Revolution.

Assuncion, Paraguay.—A number of Brazilians residing in Paraguay took part in an abortive revolt against the authorities of Matto Groso. They succeeded in crossing the frontier, but were overtaken by Brazilian troops and dispersed. The Brazilian soldiers pursued some of the fleeing revolutionists into Paraguay, but were forced to withdraw by the Paraguayan authorities.

Bubonic Plague.

New Orleans.—In Rio Janeiro during the week ending December 6 there were 32 cases of bubonic plague and eight deaths, according to the bill of health records of the steamer Dunblane, which arrived here early Saturday from that port.

In the same week in Rio Janeiro there were three cases of yellow fever, with one death, and also three deaths from leprosy.

TO FORCE ACTION.

Expect to Cause Cortelyou to Get Busy.

Washington.—Unless Postmaster General Cortelyou grants a fraud order against the New York Cotton Exchange in the immediate future, it is understood from Representative Livingston and other southern members of congress that they will introduce a resolution calling for the appointment of a special commission to investigate the matter under the direction of Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor.

So far Mr. Cortelyou has made no statement of what he intends to do, but Mr. Livingston and others interested with him declare emphatically that they do not propose to be humbugged or bulldragged through any game of politics, and that if, after the showing they have made, the postmaster-general does not believe they have made out a prima facie case against the exchange, they will seek other relief.

While Mr. Livingston appears to have inaugurated the movement to put the exchange out of business by debarring it from further use of the mails, on the ground that it is nothing but a gambling scheme, there are many other members of congress from different parts of the country who are backing him up in the efforts he has taken.

Unless a decision is reached by Mr. Cortelyou in a few days, some sensational charges may be brought against the postal officials and the postoffice department generally in connection with the matter.

Not Allowed to Nurse Baby.

London.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says that Queen Victoria wants to nurse her coming baby herself, but she will not be allowed to do so because it is contrary to Spanish etiquette. An English nurse has been engaged.

APPROPRIATION FOR BREAK.

Senate Favors Flint's Bill Authorizing the Uuse of $2,000,000 to Confine River in Bounds.

Washington.—The senate committee on arid lands has authorized Senator Flint to report favorably, with modifications, his bill providing for the repair of damages caused by the diversion of the waters of the Colorado river in Southern California into the Salton sea.

The bill authorizes the expenditure of $2,000,000 for improvements, including reservoirs and waterways and other works necessary to confine the river within its banks. The bill also authorizes the construction of such reservoirs and ditches as may be useful for the irrigation of the Imperial Valley and other valleys in that vicinity. It directs that such proportion of the cost shall be returned to the treasury as may be of direct benefit to any irrigation projects, the money to be repaid when received from the water users.

It further provides that in case it becomes necessary to do any work in Mexico, it may be done when the consent of the government of that country is obtained.

Ohio Floods.

Cincinnati, O.—Flood conditions continue to grow worse. Every hour adds materially to the flooded area, and the sufferings among the residents of the lower section of this city and the Kentucky suburbs was great. Street and railroad car service was badly crippled, and many electric lines have impassable gaps several blocks long and improvised transfer arrangements were inadequate.

Shawneetown, Ill.—As a result of the flood in the Ohio river, a break is threatened in the levee here. The levees are, however, still intact.

Louisville, Ky.—A dispatch from Jackson, Ky., says the Kentucky river has risen 18 feet there in the past two days. This stream passes through Frankfort and empties into the Ohio at Carrollton, Ky., 50 miles above Louisville.

Ex-Governor Higgins Critically Ill.

New York.—Information has reached this city that the condition of Frank Higgins, ex-governor of New York, is critical. He is ill at his home in Olean, N. Y., and the gravest consequences are feared by his family and friends.

To Increase Army.

Washington.—The senate has passed the Warren bill, increasing the military corps of the army. The total increase, which is to reach its maximum in five years, is 6,197 officers and men, which, with the increases in certain grades of men in separate grades, such as electricians, machinists, etc., will amount to $242,224 annually.

Rat Poison in Cake Flour.

Frederick, Md.—Pinkney A. Richardson, his two children and his brother, Marion Richardson, who was visiting him, living near Midway, this county, were poisoned by eating cakes for breakfast made from flour into which a quantity of rat poison had been mixed by mistake by Mrs. Richardson. Pinkney Richardson is in a critical condition.

BEAUFORT BURNED.

Disastrous Fire in South Carolina Town.

Beaufort, S. C.—The most disastrous fire in the history of Beaufort occurred Saturday afternoon. The loss is estimated at between $500,000 and $700,000, about one-third covered by insurance.

The fire originated in the stables of F. W. Scheper, on Bay street, and its spread was rapid, as a high wind was blowing. The water supply failed, and efforts to fight the flames were fruitless. They only stopped when they had nothing more to feed upon in the direction in which they were being blown. The town hall and the city market were consumed.

The large grocery store of F. W. Scheper was consumed, as was the People's Bank, of which Mr. Scheper was president. The Christensen & Sons hardware store and half of the block adjoining it were destroyed. Another jump across a street was made, and the law office of Thomas Talbird and a row of stores owned by him were destroyed. Several houses between the city market and the Methodist church were destroyed.

Flying embers ignited a number of residences an eighth of a mile distant, including that of W. E. Sanders and the Talbird home. On the water front the handsome residences of J. N. Wallace and W. J. Thomas were consumed.

For a time it looked as though the whole town would be destroyed.

MILLIONS IN INDIAN LANDS.

Each Member of Kowa, Comanche and Apache Tribes Gets $1,200.

Washington.—By the sale under sealed bids of the pasture lands of the Kowa, Comanche and Apache Indian reservation in southern Oklahoma, a greater sum has been realized than any sale of public lands ever brought before.

About 300,000 sealed bids covering 375,000 acres were received. A bidder was permitted to bid on as many quarter sections of the land as he desired, but each bidder will be awarded only one quarter section. The average price received for the land, according to figures already compiled, is $12.19 an acre. Thus the Indians will realize from the sale $4,574,000, or an average of about $1,200 for each Indian interested.

A surplus of 130,000 acres remain yet to be sold or otherwise disposed of.

It probably will be two or three weeks before a complete list of successful bidders is made by the land office.

DECISION AGAINST ROAD.

Georgia Railroad Commission Wins Preliminary Fight.

Atlanta, Ga.—On the refusal of the Southern railway to amend the bill filed by it against the Georgia State Railroad State Commission, Judge Newman in the United States district court signed an order sustaining a demurrer filed by the commission and dismissed the bill.

The attorneys for the railroad company announced that an appeal will be taken to the United States supreme court. The order signed defines the right of the commission to change the freight classification of the Southern, by which a reduction of practically 10 per cent. in intra-state rates was made by the commission.

Uncle Sam Files Suit.

Washington.—The department of justice has announced that the United States had begun two suits in San Francisco for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of the treaty with Japan, giving to the Japanese equal school advantages. One of these actions is brought in the supreme court of the state of California in the name of a Japanese child for the purpose of obtaining a writ of mandamus to compel his admission to one of the public schools from which he is excluded by the action of the board of education.

New Party in Cuba.

Havana.—A new party has been formed here which is arranging to adopt a platform demanding negotiations with the United States for a treaty of friendship, commerce and political relations, guaranteeing the independence of Cuba, and also guaranteeing that revolutions shall be impossible. This platform is considered to mean a demand for a protectorate.

Commission Coming to Georgia.

Augusta, Ga.—The interstate commerce commission will be in Augusta the 25th of January to decide important suits existing between Georgia and South Carolina corporations.

One of the suits that will be heard is between the Riverside Mills, of this city, against the Southern railroad.

All of the seven members of the committee will be in Augusta.

Dies From Pistol Wound.

Birmingham, Ala.—After three days' intense suffering, Henry Smith, the little five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, died as the result of an accidental pistol shot inflicted at the hands of his brother, Brooks, aged 16. The funeral services were conducted from the residence, 530 South Twentieth street, and the remains were laid to rest in Woodlawn cemetery.

THE RECONSIDERATION OF THE SCHOOL BILL.

Appropriation Reduced to $300,000 as Recommended.

CAUSES SOME DISCUSSION.

Speaker Martin Says Governor Comer Has Planned Out Appropriations for the Schools and Bill Passed Friday Would Interfere With His Plans.

Montgomery, Ala.—The house Monday reconsidered the bill which was passed Friday to appropriate $400,000 to the public schools and passed a substitute offered by Speaker Martin making it $300,000 as recommended by the governor. There was very little opposition on the floor to the reconsideration.

After the house was called to order by Speaker Martin the Rev. W. M. Crawford, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, delivered the invocation. There were 84 members present.

Speaker Martin, with Mr. Sherrod of Lawrence in the chair, moved the reconsideration of the bill to appropriate $400,000 to the public schools. He stated that he believed in doing all he could for the public schools, but upon investigation he stated that he thought the house had overstepped the mark.

He said that the governor had recommended $300,000 additional after a careful consideration. He said he had no intention to delay the matter, and he was ready to offer a substitute. His substitute would include the three mills, the poll tax and the sixteenth section fund, which would be a continual annual appropriation. He said he did not want it understood that his substitute would increase the appropriation. He said the governor had planned out appropriations for the different schools, and this would greatly interfere with his plan, as the bill carried $400,000.

Mr. Tunstall asked if Mr. Martin's substitute was not for the sole purpose of reducing it to $300,000.

Mr. Martin called for the previous question.

Mr. Bulger wanted the speaker to withdraw it.

"I will if the gentleman will renew it," said Mr. Martin.

"I will, provided no other gentleman wants to speak upon the question," said Mr. Bulger.

"Then I renew my motion for the previous question," said Mr. Martin.

"I move to indefinitely postpone the motion of the gentleman from Montgomery," said Mr. Tunstall.

Mr. Martin withdrew his motion, and Mr. Bulger spoke. He said the pleas of poverty will not satisfy the people of Alabama any longer; that they want money for the public schools.

Mr. Haley stated that he was reliably informed that with the $300,000 additional and the increased assessments the public schools would get about $2,000,000, instead of a little over $1,000,000.

He said it was strictly a business proposition, and the educational department had asked for the amount, and it seemed to him if this department asked for this amount it knew how much it wanted.

Mr. Martin read a part of Governor Comer's message in reference to the public schools and other appropriations. He cited that part in which the governor stated that if the assessments are increased as he expected, there would be $250,000 more additional for the public schools.

Fourteen Cars Through Trestle.

Birmingham, Ala.—Fourteen cars loaded with fresh meats and general merchandise, some of it perishable stuff, went through a trestle on the Frisco railroad two miles north of Townley, 52 miles from Birmingham. Not a person was injured, a most remarkable fact.

Sensation in Japanese Politics.

Tokio.—In a thrilling speech to a great meeting of progressives, Count Okuma, ex-foreign minister and head of the progressives, criticised the lack of union in his party, and announced his determination to resign its presidency. His decision caused a great sensation.

New Corporations.

Montgomery, Ala.—The secretary of state has been informed of the following new corporations:

Simmers Stone and Monument Company, of Mobile; capital, $7,000. Incorporators, James K. Simmers, Herman Stemerdink, J. W. Phillips, H. T. Inge, J. D. Terrell, Stewart Brooks and W. G. Austin.

Bevery Land Company of Birmingham; capital stock, $5,000. Incorporators, S. E. Thompson, E. J. Smyer and J. H. Taylor.

Bad Wreck in Texas.

Brownwood, Tex.—A bad wreck occurred when the "Record Train" on the Frisco railroad was derailed ten miles north of Brownwood. The train was going at thirty miles an hour when the track spread and all the coaches went into the ditch except the Pullman sleeper. The embankment where the wreck occurred was not high, but cars turned completely over, injuring a score of passengers, some of whom may be seriously hurt.

FUNERAL SUNDAY HEAD.

Died Sunday Morning After Illness of Months.

Birmingham, Ala.—General Charles Miller Shelley, one of the best known citizens of Alabama, died at an early hour Sunday morning at the Brown infirmary, on North Nineteenth street, after an illness of many months. Death was the result of cancer of the stomach.

The body was sent to Talladega, his old home. It was accompanied by relatives, friends and members of Camp Hardee, United Confederate Veterans. The pall-bearers from the house to the train were:

Honorary: Gen. E. W. Pettus, Gen. E. S. Ferguson, Gen. E. W. Rucker, Judge Thomas R. Roulhac, Frank S. White, Hannis Taylor, of Mobile, James Weatherly, P. G. Bowman, Rittenhouse Moore, Francis B. Clark, Samuel L. Robinson, Joseph H. Parsons.

Active: A. H. Woodward, William M. Walker, Culpepper Exum, L. V. Clark, Frank Willis Barnett and Frank S. White, Jr.

MUCH DAMAGE BY STORM.

City of Buffalo Suffers to Extent of Two Million Dollars.

Buffalo, N. Y.—So far only two deaths have been reported as a direct result of the storm. These occurred at Dunkirk, where an 11-year-old girl was drowned, and Mrs. Henrietta Soldwick was killed by flying debris from a demolished house.

In Buffalo it is estimated that the storm did from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 damage. At Niagara Falls damage to the amount of $25,000 was done to the Great Gorge railroad, while in the heart of the city buildings valued at $25,000 were completely demolished. From every city and town along the lake reports of great damage are received. Inland towns also suffered considerably.

The storm lasted almost 24 hours, during which time the velocity of the wind varied from 42 to 85 miles an hour. The greatest losses will be those sustained by marine interests.

Of the 22 vessels anchored under the lee of the breakwater near the harbor entrance, five took the beach at the foot of Michigan street in the gale.

All of these vessels were modern freighters of an average valuation of $350,000. As most of them are still laden with grain, their total valuation is not far from $12,000,000. Two of the vessels are high and dry.

Kingston Loss Fifteen Millions.

Kingston, Jamaica.—The banks have resumed payments, but no attempt has yet been made to resume business.

The car service has been resumed from the northern boundary of the city to St. Andrew. It is expected that a newspaper will be issued at once.

The financial loss by earthquake and fire is now estimated at $15,000,000. Merchants fear that the insurance companies will not pay losses because of the earthquake clause in the policies.

America Will Take No Notice.

Washington.—From official sources it is learned that no attention will be paid by this government to the action of Governor Swettenham, of Jamaica, in asking Admiral Davis to withdraw his forces from Kingston. It is held here that the act of the governor is that of a single individual, for which the British government is in no manner to be held responsible.

Virginia Sues West Virginia.

Washington.—The attorney-general of West Virginia and Senator Elkins of that state have been in consultation for the past few days with former Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle in regard to the readjusted debt of the state of Virginia, the latter having brought suit against West Virginia for one-third of the debt.

The authorities of West Virginia have decided to resist the suit at the request of the state's attorney-general and Senator Elkins. Mr. Carlisle has been employed as the leading counsel in the case.

The legal question will be on the equity of the demand, and what is justly due by West Virginia to Virginia. It is taken for granted that the case will eventually reach the supreme court.

Charged With Raising Revolt.

St. Petersburg.—It has been announced in a dispatch received from Seoul, Korea, that, acting under orders from the authorities at Tokio, the Japanese at the Korean capital recently tried to arrest Prince Ming, brother of the late queen of Korea, on the charge of complicity in the insurrection in the southern part of the country.

The prince escaped, but his lodgings were occupied by the people and his papers were secured.

Arrested for Bigamy.

Huntsville.—Sheriff Mitchell has been notified of the arrest at Rockford, Ala., of Charles Montgomery, a white man wanted in this county on a charge of bigamy. Deputy Sheriff Gardiner has gone for the prisoner. Montgomery married a woman here two or three years ago, and it is charged that he had an undivorced wife living. He was indicted by the grand jury.

DISASTROUS FLOODS IN LOUISVILLE.

Two Hundred and Forty City Blocks Submerged.

PEOPLE SAVED FROM HOMES.

Railroads Completely Blocked by the Rising Waters—Only One Passenger Station Left Open for Service—Cincinnati Reports Flood at Standstill.

Louisville, Ky.—The river continues to rise above the danger line. The Illinois Central is expected to suspend operation of trains into the Seventh street depot soon, and the Louisville and Nashville is making preparations to start their trains to Cincinnati from the East Louisville depot, as the water is running a foot deep over their tracks in the east end of the city and preventing trains from reaching the union depot at Tenth and Broadway.

The weather officials expect a further rise of something over a foot, and this probably put the Seventh street station out of commission. The cold weather has added to the misery of the homeless, who are existing in warehouses, school houses and other buildings.

The river continued its steady rise of an inch per hour during the morning. The cheering advices from above of a fall at points beyond Cincinnati led District Forecaster Walz to make the statement that the crest of the flood will have passed Louisville in 24 hours. It is expected that a stage of 42 feet will be reached. About 240 city blocks are submerged in Louisville in the territory running from the Country Club at the extreme eastern end of the city to Parkland. There has been no loss of life, but suffering is acute on account of the cold.

The life saving service received more calls during the morning to secure people from homes than at any time since the situation became serious.

Sixty-five thousand bushels of coal in barges sank near the foot of Fourth street during the night. The barges were torn loose from their moorings at the upper end of the city. Fifteen empty barges were swept down stream by the current during the morning and five of them, striking the Pennsylvania railroad bridge, went to the bottom.

The water flooded the basement of the Galt House, at the corner of First and Main streets, during the morning.

All railroads running into the city have suffered greatly.

The Henderson route, which runs between Louisville and St. Louis, today announced the suspension of all traffic, as the river is swelling over its tracks at West Point, 20 miles below Louisville. The Illinois Central is running its trains through water nearly a foot deep at the same place. The Southern railway is operating with difficulty, owing to water on the Indiana side, and the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern is combating practically the same conditions.

The Louisville and Nashville has suffered a considerable loss in the vicinity of East Louisville. The track is under water in many places, and trains are handled with difficulty. All trains over the Cincinnati division are running behind time and the yards are congested with freight.

The Pennsylvania railroad and the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad are having their share of trouble, but manage to run their trains within a few hours of schedule time.

Lake Shore Wreck.

Adrian, Mich.—The southbound Lake Shore passenger is reported wrecked at Riga, with four coaches off the track. It is reported that one person was killed and a number injured.

Epidemic Records Broken.

Chicago.—All epidemic records for a period of 24 hours as far back as the typhoid plague of 1893 were broken when 100 cases of scarlet fever and 45 cases of diphtheria, a total of 145, were reported to the health department. Besides these there were recorded 20 cases of other contagious diseases. The increase in diphtheria was considered alarming.

Lee's Birthday.

Birmingham, Ala.—General Lee's birthday was generally observed over the entire south, notably in Lexington, Va., New Orleans, Richmond, Va., Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., and Augusta, Ga.

At Lexington, Va., the day was observed by appropriate exercises at the Washington and Lee University, which bears his name, and over which he so long presided, where he now lies buried. The principal address at the exercises was delivered by Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts.

Collision of Steamers.

London.—The steamer Vaderland collided off the dreaded Goodwin sands with the steamer Haworth Castle. There were terrible scenes of panic when the vessels crashed together. The Haworth Castle sunk in less than 15 minutes, and three of her crew were drowned. The Vaderland's boats rescued the remaining members of the crew, numbering twenty.

TWENTY-THREE PEOPLE BLOWN INTO ETERNITY

Helpless Victims Cremated in Burning Cars.

BUT TWO ESCAPED.

Twenty-three Reported Dead and Half a Hundred Injured in Destruction of Big Four Accommodation, and Rescuers Are Helpless.

Terre Haute, Ind.—Big Four accommodation train No. 3, which left Terre Haute at 8:30 o'clock, was destroyed by the explosion of a car of powder at the siding east of Sandford. Twenty-three persons were killed, with thirty or thirty-five injured.

The engine, two coaches and baggage car of the passenger train were demolished.

The first intimation the railroad people had of the disaster was a shock which was felt in Terre Haute, and as far as Brazil and as far south as Sullivan. The wires were blown down, and it was some time before the Big Four officials here learned of the explosion. Relief trains were ordered from Terre Haute and Paris, Ill., and the dead and injured were taken from the wreck to both cities.

The work of the rescuing parties was limited by the almost total destruction of the train.

G. H. Armstrong, agent at Sandford, stated that he thought the car contained about 600 or 800 kegs of powder. He said he was standing in the door of the station when the explosion occurred, and that he called some section hands and they secured an engine. They then broke an interlocking switch and went to Paris for the relief train. All means of communication between this city and Sandford was cut off since the men from Sandford had not stopped to ascertain how much damage was done, the passengers receiving no aid until the relief trains reached the scene.

The entire passenger train was a mass of flames, and the relief party was able to reach only the passengers who had either been blown from the train or were able to crawl from the coaches after the explosion. Two of the men who were cremated were still alive when the relief party from this city reached the wreck, but the rescuers were unable to reach them, and were compelled to stand by and watch them burn. They were buried under a mass of burning wreckage, which could not be reached or moved.

The flames lighted up the scene so brightly that the rescuers did not have to work in total darkness.

The station at Sandford was turned into a morgue. It is not known how many passengers were on the train, but it is said that both coaches were almost full, and since only sixty have been accounted for, it is thought a number not yet accounted for were either killed outright or were buried under the wreckage and burned to death.

No acts of great heroism were displayed by the rescuers for the simple reason that no one could get near the cars while they were burning.

Many gruesome sights were witnessed by the helpless rescuing party, and it is probable that some of those who were blown to pieces or cremated will never be known.

So far as known, only two persons who were on the train escaped injury. They were L. C. Fisk and Wilbur Menke.

From the most definite information obtainable the freight train had just cleared the main track and had come to a standstill when the passenger train started to pass it. It is thought that concussion caused by the passenger train set off the powder in the freight car. The car of powder was near the center of the freight train.

NUMBER INJURED IN COLLISION.

Engine, Trying to Make Station, Runs into Passenger Train.

Palestine, Tex.—Reports have reached here that a serious accident has occurred on the International and Great Northern railroad at Gould, a small station 40 miles north of here.

An engine running light was endeavoring to make Gould to clear the track for the south bound passenger train, and, fexing to make its time, collided with the passenger train about a mile south of Gould.

It is reported that a number of passengers were injured and a relief train was dispatched from this point.

Purifoy and Lee Appointed.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Comer has appointed John Purifoy, of Montgomery, examiner of public accounts; H. Fitzhugh Lee, of Barbour, county assistant examiner of public accounts, and D. G. Trawick, of Abbeville, Henry county, assistant examiner of public accounts.

Shea Case Given to Jury.

Chicago.—The instructions of Judge Ball in the Shea case were finished Saturday and the case has been given to the jury.

New Orleans Gets $70,000.

Washington.—The senate committee on immigration has ordered a favorable report on the bill to appropriate $70,000 for the building of an immigrant station at New Orleans on a site to be donated by the city.

Hon. Sydney J. Bowie has addressed a letter to the members of the Legislature of Alabama, advocating an increosed expenditure for educational purposes, from which we take the following:

It appears from the Census of 1900, in the report of the Commissioner of Education in 1902, Vol. 2 on page 2337 that in the rank of total illiteracy among all the States and Territories, Alabama is 48th, South Carolina 49th and Louisiana 50th. In the rank of white illiteracy, same report. page 2338, Alabama 47th, Louisiana 48th North Carolina 49th and New Mexico 50th, so while we are not exactly at the bottom we are close enough to it to be very uncomfortable, but the unfortunate part about the matter is that the States of South Carolina, North Carolina and Louisiana, and the Territory of New Mexico, which are below us in entire total illiteracy or white illiteracy, are doing far more proportionately to remove that illiteracy and to educate their people than the State of Alabama is doing.

The truth is that according to the report of the Commissioner of Education for 1904, which includes the latest available statisics, Alabama is now, and for several years has been, expending annually a less sum per capita for the maintenanne of its public schools and the education of its children than any other State or Territory in the Union. While a few others are slightly below us in point of actual illiteracy, every State and Territory is above us in the work being done tnrough the Public Treasury to remove the same. For example: The amount raised per capita for each person from five to eighteen years of age in Alabama is $1.92, Georgia $2.74, Florida $5 20. Tennessee $4.04, Mississippi $3 35, Louisiana $3.29. North Carolina $2.91, New Mexico $4.94, South Carolina $2.57. I have thus included every state which surrounds Alabama; North, South, East or West, and every state which is lower either in total or in white illiteracy.

Mr. and Mrs Pinckard Entertain

The formal reception given by Mr. and Mrs E M. Pinckard in honor of Mrs. Dr. W. J. Meadows, of Greensboro, N. C., and Miss Mattie DeBardeleben, of Tuskegee, on Thursday evening was one of the most enjoyable social events of the season.

The charming hostess was assisted in receiving her guests by Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer and Mr. E. B. Deason. Mrs. Pinckard wore lace over black taffeta with diamonds and flowers of red carnations, Mrs. Meadows wearing white mousselin with real lace over white taffeta with diamonds and pearls. Miss DeBardeleben wore a beautiful pink silk with point lace, flowers pink carnations, Little Miss Marguerite Meadows wore white lace and blue ribbon.

The magnificent residence of Mr. and Mrs. Pinckard with its beautiful reception hall, drawing room. parlor. library and dining hall was resplendent with brilliant electric lights from many beautiful chandeliers while the surrounding grounds were illuminated with festoons of electric clusters.

Delightful refreshments were served during the evening. Miss Courtney wearing a lovely gown of blue silk with round point lace, assisted by Mr. Heath Jones presided at the punch bowl which was partially conceald in a beautifully decorated nook of the spacious drawing room over which a mellow glow was cast by colored electric lights from a bronze cupid.

Mrs. L. E. Gullahorn presided in the pink library where coffees, salads and dainty sandwiches were served. This room with its rich furnishings and magnificent drapery was indeed a sene of loveliness. The magnificent dining room with its elaborate furnishings, art glass, electric chandeliers and drapery was presided over by Mrs. S. A. Stewart who served creams, ices and delicacies. In a concealed corner of the reception hall an orchestra discoursed sweet music during the evening.

Mrs Dr. W. J. Meadows and Miss DeBardeleben, the guests of honor, are by no means strangers to Clanton society, this place having been the home of Mrs. Meadows and Miss Debardeleben, a sister of Mrs. Pinckard, having been a frequent visitor to the city.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Upchurch, Mr and Mrs. Guy Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Tipton Mullins. Dr. and Mrs. P. I. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sartor, Dr. and Mrs. E. G Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs J. A. Hester, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foshee, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hopkins, Mrs. Carrie Mullins and Mr. N. A. Kicker. Mrs. Gamma Anderson and Mr. C. Flinn Jones, Miss Patti VanDeveer and Mr. T. P. The New Year.

The morning is bright and cold, while I slept a new guest has arrived, she came muffled in furs and wound about with heavy robes, she came without many of us thinking of the wondrous changes she brings.

To how many of us is the new year a welcome visitor? How many of us have done our duty to the dead year that has passed? How many of us can truly say that I have done my best to make 1906 a grand success and are ready to clasp hands with 1907, and say, "welcome delightful morn?" The answer to the second question reveals an answer to the first. If we do our part faithfully and truly fill the places assigned us in life. the flight of time is not unwelcome.

To the young with life before them, the year seems long and full of sunshine; to the old who have but few days left, it seems indeed short, yet life is not measured by years alone, but by golden deeds and thoughts, by this standard some who live to be three-score and ten do not live as long as others who die in early youth.

What can be more regretted than a mis-spent life? Do you suppose that Dives when he realized his deplorable condition in a burning hell thought of a misspent life?

Now, we should each of us, think of the fleeting golden moments that God is giving us, and utilize the time to our advantage and His glory. So here is a New Year wish for all; may we keep growing, you and I, learning sweet truths in sweetest way, living in sunshine every day.

Food don't digest? Because the stomach lacks some tone of the essential digestants or the digestive juices are not properly balanced. Then, too, it is this undigested food that causes sourness and painful inbigestion. Kodol for Indigestion should be used for relief. Kodol is a solution of vegetable acids. It digests what you eat, and corrects the deficiencies of the digestion. Kodol conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold here by Upchurch Drug co.

NOTICE.

The public will take notice that a Bill will be introduced in the Legislature of the State of Alabama, during its next session, to establish a Dispensary in and for the Town of Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama, for the sale of spirituous and vinous liquors, malt liquors, wines, ciders, and other intoxicating liquors.

This the 29th day of December, A. D., 1906.

EDMUND KEAN.

To See Him Act Was Like Reading Shakespeare by Lightning.

Before the third century after the birth of Shakespeare had reached its first quarter there was born in England to a stage carpenter and a strolling actress a child destined to grapple with the poet's highest thought and interpret it with a vividness that to this day stands unrivaled. Coleridge's terse comment, that to see him act was reading Shakespeare by lightning, reveals him with the fullness of a volume. Edmund Kean, along with most people early trained to an art, had little if any education of the schools. He was when a boy provided with instruction by some benevolent people whom his smartness and beauty attracted, but he rebelled against the tasks of study and went to sea. But life there was too rough for his fine nature. He returned to England and at the age of seven began the study of Shakespeare's characters with his Uncle Moses. This he continued with an actress named Tidswell, who taught him, besides, as well as she knew, the principles of her art.

At an early age he had the credit of originality so surprising as even then to challenge the supremacy of Philip Kemble. At fourteen he played Hamlet. King George had him recite at Windsor castle, and it is said this incident led some gentlemen to send him to Eton, but there is no record of it. At twenty he was in a provincial troop, a member of which he married, and for six years thereafter, until his glorious night at Drury Lane, his life was one of hardship, struggle, obscurity, but, thanks to the faith in himself, not hopeless. His London debut was made at twenty-eight. He had fought for it hard and long and would then have missed it but for the falling reputation of the theater. London debuts in first roles are not easy for provincial actors, and none knew better how hard they are to get than Henry Irving. Kean seems to have been at his full splendor and made a hit. After that his habits were altogether prejudicial to the refinement of taste or the acquisition of knowledge.

BRIDGE OF MAHOGANY.

Valuable Wood Used in Mexican Structure for Pedestrians and Teams.

As mahogany is among the most costly woods in the world, it may well be inferred that this tropical material is not very extensively employed in the construction of buildings, etc. A bridge constructed of solid mahogany is certainly a rarity, a curiosity. There is one, claimed to be the only one in the world, built of that material. This structure is located in the Department of Palenque, State of Chiapas, Republic of Mexico. This district lies in the extreme southwestern part of Mexico, near the boundary line of Guatemala.

This mahogany bridge is constructed entirely of that valuable wood except some iron supports, braces and nails that are necessary. The bridge spans the Rio Michol and its total length, including approaches, exceeds 150 feet, while the width if 15 feet. It is used by both teams and pedestrians and, though somewhat rude and primitive in construction, it is very substantial.

None of the timbers of the flooring were sawed for in that region there are no sawmills, but were hewn and split.

In that section of old Mexico there are several very large rubber plantations and mahogany trees are quite common. In clearing away the tropical trees the mahogany growths are also cut down and removed. As this wood is quite abundant, some of it was used in building the bridge.—From the American Inventor.

WHITE BREAD

Makes Trouble For People With Weak Intestinal Digestion.

A lady in a Wis. town employed a physician who instructed her not to eat white bread for two years. She tells the details of her sickness, and she certainly was a sick woman.

"In the year 1887 I gave out from over work, and until 1901 I remained an invalid in bed a great part of the time. Had different doctors, but nothing seemed to help. I suffered from cerebro-spinal congestion, female trouble and serious stomach and bowel trouble. My husband called a new doctor, and after having gone without any food for 10 days the doctor ordered Grape-Nuts for me. I could eat the new food from the very first mouthful. The doctor kept me on Grape-Nuts, and the only medicine was a little glycerine to heal the alimentary canal.

"When I was up again doctor told me to eat Grape-Nuts twice a day and no white bread for two years. I got well in good time, and have gained in strength so I can do my own work again.

"My brain has been helped so much, and I know that the Grape-Nuts food did this, too. I found I had been made ill because I was not fed right, that is, I did not properly digest white bread and some other food I tried to live on.

"I have never been without Grape-Nuts food since and eat it every day. You may publish this letter if you like, so it will help some one else." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Get the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR JANUARY 27 BY THE REV. I. W. HENDERSON.

Subject: The Story of Cain and Abel. Gen. 4:3-15 — Golden Text, 1 John 3:15 — Memory Verses, 8-10.

The story of Cain and Abel is the story of a great variety of human sins. Centrally it may be said to be the story of human faithfulness on the one hand, and on the other of human jealousy. This jealousy is the direct result of a deep rooted desire upon the part of Cain to have everything his own way. And to desire one's own way is to be self willed. From this point of view we may be justified perhaps to push the application of the story back one step farther and say that we have here a picture of the opposing elements of faithfulness and willfulness in human life. Cain and Abel make offerings to God. Abel evidently performs his sacrifice as God has commanded and evidently Cain does not. God honors the sacrifice of Abel, which is according to His command, and He has no respect to the offering of Cain. He respects the faithfulness of the one man and, may we not say it, rebukes the willfulness of the other. Being rejected, hot sin surges, resentfully, in the heart of Cain. He puts his hand out in evil against his own kin. Witness now the train of wickedness that results from the first irregular act. Cain, with the calculation of a man who has decided to commit a grievous offense, waits until he is far from human sight and hearing and then he commits murder. To cover it up he lies about it. And he not only lies to God, but he adds insult to injury by unworthy remarks, to wit, "Am I my brother's keeper?" This is a fair sample of the consequences of an iniquitous self will. And to give the rein to self will is to invite the same consequences in our own lives. Cain's life is an illustration of the need for several prohibitory commands such as we have in Exodus 20, i. e., "Thou shalt have no other Gods before Me," "Thou shalt not kill," "Thou shalt not bear false witness," not only against thy neighbor but concerning thine own acts. When Cain elevated sin and self will above God in his life he laid the foundation for the first command. And in like fashion he laid the ground for the others.

The other great lesson from these verses is to be found in the patience of God with the man who becomes overborne with the sense of his own unworth. Guilt and punishment weigh heavy on the heart and mind of Cain. He cries out in anguish unto God. The Lord hears his petition. He lightens the penalty and provides a way of escape for Cain by placing a brand on him to warn the peoples that Cain is under the direct protection of the Almighty wherever he may wander. Cain cannot escape the consequences of his sin, in a large degree, however. The mark that notifies humanity of the magnanimity of God at the same time recalls to their attention the sin of Cain.

As with Cain so with us. We may be forgiven, we may feel God's pardon, but we never can lose the memory of our unworthiness.

Vs. 3. "Process." many years pass between the events of vs. 1 and vs. 3. How many years is not recorded. Evidently it was a long enough time for quite a number of people to gain maturity, for we read in vs. 14 the words "every one," implying that there were many others. "Offering." This assumes an altar and sacrificial offerings. No account of their institution is previously given, however.

Vs. 5. "Respect," for what reason we cannot learn. There may have been some laxity in Cain's offering. He may have not complied with a ceremonial law as completely as did Abel. But we must hazard the reason.

Vs. 7. Commentators seem to be unable to explain adequately this verse. It is likely incomplete. Parts of it perhaps are lost. At any rate, it is not intelligible.

Vs. 8. "Told," better "said unto." "Field," the free countryside. Perhaps a distant place far removed from near acquaintances.

Vs. 9. "Where," God gives him a chance to make a breast of his crime. "I know not." Cain doesn't try to excuse himself, to dodge, to beat about the bush. He simply brazens it out and lies directly and shamelessly. "Keeper." Abel kept sheep. We may not unreasonably read a bit of unscrupulous irony in these remarks.

Vs. 14. "Hid." In the primitive tradition Jehovah is specially the ruler of the cultivated district of Canaan, and to leave Canaan for the surrounding wilderness was to lose the divine protection in its ordinary manifestation."

Vs. 15. "Vengeance." The murderer and six of his kindred as a rule were put to death together. See 2 Sam. 21:8. "Sign," for protection. This was to indicate that he was under divine protection and not to declare his sin to the world. However, it is likely that the brand did both. Note that death is not absolutely prescribed as a penalty for murder. The right of revenge was a family one as much as any. But its exercise was not compulsory. This section will admit of much thought.

False Humility.

I am tired of people who say they want to live on crumbs. Crumbs are good enough for cats and dogs. The Christian wants nothing but the whole loaf.—Moody.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Early Habits.

Nowhere are the psychical and physical so completely interwoven as in the phenomena of habit. The mind's initiative constantly comes in, but it is as constantly seconded by the nervous system. The time-limit in habits is one of the strong evidences of the close connection of body and mind. It is a startling fact to face that a man's personal habits are largely fixed before he is twenty, the chief lines of his future growth and acquaintance before he is twenty-five, and his professional habits before he is thirty. We are becoming bundles of habits. With every young person one must, therefore, continually urge: Are you willing to retain just the personal habits you have now? You cannot too quickly change them if you wish to make thorough work. From your early morning toilet, through the care of your clothing and the order of your room, table manners, breathing, tone of voice, manner of talking, pronunciation, gesture, motion, address, study, to your very way of sleeping at night—all your habits are setting like plaster of Paris.

Five Weeks in Bed With Intensely Painful Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Mary Wagner, of 1367 Kossuth Ave., Bridgeport, Conn., says: "I was so weakened and generally run down with kidney disease that for a long time I could not do my work and was five weeks in bed. There was continual bearing down pain, terrible backaches, headaches and at times dizzy spells when everything was a blur before me. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and painful, and there was considerable sediment and odor. I don't know what I would have done but for Doan's Kidney Pills. I could see an improvement from the first box, and five boxes brought a final cure."

Antiseptic Barber Shop.

Antiseptic methods are becoming popular with the country barbers in England. A man dropped into a village shop the other day and was shaved. Then came a wash by a sponge whose odor suggested the morgue. The victim's face burned like fire. "What on earth have you got on that sponge?" he demanded. "Ah," answered the villager, proudly, waving the sponge in the air, "that's carbolic acid. It's so safe!"

Only fifty per 1,000 of the English population is employed in agriculture. In Russia the proportion is 298 per 1,000.

WOMEN SUFFER

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong?

The cause may be easily traced to some feminine derangement which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, dragging sensations, flatulency, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded, a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The best remedy for all these symptoms is made from native roots and herbs. No other medicine in the country has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Miss J. F. Walsh, of 328 W. 36th St., New York City, writes:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been of inestimable value in restoring my health. I suffered from female illness which caused dreadful headaches, dizziness, and dull pains in my back, but your medicine soon brought about a change in my general condition, built me up and made me perfectly well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and organic diseases. It is invaluable in preparing for child-birth and during the Change of Life. It cures Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, and invigorates the whole system.

Thoroughly Reliable.

If ever there was a reliable and safe remedy it is that old and famous porous plaster—Allcock's. It has been in use for sixty years, and is as popular to-day as ever, and we doubt if there is a civilized community on the face of the globe where this wonderful pain reliever cannot be found. In the selection of the ingredients and in their manufacture the greatest care is taken to keep each plaster up to the highest standard of excellence, and so pure and simple are the ingredients that even a child can use them.

Allcock's are the original and genuine porous plasters and are sold by druggists in every part of the civilized world.

It is situated on the south coast and on the north side of the harbor, the latter being a land locked basin available for the largest ships. It is enclosed on the south by a long tongue of land the extremity of which is Port Royal. American visitors to Kingston were not numerous until the last few years, when special passenger service was instituted. Last winter thousands of Americans, most of them from New York, visited the island, and this year the number promises to be doubled.

Measured by American standards, none of the buildings is of extravagant design. The public buildings are low, are built of stone and brick, and the business blocks are of brick and never more than three stories in height. Business centres are at the intersection of Harbour and Port Royal streets, and the scene there during business hours is much the same as in any American city, except that negro women, barefooted and with packs on their heads, and barelegged negro boys, shoving fruit carts, dart in and out of the maze of traffic. The Myrtle Bank Hotel is the largest hotel in Kingston and many Americans stay there. There are several boarding houses and a few cheap hotels near the wharves.

Mercantile business in Kingston is conducted largely by Scotchmen, while the tobacco trade, which is extensive, is carried on by natives. The stores are large and very similar to those to be found in an American city of 60,000 persons. The two principal business streets are Harbour and Port Royal, the former the home of the retail shops and the latter of the wholesale. Along the water front, which is always the scene of keenest activity, there are enormous tobacco and fruit warehouses.

investment of as high as $50,000, line the streets to the north of the city. They are all shielded from the street by high terraces which are overhung with palms.

Several men of wealth have costly homes just on the outskirts of the city, among them the Machado Brothers, the largest tobacco dealers in Jamaica. All of the streets are macadamized or paved with blocks; in fact, throughout the island the roads are ideal, being continually sprinkled with stone crushed by negroes in lieu of taxes.

About a mile back from the water front is the home of the Governor of the island, and in the very heart of the city are the botanical gardens, the chief show place of the city. Two miles north of the foot of Harbour street, where passenger vessels land, is the penitentiary, in which there are always between 300 and 400 negroes. There is a system of electric street railways on which the service is as good as can be found in any American city; a water works system, a perfect telephone system; in short, everything that is associated with an up to date city.

THE PULPIT.

A BRILLIANT SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. RAIMUNDO DE OVIES.

Subject: The True Religion.

Birmingham, Ala.—The following impressive discourse entitled "The True Religion" was preached in St. Andrew's Sunday morning by the Rev. Raimundo de Ovies. His text was St. Luke xxi., 3: "Of a truth I say unto you that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all."

Mr. de Ovies said: Because religion is a feeling, an intuition, an emotion, many well meaning people mistake other emotions and feelings for this one "divine stirring of the heart."

There are some minds that can never be led to believe that religion must become an ordinary, commonplace and everyday matter with the true Christian. "They look for some remarkable display of feeling, something beyond and above the daily and hourly emotions of life, in order that they may feel certain of having religion." In other words, they look for romance, not commonplace.

"What!" we can hear them cry, "do you mean to say that when some powerful and eloquent preacher has stirred our hearts and made us realize the depth of degradation in which we have been living, until we turn with disgust from our past life, make unnumbered good resolutions and feel good all over, that we have not got religion? What more would you command?"

There is only one thing which we could ask, and yet what a difficult test, "keep the feeling alive."

No man is a Christian who must be converted and baptized once a year. Religion is for a life time, not a day, or a week, or even a month or two. There is nothing more deceptive than the enthusiasm resulting from a magnetic, eloquent preaching. The politician, the lawyer, even the infidel, all exercise this compelling power over an audience, and in no case does it give religion. Religion comes into the heart from no man. It comes from God Himself. It is true, indeed, that God uses human means, but when a soul is truly converted religious enthusiasm wells from the heart in a deep, quiet stream, not in the bubbling, effervescent spring of some momentary exaltation.

Such periods of excitement do seem to lift us outside the ordinary routine of life, and they have in them a touch of the romantic. But what really is romance, after all? It is merely the commonplace viewed from a distance. If any incident which excites our fancy and appears to be romantic were taken from the pages of one of our thrilling novels and introduced into our own lives we should look upon it as trouble, and what a deal of grumbling there would be. Don't you see that this is true, and is not a romantic novel, simply the story of difficulties and trials overcome? There is this difference between a book and life: in a book petty details are left out and the exciting events crowded together, one upon another. In life the petty details are all retained, and (in many cases) the thrilling passages omitted.

When some of us sigh in our youth for stirring scenes and a part to play on life's stage, which shall be full of thrilling adventures, such as we have read about in our favorite books, do we ever think about disaster to ourselves, and does the story not end happily? Yes, we all desire romance, but no trouble or hardship ever enters into the bargain. They are inseparable in the real business of life.

So we see that Christianity is romantic only in the true sense. It means trials and obstacles to be overcome.

The very first requirement of romance is courage, and here romance and Christianity agree. No coward was ever a Christian. There is no greater mistake in the world than to suppose that a Christian must be a milksop, a poor, meek, wishy-washy creature, without stamina and without manhood. Among the heroes of history none were greator, none more glorious and godlike than the Christian martyrs. They were not supported by ambition, by the praise of men, nor the fear of ridicule, but calmly and with eyes that saw, without flinching, their doom, died for a feeling, that mysterious thing, faith.

Pause a little, you who look with contempt upon the Christian life, and think which is the braver course, to float easily with the stream, to give unbridled way to base passions and weaknesses in our human hearts, to avoid the finger of scorn by joining the swelling ranks of the scoffers and the degraded, or that other path, to take the side of the minority, to battle against sin, to acknowledge the standard of honor and freedom of conscience? Whoever conquers his besetting sin is man indeed.

True religion, then, is brave as well as steadfast, but above all it is steadfast. It does not demand great sermons, it finds "sermons in stones." It does not ask for great deeds to do, it is contented with its opportunities. Who shall say what things are small? Newton saw gravitation in the falling of an apple, and Galileo, watching the lamp of a great cathedral vibrating from the movements of passing vehicles, gave to the world the division of time by means of the pendulum. Greatness lay in the minds of those two men who could grasp opportunity.

So it is not the outward circumstance but the heart which makes things great or small. There are abundant opportunities for our becoming heroic Christians. Oh, if we would only grasp them. We miss so much in this life, romance and beauty, and all because we lack courage to do our duty.

Duty is an ugly word at first, yet within it lie all the best things of life. It is under the spell of that wicked fairy, the world, but it becomes beautiful if we embrace it. Recall that story of your childhood, "Beauty and the Beast." You remember how ugly the beast appeared to poor beauty. Still, for the sake of her father's life she embraced it, when, lo, a miracle, before her stands a handsome prince. So it is with life, duty, the daily task, the commonplace routine, when undertaken in the spirit of Christian faith, takes the form of that dear dream that lies in the heart of us all.

Who would imagine anything heroic in the act of that poor widow when she cast into an almsbox her two mites of copper? It took the gracious mind of Christ Jesus to point out to the world the beauty of that insignificant deed. Yes, and as long as the world shall last and while the gospel is preached to erring mankind, the greatness of a poor woman's heart shall point out to the world a lesson of beauty and heroism that shall never die.

Why He Cobbled Shoes.

A characteristic story is told about Dr. Carey, the pioneer missionary in India, who, before he left this country, was a shoemaker, or rather, as he himself put it, a cobbler.

He used to go about from village to village preaching, for his soul was filled with the love of God. One day a friend came to him and said: "Mr. Carey, I want to speak to you very seriously." "Well," said Mr. Carey, "what is it?" The friend replied, "By your going about preaching as you do you are neglecting your business. If you only attended to your business more you would be all right, and would soon get on and prosper, but as it is you are simply neglecting your business." "Neglecting my business?" said Carey, looking at him steadily. "My business is to extend the Kingdom of God. I only cobble shoes to pay expenses."

"The Iron in God's Sand is Gold."

If one should give me a dish of sand, and tell me there were particles of iron in it, I might look for them with my eyes and search for them with my clumsy fingers, and be unable to detect them, but let me take a magnet and sweep through it, and how it would draw to itself the most invisible particles by the mere power of attraction! The unthankful heart, like my finger in the sand, discovers no mercies, but let the thankful heart sweep through the day, as the magnet finds the iron so it will find in every hour some heavenly blessings, only the iron in God's sand is gold.—Holmes.

Winnowed Wheat.

To enjoy prayer we must be used to it.

It is the mission of Christianity to enlighten.

What we make our trust in, God often makes our shame.

God's house is a necessity, not to Him, but to His people.

Prayer should be pillared on promises and pinnacled with praises.

Religion presents few difficulties to the humble, many to the proud and insuperable ones to the vain.

Good prayers never come weeping home. We may be sure we will receive either what we ask or what we should ask.

Why Not Now?

Now is the favorable time. For a duty no better time shall come. Delay may deprive us of power. Indulge in procrastination, and in time you will come to this—that, because a thing ought to be done, therefore you cannot do it." Or, if we lose not power, the action loses worth. A child of fifteen was postponing acceptance of Christ; she brought some flowers for one who would have been gladdened by them, but was told to wait about giving them a few days until they had begun to wither.—Pacific Baptist.

The True Education.

A true education—what is it? It is awakening a love for truth, giving a just sense of duty; opening the eyes of the soul to the great purpose and end of life. It is not teaching to be honest because "honesty is the best policy," but because it is right. It is teaching the individual to love the good for the sake of the good, to be virtuous in action, because so in heart; to love and serve God supremely, not from fear, but from delight in His perfect character.—Wayland.

That Which Endures.

A gigantic tree, shorn of its branches — tall, straight, majestic — but torn and shattered at the top as by a mighty lightning bolt. In the distance it seemed like the ruins of an old, gray tower, and suggested some strong and kingly character whose life, stripped and blasted by some cruel blow, still stands in majestic loneliness, a witness to the glory of what has been and to the strength of patient endurance.—Ram's Horn.

The Joy of Age.

If the joy of youth has more foam and sparkle, the joy of age has greater depth and substance. One is like the reflection of sunlight on the lumps of ore, where there is much dross mixed with the metal, the other like the glance of tempered steel which has been through the furnace and between the anvil and the hammer, and has come forth wholly fitted for the Master's use.—I. O. R.

Use is the Test.

It is not having that makes men great. A man may have the largest abundance of God's gifts—of money, of mental acquirements, of power, of heart possessions and qualities; yet if he only holds and hoards what he has for himself he is not great. Men are great only in the measure in which they use what they have to bless others.—Rev. Dr. Miller.

The Key to the Soul.

A clean heart makes a pure face, clear, calm eye, a strong hand, a restful soul and a cheerful spirit. The inside of a man will manifest itself on the outside. The inside contents of the soul will leak out through the face, eyes, tongue and hands. In the long run we will find out what is really within a man.—Ram's Horn.

No Look Ahead.

To most men experience is like the stern light of a ship, which illumines only the track it has passed.—Coleridge.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery" was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients — Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the highest commendation from the leading medical authorities of all the different schools, who have recommended them as the very best remedies for the diseases for which "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompained with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

An Immortally Incorrect Sentence.

A grammarian was talking about grammatical slips that through their magnitude, merited immortality. "There is one sentence," he said, "that has lived for a hundred years on account of its tremendous incorrectness. In this sentence every word, every single word, is ungrammatical. It's hard to beat that, isn't it? The sentence was spoken by a little girl in a sheep pasture. Looking at the flocks she said to the shepherd: 'Is them sheeps yourn?' This sentence, with every word incorrect, holds the record in its class."—Kansas City Times.

AWFUL EFFECT OF ECZEMA.

Covered With Yellow Sores—Grew Worse—Parents Discouraged—Cuticura Drove Sores Away.

"Our little girl one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor said it was. We called in the family doctor and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething; as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she still grew worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yellow greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we 'phoned for doctor No. 3. He came over and looked her over and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Oswego to doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1908."

Genealogical Cranks.

"This is the time when genealogical cranks infest my part of the country," said R. H. Tomlinson of New London, Conn., at the St. Charles hotel. "Lots of Americans spend their vacations in a trip to Connecticut, the seat of many of the oldest colonies. Many go to New London, Chatham and Wethersfield and bother the county officials with requests to spend days going over the old records. Of late years the officials have taken extra care to preserve the records, and not all requests are complied with. Chatham was founded not long after the landing of the Pilgrims from the Mayflower. The town first had its birth about 1635 and up to 1640 there was a constant stream of settlers coming from England and Holland.

"It is all foolishness for people to spend their good money making trips to those towns. Nearly every part of the county records has been preserved in book form, and a little investigation at public libraries would help the seekers for family history."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

At Hanau, in 1891, a record tuning fork was made, weighing seventy-two pounds.

Dublin, whose area is only one-eighth that of London, has almost as great an average of parks. It has an acre of park for every 175 inhabitants, while London has one acre to 1,114 inhabitants.

The mean winter temperature of Great Britain has risen very considerably during the past half century. January, for instance, now averages 3 degrees warmer than it did between 1780 and ....

WHY

should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless, don't experiment on him and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge greatest known worm medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa, Fla writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing happy and well." Sold by Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, and A. Horn, Thorsby.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says:—I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

MANY THINGS

THINGS ABOUT LOUISVILLE

Louisville gets her water supply from the Ohio river, it is always muddy. They say it is beautiful; so, if I get as fat as a 'possum while up here, you will know why. The public has been provided filtered water for three or four years, and the plant has been in sight a long time, but has not got here yet, such things you know travel slowly. We have an abundant supply of something to drink worse than Ohio muddy water.

The city is cursed with one thousand saloons, most of these are kept wide open on Sunday; those that are not kept wide open are easy of entrance. Some that want to appear a little decent and law-abiding, let their customers slip in at the back door. I heard a young man say in church the other day it had been suggested that if the churches here would close their front doors, the attendance would be much larger, as the people have a liking to slip in the back way. It makes my heart bleed when I think that christian people are largely responsible for this awful condition of affairs, but things will not always be thus. Some of our faithful christians got in behind Gov. Beckham awhile back, and had the "lid" put on; but alas, it did not stay down long, the police are in league with the saloon element. This is unfortunate, for when the wicked rule the people mourn, fortunately however, we have some people here who believe in perseverance.

A committee headed by Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor Broadway Baptist church, went yesterday to hold a conference with Gov. Beckham. It is confidently believed the lid will be put on soon and be to stay, what a great blessing this will be, it will be a victory for the church; then the next effort will be to thin down the saloons, thus the good work will continue until there will not be one left to aid the cause of the devil. A little boy in my Sunday school class last Sunday said he called the beer and whiskey wagons "devil wagons." It is encouraging to hear a little fellow, who lives right in the worst part of the city, talk that way. The Sunday school where I teach is maintained by a mission in a notorious "red light district," and the work is hard, but we have almost one hundred bright children enlisted. We pray for, and expect the salvation of many of them and that the Lord will use them in the salvation of their wicked parents. There is less cigarette smoking here than I have seen anywhere in proportion to the population, this also is encouraging to one who has made a special study of this blight upon our dear boys.

The attendance at the Seminary increases almost daily there are more than three hundred at present. Nearly all the single men board in New York Hall. Our teachers and their wives, students and their wives, (those who are fortunate enough to have them) took dinner together there Thanksgiving, thirty three turkeys turned to preacher that day, a pretty good start, don't you think? By the way, I am reminded to tell you that Louisville is headquarters for turkeys, as well as "devil water." In the central section of the State turkey raising has become quite an industry, and annually paying the farmers' wives hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is not an uncommon sight these days to see flocks of thousands being driven to market here, the dread of the drivers is to see night fall approach, for the big birds are hard to manage, especially if there is a strip of woods in sight, for then they will make a scramble and select the tallest tree in which to roost, to round them up next morning and get them started is indeed a task that tries the patience of the drivers.

There are many things of interest here, about which I will be glad to tell you from time to time. Be good. ROBERT JONES

GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION

Sold and recommended by Florence Drug Co.

We never write here about any stomach medicine for any particular indigestion or remedy, we always give him what he ask for, but in case he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money; as every 25 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or Florence Drug co., are ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all those people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Editor Banner—I will ask for a small space in your valuable paper to speak a few words in regard to our community. We have a lot of sickness down here although we hope for the sick ones recovery.

We have a fine school at Pleasant Cherry and a most lovely teacher; all the children say they love him because he is so kind to them and I think he is trying to advance the scholars just as fast as anyone could expect. We have a fine Sunday school at this place which I think is the best society ever organized, especially for the boys and girls; and let me advise every girl and boy who are readers of the Banner, to attend Sunday school for it will cause them to learn more of Christ every lesson they study.

Well, as this is my first time to attempt to write I will ring off and come again. SCHOOL GIRL.

Prattville.

Editor Banner—I wish to correct the mistake which was made in my last letter. There are some over three hundred pupils in the Methodist church and in all of the churches of this little town there are over nine hundred, and I can say that we have the best Sunday school that I know of. There was prayermeeting at Mr. Monroe Maddox's last night and several reported a nice time.

There is a lot of sickness in the town of Prattville and a heap of deaths. There have been three deaths in this town in the last four days On last Thursday night the death angel visited the home of Mr and Mrs. Parker and took away their beloved daughter, and on the same night the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and took away their sweet little boy. Also visited the home of Mr. Lane and carried away his lovely wife. PRATTVILLE SAGER.

Editor Banner—Will you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to say a few words? Health of this community is very good at present. Hog killing time is about over.

There were a great many old people who attended the singing convention at Bethsalem last Sunday; they say it seems like old times are going to be new times.

I want to say a word in regard to the piece in last week's Banner signed Three Boys. I don't know who you are. Boys, I thank you for the honor you have shown my teacher. I will recommend him to anyone as being as good a teacher as I ever went to. The scholars are learning fast. Best wishes to the Banner and its many readers.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

France holds the fourth place on the list of commercial nations of the world. She is outranked only by the United States, the United Kingdom and Germany. Her foreign trade policy is less aggressive than that of England or Germany, yet her commerce shows a fair development.

Strangers in Washington should not make the mistake of thinking that all the men who walk along with their hands behind their backs are members of Congress, is the warning published by the Washington Post.

In a book on sanitary and applied chemistry, which Professor Bailey, of Kansas University, published last autumn, he says: "It is estimated that at least ten per cent of the income is squandered not only by the well-to-do, but frequently also by those who have a very small income, and so can ill afford it, in expensive food material which affords little nutrition, in unsatisfactory methods of preparation, in selecting foods out of season, by throwing away much valuable food material, and by using badly constructed cooking appliances. Much careful investigation is needed along these lines, and painstaking instructions will ultimately improve these conditions, which are at present so much deplored."

The English custom of giving a name to the farm or estate is being adopted to some extent in this country, not so much from sentiment or Anglomania as for the practical value that a trade-mark adds to products, notes The Circle. To tag produce as from Elmhurst farm or Hazledale dairy is a kind of guarantee of its quality that does not attach to it when it is shipped by John or Richard Roe. The shipper is lost sight of after the goods leave the first consignee, but the name of the farm goes with them through the middlemen to the consumer. It is this element of guarantee that is given by a name that makes the best markets, just as the Government stamp on meats, or the health certificate on milk, or a date stamp on eggs means a higher price. It is also a means of introduction to the consumer that frequently opens the way for direct trade and the elimination of middlemen.

Considerably more shipwrecked sailors are saved by their own boats than by other means, says London Answers. Thus, of 2159 persons saved on the coasts of the United Kingdom in 1903-04, 165 were saved by the rocket apparatus and assistance from the shore, 423 by lifeboats, 143 by coast-guard boats and other craft, 641 by passing ships and 735 by their own boats. The total number of seamen and passengers saved from wrecks of British vessels everywhere, and of foreign vessels on or near the coasts of British territory, during the year 1903-04, was 6088, of whom 2159 were saved on the coasts of the United Kingdom, 1782 on the coasts of British possessions abroad, 1343 on the coasts of foreign countries—all from British wrecks, be it remembered—and 802 on the high seas. Of the 3927 persons saved from British wrecks abroad, 2562 were saved by their own boats and 959 by passing ships, while only 28 were saved by lifeboats and 149 by rocket apparatus.

It is an established fact that the United States now holds the record for rapid development of fruit industries, such as the growing of oranges and lemons, peaches and grapes. As a nation we eat more fruit than any other and grow considerably more than we eat. Eighty millions of dollars a year is far within the figures for strawberries alone. A hundred millions would scarcely cover the value of all the grapes marketed. Peaches we raise in astonishing quantities, in orchards containing as many as 300,000 trees, but our banner crop, so far as fruit is concerned, is apples. We have produced as many as 210,000,000 barrels in a single season and have sold as high as 3,000,000 barrels to England alone. We carry in cold storage every winter anywhere from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 barrels of the crop of the season before, in order to secure better prices. Apples is one of the greatest industries the country has ever engaged in and promises to take rank as the chief fruit crop of the world.

THE LOST DIAMOND

By F. Stewart.

Every one was very much interested in the case, as it synchronized with one that was exciting immense interest on the Continent. Mrs. Sylvester had been playing the piano, had found her fingers overloaded with rings, had removed them, and among them the famous Sylvester diamond, that was supposed, at a moderate estimate, to represent something over £10,000. When she wished to replace her rings, this famous gem had been missing. It had happened at their house party in Scotland, and had provided an unpleasant excitement. Every one lived in terrified expectation of finding it gleaming among their tooth powder, as had happened to the unfortunate count abroad. The guests who had been sitting at some distance from the piano congratulated themselves, while those who had been sitting next regretted their unfortunate choice of a locality, and every one pitied poor Tommy Curtis, who had, as usual, been as close to lovely Mary Sylvester as he could manage to be. "Hanging over her—hanging over her—positively touching her," said one old lady to another. "I don't want to insinuate anything, but he is, every one knows, fearfully in debt, and temptation is temptation"—and with this obvious platitude she cast the first stone at Tommy Curtis.

At first hope was prevalent that the ring would be found. Although it was practically impossible that it should have fallen into the piano, it was opened, and a thorough search instituted. Although people were positive that she had worn the ring that evening, her maid was questioned, but she remembered perfectly that her mistress had put it on when dressing for dinner. She remembered unlocking her jewel case and giving it to her. The mystery offered no solution. Three days elapsed and then a rumor began to circulate among the guests that private detectives were in the house and that all were subject to supervision. Old Mrs. Clancy, the lady who had declared that temptation was temptation, went straight to her host and declared that if this was the case, she would immediately leave the house, and that she would take it as a personal favor, before doing so, if he would allow her boxes to be searched. Sylvester demurred. He admitted that detectives were in the house disguised as servants, but he explained that, apart from her character, it was impossible that she should be connected with the robbery, as she had been sitting at the farthest end of the room at the time it occurred.

Sylvester brought out the word "robbery" with a certain hesitation, and regretted it when he saw the tide of angry red that flooded the old lady's face. "I must insist on having my box and my maid's searched," she said, firmly, "before I leave this house." Sylvester had no choice but to acquiesce. Several people, who had lacked the courage to take the initiative, followed her heroic precedent, and the house rapidly emptied. Sylvester was in despair. He was a very rich man, but he worked very hard, and he was accustomed to regard his annual shooting as the most delightful time in the year. Now, everything was marred. No one cared a straw who had made the biggest bag; even the high stakes played at bridge failed to awaken much interest, while before the disappearance of the diamond much excitement had centred round Mary Sylvester's table, who was reported to play a good deal higher than her husband approved, and to be consistently unlucky.

"I wish you'd lower your points a bit, Molly," he said, one evening. "What a curse this diamond business is—but I can't let the matter drop."

Mary Sylvester, who was standing before her mirror, endeavoring to make up her mind as to whether emeralds or pearls best became her, sighed wearily. "I will play lower when I get my money back," she said, slowly, "but I don't want to leave off so much to the bad." She looked at him as she spoke, and he was struck by the haggard misery of her face. "You've aged ten years in the last fortnight," he said, sharply. "How much are you to the bad?"

"Oh, I don't know without looking," she said, quickly.

"But about . . . about . . . approximately," he insisted, irritably.

"Oh, a few hundred or so," she answered, lightly.

"A few hundred or so," he repeated, angrily; "well, you'll have to pay it out of your allowance. I told you last time I'd pay no more of your gambling debts. You understand," he added, as he flung himself out of the room. His wife watched him with fascinated eyes, and drew a long breath of relief when he banged the door behind him. "Men," she reflected, "are wonderfully stupid. Fancy believing that a few hundreds represented about—about—approximately." She laughed outright.

* * * * * * * *

A week had passed since the diamond had been stolen, and the party had dwindled down to three people. Unpleasant things were beginning to be whispered about Curtis. It was remembered that he was the only person who had been standing over Mrs. Sylvester while she played, and was consequently nearest to the rings when she placed them on the piano. He was also well known to be in money difficulties. The other two who still remained of the party—a Mr. and Mrs. Archer—had been in the garden at the time, and were comfortably aware that no suspicion could be attached to them, and showed no desire to curtail their visit. Tommy Curtis was a young man who was popularly supposed to live by his wits, and Mrs. Archer, who enjoyed a large and assured income, naturally credited him with the morals commonly associated with the impecunious who enjoy life. "I can't think how he can stay on," she remarked to her husband, "although I am glad in a way, as it would spoil our rubber if he went. Sylvester won't play."

"Hang it all," retorted the husband, "you can't convict a man without evidence."

But Mrs. Archer was a woman who knew better.

Two days later the house was in a ferment of excitement. The diamond had been found under most dramatic circumstances. Tommy Curtis, leaning over the piano listening to Mary Sylvester play, suddenly declared that he heard something rattle inside the instrument. Mrs. Archer, who was standing by the bridge table in the centre of the room, exchanged significant glances with her husband. Had she not prophesied only last night that Curtis would lose his nerve, and find some way of returning the diamond?

"I can hear nothing," answered Mary Sylvester, who had turned very white. She struck a chord and the keys answered perfectly.

"Not so low down in the bass, or so high up in the treble," answered Curtis, who was scarlet with excitement; "just about here." He struck some chords at random in the middle of the keyboard, and a perceptible rattle was heard. "It's the ring," he exclaimed. "Let's look—but how could it have got in?"

This time Mrs. Archer smiled at her husband. A search promptly resulted in the recovery of the diamond. It flashed and sparkled in young Curtis' hand. "Thank Heaven, it's found," he said, impulsively.

"It's a very extraordinary thing," said Sylvester, drily—he had come into the room without being heard—"for the piano was taken to pieces by an expert the day after the ring was lost." His tone was unmistakably dry and unpleasant.

"Well, so long as it is found," said Archer, quickly. He was essentially a kindly man, and he was extremely sorry for young Curtis. Innocent or guilty, he was in an unpleasant position. The young fellow seemed aware of the antagonism expressed in Sylvester's attitude and winced. Yet, unaccused, it was impossible to defend himself.

"I am as perplexed as you are," he said, slowly; "and, personally, I do not think the matter should be allowed to drop here."

"So long as it is found," said Mary Sylvester, faintly. She looked white and scared as she glanced from one man's face to the other's. An uncomfortable silence ensued, broken by Mrs. Archer, who announced that she was going to bed. She was hardly out of the room when she turned on her husband: "Now, perhaps you will admit," she said, with a condemnatory sniff, "that I knew what I was talking about when I said I believed that young Curtis took that diamond? Of course, he was frightened, and put it back."

"Mr. Curtis begs me to make his adieu to you," said Sylvester to his wife about an hour later. "He is leaving by the first train to-morrow, and will breakfast early."

"You have insulted him," said his wife, in a low, strained voice.

"No," answered her husband, drily; "but he is pleased to take exception to my manner."

"I shall make a point of saying goodby to him before he goes," she said, obstinately.

Her husband looked at her, and her eyes dropped before his. "Believe me," he said, with a sombre smile, "you had better do what I tell you, and take better care of your jewelry in the future. That diamond would be a very useful thing on which to raise money if one was ever in a tight place. And who knows?" he sighed.

"Do you really think Mr. Curtis stole the ring?" she asked.

He shrugged his shoulders. "The evidence is purely circumstantial," he said. "What do you think? Swear to me that you think him innocent, and I will hold him so. Otherwise—a momentary yielding to a mad impulse. These things happen; although, to my mind, it is difficult to imagine a man so low a cur as to steal from the woman he professes to—love. Do you think him innocent?" But Mary was silent, and Curtis left in the morning without seeing her.

* * * * * * * *

Curtis found himself gradually banned. He was not cut, but he was no longer in request. From being one of the most popular young men in London, he became a person who was asked incidentally by good natured people who did not like to drop him all at once. He began to find life unbearable. It was impossible to clear himself, and he left London. At this time Mrs. Sylvester was at her zenith. She was the prettiest woman in London, and her husband had apparently tired of endeavoring to check any of her desires. They lived as millionaires, and if here and there somebody croaked and wondered how long it would last, the majority helped them spend without care for the morrow.

Speculating was now frequently mentioned in connection with Sylvester's name. He was phenomenally lucky, and men followed his lead and made fortunes. But there came a turn. Rumors were rife that Sylvester couldn't last. He looked as if he was enduring a severe strain. Everyone noticed it except his wife, who was immersed in her gayeties. There were times when he longed for a little sympathy; when he felt that it would be an unutterable relief to share his troubles with her. He often wondered if she was capable of caring for anyone. Yet at one time he had believed that she returned Curtis' passion. Honestly, he had believed that he had been guilty. Possibly the baseness of the theft had killed her love.

A report had reached him that the unfortunate young man had gone utterly to the bad and had blown his brains out at Monte Carlo. As he walked slowly home he wondered if his wife would care—or had she quite forgotten? He walked slowly homeward. Things had come to a crisis, and he could no longer keep the truth from her. She was dressing for a ball when her husband knocked at her door. "Send Lucille away," he said, shortly. "I want to speak to you."

"Well," she said, impatiently, as the door closed behind the maid, "what is it? I am late already."

"Make the most of this ball," he said, laconically. "We are in a tight place. Still, we may pull through yet; but I must lay my hands on a few thousand pounds. That ring is worth a small fortune." He pointed to the diamonds flashing in the famous Sylvester ring. "It's a small sum, considering my liabilities, but it will give me time to look round." He stopped short. His wife had turned livid. "Good luck for us that young scamp didn't levant with it. By the way, I heard to-day that he is dead. Lost his little all at Monte Carlo, and then blew his brains out. My God! Molly, don't look at me like that. I thought you'd forgotten the man." After all she was human. She could feel for another man. The old fury of jealousy surged in his veins.

"Tommy Curtis dead?" she said, slowly. "Did you say that you have to raise the money on—on——"

"The ring," he concluded, briskly. "Yes; but my difficulties are only temporary. But I must have money at once. Let me have it now, and I can negotiate to-night. Everything depends on my having the money first thing to-morrow morning."

"I don't feel up to the ball to-night," she answered. "Can't you raise the money any other way?"

"No," he retorted sharply. "But you shall have it back. . . . I shall get out of this hole, but we shall have to retrench."

"I will go to the ball to-night. It is well when pleasures are coming to an end to enjoy one's self when one can."

Her husband did not answer. He could not think without a pang of regret of the spoiled life. He had never liked Curtis; he had detested all the young exquisites who surrounded his wife wherever she went. But Curtis he had detested more than any, because he was the only man he had ever feared. He looked at his wife, in all the glory of her beauty, and wondered at women. After all, they had been very intimate, he had only been dead two days, and she proposed to dance to-night. Perhaps, after all, she had never cared for him and he had worried himself for nothing.

"Very well," he said. "But let me have the ring. I must negotiate to-night."

"You may as well let me wear it," she returned.

He repressed a movement of impatience. "I must insist on your allowing me to have the ring."

"The very best Parisian paste fetches very little," she answered, with a sneer in her voice. "As surprises are in the air to-day, I may as well tell you that I sold the famous diamond two years ago to pay my bridge debts and to settle one or two other little accounts. Do you remember my asking you for money, and your refusing it? You told me that I must pay my debts out of my allowance. Do you remember?"

Yes—he remembered.

"I had to send the ring away, and I thought you would miss it. So I arranged a little scheme that proved very successful," she went on impassively. "When I had to put my rings down on the piano I managed to secrete the diamond one. Nothing could be easier. No one counted my rings or noticed its absence. I just put my hand up to the lace of my dress where it was draped across the breast, and slipped it in. These low cut bodices are very convenient. I also arranged for its finding. I was sorry about Tommy Curtis, but some one had to go to the wall, and he was the one on whom suspicion naturally fell. If it is imperative I will stay at home to-night, and you can have the rest of my jewelry, but I am afraid you won't find it of much use. You have not been very generous for a rich man."

Her cool, pretty voice stopped. Her husband stared at her half dazed, and staggered out of the room.

Mrs. Sylvester went to the ball, and was very much admired. Her husband sat at home and envied poor, foolish Tommy Curtis, lying in the suicide's cemetery at Monte Carlo, with a little black cross to mark his grave and a bullet through his brain. —The Bystander.

STATE NEWS OF ALABAMA BY TELEGRAPH.

Correspondence From All Sections of the State.

A WHOLE WEEK'S EVENTS.

Rural Routes Established.

Washington.—Rural route No. 1 ordered established April 1 at Woodstock, Bibb county, serving 360 people and 87 families. Rural carriers appointed: Haleyville, route No. 2, Easley Owens carrier, G. B. Tedder substitute; Pittsview, route 1, George W. Lewis carrier, Richard D. Gordon substitute; Theda, route 1, Joseph D. Hudson carrier, Raymond E. Thogard substitute.

Claims to Be 127 Years Old.

Huntsville.—Wesley Townsend, an old negro who has just moved to this city from Meridianville, claims to be 127 years old. He is extremely old, but he has no records to show his exact age. He remembers, or professes to remember, events that occurred a short time after the revolutionary war. He was brought to Alabama by his master when this country was a trackless wilderness. The old man has been married three times, and claims fifty children and twice as many grandchildren, many of whom have died of old age.

Killed Near Florence.

Florence.—Henry Saunders, a white man, while clearing up some land in the eastern part of the county, was killed by a tree falling on him and breaking his back. Saunders came to this county from Tennessee, and was here temporarily. He had chopped the tree partly through, and was fastening a rope attached to the tree to another to pull it over when it fell. The accident was not discovered for several hours, and when the tree was removed from him he was dead.

Police Are Commissioned.

Huntsville.—Sheriff William Mitchell has commissioned every member of the Huntsville police force as deputy sheriffs, with full power. This is an old custom in this county, but during the last dozen years the sheriffs have not observed it.

Strawberries Damaged.

Florence.—Already much damage has been done the strawberry crop in this section. The present freeze caught the plants in full bloom, and many small berries had formed. This is not only true of the earlier varieties, but of the Lady Thompson and Candies, which are the varieties most largely used by the growers here. The buds on many trees have swelled, but the fruit has not been injured, though this would not have been the case had the freeze been delayed a few days.

To Lay Pipe Lines.

Huntsville.—W. J. Bennett & Co., of this city, have taken the contract to dig trenches for the New York-Alabama Oil Company for the pipe to be used in conveying gas from its wells in West Huntsville to this city. Work has already begun, and pipe laying will soon begin.

Has No Opposition.

Florence.—The municipal election is near at hand, and it is about settled that the present mayor, Hon. H. W. Blair, will have no opposition in his race for re-election. He is entitled to it, according to democratic precedent. Dr. Blair has made an excellent official, and has been ever watchful of the interests of the city. During his administration the revenues of the city have been improved and the sanitary department has been self-sustaining. He has demonstrated that he is well equipped for the office.

Anniston Settles Ivey Suit.

Anniston.—The suit of Rev. W. R. Ivey, administrator of the estate of the late Franklin L. Ivey, for $30,000 against the city, claimed for the death of F. L. Ivey last year, has been compromised for the amount of $1,500 and costs, aggregating $1,638.33.

The death of Mr. Ivey resulted from a fall from the furniture wagon of the Trigg Furniture Company, where the deceased was employed. The wheels of the wagon ran into a ditch which had been dug by the city for laying a line of sewerage.

Aid for Girls' School.

Montgomery.—The board of trustees of the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo have had a long session with the Governor, seeking to interest him in the needs of the school. They had asked that the legislature give them $50,000 for four years for new buildings and construction work, and an additional $11,000 for maintenance. The appropriation for maintenance is now $25,000, which would put it up to $36,000.

Automobile Wrecked.

Ormond Beach, Fla.—Fred A. Merriott, while attempting to break the world's record with his automobile, struck a slight ridge of hardened sand, causing the front wheels to jump from the ground, thus rendering the steering gear useless. The car made a fearful leap through space, landing on its side and rolling over and over with Merriott pinned under it. The car was wrecked, but Merriott escaped with only a few bruises.

STANDARD OIL SHOWN UP.

Its Policy Was to Ruin Competition. Secret Rates.

Washington, D. C.—The interstate commerce commission has sent to congress a report of the investigations made by it under the Tillman-Gillespie resolution approved March 7 last concerning the relations of common carriers by rail to the production and distribution of oil. The report covers the distribution of petroleum and its products east of the Mississippi river, and incidentally the Kansas and Texas fields. The report points out generally the methods by which the Standard Oil Company has built up and perpetuated its monopoly and the relations of transportation agencies to that monopoly.

It is asserted that "the ruin of its competitors has been a distinct part of the policy of the Standard Oil Company in the past, systematically and persistently pursued."

Considerable of the ground covered has been gone into fully in the report on oil and its distribution, made public by the bureau of corporations.

MARRY EACH OTHER FIVE TIMES.

Started in Double Harness 20 Years Ago—Divorced Four Times.

Lander, Wyo.—Robert J. Burkett and Hannah M. Burkett, who are to live on a ranch north of here, have just been married for the fifth time, having been divorced four times since they first became husband and wife, twenty odd years ago.

Within six months after their first marriage, in Montana, Mrs. Burkett applied for and obtained a divorce from her husband on the ground of cruelty. Within a year they remarried, quarreled soon after the second marriage, and Mrs. Burkett left her husband, who obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion. The next divorce was obtained by the wife on the ground of desertion and non-support. The couple have lived in a number of westeren states since their first marriage, and no two divorces were obtained in the same state.

To Bridge the Coosa.

Washington.—The house has passed a bill authorizing the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad to bridge the Coosa river near Talladega in building its extension to Birmingham. The bill was introduced by Representative Livingston of Georgia.

In the McCurdy Case.

New York.—Arguments were heard and decision reserved by the appellate division of the supreme court in the cases of the Mutual Life Insurance Company against Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the company, to recover $3,370,000 alleged to have been wrongfully expended in a great variety of ways. There are three suits against McCurdy.

Farm Labor Scarce.

Har tselle.—There never has been a time in the history of this country when farm labor was so scarce as now and it is beginning to cause some uneasiness among planters. Wages as high as $30 per month for farm help are being offered by some planters.

Cannery for Hartselle.

Hartselle.—There is strong talk of a cannery being organized here soon. Local capital will be behind the venture. The Elberta peach orchards here will supply fruit enough for a good-sized cannery, and this, supplemented by other small fruit grown here, will keep one running full blast.

The Star, Chattanooga's New Daily.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The Chattanooga Star went to press at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon with 48 pages, and was delivered to an anxiously waiting public.

Bulletin boards have been established in various places over the city posting the Hearst service.

Nine Men Blown to Pieces.

Roanoke, Va.—A Richmond special to the Times says nine men, all foreigners, were blown to pieces by a dynamite explosion on the Tidewater railroad near Pearsburg, Va. The laborers were at dinner, and a quantity of the explosive, which was being thawed in front of the fire, blew up.

Powder Shipped to Panama.

San Francisco.—Another shipment of powder and cartridges was sent to Guatemala on the Pacific mail steamer City of Para for Panama and intermediate points. It consisted of 27 cases, half of which is consigned to Champeco and the balance for San Jose de Guatemala.

Department Store Burns.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—The department store of P. G. Carpenter & Co., situated in the heart of the business section of the city, has been practically destroyed by fire. Several adjoining stores were considerably damaged. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Contract Awarded.

Richmond, Va.—The contract for the construction of the New York state building at the Jamestown Exposition, which is to cost $31,500, has been awarded. The building will be modeled after the congressional library at Washington and will be located immediately on the water front, overlooking Hampton Roads.

Show cases are now made on the sectional book case plan.

EXPLOSION KILLS OVER TWO HUNDRED.

The Scenes at Pit Mouth Most Distressing.

FIRE CUTS OFF RESCUE.

Six Hundred Working in Mine Owned by Prussian Government When Fire Damp Blows Up, Followed by Flames in Shaft.

Saarbrueck, Rhenish Prussia.—A fire damp explosion occurred in the Bildstock shaft of the Reden mine at St. Johann-on-Saar, opposite this town. The bodies of 164 miners have been taken out of the mine, seventeen men dangerously injured have been rescued and more than a hundred miners are missing. There were about 600 men working in the shaft when the explosion occurred, but half of them were not in the galleries, which were wrecked.

The rescue corps is working desperately in efforts to reach the entombed men, and it is hoped that some of them will be found alive. The scenes at the pit mouth, where the families of the miners gathered, were most distressing. The Roden mine is owned by the Prussian government.

NO CAUCUS ON TARIFF QUESTION

Revisionists in the House Fail to Secure Fifty Names to Petition—Sure High Tariff Men Would Control.

Washington, D. C.—The tariff revisionists in the house have been unable to get fifty names to a petition for a caucus on the tariff question, and the matter will be dropped. Hard work on the part of the insurgents has failed to get more than twenty-five names. Wisconsin came to the front most prominently, seven of the ten members being willing to put their names down on the call.

Tariff revision members in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana have refused to come to the front and sign the call. They take the view that while the tariff should be revised, a caucus would do no good. They are convinced the high tariff men would control it, and that it would be a useless waste of time and a useless agitation of the subject to try to force an extra session now.

Score of Firemen Caught.

Buffalo, N. Y.—An eight-story building at 105-7 Seneca street and extending through the block to Carroll street was destroyed by fire. A score of firemen were caught under a falling wall while fighting the fire. Three are still buried in the ruins and there is no hope of rescuing them alive. Twelve others were injured, six seriously.

Steamship Agent Shoots Himself.

Galveston, Tex.—Sigmund Weinstein aged 42 years, cashier of the local agency of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, shot and killed himself in the reading room of the Elks' Club, of which he was a member. No cause is known.

Soon to Decide.

Washington, D. C.—The ways and means committee has ordered the printing of testimony taken in the sub-treasury site. It will be in the hands of the committee at the next meeting, and on this score the matter can no longer be held up.

Brands Children.

New York.—Two little tots, Nellie, aged 7 years, and Jennie, two years younger, told Magistrate House in the Harlem police court how their stepmother, Mrs. Kate Cravins, had branded them with a red hot stove lifter when in play they had made too much noise.

Crushed to Death.

Birmingham, Ala.—Nine huge girders used to support the Twenty-second street bridge fell and pinned W. T. Jolley and N. B. Lightsey, car repairers of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, to the ground, inflicting injuries from which both afterwards died.

Fifty Chinese Craft Sink.

Hong Kong.—A terrific rain squall broke over Hong Kong, and in the space of ten minutes sank over fifty Chinese craft in the harbor, more than a hundred natives being drowned. There were no casualties among the white population. Launches from the shore rescued many occupants of the swamped boats.

Levees Reported Safe.

Natchez, Miss.—Reports received from levees in this vicinity continue favorable. At Minorca, La., where the levee is under construction and for which some apprehension was felt, a loop is being built around the uncompleted work, and it is believed to be ample to restrain the water.

Commits Suicide.

Knoxville, Tenn.—A special to the Sentinel from Bull's Gap, near here, says George Tegg, aged 45 years, committed suicide in a shocking manner by striking himself many times in the head with the sharp edge of an axe. His skull was crushed. He also pulled out his tongue and severed it entirely. He is believed to have been temporarily demented. Physicians say his injuries are fatal.

12 KILLED AND 100 HARROWLY ESCAPED.

Mine Caves in After Fire Damp Explosion.

FIGHT TO BOARD ELEVATORS.

Entombed Miners Run Back Into the Drift, Where the Flow of Gas Envelops Them and They Cry Piteously for Help.

Weston, W. Va.—Five Americans and seven Italians are known to be dead as the result of an explosion of fire damp in the Pennsylvania Company mine at Lorenz, W. Va. Immediately following the explosion the mine caved in and nearly caused the entombment of all the miners, estimated at 100. The bodies of twelve dead men have been recovered, but it is not known at this time whether any others met death.

The bodies of seven Italians have been recovered, but as they are known only by numbers, their identification is not possible until later.

The explosion occurred just as the day force was leaving the mine. Only a few of the men had reached the surface when with a terrific report the fire damp exploded. The mine elevator had just started for the top, carrying about twenty men, and almost eighty men are still at the bottom of the shaft. Immediately there was a panic among the men still in the mine.

There was but one direction in which they could run, and this was back into the drift. From this direction, however, a strong flow of gas was slowly enveloping them. Almost suffocated, they huddled closely together and cried piteously up the shaft for assistance. Several rescuers took possession of the elevator and ran it down into the shaft. There were accommodations for about twenty men at the time, however, and the foreign miners, who were crazed from fright, fought like demons to board the car, greatly retarding the work of rescue. The car was finally loaded and run to the top.

With great precision and quickness the elevator continued to make trips until all the men at the bottom of the shaft were brought to the surface. On the last two trips a majority of the miners were unconscious, and had to be carried from the car.

The five Americans and seven Italians who were killed were found about 100 feet back of the mine. Apparently they had been overcome with gas.

Bid Rejected.

Washington, D. C.—As the result of an extended conference at the White House it was decided to reject the bid of Oliver and Bangs, who propose to complete the construction of the Panama canal for 6.75 per cent of the total estimated cost, insofar as Anson M. Bangs, of New York is concerned. While no official statement was given out, it can be authoritatively stated that if William J. Oliver, of Knoxville can enter into a satisfactory arrangement with some contractor who is financially responsible he will be given the big contract.

Bill to Abolish Canal Commission.

Washington, D. C.—Following out the president's recommendation that the isthmian canal commission should be reduced to three members, or, better still, one member, the senate canal commission expects to have ready for consideration on Tuesday next a bill abolishing the commission entirely.

In the same measure provision will be made for the president to appoint one man, presumably the chief engineer, in charge of the construction to exercise full control and name his subordinates.

All canal employes, however, are to continue under the war department.

Senators Hopkins and Knox are drafting the bill.

Seven Jurors Secured.

New York.—Up to noon Friday seven jurors had been secured for the trial of Harry Thaw, who killed Stanford White. The court took a recess Saturday.

Another Message.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has sent to congress a message favoring a model insurance law in the District of Columbia.

$300,000 Lumber Fire.

Washington, D. C.—Fire in the lumber yards of Johnson Wyamsatt caused damage to the amount of $300,000. The fire spread over three-quarters of a block. There were several thousand spectators.

Northern Mississippi Judiciary.

Washington.—The house by unanimous consent passed a bill creating another judicial division of the northern district of Mississippi.

L. & N. Files Injunction.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Louisville & Nashville railroad has filed a bill in the chancery court against the Southern railway seeking to enjoin the Southern from entering into an agreement with the Alabama Great Southern and the Mobile and Ohio whereby these two lines could use the tracks of the Brierton, Blocton and Birmingham Railroad Company to enter Birmingham.

SPECIAL SESSION.

On Car Shortage Question Will be Sent to Congress.

Washington.—The car shortage question was considered at the White House during a conference, which was participated in by President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Secretary Taft, Postmaster-General Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Bacon and Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The president has announced his intention of sending to congress a special message urging remedial legislation to meet such emergencies as now exist regarding the car shortage. The Interstate Commerce Commission has submitted certain principles which the members think should form the basis of any legislation to be recommended on the subject to congress, and if these meet the views of the president, they will be submitted to that body. The president's decision is one of the results of the recent Chicago reciprocal demurrage convention, and of the very general complaint which has been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission of a shortage in the car-carrying equipment of the country.

IN SECRET SESSION.

Texas Legislative Committee Considers Features of Bailey Case.

Austin, Tex.—The legislative investigating committee, which is considering the charges against United States Senator Bailey, has been in session considering features of the investigation not considered wholly for public review.

After the committee came out of the executive session it reported that they desired to ascertain whether they could grant to H. C. Pierce, the Waters-Pierce oil magnate, special dispensation with a view of relieving him of the Travis county grand jury indictment, in order that he might appear before the committee. It was finally decided that this was not proper, and the committee proceeded to the examination of witnesses.

HAGUE CONFERENCE IN JUNE.

Generally Understood that Peace Delegates Will Meet About That Time.

Washington.—It is understood that while Professor Martens in the course of his talk Thursday with Ambassador Tower, in Berlin, regarding the reassembling of The Hague congress, did not in behalf of the Russian government name any special date for the meeting, it did develop as a result of the conversation that the month of June would be probably agreeable to most of the powers that expect to participate in the congress.

Two Men Shot in Row Over Hazing.

Atlanta, Ga.—Two men are dying and two boys are seriously wounded from a pistol fight which grew out of a hazing affair at the Georgia Normal school. The shooting occurred on the campus.

Lamar Carswell was hazed by students and badly used up. His father, E. L. Carswell, and uncle, W. B. Carswell, with their sons, went to the college campus to redress the wrongs of Lamar. The students drew revolvers and opened fire at the approach of the Carswell family.

The father and uncle fell fatally wounded. Lamar Carswell was injured, and Fletcher McLeod, a student, was shot in the stomach.

Immigrants to Ports of Georgia.

Augusta, Ga.—The Georgia Immigration Association has announced that arrangements are being made with the representatives of two steamship lines to bring to this country within the next three weeks several hundred Scottish and Swedish immigrants to relieve the urgent demand for help. The immigrants are to be landed at the port of Savannah.

Long Wireless System.

Paris.—The recently established wireless telegraph service from the Eiffel tower, in Paris, to Bizerta, Tunis, is working successfully. Messages have been exchanged between the two points for the last few days.

Japs Deported.

San Antonio, Tex.—Telegraphic advices to immigration authorities here were to the effect that forty Japanese contract laborers had been deported at Laredo. Evidence in the cases will likely be received here within a few days.

Little Hope for Governor Higgins.

Olean, N. Y.—Former Governor Higgins has been fairly comfortable, but while the general condition of the patient is more favorable, there is apparently but slight hope for his ultimate recovery.

223 Cases of Scarlet Fever.

Chicago, Ill.—There are at present in the city 223 cases of scarlet fever. There are also 55 cases of diphtheria and 247 miscellaneous cases.

Blizzard in Texas.

Houston, Tex.—Texas was Friday night in the midst of a severe blizzard, and reports coming from different sections of the state indicate that the losses suffered by stockmen and fruit-growers will be large.

President Approves Artillery Drill.

Washington.—The president has approved the act to reorganize and increase the efficiency of the artillery.

THE LAND FRAUDS RECEIVE ATTENTION.

No Patents Shall be Issued Except Those Authorized.

WRITES TO HITCHCOCK.

Actual Examination of Public Lands Must be Made by Government Officers Before Final Certificate Shall be Issued.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has determined to put an end if possible to frauds in the acquisition of public lands by individuals and corporations. He has directed that hereafter no patent shall be issued to public lands until an examination of the ground shall have been made by an authorized officer of the government.

The president's order is in the form of a letter to Secretary Hitchcock, and under its provisions orders are being sent out by the officials of the general land office.

Following is the text of President Roosevelt's letter:

"To Secretary of the Interior:

"Sir: To prevent the frauds now practiced in the acquisition of public lands in the United States, I have to direct that hereafter no final certificate, patent or other evidence of title shall be issued under the public land laws until an actual examination has been made on the ground by an authorized officer of the government, but the following shall be excepted from the force of this order:

"1. All claims which have heretofore been examined on the ground by an authorized officer of the government, whose report is found satisfactory.

"2. All claims where heretofore an officer of the government other than officers authorized to take final proof shall have been present at the taking of final proof to cross-examine claimants and witnesses, if such proof is found satisfactory.

"3. All classes where claimants' compliance with law has been established by contest or other regular adverse proceedings.

"4. Entries which may have been confirmed by virtue of any act of congress.

$75,000,000 in Field Estate.

Chicago.—The executors of the estate of Marshall Field filed in the probate court their inventory of the estate. In the document, which gives a detailed account of the personal and real property of the estate, the par value of the stocks and bonds are given, but no statement is made showing the present cash value of the securities. For this reason it is practically impossible to make an accurate estimate of the value of the estate from the inventory, but counsel for the executors place the total value of the property described in the inventory at $75,000,000.

Anti-Racing Bill Passed.

Nashville, Tenn.—The senate has passed by a vote of 30 to 1 the anti-racing bill, which makes it a felony for the proprietor of any track where betting is encouraged. The penalty is a fine of not less than $250, nor more than $500, and imprisonment for a period not exceeding three years and not less than one year. Another has also been passed which especially refers to book-makers and individual bettors.

Yaquis Defeated by Mexicans.

Mexico City, Mex.—Reports have reached this city that a fight took place in Sonora county between the Mexican troops and the Yaqui Indians. The Indians were defeated with considerable loss.

Oil Well Explosion.

LaFayette, La.—An explosion in an oil well here caused by a small lamp carried by a driller injured two persons and buried the machinery in 15 feet of sand. The injured are Chief Driller Gross and his wife. The well spouted a shower of stones and sand for more than four hours before it was closed, some of the former landing half a mile from the derrick. The well now illuminates the surrounding country for miles.

Educational Convention.

Winona, Minn.—President Schaeffer, of the National Educational Association, has announced that the western railroads have granted a rate of one fare for the round trip plus the membership fee from Chicago to Los Angeles, where the national convention of the association is to be held July 8-12.

THE BANNER.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

France holds the fourth place on the list of commercial nations of the world. She is outranked only by the United States, the United Kingdom and Germany. Her foreign trade policy is less aggressive than that of England or Germany, yet her commerce shows a fair development.

Strangers in Washington should not make the mistake of thinking that all the men who walk along with their hands behind their backs are members of Congress, is the warning published by the Washington Post.

In a book on sanitary and applied chemistry, which Professor Bailey, of Kansas University, published last autumn, he says: "It is estimated that at least ten per cent. of the income is squandered not only by the well-to-do, but frequently also by those who have a very small income, and so can ill afford it, in expensive food material which affords little nutrition, in unsatisfactory methods of preparation, in selecting foods out of season, by throwing away much valuable food material, and by using badly constructed cooking appliances. Much careful investigation is needed along these lines, and painstaking instructions will ultimately improve these conditions, which are at present so much deplored."

The English custom of giving a name to the farm or estate is being adopted to some extent in this country, not so much from sentiment or Anglomania as for the practical value that a trade-mark adds to products, notes The Circle. To tag produce as from Elmhurst farm or Hazledale dairy is a kind of guarantee of its quality that does not attach to it when it is shipped by John or Richard Roe. The shipper is lost sight of after the goods leave the first consignee, but the name of the farm goes with them through the middlemen to the consumer. It is this element of guarantee that is given by a name that makes the best markets, just as the Government stamp on meats, or the health certificate on milk, or a date stamp on eggs means a higher price. It is also a means of introduction to the consumer that frequently opens the way for direct trade and the elimination of middlemen.

Considerably more shipwrecked sailors are saved by their own boats than by other means, says London Answers. Thus, of 2159 persons saved on the coasts of the United Kingdom in 1903-04, 165 were saved by the rocket apparatus and assistance from the shore, 423 by lifeboats, 143 by coast-guard boats and other craft, 641 by passing ships and 735 by their own boats. The total number of seamen and passengers saved from wrecks of British vessels everywhere and of foreign vessels on or near the coasts of British territory, during the year 1903-04, was 6086, of whom 2159 were saved on the coasts of the United Kingdom, 1782 on the coasts of British possessions abroad, 1343 on the coasts of foreign countries—all from British wrecks, be it remembered—and 802 on the high seas. Of the 3927 persons saved from British wrecks abroad, 2562 were saved by their own boats and 959 by passing ships, while only 28 were saved by lifeboats and 149 by rocket apparatus.

It is an established fact that the United States now holds the record for rapid development of fruit industries, such as the growing of oranges and lemons, peaches and grapes. As a nation we eat more fruit than any other and grow considerably more than we eat. Eighty millions of dollars a year is far within the figures for strawberries alone. A hundred millions would scarcely cover the value of all the grapes marketed. Peaches we raise in astonishing quantities, in orchards containing as many as 300,000 trees, but our banner crop, so far as fruit is concerned, is apples. We have produced as many as 210,000,000 barrels in a single season and have sold as high as 3,000,000 barrels to England alone. We carry in cold storage every winter anywhere from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 barrels of the crop of the season before, in order to secure better prices. Apples is one of the greatest industries the country has ever engaged in and promises to take rank as the chief fruit crop of the world.

THE LOST DIAMOND

By F. Stewart.

Every one was very much interested in the case, as it synchronized with one that was exciting immense interest on the Continent. Mrs. Sylvester had been playing the piano, had found her fingers overloaded with rings, had removed them, and among them the famous Sylvester diamond, that was supposed, at a moderate estimate, to represent something over £10,000. When she wished to replace her rings, this famous gem had been missing. It had happened at their house party in Scotland, and had provided an unpleasant excitement. Every one lived in terrified expectation of finding it gleaming among their tooth powder, as had happened to the unfortunate count abroad. The guests who had been sitting at some distance from the piano congratulated themselves, while those who had been sitting near regretted their unfortunate choice of a locality, and every one pitied poor Tommy Curtis, who had, as usual, been as close to lovely Mary Sylvester as he could manage to be. "Hanging over her—hanging over her—positively touching her," said one old lady to another. "I don't want to insinuate anything, but he is, every one knows, fearfully in debt, and temptation is temptation"—and with this obvious platitude she cast the first stone at Tommy Curtis.

At first hope was prevalent that the ring would be found. Although it was practically impossible that it should have fallen into the piano, it was opened, and a thorough search instituted. Although people were positive that she had worn the ring that evening, her maid was questioned, but she remembered perfectly that her mistress had put it on when dressing for dinner. She remembered unlocking her jewel case and giving it to her. The mystery offered no solution. Three days elapsed and then a rumor began to circulate among the guests that private detectives were in the house and that all were subject to supervision. Old Mrs. Clancy, the lady who had declared that temptation was temptation, went straight to her host and declared that if this was the case, she would immediately leave the house, and that she would take it as a personal favor, before doing so, if he would allow her boxes to be searched. Sylvester demurred. He admitted that detectives were in the house disguised as servants, but he explained that, apart from her character, it was impossible that she should be connected with the robbery, as she had been sitting at the farthest end of the room at the time it occurred.

Sylvester brought out the word "robbery" with a certain hesitation, and regretted it when he saw the tide of angry red that flooded the old lady's face. "I must insist on having my box and my maid's searched," she said, firmly, "before I leave this house." Sylvester had no choice but to acquiesce. Several people, who had lacked the courage to take the initiative, followed her heroic precedent, and the house rapidly emptied. Sylvester was in despair. He was a very rich man, but he worked very hard, and he was accustomed to regard his annual shooting as the most delightful time in the year. Now, everything was marred. No one cared a straw who had made the biggest bag; even the high stakes played at bridge failed to awaken much interest, while before the disappearance of the diamond much excitement had centred round Mary Sylvester's table, who was reported to play a good deal higher than her husband approved, and to be consistently unlucky.

"I wish you'd lower your points a bit, Molly," he said, one evening. "What a curse this diamond business is—but I can't let the matter drop."

Mary Sylvester, who was standing before her mirror, endeavoring to make up her mind as to whether emeralds or pearls best became her, sighed wearily. "I will play lower when I get my money back," she said, slowly, "but I don't want to leave off so much to the bad." She looked at him as she spoke, and he was struck by the haggard misery of her face. "You've aged ten years in the last fortnight," he said, sharply. "How much are you to the bad?"

"Oh, I don't know without looking," she said, quickly.

"But about . . . about . . . approximately," he insisted, irritably.

"Oh, a few hundred or so," she answered, lightly.

"A few hundred or so," he repeated, angrily; "well, you'll have to pay it out of your allowance. I told you last time I'd pay no more of your gambling debts. You understand," he added, as he flung himself out of the room. His wife watched him with fascinated eyes, and drew a long breath of relief when he banged the door behind him. "Men," she reflected, "are wonderfully stupid. Fancy believing that a few hundreds represented about—about—approximately." She laughed outright.

* * * * * * *

A week had passed since the diamond had been stolen, and the party had dwindled down to three people. Unpleasant things were beginning to be whispered about Curtis. It was remembered that he was the only person who had been standing over Mrs. Sylvester while she played, and was consequently nearest to the rings when she placed them on the piano. He was also well known to be in money difficulties. The other two who still remained of the party—a Mr. and Mrs. Archer—had been in the garden at the time, and were comfortably aware that no suspicion could be attached to them, and showed no desire to curtail their visit. Tommy Curtis was a young man who was popularly supposed to live by his wits, and Mrs. Archer, who enjoyed a large and assured income, naturally credited him with the morals commonly associated with the impecunious who enjoy life. "I can't think how he can stay on," she remarked to her husband, "although I am glad in a way, as it would spoil our rubber if he went. Sylvester won't play."

"Hang it all," retorted the husband, "you can't convict a man without evidence."

But Mrs. Archer was a woman who knew better.

Two days later the house was in a ferment of excitement. The diamond had been found under most dramatic circumstances. Tommy Curtis, leaning over the piano listening to Mary Sylvester play, suddenly declared that he heard something rattle inside the instrument. Mrs. Archer, who was standing by the bridge table in the centre of the room, exchanged significant glances with her husband. Had she not prophesied only last night that Curtis would lose his nerve, and find some way of returning the diamond?

"I can hear nothing," answered Mary Sylvester, who had turned very white. She struck a chord and the keys answered perfectly.

"Not so low down in the bass, or so high up in the treble," answered Curtis, who was scarlet with excitement; "just about here." He struck some chords at random in the middle of the keyboard, and a perceptible rattle was heard. "It's the ring," he exclaimed. "Let's look—but how could it have got in?"

This time Mrs. Archer smiled at her husband. A search promptly resulted in the recovery of the diamond. It flashed and sparkled in young Curtis' hand. "Thank Heaven, it's found," he said, impulsively.

"It's a very extraordinary thing," said Sylvester, drily—he had come into the room without being heard—"for the piano was taken to pieces by an expert the day after the ring was lost." His tone was unmistakably dry and unpleasant.

"Well, so long as it is found," said Archer, quickly. He was essentially a kindly man, and he was extremely sorry for young Curtis. Innocent or guilty, he was in an unpleasant position. The young fellow seemed aware of the antagonism expressed in Sylvester's attitude and winced. Yet, unaccused, it was impossible to defend himself.

"I am as perplexed as you are," he said, slowly; "and, personally, I do not think the matter should be allowed to drop here."

"So long as it is found," said Mary Sylvester, faintly. She looked white and scared as she glanced from one man's face to the other's. An uncomfortable silence ensued, broken by Mrs. Archer, who announced that she was going to bed. She was hardly out of the room when she turned on her husband: "Now, perhaps you will admit," she said, with a condemnatory sniff, "that I knew what I was talking about when I said I believed that young Curtis took that diamond? Of course, he was frightened, and put it back."

"Mr. Curtis begs me to make his adieu to you," said Sylvester to his wife about an hour later. "He is leaving by the first train to-morrow, and will breakfast early."

"You have insulted him," said his wife, in a low, strained voice.

"No," answered her husband, drily; "but he is pleased to take exception to my manner."

"I shall make a point of saying goodby to him before he goes," she said, obstinately.

Her husband looked at her, and her eyes dropped before his. "Believe me," he said, with a sombre smile, "you had better do what I tell you, and take better care of your jewelry in the future. That diamond would be a very useful thing on which to raise money if one was ever in a tight place. And who knows?" he sighed.

"Do you really think Mr. Curtis stole the ring?" she asked.

He shrugged his shoulders. "The evidence is purely circumstantial," he said. "What do you think? Swear to me that you think him innocent, and I will hold him so. Otherwise—a momentary yielding to a mad impulse. These things happen; although, to my mind, it is difficult to imagine a man so low a cur as to steal from the woman he professes to—love. Do you think him innocent?" But Mary was silent, and Curtis left in the morning without seeing her.

* * * * * * *

Curtis found himself gradually banned. He was not cut, but he was no longer in request. From being one of the most popular young men in London, he became a person who was asked incidentally by good natured people who did not like to drop him all at once. He began to find life unbearable. It was impossible to clear himself, and he left London. At this time Mrs. Sylvester was at her zenith. She was the prettiest woman in London, and her husband had apparently tired of endeavoring to check any of her desires. They lived as millionaires, and it here and there somebody croaked and wondered how long it would last, the majority helped them spend without care for the morrow.

Speculating was now frequently mentioned in connection with Sylvester's name. He was phenomenally lucky, and men followed his lead and made fortunes. But there came a turn. Rumors were rife that Sylvester couldn't last. He looked as if he was enduring a severe strain. Everyone noticed it except his wife, who was immersed in her gayeties. There were times when he longed for a little sympathy; when he felt that it would be an unutterable relief to share his troubles with her. He often wondered if she was capable of caring for anyone. Yet at one time he had believed that she returned Curtis' passion. Honestly, he had believed that he had been guilty. Possibly the baseness of the theft had killed her love.

A report had reached him that the unfortunate young man had gone utterly to the bad and had blown his brains out at Monte Carlo. As he walked slowly home he wondered if his wife would care—or had she quite forgotten? He walked slowly homeward. Things had come to a crisis, and he could no longer keep the truth from her. She was dressing for a ball when her husband knocked at her door. "Send Lucille away," he said, shortly. "I want to speak to you."

"Well," she said, impatiently, as the door closed behind the maid, "what is it? I am late already."

"Make the most of this ball," he said, laconically. "We are in a tight place. Still, we may pull through yet; but I must lay my hands on a few thousand pounds. That ring is worth a small fortune." He pointed to the diamonds flashing in the famous Sylvester ring. "It's a small sum, considering my liabilities, but it will give me time to look round." He stopped short. His wife had turned livid. "Good luck for us that young scamp didn't levant with it. By the way, I heard to-day that he is dead. Lost his little all at Monte Carlo, and then blew his brains out. My God! Molly, don't look at me like that. I thought you'd forgotten the man." After all she was human. She could feel for another man. The old fury of jealousy surged in his veins.

"Tommy Curtis dead?" she said, slowly. "Did you say that you have to raise the money on—on——"

"The ring," he concluded, briskly. "Yes; but my difficulties are only temporary. But I must have money at once. Let me have it now, and I can negotiate to-night. Everything depends on my having the money first thing to-morrow morning."

"I don't feel up to the ball to-night," she answered. "Can't you raise the money any other way?"

"No," he retorted sharply. "But you shall have it back. . . . I shall get out of this hole, but we shall have to retrench."

"I will go to the ball to-night. It is well when pleasures are coming to an end to enjoy one's self when one can."

Her husband did not answer. He could not think without a pang of regret of the spoiled life. He had never liked Curtis; he had detested all the young exquisites who surrounded his wife wherever she went. But Curtis he had detested more than any, because he was the only man he had ever feared. He looked at his wife, in all the glory of her beauty, and wondered at women. After all, they had been very intimate; he had only been dead two days, and she proposed to dance to-night. Perhaps, after all, she had never cared for him and he had worried himself for nothing.

"Very well," he said. "But let me have the ring. I must negotiate to-night."

"You may as well let me wear it," she returned.

He repressed a movement of impatience. "I must insist on your allowing me to have the ring."

"The very best Parisian paste fetches very little," she answered, with a sneer in her voice. "As surprises are in the air to-day, I may as well tell you that I sold the famous diamond two years ago to pay my bridge debts and to settle one or two other little accounts. Do you remember my asking you for money, and your refusing it? You told me that I must pay my debts out of my allowance. Do you remember?"

Yes—he remembered.

"I had to send the ring away, and I thought you would miss it. So I arranged a little scheme that proved very successful," she went on impassively. "When I had to put my rings down on the piano I managed to secrete the diamond one. Nothing could be easier. No one counted my rings or noticed its absence. I just put my hand up to the lace of my dress where it was draped across the breast, and slipped it in. These low cut bodices are very convenient. I also arranged for its finding. I was sorry about Tommy Curtis, but some one had to go to the wall, and he was the one on whom suspicion naturally fell. If it is imperative I will stay at home to-night, and you can have the rest of my jewelry, but I am afraid you won't find it of much use. You have not been very generous for a rich man."

Her cool, pretty voice stopped. Her husband stared at her half dazed, and staggered out of the room.

Mrs. Sylvester went to the ball, and was very much admired. Her husband sat at home and envied poor, foolish Tommy Curtis, lying in the suicide's cemetery at Monte Carlo, with a little black cross to mark his grave and a bullet through his brain. —The Bystander.

STATE NEWS OF ALABAMA BY TELEGRAPH.

Correspondence From All Sections of the State.

A WHOLE WEEK'S EVENTS.

Rural Routes Established.

Washington.—Rural route No. 1 ordered established April 1 at Woodstock, Bibb county, serving 260 people and 57 families. Rural carriers appointed: Haleyville, route No. 2, Easley Owens carrier, G. B. Tedder substitute; Pittsview, route 1, George W. Lewis carrier, Richard D. Gordon substitute; Theda, route 1, Joseph D. Hudson carrier, Raymond E. Thogard substitute.

Claims to Be 127 Years Old.

Huntsville.—Wesley Townsend, an old negro who has just moved to this city from Meridianville, claims to be 127 years old. He is extremely old, but he has no records to show his exact age. He remembers, or professes to remember, events that occurred a short time after the revolutionary war. He was brought to Alabama by his master when this country was a trackless wilderness. The old man has been married three times, and claims fifty children and twice as many grandchildren, many of whom have died of old age.

Killed Near Florence.

Florence.—Henry Saunders, a white man, while clearing up some land in the eastern part of the county, was killed by a tree falling on him and breaking his back. Saunders came to this county from Tennessee, and was here temporarily. He had chopped the tree partly through, and was fastening a rope attached to the tree to another to pull it over when it fell. The accident was not discovered for several hours, and when the tree was removed from him he was dead.

Police Are Commissioned.

Huntsville.—Sheriff William Mitchell has commissioned every member of the Huntsville police force as deputy sheriffs, with full power. This is an old custom in this county, but during the last dozen years the sheriffs have not observed it.

Strawberries Damaged.

Florence.—Already much damage has been done the strawberry crop in this section. The present freeze caught the plants in full bloom, and many small berries had formed. This is not only true of the earlier varieties, but of the Lady Thompson and Candies, which are the varieties most largely used by the growers here. The buds on many trees have swelled, but the fruit has not been injured, though this would not have been the case had the freeze been delayed a few days.

To Lay Pipe Lines.

Huntsville.—W. J. Bennett & Co., of this city, have taken the contract to dig trenches for the New York-Alabama Oil Company for the pipe to be used in conveying gas from its wells in West Huntsville to this city. Work has already begun, and pipe laying will soon begin.

Has No Opposition.

Florence.—The municipal election is near at hand, and it is about settled that the present mayor, Hon. H. W. Blair, will have no opposition in his race for re-election. He is entitled to it, according to democratic precedent. Dr. Blair has made an excellent official, and has been ever watchful of the interests of the city. During his administration the revenues of the city have been improved and the sanitary department has been self-sustaining. He has demonstrated that he is well equipped for the office.

Anniston Settles Ivey Suit.

Anniston.—The suit of Rev. W. R. Ivey, administrator of the estate of the late Franklin L. Ivey, for $30,000 against the city, claimed for the death of F. L. Ivey last year, has been compromised for the amount of $1,500 and costs, aggregating $1,638.33.

The death of Mr. Ivey resulted from a fall from the furniture wagon of the Trigg Furniture Company, where the deceased was employed. The wheels of the wagon ran into a ditch which had been dug by the city for laying a line of sewerage.

Aid for Girls' School.

Montgomery.—The board of trustees of the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo have had a long session with the Governor, seeking to interest him in the needs of the school. They had asked that the legislature give them $50,000 for four years for new buildings and construction work, and an additional $11,000 for maintenance. The appropriation for maintenance is now $25,000, which would put it up to $36,000.

Automobile Wrecked.

Ormond Beach, Fla.—Fred A. Merriott, while attempting to break the world's record with his automobile, struck a slight ridge of hardened sand, causing the front wheels to jump from the ground, thus rendering the steering gear useless. The car made a fearful leap through space, landing on its side and rolling over and over with Merriott pinned under it. The car was wrecked, but Merriott escaped with only a few bruises.

STANDARD OIL SHOWN UP.

Its Policy Was to Ruin Competition, Secret Rates.

Washington, D. C.—The interstate commerce commission has sent to congress a report of the investigations made by it under the Tillman-Gillespie resolution approved March 7 last concerning the relations of common carriers by rail to the production and distribution of oil. The report covers the distribution of petroleum and its products east of the Mississippi river, and incidentally the Kansas and Texas fields. The report points out generally the methods by which the Standard Oil Company has built up and perpetuated its monopoly and the relations of transportation agencies to that monopoly.

It is asserted that "the ruin of its competitors has been a distinct part of the policy of the Standard Oil Company in the past, systematically and persistently pursued."

Considerable of the ground covered has been gone into fully in the report on oil and its distribution, made public by the bureau of corporations.

MARRY EACH OTHER FIVE TIMES.

Started in Double Harness 20 Years Ago—Divorced Four Times.

Lander, Wyo.—Robert J. Burkett and Hannah M. Burkett, who are to live on a ranch north of here, have just been married for the fifth time, having been divorced four times since they first became husband wife, twenty odd years ago.

Within six months after their first marriage, in Montana, Mrs. Burkett applied for and obtained a divorce from her husband on the ground of cruelty. Within a year they remarried, quarreled soon after the second marriage, and Mrs. Burkett left her husband, who obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion. The next divorce was obtained by the wife on the ground of desertion and non-support. The couple have lived in a number of westeren states since their first marriage, and no two divorces were obtained in the same state.

To Bridge the Coosa.

Washington.—The house has passed a bill authorizing the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad to bridge the Coosa river near Talladega in building its extension to Birmingham. The bill was introduced by Representative Livingston of Georgia.

In the McCurdy Case.

New York.—Arguments were heard and decision reserved by the appellate division of the supreme court in the cases of the Mutual Life Insurance Company against Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the company, to recover $3,370,000 alleged to have been wrongfully expended in a great variety of ways. There are three suits against McCurdy.

Farm Labor Scarce.

Harlselle.—There never has been a time in the history of this country when farm labor was so scarce as now and it is beginning to cause some uneasiness among planters. Wages as high as $30 per month for farm help are being offered by some planters.

Cannery for Hartselle.

Hartselle.—There is strong talk of a cannery being organized here soon. Local capital will be behind the venture. The Elberta peach orchards here will supply fruit enough for a good-sized cannery, and this, supplemented by other small fruit grown here, will keep one running full blast.

The Star, Chattanooga's New Daily.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The Chattanooga Star went to press at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon with 48 pages, and was delivered to an anxiously waiting public.

Bulletin boards have been established in various places over the city posting the Hearst service.

Nine Men Blown to Pieces.

Roanoke, Va.—A Richmond special to the Times says nine men, all foreigners, were blown to pieces by a dynamite explosion on the Tidewater railroad near Pearsburg, Va. The laborers were at dinner, and a quantity of the explosive, which was being thawed in front of the fire, blew up.

Powder Shipped to Panama.

San Francisco.—Another shipment of powder and cartridges was sent to Guatemala on the Pacific mail steamer City of Para for Panama and intermediate points. It consisted of 27 cases, half of which is consigned to Champeco and the balance for San Jose de Guatemala.

Department Store Burns.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—The department store of P. G. Carpenter & Co., situated in the heart of the business section of the city, has been practically destroyed by fire. Several adjoining stores were considerably damaged. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Contract Awarded.

Richmond, Va.—The contract for the construction of the New York state building at the Jamestown Exposition, which is to cost $31,500, has been awarded. The building will be modeled after the congressional library at Washington and will be located immediately on the water front, overlooking Hampton Roads.

Show cases are now made on the sectional book case plan.

EXPLOSION KILLS OVER TWO HUNDRED.

The Scenes at Pit Mouth Most Distressing.

FIRE CUTS OFF RESCUE.

Six Hundred Working in Mine Owned by Prussian Government When Fire Damp Blows Up, Followed by Flames in Shaft.

Saarbrueck, Rhenish Prussia.—A fire damp explosion occurred in the Bildstock shaft of the Reden mine at St. Johann-on-Saar, opposite this town. The bodies of 144 miners have been taken out of the mine, seventeen men dangerously injured have been rescued and more than a hundred miners are missing. There were about 600 men working in the shaft when the explosion occurred, but half of them were not in the galleries which were wrecked.

The rescue corps is working desperately in efforts to reach the entombed men, and it is hoped that some of them will be found alive. The scenes at the pit mouth, where the families of the miners gathered, were most distressing. The Roden mine is owned by the Prussian government.

NO CAUCUS ON TARIFF QUESTION

Revisionists in the House Fail to Secure Fifty Names to Petition—Sure High Tariff Men Would Control.

Washington, D. C.—The tariff revisionists in the house have been unable to get fifty names to a petition for a caucus on the tariff question, and the matter will be dropped. Hard work on the part of the insurgents has failed to get more than twenty-five names. Wisconsin came to the front most prominently, seven of the ten members being willing to put their names down on the call.

Tariff revision members in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana have refused to come to the front and sign the call. They take the view that while the tariff should be revised, a caucus would do no good. They are convinced the high tariff men would control it, and that it would be a useless waste of time and a useless agitation of the subject to try to force an extra session now.

Score of Firemen Caught.

Buffalo, N. Y.—An eight-story building at 105-7 Seneca street and extending through the block to Carroll street was destroyed by fire. A score of firemen were caught under a falling wall while fighting the fire. Three are still buried in the ruins and there is no hope of rescuing them alive. Twelve others were injured, six seriously.

Steamship Agent Shoots Himself.

Galveston, Tex.—Sigmund Weinstein aged 42 years, cashier of the local agency of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, shot and killed himself in the reading room of the Elks' Club, of which he was a member. No cause is known.

Soon to Decide.

Washington, D. C.—The ways and means committee has ordered the printing of testimony taken in the sub-treasury site. It will be in the hands of the committee at the next meeting, and on this score the matter can no longer be held up.

Brands Children.

New York.—Two little tots, Nellie, aged 7 years, and Jennie, two years younger, told Magistrate House in the Harlem police court how their stepmother, Mrs. Kate Cravins, had branded them with a red hot stove lifter when in play they had made too much noise.

Crushed to Death.

Birmingham, Ala.—Nine huge girders used to support the Twenty-second street bridge fell and pinned W. T. Jolley and N. B. Lightsey, car repairers of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, to the ground, inflicting injuries from which both afterwards died.

Fifty Chinese Craft Sink.

Hong Kong.—A terrific rain squall broke over Hong Kong, and in the space of ten minutes sank over fifty Chinese craft in the harbor, more than a hundred natives being drowned. There were no casualties among the white population. Launches from the shore rescued many occupants of the swamped boats.

Levees Reported Safe.

Natchez, Miss.—Reports received from levees in this vicinity continue favorable. At Minorca, La., where the levee is under construction and for which some apprehension was felt, a loop is being built around the uncompleted work, and it is believed to be ample to restrain the water.

Commits Suicide.

Knoxville, Tenn.—A special to the Sentinel from Bull's Gap, near here, says George Tegg, aged 45 years, committed suicide in a shocking manner by striking himself many times in the head with the sharp edge of an axe. His skull was crushed. He also pulled out his tongue and severed it entirely. He is believed to have been temporarily demented. Physicians say his injuries are fatal.

12 KILLED AND 100 NARROWLY ESCAPED.

Mine Caves in After Fire Damp Explosion.

FIGHT TO BOARD ELEVATORS.

Entombed Miners Run Back Into the Drift, Where the Flow of Gas Envelops Them and They Cry Piteously for Help.

Weston, W. Va.—Five Americans and seven Italians are known to be dead as the result of an explosion of fire damp in the Pennsylvania Company mine at Lorenz, W. Va. Immediately following the explosion the mine caved in and nearly caused the entombment of all the miners, estimated at 100. The bodies of twelve dead men have been recovered, but it is not known at this time whether any others met death.

The bodies of seven Italians have been recovered, but as they are known only by numbers, their identification is not possible until later.

The explosion occurred just as the day force was leaving the mine. Only a few of the men had reached the surface when with a terrific report the fire damp exploded. The mine elevator had just started for the top, carrying about twenty men, and almost eighty men are still at the bottom of the shaft. Immediately there was a panic among the men still in the mine.

There was but one direction in which they could run, and this was back into the drift. From this direction, however, a strong flow of gas was slowly enveloping them. Almost suffocated, they huddled closely together and cried piteously up the shaft for assistance. Several rescuers took possession of the elevator and ran it down into the shaft. There were accommodations for about twenty men at the time, however, and the foreign miners, who were crazed from fright, fought like demons to board the car, greatly retarding the work of rescue. The car was finally loaded and run to the top.

With great precision and quickness the elevator continued to make trips until all the men at the bottom of the shaft were brought to the surface. On the last two trips a majority of the miners were unconscious, and had to be carried from the car.

The five Americans and seven Italians who were killed were found about 100 feet back of the mine. Apparently they had been overcome with gas.

Bid Rejected.

Washington, D. C.—As the result of an extended conference at the White House it was decided to reject the bid of Oliver and Banga, who propose to complete the construction of the Panama canal for 6.75 per cent of the total estimated cost, insofar as Anson M. Banga, of New York is concerned. While no official statement was given out, it can be authoritatively stated that if William J. Oliver, of Knoxville can enter into a satisfactory arrangement with some contractor who is financially responsible he will be given the big contract.

Bill to Abolish Canal Commission.

Washington, D. C.—Following out the president's recommendation that the isthmian canal commission should be reduced to three members, or, better still, one member, the senate canal commission expects to have ready for consideration on Tuesday next a bill abolishing the commission entirely.

In the same measure provision will be made for the president to appoint one man, presumably the chief engineer, in charge of the construction to exercise full control and name his subordinates.

All canal employes, however, are to continue under the war department.

Senators Hopkins and Knox are drafting the bill.

Seven Jurors Secured.

New York.—Up to noon Friday seven jurors had been secured for the trial of Harry Thaw, who killed Stanford White. The court took a recess Saturday.

Another Message.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has sent to congress a message favoring a model insurance law in the District of Columbia.

$300,000 Lumber Fire.

Washington, D. C.—Fire in the lumber yards of Johnson Wyamsatt caused damage to the amount of $200,000. The fire spread over three-quarters of a block. There were several thousand spectators.

Northern Mississippi Judiciary.

Washington.—The house by unanimous consent passed a bill creating another judicial division of the northern district of Mississippi.

L. & N. Files Injunction.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Louisville & Nashville railroad has filed a bill in the chancery court against the Southern railway seeking to enjoin the Southern from entering into an agreement with the Alabama Great Southern and the Mobile and Ohio whereby these two lines could use the tracks of the Brierton, Blocton and Birmingham Railroad Company to enter Birmingham.

SPECIAL despatch.

On Car Shortage Question Will be Sent to Congress.

Washington.—The car shortage question was considered at the White House during a conference, which was participated in by President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Secretary Taft, Postmaster-General Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Bacon and Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The president has announced his intention of sending to congress a special message urging remedial legislation to meet such emergencies as now exist regarding the car shortage. The Interstate Commerce Commission has submitted certain principles which the members think should form the basis of any legislation to be recommended on the subject to congress, and if these meet the views of the president, they will be submitted to that body. The president's decision is one of the results of the recent Chicago reciprocal demurrage convention, and of the very general complaint which has been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission of a shortage in the car-carrying equipment of the country.

IN SECRET SESSION.

Texas Legislative Committee Considers Features of Bailey Case.

Austin, Tex.—The legislative investigating committee, which is considering the charges against United States Senator Bailey, has been in session considering features of the investigation not considered wholly for public review.

After the committee came out of the executive session it reported that they desired to ascertain whether they could grant to H. C. Pierce, the Waters-Pierce oil magnate, special dispensation with a view of relieving him of the Travis county grand jury indictment, in order that he might appear before the committee. It was finally decided that this was not proper, and the committee proceeded to the examination of witnesses.

HAGUE CONFERENCE IN JUNE.

Generally Understood that Peace Delegates Will Meet About That Time.

Washington.—It is understood that while Professor Martens in the course of his talk Thursday with Ambassador Tower, in Berlin, regarding the reassembling of The Hague congress, did not in behalf of the Russian government name any special date for the meeting, it did develop as a result of the conversation that the month of June would be probably agreeable to most of the powers that expect to participate in the congress.

Two Men Shot in Row Over Hazing.

Atlanta, Ga.—Two men are dying and two boys are seriously wounded from a pistol fight which grew out of a hazing affair at the Georgia Normal school. The shooting occurred on the campus.

Lamar Carswell was hazed by students and badly used up. His father, E. L. Carswell, and uncle, W. B. Carswell, with their sons, went to the college campus to redress the wrongs of Lamar. The students drew revolvers and opened fire at the approach of the Carswell family.

The father and uncle fell fatally wounded. Lamar Carswell was injured, and Fletcher McLeod, a student, was shot in the stomach.

Immigrants to Ports of Georgia.

Augusta, Ga.—The Georgia Immigration Association has announced that arrangements are being made with the representatives of two steamship lines to bring to this country within the next three weeks several hundred Scottish and Swedish immigrants to relieve the urgent demand for help. The immigrants are to be landed at the port of Savannah.

Long Wireless System.

Paris.—The recently established wireless telegraph service from the Eiffel tower, in Paris, to Bizerta, Tunis, is working successfully. Messages have been exchanged between the two points for the last few days.

Japs Deported.

San Antonio, Tex.—Telegraphic advices to immigration authorities here were to the effect that forty Japanese contract laborers had been deported at Laredo. Evidence in the cases will likely be received here within a few days.

Little Hope for Governor Higgins.

Olean, N. Y.—Former Governor Higgins has been fairly comfortable, but while the general condition of the patient is more favorable, there is apparently but slight hope for his ultimate recovery.

223 Cases of Scarlet Fever.

Chicago, Ill.—There are at present in the city 223 cases of scarlet fever. There are also 55 cases of diphtheria and 247 miscellaneous cases.

Blizzard in Texas.

Houston, Tex.—Texas was Friday night in the midst of a severe blizzard, and reports coming from different sections of the state indicate that the losses suffered by stockmen and fruit-growers will be large.

President Approves Artillery Drill.

Washington.—The president has approved the act to reorganize and increase the efficiency of the artillery.

THE LAND PATENTS RECEIVE ATTENTION.

No Patents Shall be Issued Except Those Authorized.

WRITES TO HITCHCOCK.

Actual Examination of Public Lands Must be Made by Government Officers Before Final Certificate Shall be Issued.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has determined to put an end if possible to frauds in the acquisition of public lands by individuals and corporations. He has directed that hereafter no patent shall be issued to public lands until an examination of the ground shall have been made by an authorized officer of the government.

The president's order is in the form of a letter to Secretary Hitchcock, and under its provisions orders are being sent out by the officials of the general land office.

Following is the text of President Roosevelt's letter:

"To Secretary of the Interior:

"Sir: To prevent the frauds now practiced in the acquisition of public lands in the United States, I have to direct that hereafter no final certificate, patent or other evidence of title shall be issued under the public land laws until an actual examination has been made on the ground by an authorized officer of the government, but the following shall be excepted from the force of this order:

"1. All claims which have heretofore been examined on the ground by an authorized officer of the government, whose report is found satisfactory.

"2. All claims where heretofore an officer of the government other than officers authorized to take final proof shall have been present at the taking of final proof to cross-examine claimants and witnesses, if such proof is found satisfactory.

"3. All classes where claimants' compliance with law has been established by contest or other regular adverse proceedings.

"4. Entries which may have been confirmed by virtue of any act of congress.

"5. Selection and entries in which no residence or improvement is required by law when the lands embraced therein are, strictly speaking, in agricultural districts, or when character has been fixed by investigation and classification made in accordance with law.

Cases of reissuance of patents because of some clerical error occurring in the patent heretofore issued.

"7. All Indian allotments which have been regularly approved in accordance with instructions of the Secretary of the Interior.

"You will issue all necessary instructions to carry this order into effect.

"This order is in lieu of my order of December 13, 1906.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

$75,000,000 in Field Estate.

Chicago.—The executors of the estate of Marshall Field filed in the probate court their inventory of the estate. In the document, which gives a detailed account of the personal and real property of the estate, the par value of the stocks and bonds are given, but no statement is made showing the present cash value of the securities. For this reason it is practically impossible to make an accurate estimate of the value of the estate from the inventory, but counsel for the executors place the total value of the property described in the inventory at $75,000,000.

Anti-Racing Bill Passed.

Nashville, Tenn.—The senate has passed by a vote of 30 to 1 the anti-racing bill, which makes it a felony for the proprietor of any track where betting is encouraged. The penalty is a fine of not less than $250, nor more than $500, and imprisonment for a period not exceeding three years and not less than one year. Another has also been passed which especially refers to book-makers and individual bettors.

Yaquis Defeated by Mexicans.

Mexico City, Mex.—Reports have reached this city that a fight took place in Sonora county between the Mexican troops and the Yaqui Indians. The Indians were defeated with considerable loss.

Oil Well Explosion.

LaFayette, La.—An explosion in an oil well here caused by a small lamp carried by a driller injured two persons and buried the machinery in 15 feet of sand. The injured are Chief Driller Gross and his wife. The well spouted a shower of stones and sand for more than four hours before it was closed, some of the former landing half a mile from the derrick. The well now illuminates the surrounding country for miles.

Educational Convention.

Winona, Minn.—President Schaeffer, of the National Educational Association, has announced that the western railroads have granted a rate of one fare for the round trip plus the membership fee from Chicago to Los Angeles, where the national convention of the association is to be held July 8-12.

THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

Norfolk, Va., on the southern shores of historic Hampton Roads, eight miles from the city of Norfolk, the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition is rapidly nearing completion. Every department of the work is being carried on with marvelous speed, and what was only a year ago, an attractively laid out park, has become an Exposition beautiful, with immense exhibit palaces. State and Government buildings, all under roof, and for the most part of permanent construction. The Auditorium and Convention Hall, one of the principle buildings of the Exposition, is entirely complete and is being used temporarily for the offices of the Governor of Works, of the Exposition, and his able corps of assistants, who are carrying on the work with such credit.

The Srate's exhibit palace, the largest and most imposing structure on the grounds, containing more than 350,000 square feet of exhibit space, is also complete, and will be turned over by the contractors in few days to the Exposition company at which time the installation of the various exhibits of the resources of the different States will begin.

The Commercial pier of the Exposition, extending out into Hampton Roads for the distance of some 2,000 feet was finished several weeks ago and is now being used to bring in the construction material for the many buildings now in the course of erection. The various State buildings, grouped along the water front of the Exposition, are going up with remarkable rapidity those of Rhode Island, New Jersey and Connecticut, being ready for occupancy and those of Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts and Ohio almost as far advanced. The many attractions of the War Path that will correspond with the "Pike" or "Midway" of former Expositions, presents a lively picture of activity.

Push and progress are everywhere in evidence and the work on the grounds and general landscape design, under the careful supervision of the architects in charge, together with the advanced state of construction of the buildings, gives every assurance that the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition will be completed in every detail, for the opening date, April 26th, 1907.

Providence.

Dear Editor—As we haven't seen anything from this place in some time we will write a few lines. The health of this community is very good except bad colds.

We are glad to see the sun shining so pretty, it makes the farmers feel glad,

The Sunday school at this place is progressing fine under the care of Mr A E Glass, and also the literary school taught by Prof J H Anderson, he has a large school and he takes great interest in trying to learn his students, he is a good teacher and we all love him.

Mr J E Bledsoe and daughter, Miss Pearl spent Saturday night at Jemison with Mr Link Durbin's family

Misses Alice and Lula Lowery spent Saturday in Jemison

The apron party at Mr W E Skippers was attended by a large crowd and enjoyed by all; Mr Abb Martin won the prize on being the best to hem the aprons

Miss Esta Shaw is visiting her sister, Mrs Annis Cobb who is very sick, we hope she will soon recover

The tacky party given by Miss Lula Lowry, was enjoyed by all, Mr Cleve Watson won the prize by being the tackiest

The prayermeeting at the Mount Moriah church is getting along fine, we hope it will continue so, and also the Sunday school

Mr Cleve Sims spent Saturday night and Sunday with his sister, Mrs Cora Broadhead

Mr W H Shaw and wife spent Friday in Jemison Mr and Mrs J H Anderson spent Saturday in Jemison

Little Miss Geneva Cobb is visiting her uncle Mr J E Cobb

Mr Clabe Sims of Anniston, spent Sunday with his parents Mr and Mrs W A Sims

The Jemison music band visited Mr W H Shaw's family Saturday night; the music was fine

The mumps is raging in this community Mr W A Sims and wife spent Friday in Jemison

Mr Oscar Lowrey and wife of Montgomery, spent Sunday with his wifes parents

Mr Jas E Cobb of Montgomery, visited his family last week As everything is very dull we will cut our letter short TWO FRIENDS.

Bliss Schoolhouse.

Editor Banner—Please allow me a small space for a few words in your most valuable paper.

Messrs J. C. and Osie Penton were welcome visitors here Sunday.

Misses Alma and Mary Davis and Mariam Aldridge were welcome visitors to the family of L. N. Henderson Sunday afternoon.

The singing at L. N. Henderson' Saturday night was enjoyed by all that attended.

Miss Clara Keel visited Miss Annie Belle Yeargan Sunday.

Fornia Huett's and John Yeargan's smiling faces were also seen in this community Sunday.

Master Eugene Aldridge visited the family of S. E. Davis Friday.

Misses Cora and Mamie Silas spent Sunday with Misses Fannie and Lena Yeargan.

Messrs L. N. Henderson and Willis Bishop attended the singing at Bethsalem Sunday and report a nice time.

Emmett Davis visited Emile Aldridge Saturday and Sunday.

The Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely, Rev. R. F. Yeargan superintendent.

It is certainly strange that Prof. H. N. F. Mims says or knows that he has an enrolment of forty pupils when he had no roll book to show one of the County Board of Education. I would like to know how he knows how many scholars he has, without he counts them every day.

Our literary school is progressing nicely under the managemant of Miss Mariam Aldridge, she has an enrolment of forty nine pupils, besides this school is not ashamed to show all or any one of the Board its enrolment.

For fear of the waste basket we will close with best wishes to our much loved teacher and dear old Banner.

THE ORIGINAL

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Upchurch Drug co.

Union Point.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. Our literary school is progressing nicely under the management of Prof. W. Z. Dennis. There are not very many coming to school now but I hope to see a large school in the summer. Men, you who are not sending your children to school now, are missing the best school you ever had the opportunity of. The teacher is as good as any teacher we have ever had.

Rev W S Cox filled his regular appointment last second Sunday

We are sorry to hear of Mr J S Dennis moving away, he sure will be missed in our Sunday school

AN AGED PHYSICIAN

After Years of Experience Gives the Following Advice

"If you have anything to do with medicines at all be pretty sure you know what you are taking."

Our local druggist, the Upchurch Drug co., says this is a strong point in favor of their valuable cod liver preparation, Vinol. Everything it contains is plainly printed on the label, therefore it is not a patent medicine.

Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated and tonic iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood, added.

This is the reason that Vinol accomplishes such wonderful results in curing chronic cough, colds, bronchial and lung troubles, and there is nothing known to medicine that will so quickly build up the run down, overworked, tired and debilitated, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinol.

We can only ask every person in Clanton who needs such a medicine to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails. Upchurch Drug co.

Editor Banner—Please allow me space in your valuable paper, as it is my first time to correspond with the Banner. I am glad to say that the health of this community is very good at present.

We have a nice school here taught by Prof. George, with two assistant teachers and 75 pupils enrolled.

Glad to say that the Sunday school is very good, and preaching at the Baptist church every other Sunday, and have a nice singing at the Baptist church every Sunday evening, also prayermeeting every Wednesday night. We enjoyed a nice singing at the home of Mr. G. W. Tidwell's Saturday night last, which was enjoyed by all of the young folks. AN UGLY GIRL

State Sunday School Convention.

The twenty-fourth annual Convention of the Alabama Sunday School Association will be held in the city of Birmingham, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 9, 10, 11 next. The basis of representation is as follows: All officers of the State Association, five delegates at large from each county, all ministers of the gospel, the superintendent and two other delegates from each Sunday school.

The railroads have granted a rate of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip to delegates attending the Convention. The delegates will be entertained by the Sunday school workers of Birmingham.

For further information about the State Convention write to Joseph Carthel, General Secretary, Montgomery, Alabama, or to S. D. Monroe, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, 2021 1/2, first ave., Birmingham.

Pilgrims Rest.

The general health of the community is very good at present

Some of the farmers are busy preparing for another crop, I think they will have to go into winter quarters. Quite a number of boys from here attended the singing convention at Bethsalem Sunday, which we are glad to say was enjoyed by all. The skilful management of the literary school at this place is resulting into much interest for the young people of our community, Prof J O Williams is doing much for the school, among the many good things he has acquired is a school library which we appreciate very much BOYABUS

Stumps Hill.

Editor Banner—Please allow us a small space in your valuable paper for the few happenings for Stumps Hill and vicinity, while I do not know anything of interest, we do not want to be left entirely out. I am glad that I am not a fat hog, as hog killing for the past week has been all the go.

Miss Eliza Arledge spent the day with Mrs. Alston Thursday; there is a very handsome young man boarding there.

Uncle Tom is still at large.

Clear Creek Lumber Co., has started to mining ore on a small scale on the Bird Jone's property. We hope it will be a success.

Mr. Ol. Mullins has moved out of our midst which is very much regretted, he and his family will be missed in our Sunday school at Mount Zion.

We have failed to hear of Mr. Joe Burnett for the past week, I guess he is a thing of the past.

The public road has been changed by the people, leaving the old road one quarter of a mile north of Mount Zion church, and running through Mrs. Willis's field. This community would be very glad if the county would establish the road at this point; by so doing and bridging the creek once near Maddox's mill, the people could get out of here at any season of the year, but as it is they can not on account of water. I notice in last week issue of the Banner, that there is trying to be some changes made in the road law, which we would be glad to see any change to have better roads. I am afraid that putting a little pine straw and mud in a few holes will not improve the roads much. Hands warned to work a road does not work much, do not have any tools fit to work with and as a rule, put in the time telling yarns. The writers idea is to tax every man subject to road duty from two to four dollars per year, and then tax every tax payer same amount for road tax, hire the road worked and drained as far as the money goes, let the rest of the road alone until we get more money, by so doing, sometime we would have good roads The writer is a road hand and pays taxes.

Capable Stenographers Are Scarce

The right sort of stenographers are very much in demand in Birmingham and the district. By the right sort we mean those who are wide awake and thoroughly competent to fill the various positions in a satisfactory manner. Bankers, Business and Professional men are always on the lookout for office assistants who are anxious to forge ahead and make themselves of real help to their employers.

We Guarantee Positions

Our graduates are very often shown a marked preference in Birmingham by the Banks and Business firms. We teach our students the practical side of business in a practical way. When we announce a student a graduate he or she is wholly capable of filling any position satisfactorily. Let us teach you.

Sunday School Meetings.

During the first week in February, a series of meetings in the interest of Sunday school work in Chilton county will be conducted by Rev. J. A. Jenkins, a field worker of the State Association. Afternoon and night services are announced as follows:

Verbena, Feb. 1.
Cooper, Feb. 2.
Clanton, Feb. 3.
Thorsby, Feb. 4.
Jemison, Feb. 5.
Ocampo, Feb. 6.

All remember with pleasure Mr. Jenkins' good work at the County Convention at Clanton last summer and feel assured that his enthusiasm, faithfulness and his wide experience in Sunday school work will give these meetings the strengthening quality of helpful, beneficial interest.

It is earnestly hoped that many will avail themselves of these opportunities so that large congregations will be an evidence of appreciation of the State Association's help in county work.

Home and Education.

Education is a topic upon which we see essays very often, and some very strong arguments have from time to time been produced showing that it is the broadest subject upon which our minds could dwell. As to its depth and sublimeness I do not pretend to judge. Suffice it to say that education is, indeed, a grand topic within itself, but in my judgment coupling the home and education together we have the very building of some of the grandest characters that the world ever knew. A true education begins at home and without proper training at home it is not an easy matter to educate a child. I have found, in my experience as a teacher that a child who is controlled at home rarely ever gives a teacher any serious trouble. I say that book knowledge without home training is not only useless but in many cases detrimental to humanity. With proper training at home and in school we can produce true manly men and women, but without this training we produce shi keenery and scheming of one against the other.

Our people have gotten so prejudiced against one another that even the children will think to embarass one another by guying the church denomination to which their parents belong. Let us lay aside prejudice and jealously and petit contention and all agree in this one great cause, let us consolidate for in union we will stand and in a few years hoist the mighty banner of enlightenment and follow it to the developement of the talents of our young and the interests of the grand old State of Alabama

BANK BURGLARY IS NO LONGER A PROFITABLE PROFESSION

From an Editorial in the New York Sun.....

That bank burglary is no longer a profitable profession statistics amply prove. The old aristocrats of the under world have left no successors. The opportunity for development is wanting. Chrome steel, electric alarms, brilliant illumination, have ruined what was once an alluring calling to the criminal. The yeggmen are vulgar, brutal, unskilled; there is no art or mystery in their work, nothing that any muscular and daring rascal cannot duplicate. Forgery, too, is not what it was a third of a century ago. Paper, ink, check stamps, the telephone, the telegraph —these have made the utterance of forged notes, bonds and scrip for large amounts a task practically hopeless.

Now William A. Pinkerton has told the International Association of Chiefs of Police that the sneak thief's field of operations and rewards have been so reduced within the last ten years that the professional worker in this line is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. A few survive, caged in prisons, as the surviving buffaloes are caged in zoological parks and game preserves. Police and private detectives, wide distribution of the pictures of criminals, heavy sentences, wire screens, cages and spring locks in banks and jewel shops are responsible for the conditions that exist to-day. In ten years not more than five sneak robberies from banks by professional criminals have been successful. Mr. Pinkerton describes the methods of these gentry thus:

"An expert professional bank sneak thief and his associates, after locating a bank, store or office where they consider good returns will be obtained for the chances taken, study the habits of all employes to determine when the greatest number are absent, which generally happens at the noon hour, decide how many confederates will be necessary to engage the attention of the remaining employes while the sneak thief enters a vault, a teller's cage or goes to a safe and commits the robbery. Confederates are usually of good appearance, understand business methods, can discuss loans, mortgages, sale of securities, etc., long enough to allow the sneak to operate without discovery. A sneak thief, wearing rubber-soled shoes, will frequently pass within a few feet of the official or clerk in charge, enter a vault or teller's cage or rob a safe or money-drawer without creating the slightest noise. A ruse to make the way clear for the sneak is for a confederate to drive in a carriage to the bank or store to be robbed, as a pretext exhibiting a crutch or accompanied by a female requesting some passerby to ask the cashier or some other official to step out to the carriage, which usually occurs when few of the employes are in the place.

"Another device is to hold a large blue print of some property on which it is pretended a loan is desirable, or a bundle of maps offered for sale, in such position that the view of the official being interviewed is obstructed, thereby covering the sneak and giving him opportunity to operate.

"Another more recent artifice is the telephone, the confederate of the sneak at an appointed minute calls up the bank and requests that the paying teller be sent to the 'phone, and there detains him in conversation while the sneak thief operates, confederates, as may be necessary, engaging the attention of other employes."

Joe Killoran, one of the guests of Sheriff Tamsen who escaped from the Ludlow Street Jail on July 4, 1895, used to sit in a carriage and lure the bank cashier out by showing him a crutch, while his confederate robbed the till. After his flight from this country to Europe when "der chati" was "owid," his leg was injured and amputation was necessary, so that he was obliged to use a crutch in retributive reality.

Years ago the hat trick was a favorite among sneak thieves. Two prosperous-looking men, one wearing a tall hat, would enter a grocer shop and tell the proprietor they had made a bet as to how much molasses the hat would hold. They would ask him to fill it with the fluid, and if he complied they would clap the hat half full of molasses on the head of the unsuspecting tradesman and rifle his shop at ease. An old trick, it has not been worked for a long time, but as such things travel in cycles its reappearance may be looked for.

William Stetson, one of the tribe of "Bill the Brute," was a not unattractive man in looks, who made it a rule to steal the price of his breakfast before he ate it. In a gang of sneak thieves at least one was most respectable, even prepossessing, in appearance. He posed as a banker, a merchant or an investor, to distract attention while his partners stole. Sneak thieves seldom used firearms, depending on a quick eye, manual dexterity, unflinching courage and their presence of mind to carry their plans through. The occupation is toilsome and difficult; were it not criminal it would be unattractive. In spite of large sums stolen, the thieves lived in poverty. Mr. Pinkerton says:

"Like all criminal occupations, sneak robbery does not pay. I do not know of one of these professional sneak thieves who is to-day prosperous, and if we were to search into the circumstances of those who have crossed the Great Divide we would find that their last living days were spent in poverty—that they died poor, many not leaving sufficient funds to defray funeral expenses, were buried by subscriptions of friends or by police officials who persistently followed them during life and who frequently informed them what the end would be, but the criminal instinct was there and could not be eradicated.

"Most of the bank sneaks still alive are either in prison, living on the charity of others, or active in other lines of crime. Had many of these so-called sneaks devoted their talent and skill to honest pursuits they undoubtedly would have developed into good citizens and been a credit to the business world."

With the monetary rewards of the occupation small, prison constantly before them and the police after, it is difficult to understand why these men, some of them of unusual intelligence, persisted in their ways. Mr. Pinkerton once asked an old and famous sneak how he got into his trade. The man as a boy had "hooked" change from the till of the country store in his native place, and pies, cake, tobacco, pipes and such small wares from its counters. Once, on the eve of the Fourth of July, he stole a supply of torpedoes and firecrackers from the shop. Some of the torpedoes fell to the floor. Their explosion betrayed him. He was arrested, convicted and sent to prison. There he met older thieves, who completed his corruption. This story might be repeated with slight variation of many "professional criminals." Society has yet to learn how to bring a young offender back to the right path. In many cases the punishment for the first offence confirms a weak-willed man in wrongdoing, and subsequent police persecution prevents any long continued attempt at reform. Civilization has failed dismally to provide an intelligent and scientific method of treatment for the criminals who are such mainly by reason of accident or opportunity.

Reformer and His Garden.

There is no grass so green as English grass, and no roses more beautiful than those that grow in English gardens. But for all his Teutonic pride of race, the Englishman has a long-descended instinct for fair play to the weaker side. Perhaps the rigors of the Northern climate have bred in Northerners an inborn sympathy for the hardships of poverty, for the reformer of to-day is descended from the far-off ancestor of a hard-fighting and hard-faring race, the Wanderer, who bartered one of his eyes for knowledge. The instinct for fighting and seeking is strong in Northern races; it stirred the gentle and demurous Addison to find himself edified by the sight of the sea and the waves' roaring. And yet, in spite of these strenuous ways a garden remains a perdurable ideal to wayfaring humanity, a haven and a shelter of peace and greenness and beauty in the middle of life's dusty ways, where his soul shall be "as a watered garden, it shall not sorrow any more at all." And even the reformer desires a garland; but not like Love's rose chaplet, fluttered by the nightingales. For his is the laborious crown of toil, twined in no dream-garden whereof idleness keeps the key; but "an immortal garland" that is "to be run for, not without dust and heat."—London Spectator.

Gladstone Took the Wrong Hat.

By assuming a paper cap in raising a point of order, Mr. O'Hare has created a Parliamentary precedent and added to the gayety of the national talk-shop. This hat question is always a puzzle to new members, and even an old Parliamentary hand like the late Mr. Gladstone could not invariably remember when he should cover or not. On one occasion he desired to address the Chair, as a division was imminent, and rose to his feet with bare head. "Hat! Hat!" shouted the members, but Mr. Gladstone's hat was not available, and he gladly borrowed a neighbor's. Now, Mr. Gladstone, big in most things, was also big in the head; he took 8's in hats, and the borrowed article, not being an 8, perched on his crown much as the negro at the Derby wears his tiny "topper." The House roared, and the habitual dignity of the G. O. M. was at a discount until he completed his remarks.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Rivals.

The tercentenary of Corneille is, no doubt, a fitting tribute to the memory of the father of French tragedy, on whose "Angesilas" and "Attila", Boileau wrote the shortest and the severest criticisms extant. But it also serves to remind us that there was a Thomas as well as a Pierre Corneille, and that Thomas considerably enhanced his brother's reputation as a foil. In later times there were the elder Dumas and Auguste Maquet, and the remembrance of the two Corneilles once enabled the great Alexandre to score off his too presumptuous understudy in characteristic fashion. 'Two Corneilles, two Dumas," Auguste hinted. "Just so," Dumas chuckled; "adieu, Thomas!"—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE PULPIT

A SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON, THE FAMOUS DIVINE.

Subject: The Parable of Jesus.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme "The Parables of Jesus," the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, pastor, took as his text Mark 4:2. "And He taught them many things by parables." He said:

The parables of Jesus are as wonderful to-day as they were in Jerusalem. Time has not spoiled their temper nor dulled their edge. Spoken to the citizens of Palestine nearly two thousand years ago, their truth strikes deep and convictingly into every heart now and here. Fraught with eternal verities they still ring fresh upon the ears of men. Laden with the ripest and finest fruit of human experience and of divine revelation they can never fail to command and secure the attention of humanity. Be they illustrative, comparative or similative, as the commentators have it, they are to us the means and the medium to convey truth to our minds, comfort to our hearts, power to our souls. Little care we that the parables of the sower and the mustard seed may be paralled in the philosophy of Buddha. The mind and the voice of Christ have consecrated them in a peculiar and impressive manner to His church.

The source of the world-wide appeal of Christianity lies, in large measure, in its adaptability to the needs of all men and in the fact that in it all the most exalted truths of ancient and modern philosophies are crystalized and culminated. And nowhere is this more markedly demonstrated than in the parables. No man can light a candle but the words of Jesus blaze up in the flame. Think for a moment how out of place and incongruous new patches are on old garments. The parable of the good Samaritan has led us often consciously, more often unconsciously, to lend the weak and the fallen the helping hand.

The parables reach all men because they depict and portray and depend for force upon the world, its activities and its people. They are the product not of speculation but of vital objective and subjective human experience. They are the epitome of all that we see and hear and feel within us.

Add to this that the parables are pungent, cogent, profound, positive and pointed; and you have the keys to their influence.

The parables of Christ are pungent. That is to say they cut deep. When Jesus started to flay sin or to declare truth He went beneath the surface of things apparent. The parable pricks the surface and draws blood. The steel of Toledo or Sheffield or Damascus never made a deeper or a cleaner cut than the stinging language and the caustic truths of the parables made, and yet do make, into the vitals of sin. Let the self-righteous man testify to the writhings of his soul under the lash of the scorn of Christ. Let him who is wasting his talents tell of the piercing words of Christ to him. Truth cuts. The parables of Christ declare the truth and thus our sins are slashed.

The parables of Christ are cogent and for two reasons. Words, I care not what may be their language or their grammar, are potent just in the proportion that they bear a freight of truth, mirror for us in language the many facts of life, and compellingly. No man is there so hard but he yields deference to truth. Sin shrinks from the light and sinners see in sinlessness their hearts' best desires. The touch of truth transforms illiteracy and lends it charm and cogency. Language is never so magnificent, so moving, so inspiring as when mediating truth to men. What to us is the halting, ungrammatical, mishandled English if, so be, the light of truth irradiates the speech! And, on the other hand, what to us is the smooth, mellifluous language; what to us are arts of polished rhetoric and of the self-poised, gifted orator, what to us are the graceful gesture and the winsomeness of voice, if the speech lend aid to evil and the speaker's heart be black? Truth cuts and it also counts. Pretense shears language of power. Immorality of life or opinion damages effect. All the gifts and graces in the world cannot avail to make the wrong acceptable to the pure and true in heart. The parables are cogent. Their truth forever sways the human mind. Philosophy has never yet surpassed them for they are the crown and the consummation of immortal truths. The child can read and understand and find therein a scheme for life. And how true to life the parables are. Portrayal is powerful unto influence. The touch of experience makes the whole world kin. That word picture holds most which reveals most. The kindergarten of language is full of verbal photographs. What pictures are to the babe the parables are to us. The charm of the printed picture of the horse depends upon the vision of the quadruped that the child has enjoyed. The power of the parable lies in its reproduction of the facts of life around us. No man knows so well the value of a sure foundation as he who has built upon a cheap and flimsy footing course. That friend of yours who is wasting God given opportunities has a keen appreciation of a wastefulness that Christ both portrayed and condemned. Put your candle beneath a basket some night and then tell me how much light you receive from it. My brother, that was pretty poor fodder even for swine which we endeavored to subsist upon before we rushed back home to God, wasn't it? The parables are photographs; true, faithful, convincing reproductions of our own experiences and of humanity's. Therefore they are cogent and powerful.

The profoundest thoughts are the most potent for influence upon the lives of men. The deepest truth, for which we have to dig, attracts us most. The parables are profound. They present a held not for the grub axe but for the pick. The search for truth leads a man, aye compels him, to cease placer mining, and to sink a shaft. Truth is to be found most plentifully beneath the surface. And just as the sight of pay dirt in the pan sends the miner into the depths for more so the appropriation and appreciation, by the seeker after truth, of surface verities impels him to search deeper. The parables are deep. They not only depict external conditions and portray the visible and objective facts of life but they also clothe and conceal a wealth of unseen truth that must be searched out to be secured. The ring and the calf and the cloak and the feast but tell in story the outward evidence of the father's love. We forget the sheep when we hear the voice of God. Don't bother with the yeast, think of the spiritual uplift we would have and would become personally if we had the fullness of the kingdom of heaven within us. The parables are profound. If you are unconvinced, just follow one of them to the end of its implications, under the guidance of the Spirit.

The positiveness of the parables is refreshing. There is no hesitancy about them. The Lord was certain that men could understand them if they would. He was sure that they mirrored life and would have a real appeal to men. Furthermore there was no doubt in the mind of Christ that they contained a measure of spiritual truth which any man, under the influence of the Spirit, might easily discern. No man has to think twice to understand that it is not only unfair but also wrong to make no use or feeble use of divinely bestowed capacities. There is mistaking the assurance that the parable affords the man who puts his trust in riches, that he is a fool. Is there any doubt as to the opinion God has of those Pharisees who bless their stars they are a little better than the common herd? The action of the yeast in the dough presents a strong picture of the power of truth.

Those things that are cogent and positive almost always have point. The parables are pointed. They are both sharp and well aimed. They do not beat around the bush or befog the issue. They make straight for the mark. The sower and his seed reflect the Gospel and our hearts. The joy at the finding of the money is like to the joy of the Father over the lost who are found. The drawnet and its catch ought to make us less susceptible to class and social distinctions, and more cognizant of the fact that the kingdom of God is for all men. The spectacle of the cautious king who took tally of his troops should reveal clearly that we cannot serve Jesus without spiritual preparation. Those ten virgins ought to warn us that death-bed repentances are risky, just as certainly as the tale Matthew tells us of the vineyard workmen and their hire admonishes us that we should be cheerful not churlish because men who have been bad in this life enter repentant, by the grace of God, into equal salvation with us at the end of evil lives. The parables have point and being well barbed and feathered they fly true and stick. Full of life, and reflecting life, they carry truth lastingly to our hearts.

Profound, pointed, positive, the pungent parables of Christ are cogent. They are powerful to arrest attention and to hold it, and to stimulate our thought. To appreciate them best and for them to be most of benefit to us we must enter into the mind of Christ. Filled with His Spirit and dominated by His love we shall ever discover wonders, comfort, peace, inspiration in His truth. For Jesus is the master teacher of the ages. He is the profoundest philosopher of the world. Men may not accept Christian theology concerning Him, they may not accept Him as a Saviour in the Christian use of the term; but wherever there is a man of philosophic ability, wherever there is a mind of surpassing intellectual clarity, there is Christ honored for His insight, His intellectual acumen, His intensity of soul. The parables of Jesus are the messages of a philosopher and a Saviour.

The Christian's Ascent.

The Christian life is a continual renewal, but only as we walk up a mountain is a continual ascent, and, if the mountain is immeasurable, then, of course, the summit is never reached, but, if the ascent is ever forward, it is a privilege, not a hardship, that we can continue to ascend. —J. H. Thom.

Speed Peace on Earth.

If a thousandth part of what has been expended in war and preparing its mighty engines had been devoted to the development of reason and the diffusion of Christian principles, nothing would have been known for centuries past of its terrors, its sufferings, its impoverishment and its demoralization, but what was learned from history.—Horace Mann.

God and Heaven on Earth.

To enjoy God and heaven it does not require that we wait till the last touch of death reveals all things in the light of eternity. We may take God and heaven along with us every day, and carry their peace and glory into all the dull and prosaic scenes of earth.—Thomas Lathrop.

Pray For Others.

Unless we pray for others, we are lacking in that spirit in which alone we can pray hopefully for ourselves, and we are living in neglect of a prime duty to God's dear ones who need and deserve our prayers.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR FEBRUARY 3, BY THE REV. I. W. HENDERSON.

Subject: Noah Saved in the Ark, Gen. 8:1-15—Golden Text: Ps. 37:39—Memory Verses: . 3—Helpful Notes.

The lesson for this Sabbath is unintelligible unless we read Genesis 6 and 7. Especially by way of resume of the two chapters, would it be wise to read Gen 6 1, 2, 5, 6, 8, 14, 18, 22; 7:4, 12, 24. With these verses we secure, in some measure, a synopsis of the events that preceded that which is related in our Scripture for the day.

The story of Noah, as we have it here, crowds the mind with morals. Noah is the second parent of the race, as Adam was the first. Adam is the father of humanity, in the natural sense. In the same sense Noah is the savior. They are, so to speak, the Washington and Lincoln of humanity's earliest days.

The lesson of Noah's life, so far, is the lesson of obedience and its rewards. Adam's career is the exemplification of refractoriness and its consequences. Noah is a distinct advance upon Adam. Adam's character is primarily one of innocence. It is untried at first and weak when tested. Noah's meritorious qualities are the result of a willing obedience to God's commands. Born, after Adam, with the seeds of evil innate through heredity, Noah, in the midst of an evil world, a just and upright man, finds favor in the eyes of God. Noah is the sample of character made well pleasing unto God, through His grace, by volition. Noah's will is strong. Possessing, as did Adam, the power of free choice; and, unlike Adam, being surrounded with evil companions and weakened by an inherited predisposition for wayward ness, Noah, yet, deliberately "walked with God." Adam, we remember, ran away from God.

God's covenant with Noah and His condemnation of the sin of men throw lights on the character of God. Jehovah is a God of love, of patience, of discrimination. His discriminative characteristics are shown by the fact that while He hates evil He has yet commendation for and joy in men who are good. Loving all humanity the Father is, however, guilty of no sickly sentimentalism. He is long-suffering, forbearing toward humanity; but humanity must, except it obey Him, take the consequences of voluntary sin. But while He condemns the evil, God never forgets the root of righteousness apparent among His people. And so God acts here. He discriminates between righteous Noah and his evil neighbors. He has patience with them all until they become utterly steeped in iniquity. His heart is grieved at the wickedness of men, for He loves them as the children of His own creation. But He does not allow His love to become so degenerated that He forgets judgment and justice and His own divine integrity.

The story of Noah is the story of God's determination to afford humanity a chance to prove itself worthy of its lineage. When all the worst of the world's inhabitants are overwhelmed with the consequences of their willfulness, God puts the seal of His sanction upon Noah.

The lessons are obvious in their present day application. Obedience brings divine approval. Disobedience works for death. Character is the resultant of a will subordinated to divine control. To find favor in the eyes of God is the business and duty of humanity and the especial longing of the Christian. It is goodness that makes us worth while here and for God. To be evil is to be self-condemned. In wickedness is sorrow and destruction. Faithfulness to God and faith in Him is the finality of happiness. For God is as faithful now, and to you and me, as he was to upright Noah.

These notes may be of use:

Vs. 1. "Remembered." This does not necessarily mean that God had forgotten about Noah. It rather implies that God had never forgotten them. Hebrew: "Renewed His care for." "Ark." Probably 450 by seventy-five by forty-five feet.

Vs. 3. "Continually." "The waters seeped away gradually. "One hundred and fifty." See Gen. 7:24.

Vs. 4. "Ararat." In Armenia. Pictured as the highest mountain in the world, as we see by vs. 5.

Vs. 7. "Raven." So called because of its blackness.

Vs. 10. "And he waited seven days longer."

Vs. 11. "Olive leaf." Rev. Fresh leaf. It is said that olive trees put forth new shoots under water. The finding of the olive twig by the dove was, obviously, an indication that the water had gone down considerably. The olive tree is very hardy and luxuriant under proper conditions; it is said not to grow at great heights, however. "Knew." Evidently in the construction of the ark while there was provision made for light and air there was none made for looking out. Otherwise after the rain ceased Noah might easily have seen the surrounding conditions for himself. This throws a light on his complete obedience to and dependence on God. They shut themselves up in the ark and left the outcome to the Almighty.

Vs. 13. "Dried up." The waters first drained away until there was no covering of water over the ground.

Vs. 14. "Dried." And then the ground dried up. Any one who has seen the surface of a marsh while the tide is out can understand the meaning. It is precisely the difference between soggy and perfectly dry ground.

Commits Suicide.

Knoxville, Tenn.—A special to the Sentinel from Bull's Gap, near here, says George Tegg, aged 45 years, committed suicide in a shocking manner by striking himself many times in the head with the sharp edge of an axe. His skull was crushed. He also pulled out his tongue and severed it entirely. He is believed to have been temporarily demented. Physicians say his injuries are fatal.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Friday.

The anti-pass bill was recommitted to the committee on commerce and common carriers for further consideration because of an understanding that the Governor would veto it if it came to his desk with the provision exempting newspapers.

The Winston county board of revenue bill passed the senate today, and has gone to the house. This bill provides that the board of roads and revenue shall be appointed by the Governor, and the law creating the county commissioners is repealed.

Many local bills were passed by the senate, among them being bills to establish dispensaries in Madison county, Barbour county, Georgiana solicitor for the county court of Mobile, and the prevention of the sale of intoxicants near Sardis, in Etowah. A bill to regulate divorces was introduced by Mr. Wilson and one to promote the cotton mill industry by Mr. Hayes.

Bills providing for compulsory education and the giving of books to indigent children were both reported on favorably by the senate committee on education.

The house spent the whole day in passing the fish and game bill. The house committee on temperance adversed the bill to repeal the Sunday baseball law.

House committees reported favorably on bills to declare the powers of the city court of Gadsden and to provide for the terms of holding city court of Montgomery. Also a bill to provide for salaries of chancellors and supreme court judges.

Mr. Glover's bill providing for two extra judges of the city court of Birmingham was reported favorably, though it is understood that all of the house bills will be consolidated in some sort of a measure that will meet the various requirements of the situation.

Saturday.

There was no session of the legislature on Saturday, as it adjourned on Friday to Monday.

Monday.

The anti-pass bill passed the legislature without the provisions exempting the newspapers. A vigorous fight was put up by the representatives of the papers, but without avail. The measure when put to a vote passed with only one vote registered against it.

Among the bills presented in the senate were the following: By Mr. Doster, to provide for the girls' school at Montevallo; by Mr. Reid, to define adverse possession of lands other than farming; by Mr. Teasley, to reduce the number of justices of the peace in Montgomery city beats; by Mr. McWhorter, to provide for court stenographers in the several counties.

The committee on finance and taxation reported favorably the general appropriations bill and the bill to give the secretary of state a stenographer; by Mr. Thomas, the bill recommended by the code commissioner, including the municipal bill.

Bills were passed to prohibit selling horses with glanders; to make theft of a dog petty larceny; to prevent sale of liquors in any quantities without license; to exempt property held in trust for ministerial students from taxes; to give saloons license in Attalla to schools and bonded indebtedness.

The balance of the time was taken up with the discussion of the anti-pass measure.

The house barely got to work when the point was made that 1 o'clock had arrived and by the rules adjournment was forced. The John anti-lobby bill was being considered. The rules require that the sessions shall be opened at 10:30 and end at 1. Though work was not begun today until 12 the 1 o'clock order held good.

The house passed beforea djournment the bill to refund the First National Bank of Montgomery $8,734.57 borrowed to help out the quarantine fund and sent it to the senate, where it was read and sent to the calendar.

The temperance committee of the house made majority and minority reports. The former advised local option with the county as a unit. A resolution to make this a special order for Thursday morning at 11 o'clock went to the rules committee.

House committees reported favorably the following bills: To classify the public schools and provide for examination of third grade teachers; to prohibit sale of adulterated cotton seed meal as fertilizers; to prevent removal of tags from ginned cotton; to provide for dispensaries in Fayette county and Madison county.

Cotton Mills Sold.

Birmingham.—A syndicate headed by E. M. Lovelace, of Brewton, Ala., has bought the Chewalla cotton mills, near Eufaula, paying $55,000. The plant will at once be put into repair and will begin operation by March.

Russian Elections.

St. Petersburg.—The results of the elections for members of the lower house of parliament among the peasantry in eighteen provinces show a strong conservative tendency, but this is not proof that the final results will not give predominance to the left party. In fact, this is the opinion held in political circles here, and it is confirmed by the results of the elections already concluded among the working elements who almost universally have voted the extreme left ticket.

AWFUL ATTACKS OF PAIN.

A Most Dreadful Case of Kidney Trouble and How It Was Cured.

Thomas N. McCullough, 321 South Weber St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "For twelve or fifteen years I was suffering frequent attacks of pain in the back and kidneys that lasted for three weeks at a time. I would be unable to turn in bed. The urine was in a terrible condition, at times a complete stoppage occurring. I began with Doan's Kidney Pills, and soon felt better. Keeping on, I found complete freedom from kidney trouble. The cure has been permanent. I owe my good health to Doan's Kidney Pills."

The Indian's Way.

Late in the evening we were startled by the sound of swiftly galloping horses, and a party of Indians charged our camp at full speed. The night was intensely dark, so black that the darkness was almost palpable. I wondered how they could see to ride at speed. I thought they would certainly ride us down, but Frank sat unmoved, so I followed his example. They galloped to the very edge of our firelight before they drew rein, setting their ponies back on their haunches when so close to us that their forefeet were almost over our heads. This was the Indian idea of the dramatic. They sat their ponies in a row, silent and motionless. After a long interval Frank said:

"How far is it to Fort Reno?"

"Heap! hundred mile," answered a deep voice. I afterward learned that "hundred mile" meant merely a long distance. Europe, according to them, would have been distant "Heap! hunderd mile."

Not another word was spoken. After another silence they wheeled their ponies with one accord and galloped furiously off into the night. It was like the sudden unanimous flight of a flock of birds.

"Wanted to find out who we were, where we were going, and whether they could frighten us," said Frank. "Nothing pleases an Indian so much as to be able to scare a white man. They found out that we are two white men accustomed to Indians and going to Fort Reno!"—Field and Stream.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. Iceland Wants to Go it Alone.

Autonomy for Iceland is again becoming a prominent topic between that island and Denmark. That the Icelanders ardently long for the independent management of their own affairs has long been known, and the recent visit paid by the members of their Legislature to Copenhagen has pushed the question once more prominently to the front. Iceland's claim is for an organic instrument between the two States, under which the common sovereign would assume the style of King of Denmark and Iceland. The island's formula is as follows: "One King, one flag—union with Denmark, but with freedom to manage our own affairs."—London Globe.

under peas and velvet beans, we can now grow almost anything, and have been offered $200 per acre for the place. We experimented with a great many brands of fertilizers, but find the highest per-cent. cheaper." NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all these people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything by it. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the owner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Clanton, Ala., Feb. 4, 07

Editor Banner—The creation of a "Board of Revenue" for Chilton county by the present Legislature, is a measure that is being quitely agitated in some quarters and some citizens, especially Democrats, may be approached upon the matter of signing a petition to the Legislature, requesting that this measure be written into law. I do not presume to advise my fellow Democrats upon this question, but dare to define my own position thereon.

After a recent campaign, extending over a period of several months in which the qualifications of the various candidates, both political parties were thoroughly threshed out before the voters of the county, an election was held and the issues were fairly submitted to them, with the result that the present Board of County Commissioners were duly and fairly elected. I am too good a democrat and too sincere a devotee of democratic principles to now appeal to a partisan power to contravene the solemn decree of the sovereign will of the white people of Chilton county. Partisan may be a strong word, but no other could be more fittingly applied to an act of the Legislature which would abolish the present Board of Commissioners and creating in lieu thereof, a Board of Revenue, to be appointed by the Govenor.

The present administration of county affairs, appears to be in the hands of conscientious gentlemen who desire only, "the greatest good to the greatest number" and an economical expenditure of public moneys. As a matter of fact the condition of the Treasury at present is better than it has been for years. To some, perhaps, the administration is not altogether as they prefer it, but as the persons who compose the Court are after all, mere men like the rest of us, and as such may sometime fall into error, yet we have no assurance from Governor Comer that he would place saints and seers on the Board of Revenue when such should be created. The people have spoken. They have settled this question and I am content to allow it to remain just where the people have placed it.

We are enjoying our reasonable quota of peace, plenty and goodwill, and it occurs to me that any good citizen should hesitate long, before he does any act or lends any any encouragement to any measure that would tend to disturb the felicitous conditions now existing within our borders.

Very truly,
THOS. A. CURRY.

Somebody figures that in a few years half our population will be in the cities, such is the migration from the rural districts.

A Chicago doctor says a man should choose his wife as he would a horse. But is the matrimonial agency worse than the horsetrader?—says the Atlanta Journal.

Says the Washington Herald: Has the fellow who wears gloves as much contempt for the fellow who doesn't as the fellow who doesn't has for the fellow who does?

Sir F. Treves recently told a health society meeting in London that in regard the treatment of our meat before we eat it we have made no advance on the habits of our ancestors the cave dwellers.

According to the Pittsburg Dispatch that scheme to trade off the Philippines for Newfoundland and Jamaica is all right as a plan to enable each country to get rid of what it does not want, but it has the drawback of giving it just the same thing.

What the great men of France did during their lives is unimportant, observes the New York Mail. What Dumas made them say and do are the realities. Leigh Hunt may have been unselfish and regardful of his debts. That did not matter in the least when Dickens needed him for Harold Skimpole.

Wealth has such splendid possibilities for service that only contempt can be the portion of the young man who merely lies down and wallows in it, declares the New York Mail. Much is allowed to youth. Those who squander its gifts are beneficiaries of the indulgent theory that after a while they will "settle down." But by and by their status in the community becomes precisely that of the village loafer or the harmlessly insane, whose immunity from the stone pile or the asylum is due to the indifference of society rather than to a belief that they have any rights unforfeited.

"How to Control the Trusts" was the subject of an able address by United States Judge Grosscup at Kansas City. The smashing of the $60,000,000 Soap Trust in England shows how it can be done, states the New York World. When the trust was launched, dealers, newspapers and consumers united to wage war on it. There was no recourse to high courts of justice or to Sherman acts. But retailers filled their shop windows with advertisements of non-trust soaps, the papers printed anti-trust cartoons, and the thing was done. It was as simple as it was effective, though there is this to be said for the combination, that it was only a little one not yet out of leading strings.

Bishop Regis Canevin of Pittsburg is a gentleman. In a letter to the editor of the Gazette-Times he says: "I desire to congratulate you and the other editors of the city papers on the excellent manner in which the consecration of St. Paul's cathedral was dealt with in your journals, and to thank the newspaper men of this city for the uniform courtesy and unfailing kindness of those days. The columns of the daily papers reflected the good will and neighborliness of our fellow citizens which the opening of the new cathedral elicited; while the accuracy displayed in the matter of new and the journalistic ability shown in its treatment left nothing to be desired. I am more grateful to you than I can tell."

The commission which has been considering the introduction in France of a weekly day of rest has proposed Sunday as a day of compulsory idleness for all except certain trades, necessarily busy every day. It will be laid before the French Parliament. Evently the Continent and England, and for that matter the United States, are drawing together in the use of Sunday. The old-fashioned English Sunday meant no work and no play. The Continental Sunday meant play, but, unhappily, also a great deal of work. While England is forgetting the austerities of Puritanism and taking to play on Sunday, France is advancing in the economics of labor, and finds work seven days a week intolerable.

SIXTY EIGHT MILLION IN COTTON TAXES.

Unlawfully Collected in 1862-64-66.

VIOLATION OF CONSTITUTION.

Heflin, of Alabama, Introduces a Bill to Provide for Disposition of Money —Right Given to Establish Claims.

Washington.—Representative Heflin of Alabama, introduced a bill for the disposition of the proceeds of the cotton taxes of 1862, 1863 and 1866 collected, as alleged, in violation of the constitution of the United States, from thirty states, and amounting in round numbers to $68,000,000.

The bill provides that for 12 months next after the passage of the act, any person or lawful heir of any person who paid taxes on cotton under the acts referred to shall have the right to establish his claim, proof of which is to be made in the court of claims.

After the adjudication of claims, the remaining money is to be paid to the respective states, and by them used for the building and improving of public roads.

COTTON RECEIPTS BEHIND 1906.

Appointment of Ledges—Three Revenue Districts for Montgomery County.

Montgomery, Ala.—The comparative statement of cotton for last week and for the same week the year preceding is as follows, just announced by Cotton Statistician Strassburger:

	1907.	1906.
Receipts—
For the week	3,716	1,035
Since Sept. 1	143,973	149,089
Shipped last week	5,189	1,648
Stock	23,612	33,642
Middling	9 3-4c	11c

The report shows that the receipts since September are now only 5,116 bales behind the receipts for the same time the year previous. Judging by an average, the receipts are diminishing every week by about 2,000 bales.

COAL VEIN STRUCK

Along Proposed Line of Tidewater Railroad.

Ashville, Ala.—Coal has been discovered near Ashville. After some heavy rains Reddon R. Hodge was walking over some land belonging to the estate of George W. Hodges, when he discovered some coal on the top of the ground. He picked up some small lumps and brought them to Ashville, and after having the same tested they were found to be a very good grade of grate coal. It is thought that where this coal was found that there is a good vein just under the top of the ground and that it continues for a good distance down the mountain.

KINDLED FIRE ON DYNAMITE.

One Man Killed and Six Others Fatally Injured.

Terre Haute, Ind.—A fire kindled by workmen constructing the new Monon railway grade near Linton, 25 miles south of here, spread to a giant powder house containing over a ton of giant powder and 1,000 pounds of dynamite, setting off the explosive and killing Antonio Mateca, a Greek laborer, and fatally injuring six other foreigners.

When the building was noticed on fire the workmen ran for safety, but Mateca, with six companions, attempted to extinguish the fire.

Barge is Dynamited.

Florence, Ala.—The barge which sunk in the channel of the Tennessee river in front of the corn exchange was dynamited by the City of Charleston after an unsuccessful attempt to raise it in order to clear the channel. The City of Charleston was assisted by the government steamer Lookout, which came down from Colbert Shoals canal for the purpose. The barge, laden with corn, sunk early in December and has been a menace to navigation ever since.

Want Demurrage Reforms.

Huntsville, Ala.—The Huntsville Wholesale Grocers' Association and other large shippers of this city have memorialized Congressman William Richardson to use his influence in congress to secure an extension of the powers of the interstate commerce commission and to make the railroad regulation laws more elastic for the benefit of shippers. Demurrage which is collected by the railroads is the point of most complaint.

Bridge is Completed.

Talladega, Ala.—The last span of the steel structure of the new bridge of the Birmingham and Atlantic railroad over the coosa river has been completed and the work of making the fills on either end is under way.

Oliver to Get Contract.

Washington, D. C.—Following a conference at the White House it has been officially announced that the contract for building the Panama canal would be awarded to William J. Oliver, who with Anson M. OFFICIALS SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE.

Growing Irritation to Fight Damage Suit Laws.

MAY RESORT TO COURTS

Two Bills Disliked More than Rate Measures Are Employers' Liability Act and Placing Burden of Proof on Roads.

Montgomery, Ala.—That the railroads are beginning to sit up and take notice of the present legislature was never more apparent than tonight when it is rumored that there will be a resort to the courts before the common carriers will allow bills now pending to become laws. At least two men in position to know say that there is growing up a determination to fight if the shoe is made to pinch too tight. The irritation arises more, it seems from the efforts to make damage suit laws than from the opposition to the rate and regulation measures.

Two bills to this effect are particularly disliked by the railroads, and they openly assert that the passage of them would almost certainly force court resistance to the more important propositions. These are the employers' liability act, in the senate, and the house bill placing the burden of proof on railroads in the killing of persons and of stock outside of crossings and towns.

The assertion is made that such laws would cost the railroads more than even the rate reduction bills, as it would place them at the mercy of the juries in every case brought.

Among the early arrivals are Milton H. Smith, Col. H. L. Stone, president and counsel of the Louisville and Nashville, who are consulting with local officers, and will probably be heard by the house committee on commerce and common carriers Tuesday night. Several others will come in tomorrow and Tuesday.

Of interest to them is the fact that the bill to increase the powers of the railroad commission and the demurrage measure will be up in the senate this week, and all these so far passed by the senate up in the house.

All in all, it promises to be an anti-railroad week, during which all the measures advocated by Governor Comer will be passed by one or both housese.

The 2 1-2 cent fare bill will get back to the legislature during the week also, that it may be so amended, as it is regarded as practically impossible in its present shape. There are two ways to bring this about—one a recall by joint session, and the other a return with amendment proposed by the executive. In the first case the solons could change it as they please; in the latter they accept or reject the amendment only, which makes it safe predicting that the bill will be recalled.

It may be said with truth that while the administration is favorable to a fare reduction, the present bill was never seen by the governor before presentation to the lawmakers.

Found Frozen to Death.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—A woman and two children were found frozen to death in an up-stairs tenement here with a third child in an adjoining room badly frozen, but alive.

Miss Jennie Livingston called at the residence to pay a visit and found her sister, Miss Emma Livingston, and one child dead in bed, one child dead on the floor and Helen in the adjoining room badly frozen.

None of the family had been seen since since Thursday, when two of the children attended school. The children lived with Miss Livingston, who was their aunt. It is supposed that after they retired Thursday night they became partially asphyxiated by coal gas and the fire dying out they were frozen to death.

Helen has both hands and feet frozen, but the physicians hope to save her life.

Spposed to Be Roy's Body.

Montgomery, Ala.—The body of a white man, supposed to be that of H. D. C. Roy, drowned here last week, has been taken fro mthe Alabama river near Benton.

Increase Mail Carriers' Salary.

Washington, D. C.—The senate has passed a bill increasing the salaries of letter carriers in free delivery offices. It was explained the same provision was to be made in the postoffice appropriation bill, but it was desirable that the senate place itself on record in favor of the measure. The bill fixes the first year's salary of such carriers at $600, with an annual increase of $100 until the maximum has been reached.

Cameron ap General Freight Agent.

Chicago.—Official announcement has been made of the appointment of C. C. Cameron, formerly general freight agent of the Illinois Central lines, south, with headquarters at Memphis, to be general freight agent of the entire system at Chicago, with special jurisdiction over interstate commerce affairs. D. W. Longstreet, formerly general freight agent at Louisville, will succeed Mr. Cameron.

PROBE DEALS IN COTTON FUTURES.

House Committee Reports Favorably on Resolution.

ALL THE COTTON EXCHANGES

Covered by Amendment to Resolution of Livingston and Burleson—New York, New Orleans, Memphis and St. Louis.

Washington, D. C.—By unanimous vote the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce decided to make a favorable report on a resolution for the investigation of the methods of cotton exchanges by the department of commerce and labor. The resolution is an amended form of the Livingston and Burleson resolution and extends the investigation to all cotton exchanges dealing in futures. Representative Levering, who will report the bill for the committee, said that the New York and New Orleans are the two principal ones dealing in futures, and that the Memphis and St. Louis exchanges also have some dealings of that sort.

The resolution as it will be reported is as follows:

"Resolved, That the secretary of commerce and labor, through the bureau of corporations be and is hereby requested to investigate the cause of the fluctuations in the price of cotton and the difference between the market price of the various classes of cotton, and said investigation shall be conducted with the particular object whether or not said fluctuations in prices have resulted in whole or in part from the character of contract and deliveries thereon made on the cotton exchanges dealing in futures or are the result of any combinations or conspiracy which interferes or hinders commerce among the several states and territories or within foreign countries."

$250,000 Loss in Harrisburg Fire.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Eight buildings in the center of the business district of Harrisburg were either destroyed or badly damaged by fire, involving a loss not exceeding $250,000. The Grand Opera House block, at Third and Walnut streets, in which there were five stories, was completely destroyed. The Duncan building, on the opposite side of Third street, occupied by three stores and a pool room, was also destroyed. The Park Hotel and the Columbus Hotel were badly damaged by fire and water. The United Telephone Company's building, the Security Trust building, the Bijou Theatre, Roshon's photograph studio, College block, the Harrisburg Gas Company's building and the building occupied by the Harrisburg Cycle and Typewriter Company and E. E. G. Hoover, jeweler were also damaged.

The first started from an explosion in Payne's hat store, in the opera house block.

Dead Millionaire From Texas.

San Antonio, Tex.—George H. Myers, who died in Yankton, S. D., with $1,000,000 Standard Oil stock on his person, was well known in San Antonio. He resided here for four years and up to six months ago, when he left for South Dakota to procure a divorce. He came to San Antonio from New Orleans about four years ago where his mother, two brothers and two sisters are said to reside. He was about 48 years old. He was suffering at that time with heart disease, aggravated by lung trouble and asthma.

Ashland Farmer Killed.

Montgomery, Ala.—A special to the Advertiser says J. J. Herring, a contractor at Ashland, shot and killed Robert Cook, a farmer. Cook is said to have been intoxicated and attempted to stab Herring.

Fatal Wreck on Rock Island.

Geary, Okla.—Rock Island eastbound passenger train No. 2 was derailed two miles east of Weatherford, the coaches remaining upright. John J. Shannon, of Toledo, O., was killed, and a companion, name unkown, was badly injured. They were stealing a ride on the bibind baggage.

Strike at Augusta.

Augusta, Ga.—Three hundred car workers, painters and others employed in the Georgia railroad and the Charleston and Western Carolina railroad shops have struck. They demand a recognition of their unions.

Many Applicants.

Atlanta, Ga.—One hundred and thirty applications have been received by the civil service officials in Atlanta from persons in Atlanta and vicinity who wish to become postoffice clerks and carriers in the Atlanta postoffice.

Automobile Wrecked.

Ormond Beach, Fla.—Fred A. Merriott, while attempting to break the world's record with his automobile, struck a slight ridge of hardened sand, causing the front wheels to jump from the ground, thus rendering the steering gear useless. The car made a fearful leap through space, landing on its side and rolling over and over with Merriott pinned under it. The car was wrecked, but Merriott escaped with only a few bruises.

PLOT AGAINST EMPEROR.

Police Try to Detect Purchaser of Cossack Uniform.

St Petersburg.—A plot evidently directed against the emperor came to light through orders issued to the secret police to use every effort to identify the purchaser of a uniform of his majesty's own Cossack escort, which was captured during a recent raid. Detectives have been directed to visit every tailor in St. Petersburg, and those searches can be extended to the provinces. The use of regulation uniforms is a favorite device of the terrorists. It was employed in the attempt against the life of Premier Stolypin and in the assassination of Military Procurator Pavloff. The Cossack garb is an open sesame to the precincts of the palaces at the Neio and Peterhof.

Philippine Bank.

Washington.—The senate committee on the Philippines authorized a favorable report on the bill providing for the establishment of a bank in the Philippines for the encouragement of agriculture by loans.

NEGRO IS WILLING.

Tyler Says He Will Accept President's Ohio Job—Those in the Office May Resign Their Situations.

Washington, D. C.—Ralph Tyler, the negro selected by President Roosevelt for the Cincinnati surveyorship of customs or some other job in the state of Ohio, says he is willing.

"I see no reason why I should not accept the office if it is tendered me," said Tyler.

"And I will accept it. I am with the president in his policy of giving the most competent men government positions regardless of color, and I am willing to stand the test with any white man. President Harrison offered me a position and so did Senator Hanna, but I refused to accept.

"Now I will accept if I am appointed. The race question should not enter into the matter at all. If I can't hold the job, if I am incompetent, then let the president turn me out and give it to some white or black man who is competent."

It is reported here that in case Tyler is appointed all the employes of the office will resign.

Government Receipts.

Washington, D. C.—The monthly statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that for January, 1907, the total receipts were $35,237,499, and the expenditures $47,827,241, leaving a surplus for the month of $7,410,258, and a surplus for the seven months of the present fiscal year of $32,461,167.

The receipts from customs amounted to $29,185,554, an increase of $2,500,000.

Internal revenue, $20,075,805; increase, $500,000; miscellaneous, $5,975,039; increase, $1,825,000.

The expenditures so far this fiscal year on account of the Panama canal aggregate approximately $11,000,000.

$800,000 From United States.

Washington.—The appropriations committee of the house has made its report on the proposed loan to the Jamestown Exposition Company. As incorporated by the senate in the urgency deficiency bill, the loan is for $1,000,000. The house committee cut this down to $800,000 and provided for a lien on the real estate and other property of the company, instead of taking a portion of the gross receipts.

Crash in Ohio.

Columbus, O.—A Baltimore and Ohio freight train at Black Lick, this county, broke in two and the rear end crashed into a Pennsylvania train. The wreckage is now burning, and it is reported that four men have been killed. Railroad officials here decline to give out any information regarding the wreck.

Later reports from the wreck say several cars were destroyed, but it is not thought anybody was killed. Definite information is lacking.

Georgia Military to be Inspected.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Captain Morgan, Company B, Twelfth cavalry, has been appointed by the war department to inspect the state military of Alabama and Georgia.

Schools Closed by Epidemic.

Chicago.—The schools in the several suburbs are closed and the residents are urged to keep their children at home. Of 310 cases of contagious diseases reported 208 were of scarlet fever and 44 of diphtheria.

Decatur, Ga., Marshal Killed.

Decatur, Ga.—Town Marshal J. W. Hammond was shot and killed by unknown persons near the Seaboard Air Line depot here. There were no witnesses to the shooting and the police have no clue.

Trouble in Persia.

Teheran, Persia.—At a public meeting held here recently, attended by more than 2,000 persons, violent speeches were made against the government, especially against the minister of war and M. Naus, a Belgian, who is minister of customs. The people were urged to be ready for action, and to procure arms. There is much dissatisfaction against the government on account of M. Naus, who, it is said, is in the Russian service.

THE bill to establish a dispensary for the town of Clanton was introduced by Representative J. O. Middleton last Saturday. We have been unable to obtain a copy of it for publication this week.

The citizens of Athens, Ala., have undertaken the erection of a $10,000 conservatory of music and dormitory, a gift to the Athens college, the Methodist college for young women, of which amount about $5000 has already been pledged. Correspondence has been entered into with a contracting architect. The new building is expected to be ready for occupancy by next September. The building when complete and furnished, with the extensive additions and improvements made during the past two years, will represent an expenditure of about $30,000. These additions have been made necessary on account of the rapid growth of the school; quite a number of students were turned away last session for lack of room.

Pleasant Grove.

Editor Banner—Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to speak just a few words as I haven't seen anything from this place in a long time. I noticed a piece in the last issue about Silas school house. I wish the Silas school much success. I think when the children get through the Silas school they will be ready to go to Howard college.

Mr and Mrs Charlie Cooper were visitors at Mr J M Williams Wednesday.

Mr Charlie Milford happened to the bad luck to get his buggy scattered last Wednesday night.

Rev. W. M. Deloach will preach at Pleasant Grove on Saturday night before the second Sunday.

HELLO.

A Birthday Party.

On Saturday, February 2, the young people of Stanton were delightfully entertained by Miss Fannie Young in honor of her eighteenth birthday. Promptly at eight o'clock the couples began to arrive. Miss Young was assisted in receiving by Miss Bessie Ford and Mrs. B. L. Kennedy. The house was tastefully decorated with evergreens and cut flowers, and was soon filled with the laughter of the happy guests. Then guessing contests and numerous games were in order, after which all were invited into the beautiful dining room where delicious refreshments were served. All too quickly the hours sped bringing the departing time. Each one bade the charming hostess a reluctant farewell, wishing her many returns of her birthday.

Ocampo.

Too much rain is materially interfering with the farming and milling operations of this section. An early spring is anticipated and the farmers are starting their work with a hearty good will, in the hope of an abundant crop year.

Mr. C. M Pyron is with us again, having accepted the position as sawyer to the Clear Creek Lumber Co, succeeding Mr P H Meroney, recently resigned to try his fortune elsewhere. He, with his mother and sister, will be greatly missed at Ocampo, where they had formed strong and genial friendships; there is a general expression of regret at their departure, the best wishes of all attend them, may their lives fall in pleasant places.

Mr. Arch Jones is welcomed back to Ocampo by his numerous friends.

Mr. Cal Dorn, who had a foot badly injured two months ago in an attempt to board a moving train, is about able to resume work again. He has been the recipient of much sympathy in his misfortune, and specially remembered by the fair sex.

Mr. Lucien Bean has instilled new life into Ocampo by bringing his bride to have a home in our midst A warm welcome greeted them. They have embarked in the responsible and important duties of keeping house, and are at home to their friends on "Quality Row."

Rev. W. A. Crim preached to an attentive congregation yesterday from the text "Prepare to meet thy God." At night Rev. Mr. Champion preached to a full audience from the text "Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord."

Mrs. J. L. Dunlap of Calera is visiting the family of Mr. Rufus Holdritch.

Miss Alice Rhodes is visiting relatives near Clanton. She is greatly missed here and her friends are longing for her return.

TO PRESIDENT CALLOWAY

Verbena, Feb. 2, 1907

Pres. N. J. Calloway,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir—What became of you at the big Convention at Birmingham? You seemed to have left before the high part of the time was reached. When collections were asked, Chilton had no one who got up, and other counties and individuals were putting down $50 to $100, and I got up and said put down for Chilton county division one hundred dollars. I have paid it, paid it as soon as I got to where I could get a check. have President Jordan's receipt for it. And now I ask you if you think it right to call the County Association together and try to get it on foot again?

In the time of it the County Association should make up and pay me my $100 back. I have been at work in my official capacity this week in Montgomery as State financial agent for Alabama. In two days I got up $560 and expect to get $1000 next week. Of the amount I collected I sent off to the National treasurer all of Montgomery's pledge—$250. The Cotton Association is on a boom everywhere except in Chilton, where it was once flourishing notwithstanding "Just a Voter" said some weeks ago that because some folks did not get office they had allowed the Cotton Association to "Peter out." Guess it was me he alluded to, but if he will watch he will find that his job will "Peter out" before my part in the Cotton Association does. Write me at once what you will do. Chilton was once the banner county of Alabama along this line. What has become of all the enthusiasm of two years ago? Are we all going dead on it and fulfill the prophecy of "Just a Voter, "Peter out?"

Yours truly,
F. A. CULLEDGE.

Enterprise.

Well, the health of our district is moderately good We are having some wet weather.

The old saying has come to past at Enterprise in regard to our school. The bottom rail has got on top. Enterprise has been behind for a long time until now; we have two good schools, one public and one private; our public school is taught by one Mr Mims, a fine teacher, and the private school is taught by Miss Marion Aldridge of Clanton, also a fine teacher

Last but not least, we have a Farmers Union Lodge and it is growing nicely; where there are good leaders in school and church as we have everything will move along nicely. You boys that send to the private school, pay your teacher like men, for they say you have not been treated right. Go ahead. boys, where there is union there is strength. Best wishes to the Banner.

Chinese Hotels.

The hotels are usually grouped within a square or two of one another. Each one seeks to attract guests by high sounding titles. For example, in Canton are hotels which flaunt the signs of the Fortunate Star, the Golden Profits (an unusually frank confession for a landlord to make), the Rank Conferring and the Happiness. The food is not so bad, but the traveler who goes to one of these houses to sleep will wish that he had gone to another. The bedrooms are small, thin walled boxes in which you may hear the breathing of your next neighbor or be kept awake half the night by the conversation of people at the other end of the hall or, worse still, be almost stifled by the smoke from an opium pipe which is being indulged in by the man across the passageway.

Skin Disease of Twenty years Standing Cured.

I want you to know how much Chamberlain's Salve has done for me. It has cured my face of a skin disease of almost twenty years standing. I have been treated by several as smart physicians as we have in this country and they did me no good, but two boxes of this salve has cured me.—Mrs. FANNIE GRIFFIN, Troy, Ala. Hunting For Trouble

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters of the Alleghany Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed. Upchurch Drug Co. 25c.

Editor Banner—In every week's issue of the Banner, we se... something from all parts of the county and from other counties, but we have never noticed anything from this place, but if you will allow me space in your paper will try to write something of this community, also of any visit last Sunday.

We have a very progressive little Baptist church here, just organized a few months ago, and some as able men as I ever saw, are members here. It seems that their hearts are full of the grace of God, and their whole hearts and minds are in the service of the Master. Of course the devil is working to tear down the walls of Zion everywhere, but with such God fearing and God serving men his power can easily be overcome and God's cause and kingdom can prosper.

I am now in school, taught by Prof. E. E. Davis, one of the finest teachers I ever saw. He has a large enrolment and his pupils all love him. Well, last Sunday I visited Bethany church, just one and a half miles above the line of Chilton and Autauga. There was a large audience and I heard some very good singing, Mr. Arthur Neely leading; from there I went to Mr. W. Y. Keel's, where I enjoyed myself very much. In the evening Mr. Keel and family, Messrs. F. M. Deloach, C. B. Stroud and myself went to Enterprise, a Methodist church nearby, and heard some more good singing, and an excellent sermon by the Rev. Mr. Johnson of Verbena. There was singing Sunday night at Mr. C. B. Huett's, a nice time reported by all who attended. That is one of the great features of that community; the leading elements of the community certainly do enjoy singing praises to the almighty God, and I thank God that they are so consecrated to the work of the Master, that they are anxious to meet together from time to time to sing His praise. I was also informed that they have a very progressive school at Siles school house, under the management of Miss Miriam Aldridge. When we think of these great privileges that God has given us, oh, how thankful we should be, we are made to say as one of old; surely goodness and mercy has followed me all the days of my life, and then when we think of the divisions sometimes between us and the sin we sometimes commit in persecuting and offending one another, and how little we sometimes do for our Creator we readily realize how unworthy we are of these blessings, and we are made to say again as of old; He hath not dealt with us after our sins nor rewarded us according to our iniquity. Brethren and friends, let us resolve to lay down all our sins and put on the whole armor of God that we may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil, and let us live that when our feet have touched the chilly waters of death, we can look back on our past lives and say with the words of the grand old apostle, we have fought a good fight, we have kept the faith and have finished our course. May God help us to do this.

Thanking you for your kindness, will close with best wishes to the Banner.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

Very Complimentary.

At a literary dinner two minor poets were heard in conversation.

"I saw your spring poem in the Blank Magazine," said one.

"Did you?" said the other.

"Yes, and I heard rather a neat compliment passed on it by a young lady."

"What did she say?"

The first minor poet laughed.

"Why," he replied, "she wanted to know if I had written it."—Chicago Journal.

MAY BE COFFEE

That Causes All the Trouble.

When the house is afire, it's like a body whom disease begins to show. It's no time to talk, but time to act—delay is dangerous — remove the cause of the trouble at once.

"For a number of years," says a Kansas lady, "I felt sure that coffee was hurting me, and yet I was so fond of it I could not give it up. I faltered with my appetite, and of course yielded to the temptation to drink more. At last I got so bad that I made up my mind I must either quit the use of coffee or die.

"Everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered severely almost all the time with palpitation of the heart. I frequently woke up in the night with the feeling that I was almost gone—my heart seemed so smothered and weak in its action that I feared it would stop beating. My breath grew short and the least exertion set me to panting. I slept but little and suffered from rheumatism.

"Two years ago I stopped using the old kind of coffee and began to use Postum Food Coffee, and from the very first I began to improve. It worked a miracle! Now I can eat anything and digest it without trouble. I sleep like a baby, and my heart beats full, strong and easily. My breathing has become steady and normal, and my rheumatism has left me. I feel like another person, and it is all due to quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee, for I haven't used any medicine and none would have done any good as long as I kept dragging with coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a Reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. All grocers.

THEATRICAL MANAGERS INDICTED IN NEW YORK

Charged With Controlling Many Houses and Companies.

KLAW AND ERLANGER BAILED

Samuel Nixon, J. F. Zimmerman, Marc Klaw, Abraham Erlanger, Charles Frohman and Al Hayman Named as Conspirators.

New York City.—A blanket bill of indictment, charging six members of the so-called "Theatrical Trust" with conspiracy in restraint of trade, was returned by the Grand Jury. The theatrical managers named in the indictment are Samuel Nixon and J. F. Zimmerman, composing the firm of Nixon & Zimmerman, of Philadelphia and New York; Marc Klaw and Abraham Erlanger, of the firm of Klaw & Erlanger, and Charles Frohman and Al Hayman, all of this city.

Of these men only Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger were in town. Nixon and Zimmerman are in Philadelphia, and Charles Frohman and Al Hayman are in Europe.

The indictment, filling seventy typewritten pages, was handed up to Judge Foster in Part I. of General Sessions. Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger had already been summoned by their counsel. Alfred Lauterbach, and bail in the amount of $1000 each was furnished by "Big Tim" Sullivan, who gave as security the Dewey Theatre, in East Fourteenth street, which he said was worth $300,000.

The indictment sets forth in detail the acts of the so-called trust. The charge is that the managers have conspired to monopolize the theatrical business both as to ownership of theatres and as to the production of theatrical attractions. Under the statutes, such a violation of the interstate law is a misdemeanor.

The conspiracy, it is charged, takes the form of written agreements entered into in 1896 and 1900 by the indicted managers. By these agreements the several managers agree to pool theatres and attractions and divide the profits of the business. At the time of the organization of the so-called trust, the indictment points out, it controlled fifty theatres throughout the country. At the present time it absolutely controls 500 of the 600 prominent ones.

The indictment also charges that by means of the combination, the managers have coerced actors, playwrights and owners, and have compelled owners of many theatres to give the syndicate exclusive control of the bookings of their theatres, in payment for which the syndicate has extorted from twenty-five to fifty per cent. of the profits of the houses.

As an instance of the methods of the syndicate, the case of Sarah Bernhardt is cited. In her last tour of this country, in 1905, permission was refused her to play in syndicate houses, for the reason that she was appearing under the direction of a rival firm of managers. In her tour Mme. Bernhardt played only in independent houses, and was frequently forced to appear under tents.

SOCIALISTS EXECUTE A BANDIT.

Man Who Attempted to Rob Bank Shot Dead in Waiting Room.

Warsaw, Poland.—Socialists executed a bandit who made an unsuccessful attempt to get $500 from the Commercial Bank of Warsaw. The man entered the bank and asked the director to give him $500. His request was refused, whereupon the man sat down in the waiting room and announced his intention of remaining there until he received the money. The bank officials feared to ask the police for help. A Socialist member of the bank's staff, however, called up the Socialist headquarters on the telephone and explained the situation. Two men from headquarters at once went to the bank. They approached the man in the waiting room, threw a sack over his head and blew out his brains with a revolver. The police have not interefered with the men who did the killing.

PRISON WARDEN KILLED.

Governor Shot on Basil Island—Murderer Escapes.

St. Petersburg, Russia.—M. Guidema, Governor of the political prison on Vasili Ostrow (Basil Island), a suburb of this city, was shot in the main street of the island and died almost immediately.

The assassin, a boy of eighteen, dressed as a workman, went out from a teahouse as M. Guidema was passing, and shot him twice in the stomach. The terrorist also shot and mortally wounded a prison warden who accompanied M. Guidema. The murderer disappeared and the police have been unable to find any trace of him, owing to the fact that the population of the island generally sympathize with the revolutionists.

Rogers Settles Gas Suit.

The suit of the Bay State Gas Company, of Delaware, against Henry H. Rogers in connection with the ownership of stock of the Boston Gas Company was practically settled at Boston by an agreement to pay the receiver $1,500,000 in consideration of the abandonment of claims and stock.

Mutual's Suit Dismissed.

The suit of the Mutual Life Insurance Company against D. C. Haldeman and the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company was dismissed in the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice at London.

Cleveland's New Office.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland was elected chairman and chief counsel of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents at a salary of $25,000 a year.

MOTHERHOOD

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Note what Mrs. James Chester of 427 W. 25th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

FACTS ABOUT MOSQUITOES.

German Scientists Tell of Their Peculiar Likes and Dislikes.

German scientists have been studying the likes and dislikes of the active mosquito, and they have learned some facts which may prove of value to the victims of the pests in the United States. It is asserted that mosquitoes are strongly influenced in the choice of their victims by the color of the clothes which they wear. A loose fabric of white threads will almost invariably repel the insects. In Madagascar mosquitoes prefer to alight on black soil rather than on white, sandy soil, and rather on black shoes and clothes than on white. The natives suspend pieces of black fabric from the ceilings of their huts to attract the pests to them. It has been found also that light-colored dogs are tormented less by mosquitoes than black ones, and negroes less than white men.

Similar observations have been made in India. The pests have been found to prefer colors in the order: Dark blue, dark red, brown red, black, gray, olive gray, azure blue, ocher color, white and yellow. In experiments made with them 118 settled down on dark colors and only thirty-three on light ones. By remembering these facts the chance of the number of mosquito bites may be materially lessened by the careful. Light colors chosen for clothes will do much to effect this, but it is admitted that the mosquito can not be avoided entirely. It is the same with all the alleged remedies used in the open air. Tobacco smoke is the most efficient, but it is not at all infallible. Camphorated vaseline and other strongly smelling ointments rubbed on the hands are only efficacious until the odor has evaporated, which it does quickly on a warm day. The only certain protection is a veil of muslin gauze, such as is worn by the Italian railroad watchmen and soldiers in the malarial zones. The most rational way to fight the mosquito pest is to wage war against the larvæ and pupæ, which are deposited in swamps and stagnant waters. This is best accomplished by means of a thin coating of petroleum and should be the work of the municipal authorities of infected cities.—New York Tribune.

American Cotton Goods for Japan.

Special Agent W. A. Graham Clark reports through Daily Consular and Trade Reports partially as follows: "There is undoubtedly a good market for American made cotton goods in Japan. It is not a large market at present, but if the nearly $8,000,000 in cloth shipped here by England last year had come direct from American mills there would be more spindles operating in America today. In spite of the efforts of the Japanese people to cut down the imports and of the Japanese mills to control the home market there was more cloth imported the first half of this than in the first half of last year, when there was a boom in the demand, caused by the war. To meet the national debt rigid economy is necessary on the part of the Government and the people, but with the rapid progress being made more and finer cloth will be worn by the middle classes, and here is the opportunity of the foreign mills. Japan is forging ahead along textile lines, but is not building mills fast enough to control the coarse goods market in Manchuria and Corea, and also the demand for finer goods at home."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Caution.

Imitations have been placed upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are not only lacking in the best elements which have made Allcock's so efficient, but are often harmful in their effects. Remember that Allcock's are the original and only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy known—and when purchasing plasters the only safe way is to always insist upon having Allcock's.

COTTON FUTURES TO BE INVESTICATED.

House Passes Resolution Calling on Secretary Commerce

NEW ORLEANS—NEW YORK.

Object of Ascertaining Whether Fluctuations Result From Character of Contracts

Washington, D. C.—The house passed a resolution calling on the secretary of commerce and labor, through the bureau of corporations, to investigate the cause of the fluctuations in the price of cotton and the difference in the market price of the various classes of cotton.

The investigation is to be conducted with the particular object of ascertaining whether or not the fluctuations in the prices have resulted in whole or in part, from the character of contracts and deliveries thereon made on the cotton exchanges dealing in futures or if the result of any combination or conspiracy which interferes or hinders commerce within the several states and territories or with foreign countries.

Mr. Burleson, of Texas, in explaining the purpose of the resolution said it was to ascertain whether the contracts sold on the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges brings about any fluctuation in the price of cotton, and whether or not the contracts sold enables members of the exchanges, by combination among themselves, to bring about a depression by reason of the fact that under the terms of the contract they would be authorized to deliver any one of thirty grades of cotton. It is claimed that the difference between the price of spots and futures at New York at this time is more than $7.50 per bale, and that this difference exerts an injurious influence on the price paid for cotton.

Frisco School Matter.

Washington.—When the San Francisco school officials arrive here they will be exhorted to abandon the policy of excluding Japanese children from the regular public schools on the grounds of national policy. The president will tell the representatives that their "obstinacy" may plunge the United States into a desperate war. It appears that the San Francisco school board segregates the Japanese under the civil code of the state.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Wednesday.

By a vote of 27 to 3 the senate of Alabama adopted the rate regulation bill providing for law-made rates in the state, not to be lowered save by special act of the law-making body. The entire day was consumed with the bill, which is the main bill of all those having to do with the rate issue. The maximum rate bill, including provisions for the legislature making a schedule of rates of more than one hundred articles, the classification of railroads and also of commodities, regarded as the most important measure bbefore the legislature, with regard to the fight made on the railroad issues, was passed by the senate after much talk and little recorded opposition. By its provisions the rates established cannot be changed, save by act of the legislature.

Bills presented in the senate were: To regulate the sale or exchange of illuminating oils; to repeal section 16 of an act to provide a uniform system of examining and licensing public school teachers; to provide for the survey and analysis and classification of the soils of the state; to make it a misdemeanor to dispose of spirituous or malt liquors in Mobile county within three miles of section 9, township 4 north, range 1 east; to amend section 2301 of the code.

Bills of interest passed by the house were: To authorize the court to pay the administrator of the estate of James H. Simpson for services rendered; to amend sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the act to create two divisions of the city of Tuscaloosa; to detach Lee county from the northeastern chancery division; to amend certain sections providing for the repairing of roads and bridges in Talladega county.

To repeal an act to regulate the fine and forfeiture fund of Blount and Cullman counties.

To detach Lee county from the third judicial circuit.

The house passed the bill to exempt all Confederate soldiers' widows of their widows from taxation of property up to the sum of $2,000.

The bill to define delinquent children was passed.

Thursday.

Jefferson county bills presented were:

To further regulate the city court of Birmingham, Ala., and the practice and procedure in such court.

To grant unto the register in chancery of the chancery court of Jefferson county the power to exercise and perform on any day in term time all the duties and functions conferred upon him by law.

To prohibit the sale, delivery or other disposition of miner's oils, or any materials or substitutes for miner's oils, to be used in the mines of Jefferson county, Alabama, without the official brand, stamp, label or stencil of the inspection of miner's oils for Jefferson county, Alabama, being affixed or attached.

To authorize cities of the state of Alabama to erect, acquire, enlarge, maintain and operate waterworks systems and to provide the details of the same.

To regulate the securing of certificate which exempts from road duty in any county in this state.

Authorizing and requiring the supernumerary judge of the state of Alabama to preside and try civil and criminal cases in all courts of records in the state of Alabama.

To establish in Precinct 33 of Jefferson county an inferior court in lieu of all justices of the peace and notary public exercising the powers of justices of the peace and jurisdiction of justices.

To amend an act entitled "An act to create a board of public works for Tuscaloosa county, Alabama, and to define the powers and duties there."

To provide for holding the circuit court in St. Clair county, Alabama; to divide said county into two judicial divisions, to regulate the said court and the jurisdiction of and the proceedings in and relating to the same.

To establish, maintain, regulate and make efficient a dispensary for Madison county, Alabama, located in the city of Huntsville.

The first of the railroads was passed, it being the 2 1-2-cent passenger fare measure, which will go into effect July 1 unless enjoined by the railroads, which is very likely to be the case.

The senate bill to prevent rebates passed today.

The bill placing county officers on salary instead of fees, as at present, will be reported favorably by the house committee on judiciary.

The senate committee on finance and taxation heard arguments on the bill to appropriate $50,000 for the fairs at Birmingham, Montgomery, Selma and Huntsville. It is thought a small or sum will be granted.

The house committee on immigration and labor has agreed on a bill providing for a separate department of immigration with a commission appointed by the governor, to receive a salary of $3,000.

Friday.

The senate has passed what may be in many respects the most important measure in the present session for the industrial territory of the state. It is a bill to define and punish vagrancy.

The real work of the morning session of the house was the passage of the bill to provide money for the bubilding of school houses in rural districts. As introduced and reported back to the body, the bill carried with it $50,000 annually for this purpose but the house amended so as to make the amount $67,000, or $1,000 for each county.

A large delegation of railroad and business men of the state appeared before the senate committee on commerce and common carriers and urged that the bill to prevent freight trains running on Sunday be not passed.

The house has passed a bill to create an additional judge for the Tenth, or Birmingham judicial circuit, and to provide for his election, jurisdiction, powers, authority and qualifications, to render him liable to the pains and penalties of the other judges, and provide for the salaries of the judges of said court.

To prevent the selling, giving away, or otherwise disposing of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors and other intoxicating liquors in Pike county, otherwise than by dispensaries in the cities of Troy and Brundidge.

To authorize the court of county commissioners of Marion county to order the county treasurer of said county to pay the outstanding warrants of said county, given for the repairs of the jail of said county, out of the general fund of said county, and to further authorize said court to use at any time any balance that may be in the general fund at the end of any year for any public improvement in said county, and to authorize the county treasurer to honor warrants drawn for said purposes.

To fix the compensation of the members of the court of county commissioners of Morgan county, Alabama.

To provide for the payment of certain fine and forfeiture funds in the hands of the clerk of the circuit court of Cullman county, Alabama.

To prohibit the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, wines, ciders or other intoxicating liquors in Precinct No. 5, Barbour county, Alabama, except in a dispensary in the corporate limits of the city of Eufaula, and to provide punishment for the violation of this act.

To provide for the appointment by the court of county commissioners of Talladega county, Alabama, of an official stenographer for said county, to define his duties and provide for his compensation.

To authorize the city of Eufaula to establish, maintain, regulate and operate a dispensary.

To amend section 2301 of the code.

To provide for the better working and maintaining of the public roads in Sumter county.

Saturday.

In compliance with a joint resolution of the legislature Governor Comer appointed W. W. Haralson, a young bank examinere of Troy, to examine into the financial expenditures of the Tuskegee Institute, presided over by Booker T. Washington. The duty will be only to ascertain to what use he is making of the $4,500 a year appropriated by the state.

Monday.

Bills were presented in the senate as follows:

To provide for the sale of liquor in Talladega.

To provide for the distribution of bonds given by common carriers.

To provide for public school money due dead teachers.

To authorize the appointment of county surveyors' board.

Also for governing board of cities to create the office of recorder.

To provide for circuit court at Goodwater.

To allow wife to testify for the husband in certain cases.

To provide for Calhoun surveyors supplies.

The house reported the passage of the Eufaula dispensary bill.

House bills were reported as follows: Lee county court; St. Clair double court house; to authorize the erection of court houses at other than county seats; to amend section 5085 of the code; to repeal the Searight dispensary act; to enlarge the insurance laws to take in live stock; to pay for the services of the late James H. Simpson, of Colbert county; to prohibit the sale of liquor near River Falls; to define delinquent children; to amend the act creating Talladega city court to take in Sylacauga.

The bill to give more power to the railroad commission was called up in the senate. This bill provides for the election of the members of the commission, there being three, one of whom will be president. All powers are given in control of railroad, sleeping car and express companies; including storage, demurrage and car service.

In a word, the law is such as to give the commission full power in all cases for control of the lines in the state.

The house took up senate bill No. 15, which is to make the present railroad rate on freight and fare for the transportation on railroads terminating within this state the maximum rates.

A substitute was offered which made the rates the same as in force on January 1.

The substitute was adopted.

The bill was then passed.

The house reported the passage of the maximum rate bill, approved last week by the senate.

The bill for control of the railroads by the commission was passed, there being no vote against it.

Bills were introduced in the house as follows:

To provide for industrial fire insurance companies.

To provide for drawing of jurors in Jefferson county.

In reference to grand jurors.

To provide for taking in certain territory by Birmingham.

To prohibit appeals in certain cases.

Relating to fraud employment.

Also to exemption of wages of employes.

To provide for holding court at Enterprise.

To hold probate court at Enterprise.

For holding chancery and commissioners' courts at Enterprise.

To allow cities of over 5,000 to establish recorder courts.

A resolution relating to the negro problem; that the south is able to take care of this question.

To fix punishment for assault with intent to rape.

Amending the act establishing uniform system of examination of teachers.

Must Get a Wife.

Toledo, O.—J. B. Lowery, aged 44, a bachelor, residing at 323 Fifteenth street, this city, has fallen heir to $30,000,000, just bequeathed to him by his uncle, the late Duncan Cameron, of Sydney, Australia. The one condition attached to the bequest is that the heir must marry before he can come into possession of the wealth, which he says awaits him across the sea.

Father Gibbons Dies.

New Orleans, La.—Rev. William Gibbons, S. M., is dead after a lingering illness. Father Gibbons was one of the best known members of the Marist Order in the United States.

Credentials of Jefferson Davis.

Washington.—Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, presented to the senate the credentials of Jefferson Davis, elected to succeed Senator Berry.

Increase Mail Carriers' Salary.

Washington, D. C.—The senate has passed a bill increasing the salaries of letter carriers in free delivery offices. It was explained the same provision was to be made in the postoffice appropriation bill, but it was desirable that the senate place itself on record in favor of the measure. The bill fixes the first year's salary of such carriers at $600, with an annual increase of $100 until the maximum has been reached.

California Gallantry.

"They told me the story of a well-known gentleman of San Francisco, who, charging through all the smoke and flames and litter on the first day of terror, came upon a fashionable lady of his acquaintance trudging along the middle of the street in her bedroom slippers with a window curtain thrown over her shoulders. He stopped his automobile to offer her his assistance, explaining at the same time that the auto was all he had saved out of the wreck and even that had been commandeered by the soldiery.

"I, too, have lost all," she sighed.

"All but your beauty," said he, with a courtly bow.

"And you all but your gallantry," she retorted, smiling.—Sunset Magazine.

A Singer's Lungs.

The singer at the end of the practice aria panted heavily.

"I sang one hundred and ninety-six notes that time," he said, "without once taking breath."

"Indeed! That must be a record."

"No. The record is held by Courtice Pounds. Pounds sang three hundred and sixteen notes without respiration in 1893. The record previous to that was held by Farinelli, with three hundred notes. Norman Salmond has sung two hundred and eighty-seven notes in this way.

"It is wonderful what lungs trained singers have. The average man could hardly sing fifty notes without breathing, whereas to the singer two hundred would be nothing."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A TREE OF ILL REPUTE.

The Fresh Juice of the Upas Acts as a Deadly Poison.

An evil reputation has long been borne by the upas tree, Antiaris toxicaria, which grows in Borneo and other East Indian islands. It is still a common belief that birds flying within the influence of its poisonous vapors instantly perish and that it is fatal for animals or men to rest beneath its shade. It resembles certain other plants (like the poison ivy) in emitting a volatile substance which affects the skins of certain susceptible persons, though others are unaffected. The sap is very poisonous and is the chief substance used by the Dyaks of Borneo for poisoning the tips of their darts.

In this process an incision is made in the bark of the tree and the milky exudation collected on a palm leaf and dried first in the sun and then over a fire until a thick brown mass is left. In this state it can be kept without deteriorating, and when required for use it is made into a thin paste with the juice of "tuba" root, which is used to stupefy fish, or with tobacco or lemon juice, and the ends of the darts dipped into the mixture and dried. These darts are made from the middle stem of the palm leaf and are about six or eight inches in length and of about the thickness of a knitting needle.

They are shot with a wooden sumpitan, or blowpipe, which is often seven or eight feet in length and has an internal diameter of about one-quarter inch. A bird struck by one of these little darts is instantly killed, and a pig dies in about twenty minutes. The fruit juice of the upas tree whether swallowed or injected into the blood, acts as a violent poison, causing convulsions and death.—Chicago News.

GUARANTEED INTEREST FOR INDIGESTION.

Interest in Statement by Florence Drug Co.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particular indigestion remedy, we always give him what he ask for, but in case he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling high over the counters for years and from the very first we know it must do good, and really does relieve and cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money; as every 75 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching, coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or Florence Drug co., are ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

Naturally Puzzled.

Among the interested visitors of the marine barracks at Washington on one occasion there was a party of young girls from a Maryland town, friends of one of the officers of the barracks. They proved much interested in everything pertaining to the life and discipline of the post.

"What do you mean by 'taps?'" asked one young woman.

"Taps are played every night on the bugle," answered the officer. "It means 'lights out.' They play it over the bodies of dead soldiers."

A puzzled look came to the face of the questioner. Then she asked:

"What do you do if you haven't a dead soldier?"—Harper's Weekly.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says—"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all those people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

In the opinion of the Kansas City Times Chancellor Day of the Syracuse University is so far behind the times that he really ought to be called Yesterday.

Henry Laurens Call in a speech on "The Concentration of Wealth" said that one per cent. of the population of the United States owned ninety-five per cent. of the wealth.

A French syndicate is negotiating for the purchase of five coal mines in Wales, says the Glasgow Herald, the purchase price being about $1,250,000. Inquiries are not uncommon by Frenchmen and Germans for the purchase of a single Welsh coal mine, and already there is a large amount of foreign capital invested there.

The mere ownership of capital is not a service, says a writer in the New York Post. Capital is useful whether it is owned by a child, an idiot, or a wise business man. The business man may increase its usefulness, and if he does so he should receive a reward. But it is as a manager or director that he should be rewarded, and not as an owner.

Summing up the subject, George Bernard Shaw, the brilliant and erratic playwright, describes himself in this way: "I am a bachelor, an Irishman, a vegetarian, an atheist, a teetotaler, a fanatic, a humorist, a fluent liar, a social democrat, a lecturer and debater, a lover of music, a fierce opponent of the present status of women, and an insister on the seriousness of art."

"Apples breed optimism, energy, cheerfulness and ambition," says Charles Edmund Tomlinson, of Chicago, founder of the Apple Club of America. He is a worthy successor and complement of "Appleseed Johnny." The latter traveled about the country half a century ago planting apple seeds wherever he went. Now Mr. Tomlinson is going about urging people to eat the fruit of the trees thus propagated, or any other trees, at the rate of at least one apple a day.

The goat has come to us from the hoary mists of time, and even today it is the principal source of lacteal supply in many mountainous countries. It is called the "poor man's cow," from the ease with which it can be kept. Goat's milk contains twice as much fat as our ordinary milk, and is more easily digested, containing less casein and more sugar. Mare's milk is also very rich, and when the ancient Tartars went to war they rode mares that were fresh in order to supply milk for the army.

The farmer should never forget that he is an important factor in society, is the admonition of Guy E. Mitchell, in the Boston Cultivator. It is his duty to be a good citizen and to help manage the affairs of his country. In public affairs he should remember that he is a citizen of a great nation, and he should be willing to give a part of his time and lend all his influence in favor of good government. He should have an intelligent appreciation of public questions, and should speak a good word for his country at all times. When it is right, he should help to keep it right, and when it is moving in the wrong direction he should help to right it. This is the highest duty of a good citizen.

There has not been an American square-rigger built since 1902, and the ships, barques and brigs now under the American flag find their sole employment in carrying cheap freight on long voyages, notes the Boston Transcript. Their field is soon to be further circumscribed by the opening for business under modern commercial conditions of the Tehuantepec railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific. Then the great fleet of American steamers that now carry freight between the Atlantic ports and San Francisco and Honolulu will no longer have to go through the Straits of Magellan. They will connect with the Tehuantepec railroad, at whose Pacific terminus Honolulu and San Francisco freights will be trans-shipped to steamers waiting them on this side. Before long a Cape Horn voyage will be for American vessels a rare occurrence, to be talked about as an adventure.

SETTLEMENT OF SCHOOL QUESTION IN SIGHT.

President and Authorities of San Francisco Confer.

NO JAPANESE DIFFICULTY.

Mayor Schmitz Says Nothing Has Been Decided On, But Thinks Everything All Right—Japanese Attorney Talks.

Washington.—President Roosevelt and the authorities of San Francisco have reached the mutual understanding that the California-Japanese school question can be adjusted without danger of any serious difficulty with the Japanese. The details of the adjustment, however, are not yet agreed upon.

The California delegation came to Washington, it is stated, with nothing in the nature of an ultimatum, but rather open to the consideration of any basis of settlement which the administration might propose.

The conference was attended by the president, Secretary Root and Mayor E. E. Schmitz, the members of the board of education, the superintendent of schools and the assistant city attorney of San Francisco. The president cordially greeted the Californians and after brief formalities the conference was begun. Secretary Root remained, at the president's request, because of the fact that whatever diplomatic negotiations may arise as a result of the decision finally arrived at will have to be encountered by the state department. It was also expected that Secretary Metcalf would attend the conference, as he had made an exhaustive report on the situation in California when the matter first became acute. Later, however, he decided not to attend.

Masauji Mayakawa, the representative of Japanese residents in San Francisco, and the attorney of the injunction case in the United States circuit court of San Francisco against the board of education, had a conference with Secretary Straus, of the department of commerce and labor. He would not disclose the nature of the conference.

SANTO DOMINGO MAY BE UP.

The Democrats Anxious to Get Treaty Through.

Washington.—An extra session of the senate may not be called for the consideration of the Santo Domingo treaty. Realizing that the republicans will have a two-thirds vote after March 4th, and therefore will be able to ratify any treaty which comes before the body, quite a sentiment is developed on the democratic side to allow a vote on the new treaty before congress adjourns. This will obviate the necessity of an extra session, something most of the member say they are very much opposed to.

LADY COOK WANTS SUFFRAGE

Sees Roosevelt About Support of the Movement.

Washington.—Lady Cook, of England, formerly Miss Tennessee Claflin, has had an audience with President Roosevelt, making plea to the president for his support of the movement to give suffrage to women.

She declined to say what reply Mr. Roosevelt had made to her representations. Olive Logan accompanied her to the White House. The two ladies will make an effort to get a hearing before a congressional committee.

Kentucky Newspaper Change.

Glasgow, Ky.—W. D. Dickinson, who has been business manager of the Glasgow Times for many years, has sold his interest in that paper to his partner, Hon. J. M. Richardson, at present a member of congress, who will, as soon as his term expires, take up the work of the paper, and, as he termed it, "let politics severely alone and get acquainted with his family."

Child Burned to Death.

Birmingham, Ala.—While crawling near an open fireplace at his home the 1-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, of Morrisville, was fatally burned, dying shortly afterwards.

Postmaster Appointed.

Washington, D. C.—James T. Carlton, vice F. F. Kimbrough, resigned, has been appointed postmaster at Kimbrough, Wilcox county, Ala.

725 Pension Bills.

Washington.—The house in a little over one hour and a half passed 725 private pension bills, the highest record attained by the house in pension legislation, the next largest number of bills passed in a day being 620.

SIX PERSONS DROWNED.

Launch Strikes Draw of a Bridge at Sacramento, Cal.

Sacramento, Cal.—Six persons were drowned here when the gasoline launch Cyrine struck the draw of the railroad bridge across the Sacramento river and capsized. The drowned: Mrs. A. Jacinto, a Japanese woman, and four Japanese men.

FOR BUILDING CANAL.

Bids Are Made Under the Percentage System.

Washington.—Secretary Taft has appeared before the house committee on appropriations to explain the appropriation of $25,000,000 which the Isthmian canal commission has asked to have included in the civil sundry appropriation bill. The secretary was accompanied by T. P. Shonts, chairman; D. W. Ross, purchasing agent; J. B. Bishop, secretary, and R. R. Rogers, general counsel for the commission. The appropriation is desired for the completion of equipment, and as the government purposes furnishing the equipment to any contractor, it was explained by the canal officials that the allowances for this purpose should be liberal.

At the hearing it was said that under the percentage system in the contract, the contractor would not get a percentage on the cost of supplies or equipment, but only on the estimated cost of labor.

A statement was made that the cost of labor has been estimated at $65,000,000, on which basis W. J. Oliver would be paid $4,387,500 by the government in case the contract was to be awarded to him.

FOUR MEN KILLED

In a Collision on a Crossing at Birmingham, Ala.

Birmingham, Ala.—Four men were killed and five injured in a collision between an East Lake electric car and a string of wild freight cars at Twenty-seventh street crossing. The dead are: A. S. King, Jay Cavena, Alexander Simpson and —— Dobbins.

The freight cars struck the trailer of the electric car and were piled in a heap, the trailer being overturned and thrown quite a distance, many being buried beneath it. The conductor is said to have gone ahead, but failed to see the wild cars.

IF CUBA MUST FIGHT,

Let It be With Americans, Declares Gen. Loynaz Del Castillo.

New York.—Gen. Loynaz del Castillo, according to a Havana dispatch to the Herald, at a meeting of the liberal party held protesting against increasing the rural guards, said in a speech:

"Every time I see an American, I have a contempt for him. I cannot bear to look at the Stars and Stripes, waving unjustly over the Cubans. If some day Cuba is to fight, it will be with Americans. Not until then will I accept the chieftaincy of the rural guard."

Four Explosions in Four Days.

Chattanooga.—Four explosions in as many days, causing the death of three and the serious injury of five others and a property loss of about $18,000, is the record of Chattanooga for last week. Here is the list: Explosion of steamboat Parker, three lives lost, two injured, property loss $10,000; explosion at power house, loss $7,500; explosion of bomb at home of G. W. Slocum, two injured, loss $500. Explosion of dynamite caps at lock and dam, Sam Penlan fatally injured.

The Minnesota Complete.

Washington.—The navy department is informed by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company that the first-class 16,000-ton battleship Minnesota is now complete, excepting a matter of ordnance equipment. The Fore River Shipbuilding Company at Quincy, Mass., has arranged to deliver the battleship Vermont on Monday next. Her first commander will be Capt. W. P. Potter, at present assistant chief of the bureau of navigation of the navy department.

Major Harman Dies.

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—Major John Harman, a prominent member of the American colony and vice-president as well as manager of the Guayaquil-Quijo railway, is dead as the result of an attack of apoplexy.

Boiled Flesh From Body.

Chattanooga.—While engaged at work on one of the skin-curing vats at the Chattanooga tannery, J. W. McAllister, an employe, was badly scalded by the overturning of one of the steam vats. A stream of boiling water poured over McAllister, literally boiling the flesh from his body.

Three Wrecked Trains.

Bainbridge, Ga.—Traffic on the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railway was at a standstill Wednesday afternoon and night. Passenger train No. 4, from Cuthbert, due to arrive in Bainbridge at 7:54 o'clock at night, came in at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. The road was blocked at both ends by freight wrecks. Three freight trains were wrecked Wednesday. No one was hurt.

Salve Cotton Cargo.

London.—Arrangements have been made here to salve the cargo of cotton on board the British steamer Holton Hall, from Galveston to Genoa, which stranded north of Port Vendre, France, on the Mediterranean.

Gadsden Primary.

Gadsden, Ala.—Dr. J. D. Dunlap won out in the primary for mayor by the close majority of 46 votes.

STATE NEWS OF ALABAMA BY TELEGRAPH.

Correspondence From All Sections of the State.

A WHOLE WEEK'S EVENTS.

Fire at Florence.

Florence, Ala.—Fire broke out in the Bliss block, occupied principally as an office building. The blaze started in the law office of F. L. Soper, and this was gutted and several hundred dollars' worth of law books destroyed, the fire being extinguished before it spread to the other offices. No insurance.

Alex Chisholm Out of Asylum.

Birmingham, Ala.—Alex Chisholm, defaulting paying teller of the First National Bank, who, since his mistrial last fall, has been in the insane hospital at Tuscaloosa, is understood to be back in Birmingham. Young Chisholm's case will be set for trial, it is thought, during the spring. He has been out on bond since a few days after his recent trial.

Steal Revolvers.

Birmingham, Ala.—Prizing open the second-story window with an iron wedge, after they had reached it with a long ladder, and calmly ransacking the store for the weapons they wanted, a thief or thieves made a big haul of revolvers and other weapons from the Drennen department stores, escaping without leaving a clue. This is the third big loot of revolvers in the past few months.

Narrow Escape From Death.

Florence, Ala.—Mrs. James F. Koonce, wife of the superintendent of education of Lauderdale county, was narrowly saved from death by poisoning as the result of taking medicine from the wrong bottle. Mrs. Koonce had an attack of illness, and a physician was called. He prescribed a remedy, and also prescribed chloroform in case of another bad attack. When the medicine came from the druggist the only label on the chloroform read "take as directed," and Mrs. Koonce poured out a teaspoonful and swallowed it. Immediately she discovered her mistake, and called for assistance, and by the vigorous application of antidotes was soon restored.

Madison County Dispensers.

Huntsville, Ala.—A telegram from Montgomery announces that Governor Comer has appointed Winston F. Garth and Arthur H. Lewis as members of the board, with Probate Judge Wawler that will have charge of the buying of supplies for the Madison county dispensary. Mr. Garth is ex-chairman of the democratic executive committee, and Mr. Lewis is a well-known merchant.

Fine Theatre for Bessemer.

Birmingham, Ala.—Bessemer, twelve miles from Birmingham, and with a population of something over 12,000, has put on foot a movement for the erection of a $30,000 theatre. Already over $10,000 worth of the stock has been subscribed. Heretofore Bessemer has contented herself with the hour's trolley or train ride to Birmingham when she wanted amusement.

New Railroad.

Birmingham, Ala.—Announcement has been made that the 'Frisco system will build a low grade railroad from here to Jasper, over thirty miles away. The road will be for the joint use of the 'Frisco and the Illinois Central. It will have a maximum grade of .5 per cent, instead of the present maximum of 1.5 per cent. With the better grade the capacity of the rolling stock will be greatly increased, it is claimed.

Coal Shortage at Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala.—In the heart of one of the richest coal districts in the world, and with three of its main lines and several branches running in front of coal slopes, cars of the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power Company stopped an hour from coal shortage. The officials claim that they have been unable to secure supplies of the fuel which were ordered months ago, and that they have been forced to run on low draft. Practically all day the entire system was operated on half schedule.

Opening Is Delayed.

Huntsville, Ala.—Because of the fact that the Madison county dispensary cannot be made ready for business by Monday the saloons of Huntsville will take a new lease on life for nearly a week. The opening was to have occurred Monday, and the saloons had been instructed to quit. The dispensary will not be opened until next Saturday, it is said.

Comer's First Pardon.

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Comer has issued his first pardon, relieving Cleveland Hill, a 15-year-old white boy of Marshall county, of further service of a sentence for manslaughter. He was convicted last spring and given one year. He killed a crippled boy of his own age with a knife. The boy killed, though crippled, was very strong and active, and the records seem to show that the case is one where there is nothing else in justice but clemency.

MAY EXTEND LINE.

Birmingham and Atlantic Will Improve System.

Montgomery, Ala.—The Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad Company has given notice to the secretary of state that at a meeting of the directors, held in New York, it was decided to build the lines south from the present terminal at Talladega to Montgomery, and north to the city of Anniston. The line now runs from Pell City, on the Southern railway, to Talladega, and was formerly known as the Talladega and Coosa Valley.

This will necessitate the building of about 160 miles of track and will open up a vast area of timber and mineral lands. The line from Talladega to Anniston will be about twenty miles, and from Talladega to Montgomery about 150 miles.

Indictments Found.

Huntsville, Ala.—The grand jury has found two indictments for capital offenses. True bills have been returned again Jim Griffin for highway robbery and Sim Pruitt for murder. Griffin is a white man, and is charged with holding up and robbing the Rev. Peter Baker in the West End. Sim Pruit killed Bob Cummings on Christmas day.

Lauderdale Farmers Meet.

Florence, Ala.—The Farmers' Union of Lauderdale county has been in session at the court house for the past two days, the sessions being behind closed doors with the exception of the address of State President W. W. Worley, to which the public was admitted. Many questions of importance to the farmer, such as better roads, houses, schools, the building of warehouses, better prices for produce and better methods of farming were discussed. The members of the union were given a free trolley ride to the Tennessee Valley Fertilizer Factory and inspected the plant.

Panic in School Averted.

Mobile, Ala.—Proficiency of pupils in the fire drill as taught in the public schools of the city averted a serious panic during a fire which was gaining rapid headway in the cellar of Willis G. Clarke public school. An overheated furnace in the cellar ignited the woodwork with which the cellar is ceiled, filling the school with stifling smoke. As soon as the fire drill was sounded in the building by the several teachers the scholars marched from the fire threatened school without accident. The building was badly damaged.

Jefferson Grand Jury Roasts.

Birmingham, Ala.—The county grand jury, in a report submitted with its adjournment, made a vigorous charge that there was too much idle money in the county treasury. This sum now totals over $312,000, and the grand jury were of the opinion that the county should have been drawing interest upon it. Another feature of the report was its charge that regular gambling houses are being conducted almost publicly in many places in Birmingham. The report expressed surprise that there were insane patients at the county alms house, and made a strong protest against keeping them there.

From Birmingham to Tidewater.

Birmingham, Ala.—Following the granting of the franchise to enter Birmingham over Fifth avenue to the Tidewater Development Company, President J. M. Dewberry states that work upon the company's tracks from Gadsden to Tuscaloosa will begin at an early date, probably in the spring. Details for the barge line from Tuscaloosa to Mobile and New Orleans via the Warrior river and the sound, are also being arranged. Another company will be organized to take up the work where the development company has left off. The corporation, which proposes an interurban freight and passenger electric service on a big scale, is understood to have ample backing from northern capitalists, and little, if any, of its stock will be offered to the public.

Merchant in Bankruptcy.

Montgomery, Ala.—T. J. Henderson, of Mountain Creek, Ala., has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States court. His indebtedness is $3,811.92, and alleges no personal liabilities. Montgomery merchants lose $2,166.01 by the bankruptcy proceedings, as this is the amount due them.

Florence Gets a Park.

Florence, Ala.—Through the efforts of patriotic citizens the mortgage on Wildwood Park, one of the most beautiful spots in the entire south, has been raised, and the park deeded to the city. Twenty of the leading business men of the city subscribed $100 each to the fund, and in this way the mortgage of $2,000, which has been hanging over the park for the past six years, was raised.

'Frisco Wreck.

Birmingham, Ala.—Limited passenger train No. 203 of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, due here from Memphis and Kansas City at 5:30 in the morning, one of the fastest trains on the road, struck a broken rail two miles west of Pratt City and about exception of the last sleeping car the entire train was wrecked.

Two men are dead, five dangerously injured and a dozen or more slightly hurt.

BRIGGS SUCCEEDS [illegible]

Gets 41 Votes, Only Colby and Ackerman Being Against [illegible]

State Treasurer Was Chosen by New Jersey Legislature at Noon, After Exciting Campaign.

Trenton, N. J. [illegible] Frank O. Briggs was elected United States Senator from New Jersey to succeed Senator John [illegible] the full term of six years beginning March 4 next. The [illegible] a clean Republican victory. Republican votes were cast for Briggs. Fake, of Bergen, was [illegible] him, although he stayed [illegible] caucus. Buck, of Cumberland, absent because of illness.

Senator Colby voted [illegible] Pitney after holding the [illegible] cus, and Ackerman, of [illegible] for John W. Griggs [illegible] mained out of the caucus.

All day long the fight was against Briggs, and when [illegible] was held Briggs had [illegible] not a majority of all the [illegible] in the joint meeting, but a majority of the members present.

When the voting commenced in joint meeting Senator Ackerman, Union, was understood as voting for Briggs, when he really voted for Griggs. His was the first name on the alphabetical list, and [illegible] taken vote was applauded by the [illegible] It was not until the result was announced that it was known that Ackerman really voted for Griggs.

With Ackerman, of Union, and Colby, of Essex, voting [illegible] Briggs, the election seemed [illegible] on the absence of the two Democrats, Aufderheide and Eppinger, of Hudson. Fake, of Bergen, was in consultation with former Assistant Postmaster-General William M. [illegible] when the balloting was started. He was nervous and asked [illegible] "What shall I do?" Johnson replied: "Your duty is to go in the joint meeting and cast your ballot for [illegible] O. Briggs."

Fake went to his seat, and when his name was called, said: "Frank O. Briggs." This vote was received with applause as the enormous audience, which crowded every portion of the Assembly Chamber gallery and lobby, realized that Mr. Briggs, to be elected United States Senator, a full Republican majority of the whole membership of the joint meeting.

When Secretary Tyler announced the vote of 41 for Briggs and [illegible] James E. Martine (Dem.), and one each for Pitney and Griggs, there was prolonged applause.

This was the Briggs vote:

Avis, Barber, Bradley, [illegible] Burk, Buxton, Catteil, [illegible] Crowther, Davison, Devine, [illegible] Elvins, Fake, Frelinghuysen, [illegible] Haines, Hand, Hillery, Hutchinson, Irick, Jess, Jones, Lee, Lewis, [illegible] gore, Manson, Minch, Moxon, Parker, Plummer, Potter, Ridgeway, Robbins, Shinn, Smalley, Stille, Stokes, Thompson, Tillman, Wakelee [illegible] 41.

Ackerman voted for Griggs, Colby for Pitney. The absentees were Buck (Rep.), of Cumberland, who were buck (Rep.), of Cumberland, and Aufderheide and Eppinger (Dem.), of Hudson.

Frank O. Briggs is fifty-[illegible] years old. He was born in New Hampshire, went through Phillips Exeter Academy and was graduated from West Point in 1872. He served in the Second United States Cavalry as second lieutenant until 1875, when he resigned to enter the firm of A. Roebling Sons' Company as civil engineer. He is now assistant treasurer and a stockholder. After leaving the army he became active in politics, was elected Mayor of Trenton in 1899 and again in 1902, and at the end of his Mayoralty term has been State Treasurer. For [illegible] three years he has been the head of the Republican State Committee.

JUROR GOES INSANE AT TRIAL

One of Many Tragedies Following Wrecking of a Montana Bank.

Butte, Mont.—At the trial of E. Wisner, of Anaconda, on charge of embezzlement and wrecking a savings bank, Juror J. A. Lacotte became violently insane and imagined he was the man on trial. The trial was discontinued.

Wisner's father, who was the administrator, had his funds deposited there and committed suicide.

Judge M. J. Fitzpatrick, one of the directors of the institution, died suddenly after discovering the condition of the bank, and it is said, committed suicide.

SITUATION BORDERING CLOSELY ON WAR.

Gravity of Central American Affair.

ENDING OF ARBITRATION.

On the Other Hand, Mexico City Re... ports That Adjustment of Troubles Between Honduras and Nicaragua is Progressing Satisfactorily.

Washington.—Advices received at ... the State Department have added to ... the gravity of the Central American ... situation. It was reported that the ar... bitration which has been going on in ... San Salvador for the adjustment of ... difficulties between Honduras and Ni... caragua had been abruptly terminated ... and war was pending.

Costa Rica and Salvador have joined ... their efforts to those of the United ... States and Mexico to prevent war. Se... nor Calvo, the minister to Washington ... from Costa Rica, had a conference ... with state department officials rela... tive to this subject, and was able to ... assure them that his government, af... ter communicating with that of Salva... dor, had undertaken to intervene to ... the extent of making representations ... to the opposing governments calcu... lated to induce them to refrain from ... hostilities.

It appears that the question of na... tional pride is a large factor in the ... problem. Each side feels that, in view ... of the bloodshed that has taken place ... on the borders, only war can satisfy ... the demands of honor. It is the pur... pose of the four governments that are ... now acting in conjunction in the in... terest of peace to convince the would-... be belligerents that their honor would ... not be aspersed by submitting their ... differences to peaceful adjudication.

Later Minister Corea, representing ... Nicaragua, called at the state depart... ment and had a long interview respect... ing the situation with Assistant Sec... retary Bacon, whom Secretary Root ... had charged to represent him in the ... matter. Senor Corea had no direct ad... vices from his government, and was ... rather in search of information than ... able to impart any. However, he did ... not hesitate to express the opinion ... that hostilities would be averted, and ... that on reflection both sides to the ... present controversy would consent to ... submit their differences to treatment ... in the ordinary diplomatic method.

The united wisdom of the legislature having arrived at the conclusion it is wrong for the railroads to issue passes in any shape or form whatsoever, immediately accepts a free pass on its own account. Consistancy, thou art a jewel.

Commissioners' Court was in regular session Monday adjourning Tuesday evening. A number of accounts were passed and routine business attended to. The following resolution was passed:

We, the Commissioners' Court in session, having learned that there has been a bill introduced in the Legislature to establish a dispensary in the town of Clanton, Alabama, do earnestly request our Representative, Hon. J. O. Middleton, and Senator H. S. Doster not to have such a law passed without first submitting the question to all the qualified voters of the county.

The following bills have been introduced by Representative J. O. Middleton:

To amend section 3575 of the code of 1896, by exempting district trustees from road duty, jury duty and poll tax. Revision of Laws.

To amend section 8432 of the code of 1896, by exempting from road duty all male persons under the age of 21 and over the age of 50 years. Revision of Laws.

Popwell's School House.

The health of this community is good with few exceptions. Mr. J. D. Sims and wife are sick, but we hope they will soon recover.

The school is progressing nicely at this place under the skillful management of Miss Gatie Sims. Well, plowing is all the go now from early morn till late in the eve.

It is about to be spring again and I think we ought to reoganize our Sunday school at this place. I think the people ought to have something, to entertain them on Sunday, and what better could they have than a good Sunday school? A Sunday school is the life of a community and teaches boys and girls to serve the Lord. Solomon says teach your boy the way you would have him go and when he gets old he will not depart from it. So everybody come next fourth Sunday evening and bring someone with you and we will organize our Sunday school and try to run it the remainder of the year. One month and a half is gone now, so let us all come out on the 24th inst. and organize and spend the other ten months in Sunday school and I am sure we will accomplish a great deal. Well, I will ring off, wishing everyone a happy day on old St. Valentine.

A LOVER OF SUNDAY SCHOOL.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Carelessness is the great sin of most people.

If a man doesn't acquire a little sense with age he cheats himself.

If a man owns a pocketknife it is hard for him to pass a grindstone.

Say what you please about moral courage, the man who has a lot of it is mighty unpopular.

Make the stories you tell on a rainy day as short as possible, especially if you tell them under an umbrella.

There is very little use trying to convince a man who meets your statement with this argument: "I'll bet you," etc.

No matter how highly you may value your own opinion, remember it does not go with other people unless they think exactly as you do, which, by the way, they seldom do.—Atchison Globe.

Essential to Biography.

Some years ago Norman Hapgood was arranging the data for his "Life of Lincoln." When he sat down to write the opening chapter, he was confronted with a puzzle. Hurrying to an adjoining room of the paper, on the staff of which he was a shining light, he asked the editor, "By the way, what was Lincoln's first name, Abram or Abraham?"

Fairview.

Dear Editor—Will you please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks in regard to the piece writ ten in the Union last week headed Fairview. It was not written in Beat 6, the so called Republican that calls himself little billie, is the right name; he is like a lost billie bleating away off to himself. About boarding the teacher, the board was charged as she counted school months, every 28 days, and she paid it without a word said. Now, about her trunk; the neighbor that was said told that says it is a lie, and we say so too; if you don't believe it come down and we will face you in it. He does not want her trunk, he has plenty of trunks and if he didn't have he has plenty of money to buy more. The school was not taught out, it was taught two months and three weeks; we people quit sending to the school house, we will not tell the reason this time. Everything was moving along over here nicely until bill billie commenced bleating; now if you have any more of it to do for God's sake come over here and we will help you: we all know who billie is, for he tried to buy land over here and he could not get enough to build a pig pen on. Guess he thought he would marry; Hill Billie, do you ever go courting? I don't guess your horns have grown out enough yet, if they have, guess you have got a job on your hands. Now, Billie, we haven't told you half yet, nor the best part, if the bleating don't stop; you ask what he would do if given a chance; he will treat everybody right if such a thing as you will let him alone, What would you do if given a chance? Everybody knows, for the piece in the paper shows a man that will have as big a lie printed as you have and live 15 miles from us. What is it to you? You know nothing about it. If anybody wants to know who Billie is come to Fairview and we will tell you and tell you all about the whole business and you will find out what it is to Billie. Yes, the man is a Democrat from bottom to top; he had rather be a Democrat than to be a billie like you. We will desist, waiting on Billie so we can tell him the good part if he wants to hear it. New Prospect.

Our Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely under the careful management of Mr. S. C. Powell, superintendent, Mr. Walter Donovon, secretary. We have enrolled 30 scholars; we will have more in the summer. We also have preaching here once a month, the second Sunday and Saturday before by Bro. R. H. Hudson. He is a good preacher. Everybody is invited to come and hear him.

Well, I will close for this time. God bless the Banner and its many readers. If this don't go to the waste basket I will come again soon.

NEIGHBORS GOT FOOLED.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," write Mrs. Eva Unbapher, of Grovertown, Stark Co. Ind. This King of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs is guaranteed by Upchurch Drug co. 20c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TO THE PEOPLE OF CLANTON.

All persons in Clanton must hold themselves responsible for any weakness or suffering caused from old age, chronic coughs or colds, bronchitis, weak lungs, run-down conditions, stomach troubles, nervousness or poor blood when we are willing to sell them the real cod liver preparation, Vinol, and return their money if it does not benefit.

The reason Vinol is so successful in restoring health and creating strength is because it contains in addition to tonic iron all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without oil or grease to upset the stomach and retard its work.

Unlike old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, it is deliciously palatable, agreable to the weakest stomach, therefore, unequalled as a strength creator and tonic reconstructor.

A member of the Upchurch Drug co., says: "It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we ask every run-down, nervous, debiliated, aged or weak person in Clanton, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs, bronchitis or incipient consumption to try Vinol on our guarantee." Upchurch Drug Co.

NOTE—While we are sole agent for Vinol in Clanton, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Clanton, Feb, 10, 1907

Editor Banner—I was at the good roads meeting Saturday. They repeated the vote of the last meeting to tax the people 15 cents on the hundred dollars. I am told there is about 700 miles of roads in Chilton county with about 272 crews of hands, and it will cost $7000 or $8000 to buy tools, lumber, etc. Now, you should know that this does not mean for one year alone, but every year, and as the number of roads increase of course the more tools will be used to keep up these roads, In three or four years the cost for tools will be as much or more than to build by the contract system. But you say oh we will make them take care of the tools. How will you do this? Nothing of the kind was discussed at the meeting. If the present law can't be enforced how will the new law be any better, as it still calls for the convict system, the only difference we don't have to wear the stripes? A noticeable feature of the meeting was all of those wanting the law to remain as it is, were men above road age, claiming I suppose they had served their time, but they have not, only lived it. 15 or 20 years ago all that was done was to blaze out a new road around some fallen tree; a few would do that while the others would listen to some fellows talk of a deer hunt. But, Mr. Editor, this advanced age with its commerce an hundred fold greater now than then, calls for something to be done and that speedily. All well advanced counties have a road law that does not make a man work to keep up roads, but makes him pay taxes to have it done. Let us be taxed enough to be free of all road duty so far as work on it is concerned. Some one else say what you think.

Maplesville.

Mr Editor—Not seeing anything from this place lately thought I would write a few words The health of this community is very good at present, some bad colds and few cases of lagrippe

Maplesville seems to be elevating slowly; there is a wood alcohol coaling started up here; also Michigan capitalists have acquired a $300,000 stock in the Twin Tree Plant at this place, which all tend to increase population and money power. All this is very nice but as the Savior told the rich young ruler, "one thing thou lackest," so one thing Maplesville lacks yet, and that is to eradicate the blind tiger whiskey business that is an awful curse on this place; anybody that wears pants can buy whiskey here, just so he has the money, that is sufficient, makes no difference big, little, old or young. I declare it is a shame to think that intelligent people will allow 3 or 4 old negro men and women run over their civil laws in such a manner as this It seems like a hard matter to get pine blank proof on them, but I believe it can be done and I believe it will be in the near future I hope so anyway, though in spite of all this we have a splendid school at this place under the carefulmanagement of prof Hicks, a man that is well known and liked by everybody; we also have a good Sunday school here, hoping and praying it may be better in the near future. So for fear of the waste basket, I will ring off and come again.

Rising From the Grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm A. Fertwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience He says: "After takihg less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have tronbled me for years." Guaranteed at Upchurch Drug co. Price only 50c.

Letter to S. D. Collins

Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir: A man fed his hens half meal and half sawdust; he thought they wouldn't know the difference. He concluded they did when the eggs hatched woodpeckers.

Another man painted his house with a paint that was made of half paint-substitutes. He didn't know the difference—not till he paid the painter.

He had 20 gallons to pay for, 20 instead of 10. Got fooled $12.50 on the paint.

He had 20 days' wages to pay for, 20 instead of 10. Fooled $30 in wages.

He got a poor job besides. He paid too much for his eggs, and they hatched woodpeckers.

Yours truly

Whiskey and Gambling

Editor Banner—I come again with your permission to say a few words to young men, although this is applicable to both sexes.

What I want to speak of mostly is the two evils which bid fair to prove the ruin of this country viz: whiskey and gambling.

First, I will speak of the evils of strong drink, as it seems to be the root of all evil and as there are very few who gamble that do not drink; we all know that excess of drink is injurious to the health, of both mind and body, and as a result the asylum, penitentiaries and jails have claimed the victims; many a bright, bromining young man has been seperated from all the world held dear for him, by a great gulf, as it were, which was a trifle at first—just a treat given by a friend in shape of a drink—but which has been lengthen and broadened by each succeeding drink until it has beeome oceans and seas of obstruction between himself and all that he loves In other instanees, the gallows claims the victim or it may be he will fill a drunkards grave, filled by the hands of a fellowman—a friend in the barroom. Young man, allow me to ask you what caused you to begin spending your money, your principle and your good name in the use of strong drink? A FRIEND.

Mount Moriah.

It has been quite a while since we have seen anything from this place, we will write a few words.

The farmers are busy working and preparing for another crop. We are having some right pretty weather and hope it will continue so. The Sunday school at this place is getting along fine under the careful management of Mr. J. E. Bledsoe, and also the prayer-meeting.

Mr. O. O. Lowery and wife of Montgomery, are visiting the family of Mr. A. L. Cobb.

The singing conducted by Mr. Arch Glass Sunday, at Mt. Moriah was attendid by a large crowd and enjoyed by all present.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. J. E. Bledsoe's baby is very sick with whooping cough.

As this is our first letter we had better not write much for fear of that dreadful waste basket.

HOBOES.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good vetilation, and dry warm clothing are the proper safegnards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is to the germs of diphtbera what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

A SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON, THE FAMOUS DIVINE.

Subject: A Separated People.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme, "A Separated People," the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, pastor, took as his text Titus 2:14, "A people for His own possession." He said:

The mission of Jesus Christ to men was to reveal to them the fulness of divine truth unto the establishment of the Kingdom of God in their hearts. Those who are citizens of that kingdom are in a very lively sense an "elect race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for God's own possession." To serve God well and to the end is not child's play but a man's work. To swear allegiance to the King of Kings is to cut loose from sin and to enter into the warfare against Satan upon terms of decided and continuous opposition and resistance. The fight against evil is not a sham battle, but a bitter struggle to the death with "no quarter" for the slogan. Constructively, the Kingdom is for men who are working up toward godliness entire through the yielding of self to do the will of the Father. The members of the Kingdom are men who are not the servants of the world. Citizenship is conditioned upon loyalty to revealed truth and upon growth in the appropriation and realization of divine verities.

If there is any one thing that needs emphasis in this day and time it is the fact that Christians are different from those who serve the Baals of the present. The difference is not tonsorial or sartorial or educational, but vital. It depends not upon the cut of the hair or upon the fashion of clothes, or upon the lack or abundance of schooling a man may have experienced, but upon his manner of life. To walk our streets and distinguish Christians from the men who are not brethren of Christ (except they be marked with the plain, facial, disreputable evidences of sin) is not easy. The thief and the church trustee may each be shaven in the same shop and both be immaculately neat. The same style of ready-to-measure garments may array the deacon and the crook. Everywhere we may find men who under similar or identical exteriors yet harbor and foster totally opposite ideals, motives and thoughts.

It is not my purpose to intimate that in many an instance it is not perfectly easy to mark good men from evil. The lineaments of sin sooner or later are impressed indelibly upon the faces of those who lead lives of shame, no matter what sort of clothes they wear or how neat they may be. Contrariwise, the purity of Christ is revealed in the countenance of him who lives near to God. Even a child may point a drunkard by his rags and a priest by his garb. These differences are patent.

But it is not of the difference in the clothes, or cash balance at the bank, or the mental culture of Christians and non-Christians that I wish to speak.

The difference between those who love Christ and those who care nothing about Him is not in externalities but in fundamentals. We are concerned not so much with what a man eats or wears, as with what he thinks, with the motives by which he is actuated, with the principles by which his actions are tested and justified, with the sort of soul life he lives. The possession of a Christ inspired soul, energized by God blessed motives and aspirations and ideals is what differentiates Christians from the world. Titus tells us in our text that we have been redeemed by Christ that we may be set apart "a people for His own possession," and St. Peter informs us also that we are "a people for God's own possession." These two statements state much truth in a nutshell and lead us to inquire what manner of men "God's own" are.

The Christian is a man of fine principle. Paul tells us that all things are lawful unto us, but that all things are not expedient. The man of principle acts, not that he may be insured in the exercise and prerogatives of his personal rights only, but in order that the welfare of society may be enhanced. He inquires not what are my rights, but what are my obligations? His chief concern is not to gain all that is coming to him in a material way, but to live that the sum of human happiness shall be increased. The Christian is the last man to insist upon his right to enjoy anything that in itself is harmless and that in his hands may result in no wrong, that in its influence upon other men may lead to their souls' destruction. The worldly man, on the other hand, is chiefly anxious that he shall reap his share of all things. The influences, conscious or unconscious, of his actions weigh little upon his heart. (He is not worried about the life of his brother, because to him his brother is a law unto himself. I am not only my own but my brother's keeper, is a part of the philosophy of men of principle alone. The Christian would rather be right than to win; the worldly man would be right if convenient and anything to get the victory. The Christian cuts the way for the onward movement of the world with the axe of truth; the worldly man marches with the ranks, content with conditions as they are. Those who love Christ give the world not what they wish always but what they ought to have; they point us to what we ought to be and what by the grace of God, if we cared, we might be. The world-servers keep their ears to the ground and give us only what we say we need. The difference is only one of principle. Christians are principled, finely and highly; the men who serve mammon are unprincipled and irresponsible.

Christians are men of pure motives and of high ideals; worldly men are not. Where there are noble, uplifting, sanctifying motives there is the essence of the Gospel found. Those who are princes in the Kingdom of Jehovah are men of single purpose, of unsullied devotion to the truth, of unified motive. There is no double dealing in the heart of man who really lives within Jesus. He does business on the square and is not merely waiting his chance to knife you. If he does good he does it not that he may secure praise or profit thereby but in order that he may be and bring a blessing into a needy life. The protestations and pronunciamentos of the Christian, his affirmed convictions and declared ideas, are not different from the inner desires and beliefs that mold his life. The eye of the Christian is single and when he looks at you you may read therein the deepest motives of his soul. There is no mud there. But how different are the motives of the men of the world. Lacking principle, it is well to be wary of their motives. The man who is continually looking out for himself may, not unjustly, be suspected of having an axe to grind. His chief aim is to throw dust in your eyes that you may not see through him. His ways are devious and his motives double and dangerous.

But the greatest thing that differentiates the Christian from the world is the soul life. The man who puts his trust in temporalities has little of that and generally wants more of it. Being chiefly zealous to get a full store of this world's goods he hasn't time to waste over the inner man and intangible realities of life. His time is preoccupied by the present. The Christian, however, is not so. Living a full, rich, free, helpful life in the world, he yet realizes that after all the soul life is the thing. His chief interest in the material things of life lies in the fact that through them his soul may find expression. To live near to God is his first desire and endeavor, for he knows that then the basis of life is sure.

Ah, yes, there is a difference between God's men and Belial's. There is a sharp line of demarkation between the life of selfishness and the life of selflessness. On the one hand we have an army of pure minded, clean hearted, noble acting men and women; and opposed to them a host of unprincipled self-seekers. The man who is clothed upon by Christ cannot be happy and and do wrong; the servant of Satan thinks it happiness if so be he only gets on top. The Christian views his actions in the light of eternity and considers their everlasting consequences.

I am not anxious that Christians should be labelled by the clothes they wear. I am solicitous that their deportment should mark them as Christ's; that when they open their mouths men shall know without any guesswork upon whose side they stand; that when the rub comes between wrong and righteousness they shall stand up and be counted with the hosts of heaven.

The Common Denominator.

It seems to be taken for granted by a number of writers that the only way of rendering the Gospel of Christ acceptable to men is to show its likeness to other religions, and to try to find the common denominator between them all. This is a line of defense with which we are becoming familiar; but it does not require much foresight to see that it is doomed to fail. It is one thing to show (what is very necessary to be shown) that the Gospel is the perfection of all light and truth in the world; it is quite another to attempt to make all the light and truth equal. There is no need to disparage the broken rays of light and the partial morsels of truth which are found outside Christ, but the fact remains that they are broken and partial at the very best. The Gospel has hitherto achieved its victories by insistence upon what is unique in it, and this special note must be insisted upon, if the victories are to continue. —London Christian.

Prayer a Harmonizer.

Peter had a praying band about him; for ten days the disciples continued in prayer. When the preacher stands as Peter did, surrounded by a praying church, the result is a multitude of converts, steadfastness in church life, self-denial and gladness. Peter's sermon was born of prayer. A praying people cannot quarrel; strife, malice, back-biting—open springs that feed church quarrels—are dried up by the south wind of prayer. A church on its knees looking to Christ, overlooks much. He that studies the stars has no time to criticise his fellows; the telescope that walls in the planet walls out men. A praying people do not oppose the pastor; molten metal easily takes the shape of the mold set for it; hearts united in prayer conform to the pastor's plans, fill up, and give value to his purposes.—Ram's Horn.

No Strength Held in Reserve.

Trivial incidents get so engrossing that life becomes unprepared for the great issues. A man gets all absorbed in his business and intends some day to enjoy his home; a woman gets ensnared in the burdensome details of life and loses her peace of mind; and one day some great overwhelming experience of trial or sorrow suddenly attacks such a life, and the life simply surrenders to the unforseen assault, stricken and unprepared, because the strength which ought to have been nurtured for the crisis has been exhausted in the insignificant skirmishes of daily affairs.—F. G. Peabody, D. D.

The Deceptive Fingerpost.

The most dangerous thing about the path of sin is that many believe it a short cut to happiness. It never has led there, and never will, but its lying fingerpost deceives thousands every year, just the same.—Ram's Horn.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR FEBRUARY 17. BY THE REV. I. W. HENDERSON.

Subject: Lot's Choice, Gen. 13:1-13—Golden Text: Luke 12:15—Memory Verses: 8, 9—Helpful Notes.

Last week's lesson completed with the arrival of Abram and Lot with their retainers, slaves and possessions, in the land of Canaan. While there a grievous famine arises. There is not enough food for a subsistence diet. Starvation stares them. Canaan is barren. Egypt is the granary of the world. Here if anywhere there will be food. And so into the dominions of Pharaoh, southward from Canaan, they journey. While there Abram has trouble with the Egyptians because of the relations of Abimelech, King of Gerar, with Sarai. God brings a swift judgment upon the house of the Pharaoh. He dignifies Abram among and delivers him from the hands of the Egyptians.

Released from their troublous environment Abram and Lot go up out of Egypt into Southern Judah. The years have brought wealth to both Abram and Lot. What with their cattle and flocks, their silver and gold and tents, they were rich men. With these possessions they travel as far as "between Bethel and Hai, unto the place of the altar," which aforetime Abram had erected.

Abram and Lot have such numerous herds and flocks that the land is incompetent to support them. Their herdmen fight. Grazing lands and watering places are equally subjects of dispute and of strife. Open war between their retainers is imminent. An open breach between the chieftains is likely. The situation is strained. But Abram is a man of peace and of no contentious spirit. His riches have made him neither hard nor arrogant. He scans the landscape as it stretches toward the four winds of heaven and he sees opportunity abundant for them both. With a wise economy he perceives that war is the last thing that must come to pass between Lot and himself; that with Canaanites and Perizzites still in the country life will be perilous at best; without any family feuds; that the one way to invite concerted attack by their common enemy is for them to fight between themselves. And so he proclaims an irenicon: "Let there be no strife—for we are brethren." With beautiful spirit he offers Lot the initial choice: "If thou wilt take the left hand, then will I go to the right; or if thou depart to the right hand, then will I go to the left." There is no trace of pugnacity, no evidence of self-aggrandizement in his dealings with Lot. The entire proposition is well worthy of a man who enjoyed the divine favor to an unusual degree. Abram had profited from his intimacy with God.

Lot accepts the proposal. With an eye single to his own preferment and advantage he chooses the fertile and luxuriant Edenic country eastward toward the Jordan. Fair as the primordial garden of the Lord, it appeals to his self-seeking soul as offering an opportunity for profitable exploitation. Therefore "Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom."

Lot is a sample of the man who is spoiled by wealth and success. The more he has the more he wants. His spiritual sensibilities are dulled and his finer qualities are blunted.

Practically Abram teaches us the virtue of humility, fairness, magnanimity. What he lost by granting Lot the first choice he gained in just self-satisfaction. Lot may have selected the best land, but Abram gained a richer spiritual blessing. Abram's course was as generous as it was diplomatic. He might have drawn lots for position on the land and have left the decision to fate. But he did not. His open-handed dealing with Lot is a lesson to us all.

Lot stands a warning against the insidiously destructive influence of prosperity. Greed hardens and deadens; it destroys the powers of spiritual perception; it leads men to look with favoring eyes on sin. And to look with favor is to invite temptation. May God keep us from the adversary of material gain.

Vs. 1. "South." See Gen. 12:9.

Vs. 3. "Bethel." They travel back the way they had gone down to Egypt.

Vs. 7. "Strife." Water and wells are prolific sources of friction among Eastern herdmen to-day.

Vs. 9. "Land." The unsettled country.

Vs. 10. "Plain." Better, "Basin of the Jordan." The Jordan, in the region, near Jericho, which Lot chose, is surrounded by a valley fourteen miles wide. It is to the north of the Dead Sea. "Watered." Lot was desirous of the most favored places. "Garden." Eden. This land was bountifully supplied with streams. Near Jericho water was to be found four ways, practically from a common centre, as a glance at a map will show. And besides a multitude of other streams ran Jordanwards or to the Salt Sea. "Egypt." This land was remarkable for its fertility.

Vs. 11. "Chose." Lot was so anxious to secure the best in sight for himself that he even forgot his manners.

Vs. 13. "Wicked." They were prosperous and rich. It is not at all strange that they were wicked. The wonder is that prosperous men are as good as they are. No temptation is so insidious and subtle as that of ease. "Exceedingly." They were so wicked that, as we learn from Gen. 19, they were ready even to do harm to the very messengers of God.

Nature's Danger Signals

The person gifted with keen powers of observation, who has visited Nature in her wild haunts, will assuredly have noticed that the presence of any dangerous animal on the prowl is frequently revealed, by other forms of life better gifted with the intuition of self-preservation, to those creatures whose sense of self-protection is not sufficiently acute to enable them to prepare themselves against the attacks of their natural enemies. That Nature should make some provision of this type is easily comprehensible to all those people who have in the smallest degree paid attention to the law regarding the balance of life. For, if certain beasts and birds did not possess the means or instinct of indicating the presence of danger to other less watchful species, these latter would speedily disappear from off the face of the earth, owing to the decided advantage which their foes would obtain over them.

In the investigation of this voluminous subject, let us first climb to the roof of the world, the high table land of Tibet, and examine the fauna of those regions. Here we find the Ovis ammon wandering over the bare and wind-swept hills. Although these wild sheep are extremely wary and difficult of approach, their worst enemy, the ounce or snow-leopard, occasionally exacts toll from among the flock. The sportsman who has had the perseverance to penetrate to such enormous altitudes in pursuit of this magnificent wild sheep will have learnt, perhaps to his cost, that to successfully stalk a herd of Ovis ammon, a viligant eye must also be kept on the kyang or wild ass. This equine animal inhabits the same ground as the Ovis ammon, and many a noble ram has been saved from the hunter's bullet through the timely warning afforded by this asinine quadruped. These beasts are gifted with an amount of curiosity that is scarcely surpassed by any other wild animal. On perceiving a suspicious-looking object they will come trotting slowly toward it, with ears erect; but will pull up at a respectful distance in order to scrutinize the character of the intruder. Alarm will then take possession of them, and wheeling round the troop will gallop off at top speed; but inquisitiveness will soon gain the upper hand, and circling round, they will again approach the object of their attraction. After another and more prolonged examination, they will scurry off raising a cloud of dust as they clatter along over the sun-baked surface. Should the cause of their restlessness remain hidden behind some friendly rock or boulder, they will, impelled by their overpowering curiosity, advance to within a comparatively short distance before being satisfied with its identity. The sharp sight, or the extraordinary smelling powers, of the Ovis ammon may fail to give due warning of the proximity of some hostile foe, be he a human being or the equally dreaded ounce, but a glimpse of the ludicrous antics and persistent gambolings of a group of spirited kyangs will at once furnish them with a clue that is rarely, if ever, neglected.

On descending from the roof of the world, the first rung of the ladder brings us into the precipitous haunts of that most clever of mountain sheep, the burhel. Many and many a time has a patriarchal ram been advised of the presence of man, and the skulking snow-leopard been foiled of its prey by the opportune shriek of the powerful huinwal pheasant, as it skims with wings outstretched over some deep cleft in the mountain-side, in the recesses of which the herd, unconscious of the lurking enemy anxiously watching its every movement, is grazing on a small patch of green grass, while on every side the rugged heights and snow-clad peaks rise skywards. Mountain game of this description invariably watches the boulder-strewn slopes beneath for signs of an unwelcome intruder; and the crafty ounce, fully aware of this characteristic, stalks his victim from above, pouncing unexpectedly on a straggler from the herd. It is the shrill note of the huinwal pheasant, or ram chikor as it is sometimes termed, itself disturbed from its rocky perch, that gives the timely signal to be on the guard against molestation from a higher altitude.

Proceeding further down the ladder of descent from those elevated regions, the forest line is reached, and the sight of the verdant foliage and shade-giving trees is indeed gladsome to the eyes of the wanderer, to whom the bleak mountain slopes and the endless plain devoid of all vegetation has been the daily spectacle. The habitat of the black bear and musk deer has been entered, and bird-life appears more numerous. The sportsman climbing the hill-side, if observant, may possibly become aware that he is being followed by a pair of large crows. If he be wise, he will not endeavor to drive them off; for they may prove of great utility to him. Perchance he will hear a loud cawing issue from a clump of thick bushes in his vicinity, and will perceive the birds dashing into the cover and creating a disturbance to which he may resent; but let him have patience, and observe closely the doings of his noisy companions; presently from out the thicket shambles a bear, whose attention is so entirely occupied by the irritating attacks of his winged tormentors, that he fails to notice that a far more deadly enemy is near at hand, eager to encompass his destruction. This is indeed a danger signal, but a signal full of danger to the shuffling quadruped.

Let us quit the wooded slopes of the Himalayas, and plunge into the vast forests covering the so-called plains of India, and see whether or no we can record further instances in which a predaceous animal's locality is often betrayed by other members of feral life. The hunter is carefully threading his way along a jungle path, keeping a watchful eye on his immediate surroundings. From a neighboring hill side comes wafted on the gentle breeze the sound of an unusual commotion, the loud and noisy cackling of startled jungle-fowl, and the far-reaching bark of a four-horned antelope, and the peculiar note of an affrighted peafowl as it flashes over the tree-tops, clearly indicates that some carnivorous beast is on the roam. A few paces further on a small patch of ground has been scratched bare of its leafy covering, and from the droppings it is easy to deduce that a panther has just been visiting the spot. The monkey tribe frequently plays a prominent part in the revelation of the vicinity of that king among beasts, the tiger. How often, on a scorching day in April or May, has the sportsman ensconced in a platform guarding the exit from some shady ravine surveyed with anxious gaze the capers of a troop of chattering, gibbering, swearing apes, as they leap and swing from the spreading branches of one foliage-stripped tree to another, peering the while at the yellow gliding form of the striped enemy beneath them, as it is driven from its lair by a horde of ill-clad beaters. No surer indication as to the nature of the occasioner of this incessant uproar is needed by man or beast, and the lissome and the sinewy brute knows full well the significance of the clamor around him, for he shows his annoyance at the excited gesticulations of the quadrumanous forms that are dogging his footsteps so persistently, by the utterance of an occasional angry snarl.

We will now leave the sweltering plains of India and cross the Indian Ocean, bound for the open and grassy veldt of Southern Africa, which half a century ago teemed with animal life, where countless battalions of antelopes of many different species roam far and wide, where the rolling karroo was black with game of every description. But now the hunter naturalist will have to go further afield to find the object of his pursuit; and there are some animals for which he will seek in vain, however long or carefully he may search, for they have been exterminated, wiped off the face of the earth by the ruthless hand of man. That unwieldy behemoth, the hippopotamus, now fast disappearing from the numerous rivers, which not so long ago used to be frequented by it in considerable numbers, has usually a small bird, scarce six inches in length, in close attendance. This feathered creature belongs to the plover tribe, and has a somewhat sombre plumage, being brown on the upper parts, and white and black beneath; but it is readily distinguished by three distinctive bands on the throat. The amphibian allows this little companion to perch and climb about on its broad back, picking off the various parasites. The treble-colored plover, however, is useful in another way to the sea-cow, as the colonists term it; for when the slightest sign of danger is detected, it gives timely warning to the bulky quadruped. Another remarkable example of a bird acting in the capacity of a sentinel is to be found in connection with the white rhinoceros. We cannot do better than quote the manner in which H. Anderson Bryden alludes to it in his interesting book, "Nature and Sport in South Africa:"

"Stupid, sleepy, short-sighted and easily approached as were these rhinoceroses in the golden days of South African sport, they yet had in addition to their own keen powers of scent a very constant ally and friend, too, almost always in attendance upon its congener, the black rhinoceros. This was the well-known rhinoceros-bird, a starling that frequently accompanies this gigantic mammal, as well as buffalo and domestic cattle, in small flocks for the sake of ticks and other parasites that infest them. They undoubtedly warn the rhinoceros when danger approaches, by alighting on his head or back, striking him with their bills and uttering sharp cries—warnings that are never neglected. Many a dull beast has been saved in this way by the timely admonition of these feathered friends."—The Asian.

The Hundred-Year Nation.

A German statistician has made a careful investigation to discover in which countries the greatest age is attained. The German Empire, with 56,000,000 population, has but 79 subjects who are more than 100 years old. France, with fewer than 40,000,000, has 213 persons who have passed their 100th birthday. England has 146, Scotland 46, Denmark 2, Belgium 5, Sweden 10, and Norway, with 2,000,000 inhabitants, 23. Switzerland does not boast a single centenarian, but Spain, with about 18,000,000 population, has 410. The most amazing figures come from that troublesome and turbulent region known as the Balkan peninsular. Servia has 573 persons who are more than 100 years old, Roumania 1084 and Bulgaria 3883. In other words Bulgaria has a centenarian to every 100 inhabitants, and thus holds the international record for old people. In 1892 alone there died in Bulgaria 350 persons who had exceeded the century.—New Orleans States.

Baited the Wrong Fish.

It sometimes happens that the cure is worse than the disease. It was in the case of the mother who tried to break her little Theodore of the habit of taking sweets off the sideboard.
"We often have bonbons when there are guests to luncheon," she said, "and although Theodore promises not to touch them he always does."
"You might do as I did in the same circumstances," suggested the neighbor, smiling reminiscently.
"What did you do?"
"I carefully removed the inside filling from a chocolate drop and stuffed the shell with red pepper."
"Did it work?"
"It might have worked," replied the neighbor, "if Johnny had happened to spy it. As it was, I forgot all about it in the press of other matters, and at dinner-time the guest of the evening got it."—Youth's Companion.

Prolonged "forty winks" during the day are severely condemned by many doctors on the ground that they affect one's regular sleep. Scientists have found that in the ordinary course in the human being there is the greatest vitality between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. and the least between 2 o'clock and 6 o'clock in the morning. Long sleeps during the day interfere with this order of nature, sometimes causing headache. The nap of forty winks, but only forty, proves refreshing to many because it is too short to have any injurious consequences.

Guides Safe Yet.

Enthusiasm in Italy can sometimes take an exuberantly playful turn. A case of the kind has just taken place at Milan, where 100 members of the Alpine Club assembled at a banquet to do honor to the aeronauts Signori Suelli and Crespi, who "passed over Mont Blanc without alpenstock or guide," when they sailed over the Alps in a balloon recently. The humorous prextet for this brilliant banquet was to protest against "the practice of aeronautics, which renders alpinism useless." This pleasant fiction formed the keynote of all the speeches.—London Globe.

Mineral Wealth.

In the chart of the mineral products of the United States for the years 1896-1905, just issued by the Director of the Geological Survey, is told a marvellous story of expansion in the national wealth. From a total of $640,544,221 mineral products in 1896, the annual yield has advanced to $1,623,877,127 in 1905.
Taking for comparison the three census periods during which the government has compiled the statistics of the mineral product, it appears that the per capita output of the country increased from $7.27 in 1880 to $10.22 in 1890; and $14.30 in 1900. Since the latter year the increase has been 46.6 per cent. Should this proportionate development of the mineral resources of the nation be maintained until the census of 1910, the annual output will have reached a point in excess of $20 for each individual.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Of Interest to Women.

Every woman naturally should be healthy and strong, but a great many women, unfortunately, are not, owing to the unnatural condition of the lives we lead. Headache, backache and a general tired condition are prevalent amongst the women of to-day, and to relieve these conditions women rush to the druggists for a bottle of some preparation supposed to be particularly for them, and containing—nobody knows what. If they would just get a box of Brandreth's Pills, and take them regularly every night for a time, all their trouble would disappear, as these pills regulate the organs of the feminine system. The same dose has the same effect, no matter how long they are used.
Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, plain or sugar-coated.

Maine.

The city man sojourning at Kineo, grown tired of the ridiculous fashion of donning evening clothes for dinner in a backwoods hotel, fancies he would like to strike into the woods and "rough it" for a while. Whereupon he hires a guide, with whom all the arrangements are naturally left—the buying of provisions and supplies, the selection of the route, etc.—and paddles away in a canoe to camp out. By a happy chance they reach the comfortable farm house on Chesuncook Lake, the first afternoon, where since there will be no mosquitos to bother, and every comfort of home to be had, the guide suggests they put up for the night. The next morning it is a little rough on the lake, perhaps; so they wait until after dinner for the water to become smooth enough to paddle across. Dinner at the farmhouse! In the afternoon they proceed leisurely and, by another happy coincidence, reach the comfortable cabin at Mud Pond at about sundown, where they put up for the night. After a week of this sort of "camping out," the sportsman, being guided from one comfortable camp to another, returns to Kineo, presents his unused supplies and $20 to $30 worth of fishing tackle to the guide. Then he goes home and tells wonderful stories of his adventures in the Maine woods.—William Hickox in Outing.

NO RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

For Over Two Years—Patent Medicines, Quack Cures, and Even Doctors Fail—Cuticura Succeeds.

"I was very badly afflicted with eczema for more than two years. The parts affected were my limbs below the knees. I tried all the physicians in the town and some in the surrounding towns, and I also tried all the patent remedies that I heard of, besides all the cures advised by old women and quacks, and found no relief whatever until I commenced using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. In the Cuticura Remedies I found immediate relief and was soon sound and well. C. V. Beltz, Tippecanoe, Ind., Nov. 15, 1905."

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Is acknowledged to be the most successful remedy in the country for those painful ailments peculiar to women.

For more than 30 years it has been curing Female Complaints, such as Inflammation, and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, and consequent Spinal Weakness, Backache, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

Records show that it has cured more cases of Female Ills than any other one remedy known.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage of development. Dragging Sensations causing pain, weight, and headache are relieved and permanently cured by its use.

It corrects Irregularities or Painful Functions, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, also Dizziness, Faintness, Extreme Lassitude. "Don't care and want to be left alone" feeling, Irritability, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Flatulency, Melancholia or the "Blues." These are sure indications of female weakness or some organic derangement.

For Kidney Complaints of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a most excellent remedy.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Her advice is free and always helpful.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all those people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Maplesville, Feb. 17, 1907

Editor Banner—I want to thank my neighbors and friends for their kindness towards myself and family during my wife's long spell of sickness and death, which occurred the 13th inst. She endured her affliction with Christian fortitude and was perfectly rational until death asked all to prepare to meet in heaven, and I beg an interest in the prayers of all God's people to help me to raise my little ones right and to bear my heavy loss of two dear wives that have gone to a happy home. Their dear bodies lie side by side in old Mulberry cemetery at Mulberry church. Friends, the loss of one companion is a great burden, but think how sad to give up two. I know it, but I cannot tell it, so pray for me and mine. Yet while I am sorrowing over these afflictions I feel to say as one of old, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

W. Y. ATCHISON.

Pleasant Grove.

Hello! Let me in for a chat, as I haven't seen anything from here in quite awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Culp visited Mr. Fland Bates Saturday night.

Mr. Alonzo Robinson and charming sister, Miss Leona, of near Jemison, were guests of Mr. J. N. Williams' family Saturday night.

Miss Sarah Headley of Liberty was a pleasant visitor in our community Sunday.

The apron hemming given by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cooper was enjoyed by all present. Mr. J. V. Mims won the box of cigars by hemming the nicest apron, and the beautiful water colored post card was awarded to Miss Annie Williams by tying the nicest tie. Miss Allie Vance was present at the apron party.

We are sorry to say Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hayes were called to the bedside of their mother, Mrs. Janie Hayes, at Mulberry, Sunday.

Come again, same little Walter, your letter was good, I agree with you on the Sabbath school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams visited near Clanton, Sunday.

Well, I will ring off and come again if this doesn't go to the waste basket. With much love and best wishes to the dear old Banner and its many readers.

GOOD ROADS MEETING.

Editor Banner—Please allow me a small space in your paper to give a brief account of the Good Roads meeting of the S. C. A.

The Good Roads meeting reaffirmed the vote of the previous meeting to levy a tax of 15¢ on the $100 taxable property to be used for road purposes, also continued the committee composed of, Tipton Mullins, A. C. Smith and W. M. Adams. The S. C. A., met in the afternoon, and went into the election of officers for the year 1907, the following officers were elected:

Tipton Mullins, Pres., W. H. Killingsworth, vice Pres., E. B. Popwell, Sec., H. C. Young ass't. Sec., Alex G. Dake, Treas. The next meeting will be held at Clanton on April 6, 1907.

Collins Chapel.

Health of this community is good, excepting a few. Walter Monroe and Grandpa Benson are sick now, but hope for their speedy recovery.

Miss Hersie Collins and Mr. Luther Mullins returned home from South Alabama last Wednesday and report a nice time.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely under the able management of Mr. Haley Mullins.

Messrs. J. H. and J. D. Collins have moved over to Waddy to their saw mill.

Miss Genie Collins is spending a few days in Clanton.

Mr. T. P. Martin has moved to Mr. J. D. Collins' place.

Mr. Luther Mullins called on a young lady Sunday afternoon, and we think that is what brought him back from South Alabama.

THE BANNER.

Published Weekly

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

Evidences are beginning to multiply that only an American heiress of the extreme degree can really afford to marry a titled foreigner.

It doesn't pay to be too swift. An Illinois man got a marriage license before he asked the girl. This made her so angry that she had him arrested and he was fined five dollars and costs.

The remittances to China, made by coolies or laborers at work in other countries, are now estimated to reach $50,000,000 annually, including $5,000,000 said to be sent home by the indentured coolies in the Transvaal mines.

Says the Chicago Inter Ocean: "We can afford to keep our army small, or even to neglect it, as Great Britain does hers. We cannot afford to maintain a small navy or to neglect it even for a year. Fleets of battleships are our best insurance against war."

Ten years ago we got along very well with $15,500,000 worth of India rubber. During 1907 our bill will probably exceed $50,000,000. Part of this increase is represented by quantity and part by price. The cost of the commodity a decade ago was about 44 cents a pound, as compared with an average of about 77 cents for the year 1906. Measured in quantity, the increase in importation is about 60 percent. Our receipts for the year will be somewhere near 65,000,000 pounds. In addition to this we are buying about one-half that quantity of old and scrap rubber, and a substance called gutta jootalong, which is used as a mixture in certain industries. On the export side, out of total sales of $6,500,000 our sales of rubber boots and shoes alone ($1,500,000) a little exceeded our sales of rubber in all its forms in 1896. The expansion of the industry is due mainly to the demand for rubber tires and for insulating appliances used in electrical equipment.

As a matter of industrial strategy, the preservation of the forests of the White Mountains, the "Switzerland of America," and of the lower Appalachian range is of vast importance, maintains the New York Times. The latter regulates the flow of all the largest rivers south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi, of which eight flow into the Atlantic, two into the Gulf, two into the Ohio and Tennessee, with its six big tributaries, into the Mississippi. The forest holds one of the chief sources of wealth of eight great states—their water power, which is being transmitted by electricity over their whole area. Its destruction by the axe, now proceeding apace, means the destruction of the water-power interests and recurring disastrous floods, which can be stopped only by a tedius process of reforestation. The White Mountain forest retains the sources of New England's five principal rivers, on which her great manufacturing interests depend. The creation of Federal reserves in these "strategic" forests would be an act of high prudence.

From an editorial in The Century we make the following excerpt: Major Henry L. Higginson the financier—than whom Boston has no more disinterested or public-spirited citizen—made a statement apropos of the elections which is very much to the point. "Many men" he said, "have grown fat and lazy, and have thought of nothing but their purses, automobiles and good dinners, and in their way they are just as bad citizens as the loafers in the street who do not care to do a day's work. A lot of successful men have been pushing their success to a dangerous point, and have been flaunting it in the eyes of the public. It is the old story about a larger and wider philosophy and religion which have got to come to the front and choke" the nonsense put out by the demagogues. "Today is the day to heed the signal." The demagogue is always a danger, but the menace of the demagogue is increased tenfold by indifference to actual grievances. Yet true progress must be based not upon blind fear of the demagogue and his dupes, but upon active human sympathy, upon a sense of honor, upon a profound devotion to the principles of justice. It is certain that those who are temporarily intrusted with the correction of abuses must have some higher object in view than keeping a party in power or "pandering to the better element" for purely selfish purposes.

WHIP UNITED STATES WOULD LITTLE CUBA.

Have The Nerve To Threaten Immediate War.

IMPATIENT FOR WITDRAWAL.

Having Been Given Everything but Absolute Control by American Provisional Government, They Are Still Insistent on Having Field to Themselves.

Havana.—Another aspirant for the presidential nomination on the liberal platform has appeared. He is General Curios Garcia, formerly minister to Mexico and son of the Cuban hero, General Calixto Garcia. General Garcia has a large following among the laboring class. He is also considered as a possible compromise candidate in place of the leading aspirants for the honor, General Jose Miguel Gomez and Dr. Alfredo Zayas.

New York.—A dispatch from Havana says that open threats of war against the United States if it does not get out of Cuba are now being made by the leaders of the liberal party, to whom everything has been given by the American provisional government except absolute control. The party is insatiable and impatient over the delay of the American withdrawal, when, it was promised, they would be left masters of Cuba.

These leaders, the dispatch says, resent the suggestion of the conservative classes that an American protectorate might be a surer guarantee of peace than the unbridled rule of any Cuban faction.

The dispatch quotes an article by General Del Castillo in El Rebelde, a liberal organ, in which he insists that the "imbeciles" who favor a protectorate must be struck down and that "f annexation or a protectorate is attempted war will follow.

DEADLY POISON IN MILK.

Declared That Thousands of Infants Are Sent to Early Grave.

Chicago.—That thousands of infants in Illinois, as well as many larger children, are being sent to premature graves through taking into their stomachs in milk the same poisonous preparations that are used to embalm the dead is indicated by a special report ready for submission to Governor Deneen.

The report was made by Herman E Schuknecht, the dairy expert of the State Pure Food commission.

Assistant Commissioner Schuknecht pointed out that of thirty-five cities visited not one had escaped from its limits milk from unclean and unsanitary cans and vessels or milk not properly strained, showing a deposit of filth in the bottom of the bottles or other vessels, and in thirty-two of the cities skimmed milk was sold as standard and was adulterated with formaldehyde, which authorities pronounce a poison "much used as an embalming fluid."

Bills Signed by Governor.

Montgomery, Ala.—A bill of importance signed by the governor is that providing for a code commission to read the new code. It is provided that the salary of the commissioners shall be $10 a day, with one clerk at $8 and other clerks at $5. The members will be allowed to name a member to fill any vacancy that might occur.

Other bills signed were to create the Fourteenth judicial district of the counties of Walker, Winston, Lamar and Fayette; to provide for dispensaries in Colbert county; to amend the road law of Blount county; to provide for witnesses' pay in Clarke county; to provide for the sale of liquor at River Falls.

Ambassador Gets $50,000 a Year.

London.—The British embassy at Washington is now the best paid post in the British diplomatic service, the salary of the ambassador having been raised with the appointment of James Bryce to $50,000 per year. Paris, which up to the present had been considered the best paid post in the service, pays only $45,000. Washington had heretofore ranked with St. Petersburg in the matter of salary.

Warehouse Destroyed by Flames.

Jackson, Ky.—The office building and warehouse of the Hargis brothers on Main street have been consumed by fire. The loss is $10,000. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin, but whether it is an outgrowth of the Breathitt county troubles with which Senator Hargis, senior member of the firm, is connected, can only be conjectured.

Ancient Violin Unearthed.

New York.—A violin, which the police said had a label marked Antonius Stradivarius, Cremonensis, Faciebet Anno, 1736, was unearthed in a quantity of supposed stolen goods. The violin and goods were found at the home of Ernst Frinkfort, who is under arrest. An expert will be asked to examine the violin to ascertain if it is a genuine Cremona.

INVESTIGATE ALL ASSOCIATIONS.

Department May Take Up the Southern Cotton Association.

Washington.—The purpose of the corporation bureau of the department of commerce and labor to investigate the methods of the Southern Cotton Association, the Farmers' National Union, the National Ginners' Association, etc., has created a sensation in Washington, especially among congressmen from the south. There is no doubt but that the Livingston-Berleson resolution authorizes such an investigation. Had the full purport of the resolution, as it was amended by the interstate commerce committee and subsequently adopted by the house, been realized at the time, it is extremely doubtful if its authors and other congressmen from the south would have been so eager to secure its passage.

Representative Livingston, who insisted that the corporation commissioner was without authority to investigate the cotton associations of the south, now admits the possibility of such an inquiry. He has called upon the corporation commissioner.

"While the authors of the resolution did not contemplate an investigation of the cotton associations of the south, it is possible that its scope has been so broadened a to permit of the investigation of these organizations," said Mr. Livingston. "I suppose the association will be investigated if any one asks is."

OKLAHOMA TOWN RAIDED.

Blows Safe and Wrecks Building—Escape on Hand Car.

Lawton, I. T.—Confiscating small articles from numerous houses, smashing in front doors of the general merchandise establishment of F. F. Calche, blowing the safe with nitro-glycerine and securing a small sum and partly wrecking the building, breaking open the Frisco car house and obtaining a hand car and making their escape toward Lawton before daylight is the story of a band of men that raided Calche, a small town thirteen miles south of here. Officers are scouring the country in every direction in search of the burglars.

The town is in a state of turmoil.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED.

Woman Will Die From Injury in Jumping From Tenement Fire.

New York.—In a tenement house at No. 15 Clinton street two children were probably fatally burned, one woman threw herself from a fourth floor fire escape and will doubtless die, and a number of other persons were less seriously hurt. Mrs. Lena Greenburg, standing on a fire escape, became frightened by the flames and hurled herself over the iron railing to the areaway.

Faith in Printer's Ink.

New York.—The interurban political equality council, which is to endeavor to convert New York city to woman suffrage, has opened headquarters at the Hotel Martha Washington. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, chairman of the council, made a statement in which she said:

"We have opened headquarters and we are going to stay until the women are converted. The time when great work was done by great meetings has passed. We do not underestimate what they do, but we put more faith in printer's ink."

Princess Clemantine Dead.

Vienna.—The Princess Clementine of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, mother of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, is dead.

The Princess Clementine was born June 3, 1817, was a daughter of King Louis Phillipe, and was married in Paris April 20, 1843, to Prince Augustus of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, who died July 26, 1881, leaving four children Prince Phillipe, who married Princess Louise of Belgium; Prince Augustus, who married the late Princess Leopoldine of Brazil; Princess Clotilde, who married the late Archduke Joseph of Austria, and Prince Ferdinand, who was elected Prince of Bulgaria under the name of Ferdinand I, by the Bulgarian national assembly in 1887.

Oil Field Burns.

Tulsa, I. T.—Fire broke out in the Tulsa oil fields, seventeen miles northeast of here, and thirty wells are reported on fire. The property is owned by various companies. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

River Boat Sinks.

Alexandria, La.—The Lucas-Boasman line steamboat Red River sank here while trying to make a landing. The boat had a cargo of about 1,000 bales of cotton and other merchandise and was fully insured. None of the crew was injured. The accident was apparently due to a leak in the vessel's hull.

New Bridge at Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railroad officials announce that the Tennessee river bridge here will be replaced with a quarter-million dollar structure.

Mount Etna Active.

Paris.—Dispatches from Taormina report that smoke is issuing from the lower and upper craters of Mount Etna and that an eruption is feared.

AMERICANS AMONG DEAD.

Gas Explosion is Thought to Have Been the Cause of the Disaster—Ignited by Defective Lamp—Near Laredo, Tex.

Laredo, Tex.—Word has reached this city through telegrams of a disastrous mine explosion which occurred in Las Conquista Mine No. 3, of the Las Esperanzas district, in which thirty miners are known to have lost their lives.

The dead and injured, however, may be increased to seventy five when full details are received. According to meagre reports the explosion occurred at 7 o'clock Monday night, shortly after the night shift had commenced work in the mine. The explosion is thought to have been caused by gas which ignited from a defective lamp carried by one of the miners.

The accident is the most serious that has occurred in this district since the mine disaster whih occurred in the Bararterna mines in this district a year ago, in which nearly 100 lives were lost.

Las Esperanzas is a town of about 5,000 inhabitants, and is made up almost entirely of employes of the coal mines. It is situated seventy-five miles from Eagle Pass. Conditions are in such a chaotic state that reliable information to the exact number of dead is not at present available. The dispatcher's office at Monclavia reports that a special train with physicians and medical supplies has been dispatched to the scene of the explosion, but there is little hope that many have escaped alive.

The train is expected to reach the scene of the accident about 3 a. m. It is not thought any Amerians have lost their lives, as with the exception of mine bosses all the employes are foreigners. The mines were recently owned by the International railroad and were acquired by the government when the control of that road was assumed.

Sells $10,000,000 Notes.

New York.—It has been announced that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company of this city has sold $10,000,000 of three-year 5 per cent. notes to William A. Read & Co., of New York and Lee Higginson & Co., of Boston. The notes are redeemable after two years at a premium of 1 per cent.

Bar Star Reporters.

Topeka, Kans.—The Kansas senate by a vote of 24 to 13 adopted a resolution barring representatives of the Kansas City Star from the floor or galleries of the senate.

The action was taken because the Star printed articles commenting on the alleged pro-railroad tendencies of the senate.

Collum Pleads Guilty.

Huntsville, Ala.—The grand jury has returned true bills against Lee Collum a young white man, on charges of cursing in the presence of women and pubic drunkenness. Collum plead guilty in the circuit court and was sentenced to 194 days of hard labor in the mines.

Mutiny Aboard Turkish Ship.

Suez.—A serious mutiny occurred on a Turkish transport while the ship was passing through the canal. It ended by 300 soldiers jumping overboard. Ten of them were drowned or shot dead by the royal marines. The others reached shore and escaped.

Violated Anti-Trust Law.

Chicago.—Frederick A. Heabrook, a manufacturer's agent, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Griffith on a federal warrant charging him with conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law in dealing in church furniture.

Prince Wants to Fight.

St. Petersburg.—A story is current here that Prince Paul Dolgoroukoff, leader of the constitutional democratic party, who was expelled by unanimous vote from the Imperial Russian Yacht Club because of his anti-government teachings, has challenged every one of the members to a duel.

Assassin Fires Five Shots.

The Hague.—An insane man attempted to assassinate the minister of justice here, Dr. E. E. Vanrsalte. While the minister was standing in front of his residence, the lunatic fired five shots at him with a revolver, but missed him. The would-be assassin was arrested.

Bonds Lost.

New York.—Redmond & Co., bankers in Pine street, announced that 14 American railroad bonds worth about $11,000 were lost or stolen in transit to Paris. The bonds were sent by registered mail by the liner, La Savoie on January 17. They were insured in a marine insurance company for their full value, and they were put up in one bundle.

BARS CLOSED ON SUNDAY.

This Was for First Time in Twenty-five Years in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga.—For the first time in perhaps twenty-five years every saloon in the city of Savannah was shut up Sunday—shut up tight, too, with no side door effects. Perhaps a drink was obtainable here and there for love, but certainly none could be had for money.

This was decidedly a bizarre experience for Savannahians, many of whom are proverbially thirsty. This thirst seemed to be aggravated Sunday by the knowledge of the inability of the sufferers to allay it. There was no leaning across a polished bar and crooking the pregnant hinges of the elbow—not last Sunday.

Stevens Wires Taft.

Washington.—Secretary Taft received the following dispatch from Chief Engineer Stevens of the Isthmian canal commission, at Culebra:

"February with four working days will probably show 600,000 cubic yards of excavation in Culebra, and March will show 800,000 cubic yards excavation."

Transport State Officers.

Salem, Ore.—The state legislature has passed a compulsory bill which makes it obligatory on the part of the railroads to furnish free transportation to state and district officers and to county judges and sheriffs.

The bill has gone to the governor for his signature, but what his action will be is problematical.

Crashed into Switch Engine.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Rock Island passenger train No. 7, southbound, crashed into a switch engine in the East End yards here. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train were seriously hurt. Twenty-four passengers sustained cuts and bruises but none was seriously hurt.

Holds Convention.

Huntsville, Ala.—The quarterly meeting of the Second District Sunday school convention was held on Sunday afternoon in the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Meridianville, John M. Hampton presiding. Addresses on Sunday school work were made by R. E. Pettus and A. M. Booth, of this city.

Harriman in Control.

Memphis, Tenn.—Authoritative information received here is to the effect that Edward H. Harriman has secured control of the St. Louis Southwestern railroad. This system, known as the Cotton Belt, comprises 1,451 miles and extends from Cairo, Ill., to Waco and Fort Worth, Tex.

Four Blown to Atoms.

London, Ky.—Foreman Sutton and three of his crew were killed by a dynamite explosion near Hazle Patch, in this county, while making double track on the Louisville and Nashville railroad. The bodies were blown to atoms.

Sensation at Rio.

Rio de Janeiro.—The refusal of the Rothschilds to float the coffee loan has caused a sensation here. The Journal Do Commercio says the rebuke should convince the government that the coffee scheme is a dangerous adventure, which should be dropped.

Mrs. Rockefeller Ill.

Augusta, Ga.—John D. Rockefeller, who has been here for a month, left suddenly for New York on receipt of a telegram announcing the dangerous illness of his wife.

He was not accompanied by any of his family. He had expected to remain until after the winter had passed.

Old Statesman Dead.

Lincoln, Neb.—Maj. C. W. Pierce, of Lincoln, one of the framers of the Nebraska constitution and a pioneer lawmaker, died suddenly at Hastings, Fla., where he had gone for his health. He was a member of congress from the Fourth Alabama district in the late '60's.

For Jamestown Exposition.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The senate today passed the bill appropriating $45,000 for the Missouri exhibit at the Jamestown exposition.

Increase for Mobile Harbor.

Washington.—The rivers and harbors bill was reported to the senate as amended by the commerce committee. Among other amendments is one increasing the appropriation for Mobile bay from two to three thousand dollars.

Fire at Elberton.

Elberton, Ga.—The Southern railway depot building, 400 bales of cotton, eight freight cars and contents and a passenger train have been destroyed by fire. The loss is between $50,000 and $60,000. The fire was caused by sparks from a passing train igniting the cotton.

Atlanta After Cash Register Plant.

Atlanta, Ga.—The National Cash Register Company, of Dayton, O., is getting ready to move its plant on account of certain differences between the company and the city council of that city, and Atlanta has gone to work through its chamber of commerce trying to get it. The plant has about 6,000 employes and is one of the models of the country. Several eastern cities are strong in the bidding for it.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Wednesday.

The senate sent over to the house today a joint resolution which that body had passed thanking the people of Mobile for their hospitality and kindness to the legislators while there at Mardi Gras. The resolution also passed the house.

The senate sent over a joint resolution which called for an adjournment Thursday until Saturday and calling for a meeting of the various committees, and all members must attend unless excused by the various chairmen.

At this time the speaker signed the bill increasing the salaries of supreme court justices to $2,000 a year.

The bill to provide for the payment of interest on the fund in the state treasury, the proceeds of lands sold by the Alabama Girls' Industrial School, was taken up and passed.

The house also passed the bill to amend section 447 of the code of 1896, by which power was taken from the auditor for the settlement with a convict contractor and given to the state convict board.

The house took up the bill to regulate the registration, branding, sale, tagging and analysis of commercial fertilizers, acid phosphates, fertilizer materials and chemicals.

Bills were presented as follows in the senate:

To legalize registration of deeds.

To amend sections 3842, 3843 and 3844 of the code.

A resolution was offered for adjournment from Thursday to Saturday that committees may catch up with the work now before them.

The house reported the passage of the local option bill. It was read and referred to the committee on temperance.

The house amended code commission bill to provide for printed copies of the code commissioner's report, and other changes were reported.

On motion of Mr. Reese, the bill went over to Thursday.

The amendment to the code bill increases the number of the commission from five to eight, provides for codifying the laws of the present session and for filling vacancies.

The president of the senate signed the bill to increase the salaries of the supreme court judges.

Senator Miller introduced two bills as follows:

To provide for use of surplus money in fine and forfeiture fund.

To amend the law authorizing the city court of Bessemer. This gives Bessemer a new city court.

The senate passed the bill creating the fifteenth judicial circuit, which is composed of the counties of Montgomery, Autauga, Elmore and Chilton. The governor is to appoint the judge and solicitor.

The senate passed the Greater Mobile bill.

Thursday.

After a rather warm fight, the senate passed the salary equalization bill providing for raise in salaries of practically all of the employes of the capitol.

The governor, by former Private Secretary J. Kirk Jackson, sent to the senate the following list of trustees of the university, recently elected, for confirmation: Second district, M. P. LeGrand, Montgomery; Fifth district, Daniel Pratt, Prattville; Seventh district, H. T. Davis, Gadsden; Ninth district, Hugh Morrow, Birmingham; Third district, E. H. Glenn, Seale; Sixth district, H. B. Foster, Tuscaloosa; Eighth district, T. C. McClellan, Athens.

The following bills were introduced in the senate:

To enlarge the powers of the New Decatur school trustees.

To provide punishment for assault with intent to ravish.

To provide for the custody of minor children, whose parents are morally unfit.

To allow railroads to secure property by condemnation.

To appropriate $25,000 annually to state fairs at Montgomery, Birmingham, Selma and Huntsville.

The following bills were reported favorably:

To provide for lowering the Fifth avenue subway of the Birmingham terminal station.

To make the judge and clerk of the Calhoun county court elective.

To abolish the county court of Cleburne county.

To authorize Pell City to operate a dispensary.

To divide St. Clair county into two judicial districts.

To repeal charters of several social and alleged gaming clubs of Birmingham.

To extend the city limits of Oxford.

To prohibit the sale of liquors in Fayette county.

Opposes Convicts on Canal.

Anniston, Ala.—The National Contractors' Association, which convened in this city, declared against the proposition to allow the several states to employ their convicts for service on the Panama canal. Vice-President E. W. Jordan in referring to this measure declared that it would mean the utter demoralization of the contractors' work, as well as injuring the mines and all other industries employing cheap labor.

To regulate the sale of whiskey in Talladega.

The following bills were reported favorably in the house:

To amend the educational redistricting laws.

The railroad regulation bill to prohibit discrimination.

The bill to enlarge the powers of the railroad commission.

To protect live stock from dogs.

To authorize Walker county commissioners to borrow money.

To authorize the county treasurer of Jefferson county to pay $50 a month to the assistant solicitor of the Birmingham police court.

To re-establish the Bessemer city court's jurisdiction.

The following bills were introduced:

To make it unlawful to practice law without obtaining license.

To authorize boards of revenue to transfer revenues to the board fund.

To establish a dispensary at Elba.

To require the publication of the holders of federal liquor license.

To amend the acts establishing the Tuskegee Normal school.

To repeal the law exempting the Tuskegee Institute from taxation.

The house passed the game and fish bill with amendments as proposed by Friday.

Today being a recess day in the legislature, the time was given over the governor.

Saturday.

The following bills were introduced:

To prohibit holders of mortgages from collecting same by threats of any kind.

To provide for the rearrangement of the public school districts of the state.

The following bills were reported favorably:

To regulate the sale of stocks of goods in the bulk.

To confer authority upon railroads to acquire depot sites by condemnation.

The John anti-lobby bill.

To fix salaries of circuit judges and chancellors.

To create a county auditor in Walker county.

The bill to provide for the custody of minor children whose parents are morally unfit was reported favorably by the temperance committee.

Chairman Long, of the committee on commerce and common carriers, called up senate bill 16, classifying the railroads and fixing minimum rates. The reading of the bill consumed nearly an hour. The bill was then passed.

The house engaged in a lengthy wrangle over an amendement that had been added to the administration's demurrage bill. The question was finally adjusted and the bill passed.

The senate passed the bill providing for the inspection of the state prisons and jails and creating the office of inspector.

The bill to provide that railroads could test the validity of any rate fixed by law was called up in the senate by Senator Overton and passed.

The bill to provide for the revocation of the license of railroads carrying cases to federal courts was called up. Many senators objected on the ground that they were ignorant of the provisions of the bill. Mr. Thomas offered an amendment to provide that cases could be taken to the United States supreme court. The amendment was tabled. Mr. Thomas then moved to postpone the bill until Tuesday and the motion prevailed.

The Mobile juvenile court bill was called up and passed.

Monday.

Bills were presented in the senate as follows:

To aid in the establishment of libraries in free public schools of the state.

To establish high schools.

Several local bills.

To extend the limits of Linden.

The house passed the Greater Birmingham bill without opposition.

The following bills were introduced into the house:

To amend an act establishing the criminal court of Birmingham.

To vacate parts of Seventh and Ninth streets in North Birmingham.

To prohibit the sale of liquor in certain parts of Henry county.

To incorporate the town of Sulligent.

The bill to define and regulate negotiable instruments was passed by the house; also the bill to authorize cities to erect, own and maintain separate water works systems.

HURLED INTO ETERNITY WITHOUT WARNING.

Four Coaches with Matinee Crowd Leave Track.

BODIES GROUND TO PIECES.

Terrific Crash as Electric-Drawn Brewster Express Whirls Around Curve—Horror of Holocaust Averted by Broken Third Rail.

New York.—Sixteen passengers were killed outright, four others had died of their injuries and at least 147 more were more or less seriously injured following the wreck of the White Plains and Brewster express on the Harlem division of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad near Woodlawn Road, in the Bronx borough of Greater New York, Saturday night.

The train was filled with matinee crowds and commuters, and was made up of two electric motors, a combination baggage and smoking car and four passenger coaches. It left the Grand Central station at 6:13 o'clock with the first scheduled stop at White Plains. It was running at high speed when it reached Woodlawn Road, where there is a sharp curve. The motors and the second car took the curve safely, but the following coaches were derailed, and, tumbling on their sides, were dragged one hundred yards before the couplings gave way and the four cars piled together in ruins at the foot of a low embankment. A sheet of electric flame enveloped the railroad car, and for a moment threatened to roast the victims pinioned in the debris. The flames did not, however, spread, and the horror of a holocaust was averted. As the cars fell they smashed the third rail, breaking the current and ending the danger from this source. In the crash which followed there was death for many, while practically every one in the four coaches received injuries of some sort. Many were ground to pieces, and for hours identification was almost hopeless.

As the cars went over many of the passengers were thrown into or through the windows and were so cut and maimed.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Standard Oil Company Answers in Seven Cases.

Chicago.—Pleas of not guilty were formally entered by the Standard Oil Company in seven of the eight cases in which the corporation is under indictment on the charge of accepting rebates from railroads in violation of the Elkins law.

In the other cases a plea of not guilty had already been entered. No date has been set for the trial, but it is probable that it will begin about the middle of next month.

MRS. BRADLEY INDICTED.

Charged With Murder of Former U. S. Senator Brown.

Washington.—Mrs. Annie M. Bradley has been indicted for murder in the first degree for the shooting of former Senator Arthur M. Brown, of Utah, at the Raleigh hotel in this city, on the 8th of last December, causing his death December 13.

Mrs. Bradley probably will be arraigned under the indictment some time next week. Her trial will not take place for perhaps two months. She is at present confined in the district jail.

Fugitive Killed Himself.

New Orleans.—When a posse overtook Joseph Corban he shot and instantly killed himself. Corban was suspected of being the man who shot up a Shrewsbury saloon two nights ago, killing one man and wounding three others. He was caught near Lutcher, La.

Would Disbar Madden.

St. Paul, Minn.—The Minnesota Editorial Association passed several resolutions, among them being one in which the association pledged itself to work for the disbarment of Third Assistant Postmaster Madden, who had proved himself inefficient to hold office.

German Editor Coming.

Berlin.—Dr. Theodore Barth, editor of the Die Nation, is to make an extensive tour of the United States, beginning in April. His paper, one of the leading political weeklies of Germany, is to be discontinued.

Dr. Barth has been an energetic advocate of co-operation between the liberals and social democrats. The recent reichstag elections showed that the plan had met with no favor.

Poles Threaten Strike.

Berlin.—The Poles in Prussian Poland, encouraged by their victory in the rechstag elections, are planning a demonstration against the government. The Polish newspapers announce that in the spring the Polish agricultural workers will begin a great strike against the German land owners. The lack of labor is already a serious problem in the agricultural districts of Germany.

QUEEN HATASU'S CAREER.

Prof. Naville's Account of the Woman Who Reigned Over Egypt.

Prof. Naville traces the life and personality of the only woman who in the course of 5,000 years ever ruled over United Egypt. Hatasu, Hatshepsut or Hatchepsith, as the vagaries of Egyptian transliteration have caused her to be successively called, was the daughter of Thothmes I. and Queen Aahmes. As she was of royal blood on both sides, she had claims to the throne superior to those of her half-brother, also called Thothmes, and as she must have early shown a capacity for sovereignty, she was during her father's lifetime associated with him on the throne and brought up with the masculine name of Kamara, or, as M. Maspero prefers to read it, Makeri. Yet the Egyptians evidently did not take kindly to the idea of a female sovereign, and Hatasu found it expedient—as M. Naville thinks, while her father was alive—to marry her half-brother, who later reigned with her as her consort under the title of Thothmes II.

On her husband's death, which, according to M. Naville, occurred about the third year of his reign, Hatasu usurped the throne, though acknowledging the right of her nephew to succeed her husband. For some twenty years she reigned, calling herself King and not Queen of Egypt, as she had done during her husband's lifetime. Yet she associated her nephew with her on the throne, as her father had done with herself, and when she died he succeeded her and became the greatest conqueror that Egypt ever produced. M. Naville thinks that the relations of the aunt and the nephew were better than is generally supposed, and points out that the wholesale erasure of Hatasu's name from the monuments did not take place until the close of the conqueror's solo reign. But all the facts that can be verified about Hatasu are as here stated, and the recent attempt of the Berlin school to establish a series of dethronements and restorations, in the course of which Thothmes III. married his aunt and Thothmes II. allied himself with his still living father and cast the pair off the throne, has been entirely knocked on the head by M. Legrain's discovery at Karnak of many bas-reliefs showing Thothmes II. as king, with Hatasu, in the dependent position of queen, standing behind him.

In other matters, too, M. Naville, without traveling out of the record of ascertained facts, gives us much needed information. He was still suffering from the waste and ruin of the Hykaos invasion, and that it was probably due to her wise and peaceful rule that Thothmes III. found the land able to support the drain of blood and treasure imposed by his own Napoleonic policy. That she throughout strove with success to establish commercial relations with neighboring nations is shown by her famous expedition to Punt, and M. Naville explains that much of the treasure which Egyptian kings were in the habit of displaying on their monuments as tribute really consisted of foreign goods obtained by purchase or barter.

He is also very instructive on the ceremonies attaching to Egyptian royalty, and shows from many examples taken from Hatasu's monuments that the royal ka, or double, was worshipped during the life of its living counterpart, and that the many coronation scenes where the Pharoah is depicted as being crowned, baptized and installed on different thrones by various animal headed gods represent ceremonies that were actually performed, the parts of the deities being filled by masked priests. It is curious also to note that the cutting out of a former king's name from public monuments—a practice which has descended to modern times—was thought really to lead to his annihilation in the under world, and that the fashion of walking backward in the presence of royalty seems to be also derived from the ways of the priests in the sanctuary where the royal image was set up. In all these matters M. Naville's long study of the temples that he has for many years successfully excavated at Deir el Bahari makes his conclusions especially valuable.—From the Athenæum.

The Waiter Gave the Tip.

William C. Whitney, Jr., who has spent a year in Indian Territory learning practical mining at Quapaw, described at a dinner party in New York a Quapaw restaurant.

"One evening at this restaurant," he said, "two miners near me got into a botanical argument about the pineapple, one claiming that it was a fruit and the other that it was a vegetable. In the midst of their argument the waiter entered in his shirt sleeves and looked about to see what was the cause of the loud talking.

"The miners decided to let the waiter settle their argument, and accordingly one of them said:

"Pete, what is a pineapple? Is it a fruit of a vegetable?"

"The waiter, flicking the ash from his cigar, smiled at the two men with pity.

"'Neither, gents,' he said; 'it's an extra.'"—Boston Herald.

How to Make a Magazine.

The truth is that magazine editors ought to be kept fresh all the time. They should be sent about the country and over the world at frequent intervals. They should marry often in order to get constant new jolts in the matrimonial line. They should belong to all the churches and on occasions be heretics. And every few years they should be taken out and drowned.—Life.

A MILITARY DESPOT.

The Experience of One Private In the German Army.

The following is the experience of a German army private:

During the second maneuvers I was sent on ahead to select quarters for my company. The police supply the names of householders who are expected to shelter the soldiery, and I had to decide on the number of men who should be assigned to each place.

It seems that our major dispatched a courier with a message for our captain. For some reason or other the message was not delivered. The next day the captain called me out and in the presence of the whole company rebuked me for not delivering the message.

"I did not receive any message," I ventured.

"Shut up your mouth, you liar!" he thundered. And again he bellowed, "Why didn't you deliver that message, you"—

I told him a second time that I had not received any message. The captain's temper broke all bounds. With an oath he rode his horse at me full tilt, hurling filthy names at me the while.

When he had ridden right up to me—I fully expected he would run me over, but I dared not move—he suddenly reined in his horse and, drawing a long dagger from his belt, shouted, livid with passion, "I have half a mind to stick this through your vile body, you schweinhund!"

Once more he asked me about the message, and once more I answered him.

"Then five days' confinement and bread and water be your punishment, you liar!" he retorted.

He repeated the question several times and increased my term of imprisonment each time I answered in the negative until my term of imprisonment equaled fourteen days. I was placed under arrest. Next day I was released.

I afterward found that the captain had discovered his mistake, but he never referred to it.—World Today.

BIRTH OF A "GASSER."

Noise of a Blowing Well Drowned All Other Sounds.

In the Broadway Magazine is a story by Rupert Hughes concerning the oil wells of Texas. He tells of the birth of a "gasser."

"It screamed like the death cry of a thousand panthers." He says: "The long steel cable has been sent flying like a twine string. A great length of pipe has been hurled against a tree and wrapped around it. The derrick was almost hidden in a white haze. A geyser of fine sand was streaming upward and eating away the lofty crown block.

"Seth knew what it was. He found Tom, and they gesticulated at each other. They made faces, but no audible sound. Their voices were vain as candles in the full sunlight. Each was trying to yell the same thing.

"'She's a gasser, blowing her head off.'

"Men gathered from everywhere and acted like crazy folk, working their jaws and delivering no message.

"They were soaked, drowned, obliterated in a sea of intolerable noise.

"A mile away at the railroad station the passengers were equally made dumb by the uproar. If a man wanted a ticket he had to write out the name of the station. An engine rolled in with a bell that rocked without sound and a whistle emitting puffs of white steam that no one heard.

"The animals of the region were greatly disturbed. There was much breaking of harness on the part of horses, and one or two galloped about under empty saddles. Their riders were doubtless stuck in the mud somewhere, head first.

"A few pigs wandering here and there had sniffed at the noise and returned to their luxurious wallows in the oily muck."

Pretty Crooked.

People who have seen cottonwood lumber warp when it came from the saw can appreciate a story about the first sawmill erected at Fort Scott. After the first day's sawing the owner of the mill came down from town, where he had been celebrating the "opening" with the boys. He looked over the crooked boards scattered about the yard for a moment and then inquired with drunken gravity:

"Boysh (hic), has that lumber been measured yet?"

"It has not," replied the foreman of the mill.

"Well, when it gets still, take a (hic) corkscrew and measure it."

Pilgrims' Rest.

Farmers are preparing for another crop, and cotton seems to be the order of the day now.

Now, a word in reply to the piece in the issue from Plantersville that the Autauga county girl wrote. Of coure we Chilton boys and girls like to hear anyone speak well of us. She signed her name "Nobody's Darling." Now, dear girl, you will always have to sign your name that way as long as you live in a county where there is such bashful boys as there are in Autauga county, you ought to move up in Chilton, where the little game boys live, then you would not have to sign your name Nobody's Darling.

Some of these big magazine editors are humorous at times. In response to this inquiry from an amateur, "What does poetry bring in New York?" one of them replied:

Valentine Party.

The valentine party, given at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dyer at Stanton last Thursday night was a decided success. At 7:30 the guests began to arrive and before an hour had elapsed, the rooms were filled to overflowing and laughter of the young people could be heard all over the place Among the honored guests present, were Miss Ray Stewart of Centreville, Mrs. J. F. Gregory, Misses Natalie Reed, Lena Parnell, Jennie Sherrer and Messrs T. R. Yates and Spencer, all of Riderville.

Mrs. Dyer was assisted in entertaining her guests by Mrs. Gregory. various games were played. The most prominent feature of the evening was the shooting contest; a large heart was placed at one end of the hall and each guest was given the bow and arrow, and in turn tried to see who could hit the heart in the center. Miss Jennie Sherrer, by crushing the heart nearest the center, won the first prize, a beautiful pin; Miss Ray Stewart won the booby prize, a large candy heart.

The rooms were most tastefully decorated with large hearts made of evergreen and holly. At 10:30 the guests were ushered into the beautiful dining room which was most artistically arranged with hearts; the table, on which was served delicious refreshments, was a scene of lovliness, two large hearts attached to ribbons were hanging over the center of the table with ribbon extending from the hearts to all parts of the table, at each end was a large bowl of cut flowers.

After enjoying the nice refreshments and the beautiful scenes of the dining room, the parlor, the most novel idea of the evening, was the post office which opened promptly at eleven o'clock; each guest called at the office and received a beautiful valentine as a souvenir of the evening. All too soon came the hour of departure, and as each one bade their charming host and hostess adieu, they assured them that the evening had been most enjoyably spent by wishing for another kind invitation to visit their home.

IN MEMORIAM

On Feb. 13, at half past twelve o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Mr. N. Q. Andrews and took to the land from whence no wanderer ever returns, his only child, Mrs. Susan Atchison. She was about 48 years old, and leaves a father, mother, husband and three children and a host of friends to mourn her loss. She had been sick for nearly two years with consumption. During her sickness she never murmured or complained but bore her suffering with Christian patience, often exclaiming "Master how much longer?" She joined the church in early girlhood and has since lived a Christian life. Truly can we say to know her was to love her. Her bereaved relatives have our deepest sympathy Remember that our loss is heaven's gain. A FRIEND.

State Sunday School Convention.

Fairview.

Farmers are busy preparing for another crop. It seems like spring has come, to see the beautiful sunshine beaming down. On Thursday night last a crowd met at Mr. R. J. Jones' for a valentine drawing. While Mr. W. B. Vance and Mrs. Pearl Vance were reading them, we had a delightful time laughing. Mr. Berry Culp and two daughters, Misses Fleedie and Lela, visited Mr. Vance's Sunday.

Mr. W. B. Vance and sister Miss Allie, attended the apron party at Mr. Will Cooper's last Saturday night and report a nice time. We had another singing at Mr. A. C. Mims' last Sunday afternoon, and was enjoyed by all. I believe the young people enjoy themselves in meeting together and singing the praises of God. If both young and old would take more interest in singing I think we would have better churches and Sunday schools, for singing is the life of a church.

Letter to H. Headley & Bro.
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sirs: It is a great thing for a merchant to have the exclusive sale (in his region, of course) of anything wanted by everybody.

There are two ways to treat such goods One is: put the price up and make big profit. The other is: be fair and make more

Devoe is the paint that takes least gallons and costs least money a house, a job, a year, a lifetime—no matter how you reckon your costs, except by the gallon—Devoe is the best care-taker and costs least money.

Don't forget that the principle art of the cost of paint is putting it on. Less gallons, less cost. Don't forget that another principle part of economy is long wear; less gallons, less cost and long wear.

It is a great thing to have the exclusive sale of popular goods, of goods that makes friends, of goods that enrich both buyer and seller. Devoe is perhaps only ten per cent better than one or two others; but ten is a-plenty—it's 200 or 300 better than many.

There's many a merchant who hasn't found-out his goods. It doesn't take a man long to find-out that Devoe is the least-money paint and why, no matter which side he is on.

Yours truly

Skin Disease of Twenty year's Standing Cured.

I want you to know how much Chamberlain's Salve has done for me. It has cured my face of a skin disease of almost twenty year's standing. I have been treated by several as smart physicians as we have in this country and they did me no good, but two boxes of this salve has cured me.—Mrs. FANNIE GRIFFIN, Troy, Ala. Chamberlain's Salve is for sale by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be fatal in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

THREE EPOCHS IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

MRS. ELVA BARBER EDWARDS

MRS. GEORGE WALTERS

There are three critical stages in a woman's life which leave their mark in her career. The first of these stages is womanhood, or the change from a care free girl to budding womanhood. The second is motherhood, and the third is Change of Life.

Perils surround each of these stages, and most of the misery that comes to women through ill health dates from one or another of these important crises.

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs has carried thousands of young girls over the critical period of puberty, has prepared mothers for childbirth, and in later years carried them safely through the change of life more successfully than any other remedy in the world. Thousands of testimonials from grateful persons, two of which are here published, substantiate this fact beyond contradiction.

Mrs. George Walters of Woodlawn, Ill. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell you of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me in preparing for childbirth. After suffering and losing my children a friend advised me to try your valuable medicine, and the result was that I had very little inconvenience, a quick recovery and as healthy a child as can be found anywhere. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a blessing to all expectant mothers."

Mrs. Elva Barber Edwards, of Cathlamet, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I want to tell you how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carried me through the critical period of the Change of Life without any trouble whatever, also cured me of a very severe female weakness. I cannot say enough in praise of what your medicine has done for me."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Edwards it will do for other women in their condition. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and helpful.

During its long record of more than thirty years its long list of actual cures, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes Sick Women Well.

A Straight Path

From the cotton field to prosperity, and a large, constantly growing bank account awaits you if you plant, fertilize and cultivate your crop with system.

The most important thing is to apply to your soil, about ten days before seeding, a plant food in the shape of 400 to 1000 pounds of high grade per acre on fewer acres. If you follow this advice, your cotton will be waist high by the time many of your "extensive culture" neighbors are hoeing over their crop the first time. Then too they may have used a poor grade fertilizer. Insist upon having only VIRGINIA-CAROLINA FERTILIZERS—accept no substitute.

Ask your dealer for a copy of our handsome new almanac, or write us for one—it is free.

THE PULPIT

A SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON, THE FAMOUS DIVINE.

Subject: Clothed With Christ.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme, "Clothed With Christ," the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, pastor, took as his text Romans 13:14 and 14:8: "Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ. For whether we live, we live unto the Lord, and whether we die, we die unto the Lord; whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's." He said:

The need to-day in the church of our Lord and Saviour is for men and women who are truly Christ's. The call of God and of the world about us is for men and for women who in life and unto death are the Lord's. High in His Heaven the Father yearns in the deepest recesses of His heart for human souls who will serve the Master tirelessly and with a living faith. The world looks toward the servants of Jehovah for leadership and light. Whichever way we may turn our eyes, we may discern the pleading, beckoning hands of Jesus and of men who want salvation. Do we listen but a moment we may catch the cry of a sin-sick world and may hear the call of God. Beloved, God desires and man needs a strong, full-blooded, sanctified host to live aad to preach the true Christ life. The consummation of the Kingdom and the coming of the Christ depend largely upon the activity of us who are called Christians. The measure of our fullness of life within Christ Jesus will be the measure of our lasting influence with men, of our favor in the sight of God, of the amount of Heaven's happiness that shall fill our hearts. The way unto "righteousness and peace and joy" is through thorough-going union within the Christ. He is the mediator of our sure salvation. He is the leader who can bring us perfect love and who is worthy of our aid. Within Him and clothed with the power that He gives we may fear naught but God. Without Him all is vanity. Are you weary? Put on Christ. Are you sad or sick or do you wish the richest joy? Turn to Jesus. He is the healer of the whole world's ills. He is the Saviour who can really give salvation.

The burden of our text is a call for the strict and whole-hearted allegiance of the individual man and Christian to Jesus Christ. "Put ye on the Lord Jesus," says Saint Paul, and the implication is that we are to dwell wholly within the Christ. The call is for men and for women who will be clothed upon with Jesus Christ—not merely once but continually—unto the attainment of the perfect likeness of our Lord.

Now the text brings us face to face—do we think a moment—with these two separate and distinct truths. The first is that it is the duty of every man to enter into the Christ life. The second is that having entered into that life we must progress toward Christlikeness. That is to say, we must grow continually toward spiritual maturity and toward the perfectness of character which should accept the Lord as Saviour, for His power to save is a fact proven and attested by a long line of human experience. We Christians ought to grow into new and richer graces, for thus only do we evidence our love for that Master whom we serve.

The duty which we have predicated to be obligatory upon every man is not less a need. The man who neglects to obey the call of Christ for entire yielding of self up to God, destroys for himself the greatest blessing which, in life, may be attained, and which God proffers to human kind. Only as we accept the Christ as our Saviour and our Friend are we surest of life eternal and of fellowship with the Father here. Convinced of the awfulness of our own sin, as every normal, right-minded man must be, it is clearly as much a necessity as an obligation for each of us to seek and to sieze that certain cleansing from the stains of an evil life which God has sent us through His Son, our Elder Brother. Desiring, as we all do, the highest happiness for self, it is hard to understand why men refuse the Gospel. Hoping, as each of us should hope, for the accomplishment of the greatest usefulness in the world, it is difficult to believe that men can, deliberately and willfully, disdain to accept that Heaven-born power which can make us most worth while. Purity, happiness, success: All three can be had at the hands of God Himself if men will but heed the Gospel of His Son. Wise is the sinning soul who believes. For he who loves Christ, lives best.

If the need of the man who is far away from God is great to put on Christ, the obligation of the Christian to be continuously clothed upon by Christ is just as real. We must ever be renewing that spiritual life with which the Christ in our first acceptance of Him hath clothed us. The Christ life permits neither standstills nor retrogression. We must be on the move and that always ahead. To stand still is to stagnate. We must push on. Desire for further and grander attainment in the God-blessed life should always consume us as with a fire. Our faculties should be concentrated not upon present success but upon future accomplishment. Self-survey is a good thing if so be it lead not to self-satisfaction. That self-survey, moreover, is most profitable which takes stock of mistakes and which incites to further and finer effort. Belief on Christ is not merely assent to a fact, but the consecration of the soul to a life of service for His sake. More belief may gain us Heaven, but we must labor would we grow in grace. Many of us who would be ashamed to be rated as "just passed" in the records of this life's victories, seem to be very well satisfied to slide into Heaven with but small margin to spare. The best of our love and our work is none too good for God. The apostle was right when in the words of the text he advised us unreservedly to put on Jesus Christ. Thus only can we become the children of God whom we should be—for the fullness of the Christ is perfection.

And now that we have considered thus briefly the reasons why all men should serve God and all Christians should be re-clothed day by day with Christ, let us also reflect what is the nature of this life wherewith we are clothed by Christ. What does the apostle mean when he urges us to put on Jesus? What sort of men will we be?

Well, to be sure the first answer will be that the nature of that spiritual life wherewith we are to be re-clothed or clothed upon, as the case may be, is essentially Christly. The apostle advises us to be Christlike when he points us to Jesus. Necessarily and logically, therefore, we will be men who act and live like Jesus Christ. The hymn which runs, "Jesus Christ is my all and in all," states the situation perfectly. Self is glorified through the losing of self in the Saviour.

To put on Jesus Christ and to be clothed upon by Him is to be saved, to grow from grace unto grace, to be one of that strong, full-blooded, sanctified host who, under God, live and preach the Christ life. You will notice I say live and preach, for the only preaching that is of value or that, in the long run, will count for anything very much, is the preaching that flows rich and full and free out of a life that is consistent, that rings true; out of a heart rich with experience of the glorious joys and possibilities of the life within Jesus. And as with the preaching, so also with all the means by which God's Gospel is mediated to men. The only testimony which secures results is that which springs from a trusted source. The only word which will strike home is that which has behind it a conviction and an assurance that is born of experimental knowledge. To preach Christ with power we must be accounted sincere and sure.

The Christ man will be a strong man. That is to say, he will be full of force. He may be warped and drawn physically, as one mighty messenger of God whom I know, but his heart is pure, and his mind is clean, and his soul looks out toward Heaven through windows that are not dimmed by sin.

The man who is clothed by and with Jesus is a full-blooded man. His heart beats powerfully, his eye is clear, his head works quick, his hand is ready and his step is firm when sin is to be met and battled to the death. Without a quiver, a quaver, or even the slightest fear will he fight against the wrong. To be sure, he may not be blue-blooded, as the social standards of our day set the term. He may quail to force the unjust combat. He may refuse to pick a quarrel merely in order to despoil a people. But there, there where the fight is hottest and sin is strongest entrenched; there where the odds are against him and it seems his God must fail; there, on the Lord's own side, will you find the man who is clothed upon with Christ.

But, above all, the man who puts on Christ continually is sanctified. He is being perfected in holiness. He is in process of attainment in growth in godliness. Sanctification is not only perfectness, but the process and way to holiness entire. The aim of the man who is serving is for the goal. His hand is ever in the hand of God. He never lets policy give the sidetrack to principle. With him truth has the right of way and the clear road always. His motives are above suspicion. If he falls in the race he is still undaunted. For him, to be well up at the end, is ambition's hope. To keep the faith is his endeavor. "For Christ and the world" is his motto.

Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ and be ye clothed progressively with Him. Thus shall ye learn the highest service, thus shall ye enter into knowledge of the finest life.

Nourishing the Soul.

Why should not everybody, especially every church member, belong to the Sunday-school? asks the editor of the Observer. Surely no one can lay claim to sufficient knowledge of the Bible. Even the most scholarly men of the age are constantly studying the Old Book, and are ever finding something new in it. In spite of the sensation produced by recent works of fiction, the Bible is more discussed to-day than any other book, and the interest is of the intensest kind. Such a book ought to be studied regularly by every person. We are convinced that by joining the Sunday-school and making use of the best helps in Bible study, the best results can be secured. Good helps are cheap, for one thing. Then the study of certain portions of the Bible every week will tend to regular and systematic habits of nourishing the soul with the very food that it most needs.—Ram's Horn.

Make Us Strong in Trial.

We remember the temptations that are before us, when passion from within is allied with opportunity from without, and that we have so often therein gone astray, and we pray Thee that the spirit of religion may be so strong within us that it shall enable us to overcome evil, and prove ourselves stronger for every trial. Amen.—Theodore Parker.

Best Environment.

True religion comes not by violence, but chiefly, I think, from being brought up with good men, reverencing their ways and words.—R. R. Crockett.

Meaning of Watching and Praying.

The call to watch and pray means more than watching your neighbor.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR FEBRUARY 21, BY THE REV. I. W. HENDERSON.

Subject: God's Covenant With Abram, Gen. 15:1, 5-16—Golden Text: Gen. 15:6—Memory Verses: 5, 6.

The lesson is full of promise. It has also a fulness of textual perplexities. Two stories of the events are, evidently, interwoven. Other stories of a remarkably similar character are to be found in Genesis 13 and 17. The record we are to study, and the others also, tells a single tale. The apparent differences are minor. They do not affect the central, controlling promise-story as a consequence of and as a reward for righteousness Jehovah covenants with Abram that his descendants shall be beyond numbers.

The lesson is replete with promises. They are obvious. A simple reading will reveal them. We shall concern ourselves, however, not with the multiplicity of divine assurances, but with the single promise which, in its out-reach and implicates, concerns humanity for all time.

This promise was given by a proven God to a man of faith. The God who, as an expression of His joy in and love for His trusting servant, declared His intention to make him the father of a multitude of nations was not a God whose word had never yet been validated in experience. Abram had tried God and had found Him true. In Ur and Haran and Canaan and Egypt, at home and abroad, in prosperity and in adversity, Abram had found God to be as good as His word, and to be solicitions for his welfare. And the Almighty had found Abram to be a man of faith and of religious tenacity. He had found him to be a man above his generation, fit to become the medium of a larger gospel and to assume a commanding position in his own time.

The promise, in the face of the age and childlessness of Abram, was one that called for the largest faith in order to believing acceptance upon Abram's part. It was, from his point of view, a thing unthinkable. The tremendousness of the promise was such that we should have been astonished had he not asked, rather than that he did ask, Jehovah for a sign. It was a big promise even to a man of surpassing faith. And, after all, Abram, student of divine things as he was, was yet a man.

The promise was a logical one. It was perfectly possible, however stupendous it was. The eternal laws of God, controlling in heaven and upon earth, were a guarantee of its fulfillment. The word of Christ, seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, was as valid before and in the day of Abraham as it is in our own time. A vital faith in God is the first need and the surety of a prosperous, constantly enlarging, time-transcending life. The sort of faith that Abram had, the sort of life that Abram lived, the sort of conception of Jehovah that Abram enjoyed, carried to its logical conclusions must of necessity eventuate in the world-wide power that God predicted. If faith in God and righteousness are the essentials which underlie all successful life then of necessity Abram's faith had to be rewarded after the fashion that God promised. Individual and national lasting prosperity is founded on morals. A righteous nation is a people assured of advancement. A godly man is one whose influence never dies.

"Thou shalt be buried in a good old age," says Jehovah to Abram. And there never was a falser adage than this, "the good die young." A good man never dies. And if he lives in accordance with all the laws of God, natural as well as spiritual, it is a certainty that, all things being equal, he will be the last man to be translated out of this life.

Let us learn from this story of the career of Abram to have faith, to be godly; let us learn of the surpassing faithfulness of our Father. Thus may we be influential forever, thus shall we learn the secret of longevity, thus shall we, too, see visions.

Vs. 1. "Word." This is the usual language of the Old Testament in prefacing these visions. "Vision." This was a characteristic method of revelation in those days. "Shield." The Psalms so speak of God frequently. "Reward." Better, "Thy reward is exceedingly great." The reward evidently comes because of the acts of Abram that precede the lesson. The acts are summed up in two words at the forepart of the verse, "these things." Abram had, we remember, erected altars, obeyed Jehovah, done well by Lot.

Vs. 6. "Believed." Paul in Rom. 4:3; Gal. 3:6, bases his doctrine of justification on this. In Jas. 2:21-24, we see another use of this Scripture. Here it is used to support a contention for the saving value of good works.

Vs. 12. "Sun." It was night in verses 1 and 5. There is nothing to show that a day has intervened. Likewise there is nothing to show that a day has not intervened. It is possible that the material here set forth is the result of a compilation of two stories of the same event. But such a supposition is not at all necessary in order to get sense out of the verses, and some sequence. "Sleep." The sort that came on Adam.

Vs. 15. "Age." One hundred and sixty-five years.

Vs. 16. "Fourth." One hundred and twenty years. This does not coincide with 400 years. It is likely that two stories are interwoven. A generation may have been 100 years in that day. In that event the difficulty unravels itself.

Judge Didn't Want Them.

The late Chief Justice Doe of New Hampshire once excused two jurors for deafness in quick succession, and without much examination into the soundness of their excuse.

The clerk of court suggested to the judge the possibility of deceit on the part of one or both.

"No matter," snapped Judge Doe, "if they're deaf we don't want them, and if they're liars we don't want them."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

BABY TORTURED BY ITCH

Rash Covered Face and Feet—Cry Until Tired Out—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"My baby was about nine months old when she had rash on her face. Her feet seemed to irritate her especially nights. They would itch and be broken of her rest, and sometimes would cry until she was tired out. We always used Cuticura Soap myself and heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before we had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as 'cradle cap' from her head, and it worked like a charm, as it not only healed the scalp at the same time but left the hair soft and glossy. I keep Cuticura Ointment on hand all the time, for if any little rash or insect bite appears it takes out the inflammation at once. Perhaps this may be the means of saving other suffering babies. The Modern Sailor.

"The worst feature of ocean travel is never mentioned in steamship company prospectuses or in books of travel," said a returned tourist. "It is not seasickness, for only a few are taken that way in the new ocean greyhounds that neither rock nor roll. It is not the narrow quarters or the inferior cooking or the tipping. It is paint. There is always fresh paint on an ocean steamship, and there is never a sign on it to warn passengers. The modern ship has a painter, constantly wielding the brush, always painting some part of the ship or other. There is hardly a passage on an ocean liner that does not ruin from a voyage with some article of apparel damaged by paint. A sailor told me once that every ship is entirely repainted inside and out at least three times a year. The work goes on constantly in port and out, and the passenger never can escape."—Philadelphia Record.

Thirty years of experience has proved its worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach, liver and all liver ills. It builds up the whole system as no other medicine can, for which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots, such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone root, Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherrybark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that the ingredients can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, when accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia, as well as in all bilious or liver troubles, and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and digestive organs and through them the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In the worst running sores, or ulcers, it is wise to make sure their healing to apply to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Acquitted by Lincoln.

William Armstrong died recently at Beardstown, Cass County, Ill. His claim to fame lies in the fact that in 1858 Abraham Lincoln defended him on a charge of murder and secured his acquittal. Lincoln took the case without fee and to discharge a debt of gratitude. This was the case which Lincoln won with an almanac. He refreshed the testimony of the chief witness who swore that he saw Armstrong do the deed by the bright light of the moon. Lincoln showed by the almanac that the moon was not shining at the time.

Patties From Cold Turkey.

Mince the white part of the flesh, and mix with a little grated ham. Stew this in a small amount of good gravy or melted butter. Put a spoonful of cream in the mince and season with pepper, salt and a dash of ground mace. Bake in tins. Put into shells made of puff paste.

Pulled Turkey (English Recipe).

Two spoonfuls of white gravy, one of cream, grated nutmeg, salt, pepper and flour. Pull the meat with a fork from the breast of a cold turkey, and heat it in a stewpan. Add two spoonfuls of gravy, one of cream, a piece of butter dredged with flour, and a seasoning of nutmeg and salt. Send to table hot.

To Broil the Legs of a Turkey.

Cut the legs from a cold roast turkey, make some incisions across them with a sharp knife, season with a little pepper, salt and a pinch of cayenne. Squeeze over a small quantity of lemon juice and place them on a gridiron (which has been well buttered), put it over a clear fire. When done brown place them on a hot dish with a piece of butter on the top of each and serve hot.

Jellied Turkey.

Take out the breast bone and cut off the legs, not the thigh. Clean it carefully and fill the inside with large fresh oysters, sew it up, lay it in a floured cloth, and sprinkle over with salt. Lay it in cold water and boil for one hour and a half slowly, then take it out and draw out the thread with which the turkey was sewn. Have ready aspic jelly and when this is cool (but not cold) pour over the turkey. Set aside to jelly. When garnished with fringed celery it is a pretty dish.

Consider the Background.

In decorating the walls of a room the first point to be considered is whether they are to form a background for its contents, or to be in themselves its chief decoration. In rooms that are to be hung with prints or pictures, the paneling or other treatment of the walls should be carefully designed with a view to the size and number of the pictures. Pictures should never be hung against a background of pattern. Nothing is more distressing than the sight of a large oil painting in a ponderous frame seemingly suspended from a spray of wild roses or any of the other naturalistic vegetation of the modern wall paper.

Hints for the Housekeeper

A recipe for paste that never dries or sours, is to add one teaspoonful of powdered alum and ten drops of oil of cloves to a pint of very smooth thick flour paste.

Sandpaper will clean suede leather, undressed or "ooze" calfskin bags. Rubbing the sandpaper lightly over these leathers makes the article equal to new.

Furniture can be brightened by a polish consisting of two parts of raw linseed oil and one of turpentine. After shaking thoroughly, apply with a flannel cloth and rub until dry.

As a carpet cleaner, bran slightly dampened, thrown on the carpet and then thoroughly swept out is unexcelled. It removes all dust and being damp prevents the dust from flying.

For troublesome ants — A heavy chalk mark laid a finger's distance from the sugar box and all around (there must be no space not covered) will surely prevent ants from troubling.

The soiling caused by hands on a papered wall may be greatly lessened, if not entirely obliterated, by laying a sheet of blotting paper upon the spot and passing over it a moderately hot iron.

If threads draw hard and break easily when preparing a piece of fancy work a little white soap rubbed on the wrong side of the linen is an advantage. A lather applied with a brush is often convenient, and does not harm the linen.

Mustard and horseradish mixed make an excellent relish for cold meats. Mix yellow mustard, and add to it an equal quantity of grated horseradish, which has been boiled ten minutes in water. Thin the mixture with a little of this water.

People will eat hot dishes and wash them down with iced drinks, and then wonder why their teeth can't stand such a terrific and sudden change of temperature. Filled teeth are extremely sensitive to such changes, and neuralgia frequently results.

Here is something to do away with that dangerous paraffine can. Save all the orange peel you may have. Dry it in a cool oven, and store away in paper bags. Then some morning, when your fire won't burn, throw a bit of the peel on and watch the effect.

If a small bag of spice is placed in the kettle when making apple or crabapple jelly, the flavor will be much improved, and it varies the jelly without effort. A few leaves of sweet geranium thrown into the jelly also gives a delicious flavor.

THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach. S. S. Hall, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says:—"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. It cured me and we are now using it in milk dairy."

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all these people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

The valentine party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy, the 14th inst. was a decided success.

People of this community are making huge preparations for another crop.

On Feb. 17th the death angel visited the home of Mr. Major Willis and took away his loving wife. She leaves a husband and six little children and a countless number of friends to mourn her death.

Now a word to Pilgrim Rounder and the Girl that signed her name Nobody's Darling. The young man gave himself the right name, and the poor girl, I am sorry for her, and I just want to say that if she will just go up in Chilton and take a look at those little game boys, she would say I hope God likes them better than I do. The young men of Autauga are far ahead of game stock. You ought to visit Evergreen church and see a sample of our people. Best wishes to the Banner. A FRIEND.

IN MEMORIAM.

Death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Culp and took from them their oldest son, Alonzo Culp, aged 19. He has budded on earth to bloom in heaven. He joined the Methodist church at Pleasant Grove two years ago and has lived a consistent member ever since. He was always kind to all whom he met and was always ready to do God's bidding. He was in bad health all of his life, but all through those weary years he bore his pains and suffering without murmuring a word of discontent. Oh how we miss his sweet ways and pleasant smiles since God has called him to Paradise. His remains were interred in Pleasant Grove cemetery, Feb. 23, Bro. F. A. Gibson conducting the funeral services by reading the 14th chapter of John and also the 14th chapter of Job, and after reading, the beautiful hymn "Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep, from which none never wake to weep," and "Am I born to die" was sung. Weep not, dear ones, for the loved one departed, for he is at rest; he has gone on before to meet with the loved ones in that beautiful land where pain and sorrow are no more. He is waiting at the pearly gates to welcome you home. Oh could we but see him today up in the beautiful heavens, I am sure his smiles would be brighter than they were ever on this lonely earth. O could we but live a good Christian life as this dear boy did, we would meet there in that heavenly home with angels greeting. Sleep on, dear Lonnie, and take thy rest, God calleth thee, for He knoweth best, the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord. This young man is a grandson of Rev. N. A. Dobbs. But dear bereaved ones, don't weep after dear Lonnie, for he is at rest around the beautiful white throne of Christ. My deepest sympathy go with the bereaved ones in their sad hours.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all these people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Major Sickle Has Been Appointed—He Will Begin at Once.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Maj. H. G. Sickle, of the Twelfth Cavalry, at Fort Oglethorpe, who has been detailed by the secretary of war to make the annual inspection of the Alabama National Guard, will begin his special duties shortly.

He will inspect all of the branches of the service in Alabama, including the three regiments of infantry, four squadrons of cavalry and four batteries of artillery. He will be accompanied on his trip of inspection through the state by Adjutant-General Graves.

SCHOONER HILDA MAY BE LOST

Crew of Eight Men Believed to Have Perished.

Savannah, Ga.—It is believed the schooner Hilda, which left Philadelphia February 3 for this port, coal laden, has been lost. The Hilda was owned by the Savannah Lighterage and Transfer Company. Since she sailed on February 3 she has not been seen or heard of. It is believed here that her crew of eight men, including Capt. Tobias Dilling, has been lost. The Hilda was built at Camden, N. J. in 1877, and was of 577 tons burden.

Charged With Selling Lottery Tickets.

Savannah, Ga.—A. W. Masterson, a prominent local tobacconist, has been arrested here upon a charge of conspiracy with others to advertise the Honduras lottery and sell tickets. Masterson gave bond for his appearance for a hearing before the United States commissioner, when he will announce whether he will fight removal to the jurisdiction of the federal court at Mobile, whither it is proposed to transfer his case for indictment and trial.

Road Being Opened.

The senate committee on temperance voted to adverse the house bill which prohibits the shipping of liquor from a non-prohibition district to a prohibition district. Five members voted to adverse the bill, the others not voting.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the bill to better provide for maintaining and keeping in repair public roads of Monroe county.

The house passed the Goodwater court bill.

Representative George D. Parker, of Cullman county, introduced a bill at the evening session of the house last evening absolutely prohibiting the sale or other disposition of Coca Cola within the state of Alabama.

Wednesday.

In the house today bills were presented as follows:

A bill to create the office of solicitor for the county of Sumter.

A bill providing for a juvenile court for Birmingham.

To prevent the shooting of live birds for amusement.

Refers to office of state land agent, and his work to recover state lands.

To prohibit the running of freight trains on Sunday.

In reference to charges on excess baggage; also a companion bill in reference to baggage checks.

To provide for the qualifications of coroners in counties of 50,000 or more.

To make further appropriations for the expenses of the legislature.

To provide for assessment of cotton mills. This means those factories which have been exempt for ten years must now pay taxes.

To fix the salaries of judges of the city court of Birmingham; also to provide for the salary of the chancellor of the northwestern division.

Providing for rearrangement of wards of various cities.

Bills presented in the senate were as follows:

To allow streets and alleys closed for the new union depot at Birmingham.

To provide two more public examiners, with a salary of $1,800 a year; also to examine county accounts.

The bill to increase the pension for old soldiers to $100 a year maximum and $50 minimum was reported favorably.

Bills to regulate the fine and forfeiture funds in Jefferson county were reported favorably by the committee on local legislation.

Birmingham court bills were reported providing for additional judges.

The bill to hold court of Coffee county at Enterprise was reported favorably; also to establish a probate office at Enterprise.

The education committee reported favorably bills to allow chartered institutions more latitude; also to prevent false enumeration of school children; also to define who are delinquent children.

Mr. Hamner offered a bill to regulate franchise rights of water plants.

Thursday.

The local legislation committee of the house reported favorably the following bills:

Juvenile court of Jefferson; increasing the salary of the judges of city court of Birmingham, clerk of police court of Birmingham and chancellor of northwestern chancery division.

The rules committee reported the resolution that the legislature adjourn on March 2 and meet again July 9. This changed the date of re-convention from June 18. This was adopted.

House bill No. 245 to provide for the better equipment and support of the University of Alabama and to appropriate funds therefor was passed.

The senate passed the local option bill with the county as the unit.

Bills were introduced as follows:

To provide for a fund for a paid fire department of Mobile; to dissolve the board of trustees of the State University.

To legalize the carrying of concealed weapons by certain officers.

Friday.

The following bills were passed by the senate:

House bill No. 166—To amend section 10 of an act entitled "An act to regulate the trial of misdemeanors in Morgan county," approved February 23, 1899.

H. 585—To provide for and regulate the drawing, summoning and empaneling of juries in capital cases in Jefferson county.

S. 303—To amend an act entitled "An act to authorize the court of county commissioners of Jefferson county to purchase claims against the fine and forfeiture fund of said county."

H. 507—To appropriate the sum of $22.65 for the year 1904 and the further sum of $30 for the year 1905 to T. T. Herbert as a Confederate pensioner for said years, his name having been erroneously omitted from the list of pensioners for said years.

H. 40—To further regulate the city court of Birmingham, Ala., and the practice and procedure in said court; to provide for judges thereof, their election, term of office and bond.

H. 599—To provide for the holding of sessions of the court of county commissioners for Coffee county at Enterprise, Ala., and to regulate the same.

H. 597—To establish a probate office at Enterprise, Ala., and to provide for holding terms of the probate court of Coffee county.

Saturday.

The governor has signed two of the railroads bills—those creating a new railroad commission, with additional powers and rights, and providing for the regulation of railroads.

The governor also signed the salary bill, by which the wages of most of the officers of the capitol and the help are raised. Heads of departments go to $3,000 from various sum, except the department of history, which is $2,500.

The senate passed the depository bill without opposition. It allows the state to establish depositories in the various counties with banks that deposit a full amount of state bonds to protect the state.

Other bills were passed by the senate as follows: Increasing the salary of the librarian of the supreme court to $2,000; providing for a state live stock board to protect live stock in every way, carrying an appropriation of $5,000; requiring teachers in public schools to give thirty days' notice of resignation; to allow court to be held at an old court house while new is being erected when seat of county is moved, this being a general bill designed to take care of the situation in Washington county; to provide punishment for false enumeration of school children; to provide two secretaries for the supreme court at $1,600 each; to provide for the distribution of bonds in cases where rate charges are contested and to reduce the amount railroads may charge for excess baggage from 12 per cent of the first-class rate to 10 per cent, with a minimum of 25 cents.

The house spent most of the day on the revenue bill. The sections considered included requirements for franchise taxes upon all foreign corporations, the levy of a tax on solvent credits, except where taxed as mortgages, and providing for taxes for corporations which enter the state, the tax running from $25 on the first $100, on down to 1-4 of 1 per cent as the amount of capital increases.

The bill to tax intangible assets of corporations as if they were property went through with some minor amendments.

The senate passed the school bills, including the appropriations for the University, Polytechnic Institute and the Girls' Industrial School; also to give $67,000 a year for rural school houses and an increase from $2,500 to $4,500 each year for the support of the agricultural schools.

The bill to increase the pensions to old soldiers to $100, $80, $60 and $50 for the four classes passed the senate; also one providing for interest on lands of the Girls' Industrial School sold.

The senate also passed the reciprocal demurrage bill with an amendment providing that a request for cars must be made in writing.

Monday.

The senate killed the bill to exempt new cotton mills and new extensions from taxes for a term of ten years from January 1 last by the close vote of 14 to 15, after a hard struggled on the part of the friends of the measure.

The committee on temperance reported the bill of Senator Lusk to allow saloons to open at 6 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. favorably. It seeks to prevent the sale of liquors at all at night, and is one of the many moves to control the traffic.

The house passed the following bills at the afternoon session:

To amend sections 6, 9, 10, 16, 17, 19 and 20 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the redistricting of the public schools of the state and for the management and control of the same." Approved September 30, 1903.

To fix the terms of the circuit court of Madison county and to dispense with grand juries in said court except when specially ordered by the judge.

To appropriate funds to be expended by the state board of health for the protection and promotion of the health of the people of the state.

To classify the public schools of Alabama and to name the branches of study to be taught in the same.

To amend section 4532 of the code.

To provide for the employment and pay of a servant for the supreme court.

To fix the minimum length of the term of the public schools in the state of Alabama at six months.

Extra Session W. Va. Legislature.

Charleston, W. Va.—After an all-night session of the legislature the time limit of 45 days expired without the passage of the necessary appropriation bill. Governor Dawson had refused to accept the senate appropriation bill, which was not itemized. The governor has called an extra session, itemizing enough other matters to keep the legislature in session four or five days.

President's Nominations.

Washington, D. C.—The president sent to the senate the following nominations: To be placed on the retired list with the rank of brigadier-general, Col. Alfred C. Markley, Thirteenth Infantry; Col. Frank H. Phipps, ordnance department; Col. Amost Stickney, corps of engineers; Col. Harry B. Osgood, assistant commissary general; Col. Garrett J. Lydeckers, corps of engineers.

100 MEET DEATH IN WRECK OF STEAMER.

Passenger Ship Goes Down off Coast of Holland.

THE LIFE SAVERS HELPLESS

Mountainous Waves Wash Over the Wreck and Keep Back the Daring Sailors—Few Left Huddled on the Stern of the Vessel.

Rotterdam.—A disastrous steamship wreck, attended with great loss of life, occurred Thursday off the Hook of Holland, when the Great Eastern Railway Company's steamer Berlin, bound from Harwich to the Hook of Holland, was lost. All on board, 141 passengers and crew, of whom 91 were passengers, were drowned. The wreck occurred off the north pier of the Hook of Holland. The wreck occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning during a terrific southwesterly gale. The steamer struck the north jetty while trying to enter the new waterway at the Hook of Holland. She broke in two, the forward part immediately sinking, while the passengers and crew gathered on the stern, where they vainly attempted to use the lifeboats.

Ten of the persons who passed the night on the after part of the wrecked steamer were taken off Friday morning.

Efforts to rescue the handful of survivors who had clung to the remnant of the wreck of the steamer for twenty-four hours were continued, but proved futile. Furious seas and a heavy snowstorm made it impossible for tugs or lifeboats to connect with the wreck.

In the early afternoon the lifeboat again went out. The receding tide and some improvement in the weather gave better hope of success, and after a hard tussle with the seas the few persons still living were safely taken off.

CREW OF EIGHTEEN GOES DOWN

In Violent Gale Off Coast of Jutland. Rocket Fired Without Success.

Copenhagen.—An unknown three-masted vessel, probably Norwegian and presumably bound from Norway to Bremen, went ashore off Fjaltring, on the west coast of Jutland. Owing to the violence of the gale it was impossible to send out the lifeboat. Five rocket lines were fired at the vessel without any success, and eventually she broke up completely. Her crew of eighteen men clung for a time to the rigging, but when the masts went by the board the sailors were swept away and drowned.

M. & O. Wreck.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Quite a disastrous wreck occurred on the Mobile and Ohio railroad a few miles out of town, near Pearson, a small station south of here. Freight No. 74 was coming into Tuscaloosa in two sections, and on account of some mishap the first section came to a full stop. Owing to an overestimate of the time between the trains, or a failure on the part of the signal, the second section plunged into the first, going practically at full speed.

The engineer on the second section M. W. Fraker, as a result has a broken leg and is badly shaken up, while his fireman, J. W. Melcher, received such injuries as resulted in his death. The exact cause of the wreck is not known, but a thorough investigation will probably follow. The Mobile and Ohio has an enviable reputation so far for its lack of wrecks, and claims never to have killed a passenger on any part of its road yet. Fortunately the caboose was empty, and no one was injured on the first section, although a number of cars were damaged.

Raisuli Plots With Pretender.

Tangier.—Raisuli is now plotting with the pretender to the throne of Morocco with the object of making a joint attack on the Sultan's forces.

Quebec Daily Telegraph Burns.

Quebec.—The building and plant of the Daily Telegraph was completely destroyed by fire. All of the English printing for the provisional legislature was burned. Loss, $100,000; insurance, $38,000.

Bank Is Chartered.

Gadsden, Ala.—The Gadsden National Bank has received its charter and opened its doors for business on Monday. The new institution was organized some weeks ago and has an authorized capital of $125,000. E. T. Hollingsworth is the president and W. G. Brockway is cashier. The new bank occupies the building of the Merchants' and Farmers' Bank, which it absorbed.

New Warehouse.

Mobile, Ala.—Robert Hunter, the well-known timber broker, has had plans and specifications made for the erection of a seven-story warehouse on Front street, between St. Francis and St. Michael streets. The contract for the building has been let to Jett Brothers, and the work is to be started upon excavation as soon as the present building can be torn down. A building permit has been secured.

HUNDRED BALES ON 175 ACRES.

American Seed Planted—Land Carefully Cultivated.

Washington, D. C.—American cotton seed planted in the experimental grounds of Korea, 175 acres being cultivated, yielded the past season 100 bales. The people interested hope to raise 100,000 bales within the next few years.

The land experimented on was well and carefully cultivated by intelligent Korean coolies. No such intense cultivation could be carried out on a very large scale. Still if Japan can get 10,000 bales of upland cotton annually from Korea, it means just that much less in her purchases in the United States.

A sample of cotton grown in the Ottoman empire, part of 400 pounds picked on less than an acre, is on exhibition in London. The land on which it grew was not cultivated last year, the cotton growing on plants left over from the previous season. One hundred acres near where this sample grew have been prepared for cotton. These were to be planted during the present month.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK.

Well-Known Newspaper Man of Salt Lake Is a Victim.

Salt Lake City.—Clinton B. Leigh, a well-known newspaper man of Salt Lake, was killed; State Representative Seth Taft, of Wayne county, was fatally injured and has since died, and Speaker Harry Josephs was slightly hurt in a collision on the Copper Belt railroad at the mining camp of Bingham. The victims were members of an executive party visiting the Bingham mines.

Opening Mines.

Jasper, Ala.—The Samoset Coal Company is making extensive developments of their property at Buell, near Dora. This company was recently organized and bought the properties of the Buell Mining Company, which is considered one of the best mining properties in Walker county. A large commissary is in course of construction and several tenant houses are being built. The company will materially increase the output of their plant and will give employment to a number of men.

Steamboat Burns.

Charleston, S. C.—The steamboat Marion, plying between Charleston and Beaufort, burned while in the Wamalaw river, and four colored passengers were drowned.

Fairbanks Appoints Commission.

Washington, D. C.—Vice-President Fairbanks has appointed Senators Dillingham, Lodge and McLaurin as the senate members of the commission to make inquiry into immigration. The speaker of the house is to name three members also. The commission is empowered to travel abroad in order to gather the desired data.

To Report on Standard Oil.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The supreme court made an order in the Standard Oil case directing Commissioner Robert A. Anthony to report to the court on the first day of the April term his findings as to the law applicable to the case, as well as the facts he finds to exist as a result of his examinations. This is the proceeding in part brought by Attorney-General Hadley to oust from Missouri the Standard and other oil companies for alleged violations of trust laws.

Crash and Fifteen Injured.

Winona, Minn.—While a passenger train, southbound, on the Chicago Great Western railroad was waiting on the main line at Sargent, Minn., to meet a freight train an extra stock train, also southbound, crashed into the rear end of the passenger train. Every coach and the baggage car were overturned. Fifteen persons were injured, one, a baggageman, seriously.

Severe Storms in Germany.

Berlin.—Severe storms continue to sweep over Western Germany. The waters of the Rhine are higher at Cologne than they have been for fourteen years.

The Hague Ready for Conference.

The Hague.—In an official declaration issued the government of the Netherlands sets forth its readiness to receive the delegates to the second peace conference on or about June 1.

Diplomatic Bill.

Washington.—The president signed the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, the first of the regular supply measures to be enacted by congress.

Coffee Loan Negotiated.

Rio Janeiro.—A coffee loan of $25,000,000, it is understood here, has been negotiated by the government through the Schroeder banking house of London.

President's Nominations.

Washington, D. C.—The president sent to the senate the following nominations: To be placed on the retired list with the rank of brigadier-general, Col. Alfred C. Markley, Thirteenth Infantry; Col. Frank H. Phipps, ordnance department; Col. Amost Stickney, corps of engineers; Col. Harry B. Osgood, assistant commissary general; Col. Garrett J. Lydeckers, corps of engineers.

Lee Elected Judge.

Montgomery, Ala.—A joint session of the two houses was held at noon Monday for the purpose of electing an associate judge of the city court of Gadsden. Mr. John placed in nomination Alto V. Lee, Sr. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Lee. There were no other nominations and Mr. Lee was elected.

LET WATERS FLOW.

Attempts to Close Crevasse in Levee Have Been Abandoned.

New Orleans, La.—Attempts to close the crevasse near Jesuits' Bend have been abandoned as hopeless and the water was left to flood, as it kill in a few days, a large section of sugar and truck land.

The river is seventy feet deep close in shore near the break, this making it impossible to drive piling in front of the crevasse.

SPECTACULAR FIRE.

Six-Story Building Destroyed—Wild Scramble Among the Guests of a Hotel.

Pittsburg, Pa.—One of the most spectacular, troublesome and costly fires which the Pittsburg down town district has experienced in several years occurred Monday. The six-story structure at 819 Liberty avenue, occupied by the Derby Desk Company, and the building at No. 817 Liverty avenue, occupied by the Baker Office Furniture Company, were completely destroyed. In addition the blaze wrecked the three upper floors of the building at No. 813 Liberty avenue, occupied by the Grier Busch Company, wholesale notions and toys, and threatened the Second National Bank building. When the fire was believed to be under control flames were seen issuing from the top floor of the Seventh Avenue Hotel. There was a wild scramble of the guests, but all got out safely. The building was saved, but the furnishings were ruined by water.

A number of persons were slightly injured during the fire and the blaze was replete with harrowing escapes and thrilling incidents. The origin of the fire is believed to have been crossed electric wires. Total loss is estimated at $350,000.

Held Criminally Negligent.

New York.—A formal request that the coroner's jury bring in a verdict that the New York Central railroad and its vice-president, William J. Wilgus, were criminally negligent in connection with the wreck on the Harlem division of that road on February 16 in which more than a score of lives were lost, was made by Assistant District Attorney Smith. His request was made after Prof. Karl B. Lovell, of Columbia University, had testified that he made computations which convinced him that the accident was due to the great weight and too great speed of the wrecked train.

He declared that the construction of the track was such that it was "decidedly unsafe to send a train of the weight of the onewrecked over it on such a schedule.

Jones Superintendent of M. & J.

Mobile, Ala.—Official announcement has been made of the appointment of N. S. Jones, chief engineer of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad, to the position of general superintendent with full power of control of the business between Mobile and Middleton, Tenn. The general offices of the road will be abolished, and T. F. Whittlesey, who held the position of general manager, will go to the Seaboard Air Line. The abolishment of the general offices is in keeping with the policy of B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of directors of the Frisco system, who recently made an inspection of the property.

Postmasters Appointed.

Washington, D. C.—Postmasters appointed: Helicon, Winston county, L. R. Clark; Kipling, Mobile county, Peter J. Rabby; Tysonville, Macon county, Archie C. Harrington; Woodland Mills, Morgan county, Thomas J. Russe.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—J. C. Guild, one of the most prominent civil engineers and contractors in the south, dropped dead Monday morning. He was the promoter of the great lock and dam on the Tennessee river below Chattanooga and known all over the country.

Flagged the Train.

West Point, Ga.—Rube Shank, a young farmer living at Glass, Ala., discovered a burning trestle in a ravine near that station, on the Chattanooga Valley railroad, and flagged an early passenger train just in time to save it from wreck. All trains below that point have been abandoned.

Pulling for Pelham.

Anniston, Ala.—Mayor Thomas E. Kolby, of this city; President M. B. Wellborn, of the First National Bank and the chamber of commerce, and Hon. W. P. Acker, of the Calhoun county bar, left this week for Washington, where they will visit President Roosevelt in the interest of the appointment of Judge John Pelham, of this city, to the position of federal judge of the Northern district of Alabama.

FIVE HUNDRED MILLION FOR COTTON EXPORTS.

Enormous Amount Collected by United States.

LESS QUANITY MORE MONEY.

Falling Off in Amount More Than Offset by the Increase in Price—Great Britain and Germany the Principal Consumers of Raw Cotton.

Washington.—America's pocketbook was enriched by practically $500,000,000 through its exportations last year of cotton and the products of that staple, according to a statement issued by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. The exports of these products amounted to one-fourth or 28 per cent. of the $1,773,000,000 worth of the domestic exports.

The following figures show the kind of cotton products exported last year and their value:

Manufactured cotton, $413,137,936; manufactures of cotton, $42,910,041; cottonseed oil, $13,993,931; cottonseed oil cake and meal, $14,165,268; cottonseed, $205,032; cottonseed, lard, etc., chiefly from cottonseed oil, $4,801,078, bringing the total export of these products up to $489,304,681. Of the $413,000,000 worth of raw cotton exports, $173,000,000 went to the United Kingdom, $109,000,000 to Germany, $45,000,000 to France, $31,500,000 to Italy, nearly $7,000,000 to Belgium, $5,000,000 to Russia and $1,000,000 to the Netherlands, while to Japan the exports were valued at over $11,00,000, and to Canada $7,333,000. The figures show a reduction in the exports of cotton sent to Japan compared with 1905, while to Canada they show a slight increase.

In quantity the records show a falling off as compared with 1905, the total number of pounds shipped during that year being 4,137,154,935, while for 1906 they were only 3,850,228,030. The falling off in the quantity, however, was more than offset by the increase in price of cotton exports, the increase in value in 1906 exceeding the previous year by $21,000,000.

Of the cotton manufactured exported the bulk of it went to other countries than Europe. The value of cotton cloths exported last year was $32,500,000, of which a little over $5,000,000 went to Europe, $16,750,000 to China, $5,000,000 to other Asiatic countries and about $3,000,000 worth went to bN.fl - w....C UOCCn nnnn nnnnnn the West India islands, exclusive of Porto Rico; $1,500,000 to Central America, and more than three-quarters of a million dollars' worth went to Canada.

FIVE MEN SHOT TO DEATH.

A Score of Bystanders Were Wounded in the Raid—Great Excitement.

Warsaw, Russian Poland.—The postoffice in Wsholna street was attacked by a band of terrorists, who shot and killed the postmaster, two postal clerks and two soldiers guarding the office, and wounded a score of bystanders. The terrorists rifled the safe and escaped in cabs.

The robbers belonged to the organization known as the fighting terrorists, and displayed a red flag while making their escape.

The postoffice authorities admit that the robbers got away with several thousand roubles. This was the first important raid in two months, and shows that the terrorists were not suppressed.

The incident has caused intense excitement in Warsaw, and arouses fears of a recurrence of the sanguinary events of the early winter.

BOMB THROWN.

Von Hessburg of Odessa Seriously Injured and Carriage Wrecked.

Odessa.—A bomb was thrown beneath the carriage of the chief of police, Colvon Hessburg, as he was driving in the center of the city. The explosion of the bomb wrecked the carriage, severely injuring the chief of police, and shattering the windows of all the houses in the vicinity.

Chief of Police Von Hessburg is accused of being the instigator of the last anti-Semetic riots here.

GERMAN CRUISER AT SAVANNAH.

The Vessel is Given an Ovation as She Steams In.

Savannah, Ga.—The German cruiser Bremen, Captain Alberts, has arrived here. The vessel was given an ovation as she steamed up the harbor. Formal courtesies were exchanged with the German vice-consul and the city officials. Elaborate entertainments have been planned for the five days' stay of the ship in this port.

Hamburg.—The Hamburg-American Steam Packet Company has decided to name one of the two new liners now being built for that concern the George Washington.

Montreal, Quebec.—President Eliot of Harvard University, addressed the Canadian Club of Montreal at their luncheon. Later an informal reception was tendered him by the under graduates of McGill University.

NONE ARE KILLED BUT SIXTY-SIX INJURED.

Miraculous Wreck on Pennsylvania Road.

PULLMANS ARE PLUNDERED.

Eighteen-Hour Flyer Between New York and Chicago Was Late—Going Over Fifty Miles an Hour—Brake Rigging Drops.

Johnstown, Pa.—In one of the most remarkable and miraculous wrecks that has ever occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad, 55 passengers and a crew of 11 trainmen were more or less injured Friday night when the Pennsylvania's special, the 18-hour train between New York and Chicago, was wrecked while rounding a sharp curve near South Fork, six miles from this city.

Of the injured passengers seven sustained serious hurts, necessitating their removal to hospitals. They are Frederick Busse, postmaster of Chicago; John F. Kline, postmaster of Joliet, Ill.; Felix Isman, real estate broker, Philadelphia, and Samuel Fr Nixon, Philadelphia, taken to the Altoona hospital; Thomas Bauer, Lafayette; J. Wood Wilson, Marion, Ind., and W. H. Baker, Chicago, are in the Allegheny general hospital at Pittsburg.

All of these will be able to leave the hospitals within a couple of days except Postmaster Kline, of Joliet, Ill.

The train was running about fifty minutes late, and was traveling over fifty miles an hour when it reached the curve. The accident was caused by a brake rigging dropping to the track on the first Pullman coach following the engine and combination smoking car. Much disorder followed the accident, and in the midst of the confusion a number of foreigners were detected plundering the Pullman cars. One was arrested and the others driven away by a display of firearms. Considerable pewelry and valuable wearing apparel was lost as a result, however.

No one was killed, and all the passengers have been accounted for.

The engine and combination smoking car remained on the rails, but the three Pullmans plunged over a sixty-foot embankment into the Conemaugh river. Fortunately the cars were not submerged.

A scene of wild confusion resulted. All of the passengers were in their berths, and were thrown promiscuously around the cars.

All the passengers on the train were injured more or less, but with the exception of John P. Kline, of Joliet, it is said that none of the injuries are dangerous.

The train was running fifty minutes late, and was trying to make up lost time. Nobody seems to know what really caused the accident, but it is said it was caused by the springing of a bolt connecting one of the rails to the steel tie. The injured were taken to hospitals at Altoona, Greensburg and this city. A majority of them, however, proceeded west on a special train.

AUSTRIAN STEAMER SINKS.

Only Twelve People Out of 150 Are Saved.

Trieste, Austria Hungary.—The Austrian Lloyd steamer Imperatrix, while bound from Trieste to Bombay, ran onto a rock near Cape Elaphonisi, on the Island of Crete, and sank soon afterward. It is known that the disaster was accompanied by loss of life, but in the absence of definite news the number of drowned is unknown. The passengers and crew on board numbered about 150. The Imperatrix sailed from Trieste on February 19.

The Austrian Lloyd steamer Imperatrix was 390 feet long, 45 feet beam, 23 feet in depth and 2,334 tons. She was built by the Lloyd Austria company of Trieste in 1888.

A telegram has been received from the company's agent at Canae, which says:

"The following letter has been received from a lieutenant on the Imperatrix:

"'Twelve persons and myself have been saved. The others are on board the steamer, the position of which is extremely dangerous.'"

TWO ARE KILLED.

J. W. Bobo and J. M. Ayers Meet Death.

Birmingham, Ala.—A special from Columbus, Miss., say that John W. Bobo of Covin, Ala., and John M. Ayers, of Baldwin, Ga., car repairers, were killed in an accident in the Southern railway yards at that place.

ROYAL HEIR OF SPAIN.

Preparations for the Expected Arrival Are Complete at Madrid.

London.—Concerning the preparation for the expected royal heir of Spain, advices received here show that the preparations for its reception are nearing completion. The cradle in which Alphonse XII slept will lull the little newcomer to rest as it lies beneath hand embroidered coverlets of white silk garlanded in rosebuds and butterflies. The Spanish nuns have been busy carrying out the king's wishes that all of the baby's clothes shall be of Spanish make. Weaves of the finest silk, flannels and nainsook have been made into garments by the nuns and delicate lace has been added to them. The royal crown of Spain has been worked in relief on all the garments. Many of the trimmings date back to the time of Ferdinand VII. Irish lace will be lavishly used on the christening dress.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED.

Suit Brought by the Board of Trade Stops the Practice.

Kansas City, Mo.—Suit was brought here in the circuit court for Kansas Board of Trade by Isaac B. Kimbrell, prosecuting attorney, against fifteen railroad companies, asking that they be enjoined from practicing alleged discriminations against Kansas City, and thus tending to destroy its grain market.

It is charged the railroads prevent the delivery here of cars loaded with grain by one railroad to another, and that this practice prevents sales being made in this market.

The suit is directed against the Kansas City Southern, Missouri Pacific, Santa Fe, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, the Kansas City Belt and several other roads. A temporary restraining order was issued returnable next Tuesday.

DIES AT NEW ORLEANS.

Was President of Whitney National—Most Prominent Financier.

New Orleans.—George Q. Whitney, one of the best known financiers in the south, died at his home here following a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Whitney was 50 years old and a native of New York city. He came to New Orleans at the close of the civil war, and has for many years been identified with progressive enterprises in the Crescent City. In 1883 he founded the Whitney National Bank, which by merges and consolidations has become one of the largest financial institutions south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Honest Man Picks Up $175,000.

New York.—Sutro Brothers & Co., the stock exchange house which reported the loss of stocks valued at $175,000 by one of its messengers, has recovered the securities intact. A man whose name is not given picked up the package of stocks on Pine street and restored them to the brokers.

Senatorial Deadlock.

Providence.—The deadlock in the legislature over the election of a United States senator is to be broken by the republican state central committee, according to information gained here, the plan being to unite the Colt and Wetmore forces, and thus secure the election of a republican candidate.

Bill to Marry Wife's Sister.

London.—The house of commons by 263 to 34 votes adopted the second reading of the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister. This is the eighth time the measure has passed its second reading, and the prospects are that it may become a law during the present session of parliament.

Moves for New Trial.

Columbus, Ga.—Claude Byrd, who was convicted in the Muscogee superior court of assaulting Lawyer George C. Porter, of Girard, Ala., has made a motion for a new trial. A $300 bond was assessed, which he gave. In sentencing Byrd to pay a fine of $250 Judge Little said that he heartily concurred in the verdict of the jury.

Pulling for Pelham.

Anniston, Ala.—Mayor Thomas E. Kolby, of this city; President M. B. Wellborn, of the First National Bank and the chamber of commerce, and Hon. W. P. Acker, of the Calhoun county bar, left this week for Washington, where they will visit President Roosevelt in the interest of the appointment of Judge John Pelham, of this city, to the position of federal judge of the Northern district of Alabama.

LITTLE ARMIES ALL READY TO FIGHT.

Bonilla's Troops in a Very Strong Position.

AT CHOLUTECA IN HONDURAS.

Favored by Public of Central America Generally and Meanwhile Notification of Existence of War Reaches Washington—Protection of U. S. Citizens.

San Salvador.—Public opinion in Central America is in favor of the friendly intervention of President Roosevelt and President Diaz in the existing trouble between Honduras and Nicaragua, and the press of these two countries is expressing the hope that the two presidents will exert their powerful influence to end the war.

President Bonilla, of Honduras, according to reports, has taken up a strong position with his forces at Choluteca, where he is awaiting the attack of the Nicaraguans. Choluteca is the nearest important Honduran town to the Nicaraguan frontier.

Washington.—Notification of the existence of a state of war in Central America has reached the state department in the shape of a cablegram from American Minister Combes, dated at Gautemala City, as follows:

"The minister of foreign affairs for Honduras telegraphed that Nicaragua, by its invasion of Honduras, has terminated the pending negotiations for a peaceful settlement."

If hostilities extend, as now appears probable, it may be necessary for the state department to call upon the navy department to increase the force of naval vessels in Central American waters. At present this force consists of the cruiser Chicago, now lying in touch with the cable at Acajutla, Salvador, and the gunboat Marietta, on the Caribbean side, last heard from at Bluefields, Nicaragua. She was sent to this point with the American vice-consul at San Juan del Norte on board to give protection to some extensive United States plantation interests at that place.

Should the war extend far from the boundary between Nicaragua and Honduras, as is probable in view of the likelihood that Salvador will join forces with Honduras and Guatemala with Nicaragua, the navy department probably will add two or three cruisers and gunboats to its present force, not with any purpose of intervening politically, but merely to see that United States property rights are respected and the lives of United States citizens are protected.

GAS PLANT IN GADSDEN.

The Schulers Are Planning to Spend $100,000.

Gadsden, Ala.—It is reported that the Alabama City, Gadsden and Attalla Street Railway Company will build and operate a gas plant in this city at an early date. The company, which is composed of E. T. and George H. Schuler, has appropriated $100,000 for this purpose, and it is stated that the material has been ordered and that the plant will be in operation within a year.

The site of the new plant will be on Fifth street, near the present power plant.

County Court Ends.

Columbiana, Ala.—County court, which has been in session here, has adjourned. Quite a number of cases were disposed of, although not many jury trials were had. A large number of cases were carried over to the next term.

Crocker Must Pay Costs.

Paris.—George Crocker, of San Francisco, has been non-suited and condemned to pay the costs of his action to recover $20,000 from Dr. Byron, which Mr. Crocker paid to the physician in 1904 for treating the late Mrs. Crocker for cancer. The court declared it could not decide the question of the reasonableness of the fee, but only that of the validity of the contract.

Wagon Company is Bankrupt.

Milwaukee.—The Four Wheel Drive Wagon Company of this city has gone into bankruptcy. The assets are $115,000 and the liabilities $190,000. The Wisconsin Trust Company was appointed receiver.

Bill to Abolish Death Penalty.

Kiev.—Members-elect of parliament from Kiev have adopted a resolution demanding reprieves in the case of five political prisoners recently sentenced to death by court-martial. The members of parliament will reintroduce a bill providing for the abolition of the death penalty.

New Warehouse.

Mobile, Ala.—Robert Hunter, the well-known timber broker, has had plans and specifications made for the erection of a seven-story warehouse on Front street, between St. Francis and St. Michael street. The contract for the building has been let to Jett Brothers, and the work is to be started upon excavation as soon as the present building can be torn down. A building permit has been secured.

DEATH OF Mrs. CHAS. H. SCOTT

On Sunday morning there passed away a lovely life to its reward in the great beyond. Mrs. Emma Scott, widow of Mr. Chas, H. Scott, for years marshal of the city of Montgomery, went to rejoin her husband, who preceded her several years. The good and estimable lady, who was 76 years of age, had lived an exemplary Christian life, beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and who sincerely mourn her death. One sister and one brother, Mr. R. H. Gaines, survive her, and to them we breathe our sincere condolence. She was buried at Jemison, Rev F. M. Woods performing the last sad rites to a large and condoling audience.

Death of Mrs. Sawyer.

Mrs. Sawyer died at her home in Clanton about five o'clock last Saturday morning of consumption. She was an amiable lady whose loss will be greatly felt by the bereaved family. The remains were carried to Shelby and interred by the side of her late husband.

MARRIED

At court house, Feb. 21, Mr. Noah Chandler and Miss Ella Sims were united in holy bonds of matrimony, Judge Reynolds performing the ceremony. Our best wishes to the happy couple.

At the home of the bride's parents, Feb. 24, Mr. Eddie Friday and Miss Sallie Ray were happily united, Rev. H. C. Sanders officiating. May their joint lives be long and happy.

On Sunday evening Feb. 24, at the residence of Judge Reynolds, who officiated, Mr. W. B. Vance and Miss Annie Williams were united. The groom is a prosperous farmer of Fairview and the bride is a charming young lady of the same neighborhood. Our best wishes to the happy couple.

Pleasant Hill.

Editor Banner. Please allow me a small space to say a few words along the line of Sunday school work. We have no Sunday school in this community at present, but we hope to have one by next quarter. A good Sunday school is the life of any community. We have a fine opening for a Sunday school at this place, we can get something like fifty members and that is good for any country community, If we could get the young people as well interested in going to Sunday school as they are in going to dances we would have a good Sunday school all the time. Boys and girls, go to Sunday school.

Yours respectfully,
H. H. MULLINS.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Upchurch Drug co.

Jemison.

Mrs. C. W. Reynolds entertained Friday evening last in honor of Washington's birthday. Her parlor and dining room were beautifully decorated in the National colors, red, white and blue. Also pot plants and cut flowers, which completed the decoration, were used in profusion.

Some of the young ladies present sang "America," our greatest National song, which every American should be proud of. Singing or hearing it sung, should cause every true American to reflect upon the life and character of our great leader who did so much for our independence. A question contest was indulged in by all the guests. It consisted of a number of questions about Washington's private and military life and also his death. Each guest was furnished a paper and pencil and required to write answers. After all questions were answered, papers collected and carefully examined by judges, it was found that Miss Mattie Fite and Miss Nelia Johnson had the best papers. Theirs were considered equal and pronounced a tie. The two then drew for the prize, Miss Nelia Johnson drawing the lucky number. The prize was a beautiful hand-painted calendar, with hangings of red, white and blue. Mr. Jim Patton received the booby prize, a cigar tied with red, white and blue ribbon.

Miss Fite read a paper which represented a true picture of Washington's life. In it were described his greatness, his patience to endure hardships, his gentleness of manner and his courage both in victory and defeat. Miss Anna Lowery, one of Jemison's fairest young ladies, sang a very pretty solo.

After the song, everyone was asked to join in a story contest. Each one was required to tell an original story. As Washington has the reputation of never telling a story, the prize was given to the one who succeeded in imitating him in this one respect. The prize was awarded to Miss Mattie Hand. It was a nice book tied with red, white and blue ribbon.

Bro. Lofton highly entertained us with a nice reading and Miss Lowery with a beautiful recitation.

Everyone was then furnished with a number, two having the same number, and when the person with a corresponding number was found, all retired, in pairs, to the dining room where a lot of nice games were played. After playing for some time, refreshments were served. The invited guests were: Misses Mattie Hand, Bertha Johnson, Resa Adams, Anna Lowery, Nelia Johnson, Lizzie McNeill, Mattie Ware, Mattie Patton, Mae Honeycutt, Ethel Toland, Marie Redding and Mattie Fite; Messrs. J. D Wright, Gentry, Shaw, Jim Patton, Dr. McNeill, Tom Hand, Rev. Lofton of East Lake, Dr. Hoppings of Birmingham, K. V. and Fred Fite of Montgomery.

Each one present expressed himself as being delighted with the entertainment and then bade good night to the ideal hostess.

Evergreen.

Editor Banner—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say few words in regard to our community.

Our school at this place is progressing nicely under the able management of Miss Lottie Johnson, who is the best teacher we ever had at this place. I think Miss Johnson will do anything she can to advance the pupils, and those who do not try are missing a golden opportunity.

We also have a nice Sunday school at this place. I saw in last week's Union a piece from "Never Green Kid," and he said it we would have elected him secretary we would have a better Sunday school, but I am sure this is a mistake, he is as good a secretary as we ever had at this place.

I guess we will have good crops this year, the farmers have been plowing for the last month. Our farmers have got more plowing done for this time of year than they ever had before. With best wishes to the Banner and its many readers.

SOMEBODY'S SWEETHEART.

State Sunday School Convention.

The twenty-fourth annual Convention of the Alabama Sunday School Association will be held in the city of Birmingham, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 9, 10, 11 next. The basis of representation is as follows: All officers of the State Association, five delegates at large from each county, all ministers of the gospel, the superintendent and two other delegates from each Sunday school.

The railroads have granted a rate of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip to delegates attending the Convention. The delegates will be entertained by the Sunday school workers of Birmingham.

For further information about the State Convention write to Joseph Carthel, General Secretary, Montgomery, Alabama, or to S. D. Monroe, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, 2021 ½, first ave., Birmingham.

For Rheumatic Sufferers.

The quick relief from pain afforded by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm makes it a favorite with sufferers from rheumatism, sciatica, lame back, lumbago, and deep seated and muscular pains. For sale by Upchurch Drug co, Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

Rising From the Grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm A. Fortwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at Upchurch Drug co. Price only 50c.

Letter to F. O. Dudley

Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir: We asked City Drug Co., Crystal Springs, Miss., to sell Devoe. They wanted to know, of their own knowledge, how it compared with another paint they knew all about—it was sold right there, and considered good.

They painted the house of W B McCluney two coats on purpose to test the two paints against one another; one coat Devoe 6 gallons; the other coat that other paint 10 gallons. Difference $20; $7 for paint, $13 for labor.

That other paint is made in New Orleans; is pure, is considered an excellent paint, and has a good deal of local goodwill.

But the standard of paint has been low all through the southwest. That paint is thin; it is, you see, six tenths of a paint. Devoe saves $20 over it on half a small job.

It is a case of local best compared compared with actual best.

Yours truly

Ballard's Snow Liniment is praised for the good it does. A sure cure for Rheumatism and all pains. Wright W. Loving, Grand Junction, Colo., writes: "I used Ballard's Snow Liniment last winter, for Rheumatism and recommend it as the best liniment on the market. I thought at the time I was taken down with this trouble, that it would be a week before I could get about but on applying your Liniment several times during the night, I was about in 48 hours and well in three days." Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton, A. Horn, Thorsby.

None but the best and purest materials are used, such as raw and steamed bone, high grade bone phosphate of lime, dry and acidulated flesh from the slaughter houses of the West, dried blood, tankage, azotine, fish scrap and pure forms of potash.

MECHANICAL CONDITION.

We desire that buyers will particularly notice the mechanical condition of these goods. They are manufactured many months before they are shipped out. They lie in bulk so that all the materials become thoroughly assimilated, and to this fact is their excellency largely due. All of these goods are carefully milled and screened before shipment.

ALL OF THESE GOODS ARE IN PERFECT MECHANICAL CONDITION and we believe that they are WORTH MORE MONEY to the farmer than goods that are not in perfect condition.

AILING WOMEN

How Many Perfectly Well Women Do You Know?

MISS GRACE E. MILLER — MRS. W. S. FORD

"I am not feeling very well," "I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly," "My back aches as though it would break."

How often do you hear these significant expressions from women friends. More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and there is a cause.

More than thirty years ago Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. discovered the source of nearly all the suffering endured by her sex. "Woman's Ills," these two words are full of more misery to women than any other two words that can be found in the English language. Sudden fainting, depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere, backaches, headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, bearing-down sensations, displacements and irregularities are the bane of woman's existence.

The same woman who discovered the cause of all this misery also discovered a remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs holds the record for a greater number of absolute cures of female ills than any other one remedy the world has ever known and it is the greatest blessing which ever came into the lives of suffering women.

Don't try to endure, but cure the cause of all your suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. The following letters prove this:

Mrs W. S. Ford of 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, suppression, terrible dragging sensations and extreme nervousness. I had given up all hope of ever being well again when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended. It cured my weakness and made me well and strong."

Miss Grace E. Miller, of 1213 Michigan St., Buffalo, N. Y. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a very bad condition of health generally; irritable, cross, backache and suffered from a feminine weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, cured me after all other medicines had failed."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ford and Miss Miller it will do for other women in like condition. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

HARDSHIPS OF ARMY LIFE

Left Thousands of Veterans With Kidney Troubles.

The experience of David W. Martin, a retired merchant, of Bolivar, Mo., is just like thousands of others. Mr. Martin says: "I think I have had kidney disease ever since the war. During an engagement my horse fell on me, straining my back and injuring the kidneys. I have been told I had a floating kidney. I had intense pain in the back, headaches and dizzy spells and the action of the bladder was very irregular. About three years ago I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, and found such great relief that I continued, and inside a comparatively short time was entirely rid of kidney trouble."

TERRIBLE ITCHING.

Eczema Affected Whole System—Unable to Rest Night or Day—Suffered 4 Years—Cuticura Cures.

"I suffered severely for four years from poison oak and ivy. My condition was serious, as I could not rest night or day and be free from a terrible itching sensation from scratching on my hands between the fingers, my feet and face. I got the best of advice and treatment from six different doctors who were anxious to cure me. One of the doctors told me that when the poison was cured, eczema (a worse disease) would follow, which became true. My eyesight was affected, and I went to a hospital especially for the eyes and got relief, but eczema got a terrible hold on my system. I was about to give up all hope of ever being cured, yet I could not be reconciled to such results, as my health had been good and free from any disease all my life. My age is seventy-three years. In my extremity I happened to read of Cuticura Remedies for skin diseases. I was anxious about my condition and desired to evade any spurious imitation. This was in July, 1905, and I called on a certain druggist for the Cuticura Remedies. I bought five boxes Cuticura Ointment, also some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Pills as I required them. In four weeks' treatment my face was smooth, and the itching gradually left my hands and feet and I could rest comfortably, for which I am grateful and happy. W. Field Cowen, Justice of the Peace and Notary Public, Hartly, Del., May 15, 1906."

Authorial Regrets.

It is the practice nowadays for young sand-hill cranes of literature hanging on the the fimbriated flounce of journalism to tell of the utterly impossible number of times the rising author of this morning offered his manuscript to indifferent and scowling publishers. I thought Mark Twain held the record until Upton Sinclair braved the sanctums of no fewer than twenty-seven publishers in slow succession before he found one with sufficient fatal dash to tackle him. A majority of authors of 45 are filled with regrets for what they wrote at 20. It is said that Winston Churchill (U. S. A.) destroyed drawerfuls of attempted literature before he found courage to approach a publisher. My, my! Excellent exercise, however. He has no regrets. It is said that Balzac rewrote one of his romances thirty-eight times! Why on earth didn't the genius of libertines manifold his stuff? —New York Press.

It is not generally known that the insignia of the Golden Fleece conferred upon the first Duke of Wellington was that actually worn by Columbus, and, as a special mark of Spain's gratitude, this insignia was made hereditary, so that the present duke is the proud possessor of the tar worn by the discoverer of America.

READ WRONG BUMP.

Phrenological Faddist Runs Up Against a Deceptive Protuberance.

"Bump" parties are a new form of entertainment adopted by women's clubs this season that bids fair to rival whist and bridge, that is, if all are as successful as the one given yesterday afternoon by the press committee of the Rainy Day Club, in the home of Mrs. Thomas H. Whitney, 411 West End avenue.

"Bump" parties are entertaining, even exciting. The diversion is created by a woman phrenologist, who takes herself very seriously. If husbands of members of the Rainy Day Club are importuned to build houses regardless of cost, so that the mistress may have an opportunity to decorate the interior and prove her artistic temperament, they need not be surprised, for it will only be another evidence of the effect of the 'bump" party.

One "Daisy" of uncertain age was warned not to marry by the phrenologist. "Don't you marry; don't even consider it, until you are really ready," she was told, "for it would be a pity for you to make a mistake and wed too soon or get the wrong men."

Another prominent member was startled by hearing the reader say, after carefully rubbing the "bumps" on her head: "You have robbed some one, and if there had been a twin I should feel sorry for it."

"You are cold and reticent," said the reader to another woman, "and it took your husband years to make an impression."

"Six," declared the subject amid shouts of laughter from the other members.

"You are still inclined to keep your own counsel," continued the phrenologist, "for you tell your husband only such things as you think best for him to know."

In the midst of one flattering reading the subject grew red and quite confused and finally announced that the "bump" being felt was not a real one, but a piece of padding that kept up her pompadour.

There is but one undesirable feature to such entertainments, and that is that the most elaborate of coiffures are disarranged by the hands of the phrenologist as she works over a "bump" of affection or tries to find a lump of genius or a point of locality, and sidecombs and jeweled ornaments are sacrificed.—New York Herald.

Might Have Been Painless.

"Gentlemen of the jury," erupted the attorney for the plaintiff, addressing the twelve Arkansas peers who were sitting in judgment and on their respective shoulder blades, in a damage suit against a grasping corporation for killing a cow, "if the train had been running as slow as it should have been ran, if the bell had been rung as it ort to have been rang, or the whistle had been blown as it should have been blew, none of which was did, the cow would not have been injured when she was killed!"—Ram's Horn.

The Pulpit

A SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON

Subject: Representing Christ.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme, "Representing Christ," the pastor, the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, took as his text John 13: 34-35, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one to another." He said:

This, to my mind, is one of the broadest, most far reaching, most widely inclusive of the moral duties that our Lord has made obligatory upon those who wish to enter into the Christian life.

The time and the scene are familiar to us all. The Supper is over; Christ has washed the feet of His disciples; the betrayer is named and departed upon his errand of shame. The end is very near. A few hours and Calvary.

With the knowledge of His approaching suffering weighing heavily on His heart, the Saviour with a more than kingly courage speaks His words of comfort and command. Only eleven men, and they soon sorely to be tried, hear the melody of His voice; but to our hearts He speaks to-day, with those same kindly yet authoritatively tones with which He swept the faithful, fickle, strangely human souls of that little band to whose ministry we owe so much.

This "new commandment" that our Master enjoins upon the disciples demands equal obedience from us. In it is embodied the essence of the whole moral law. To be true sons of the Father we must exemplify in our own lives those very qualities of love and of loveliness that are the secret of the Saviour to draw men, everywhere and at all times, unto Himself. With our every thought and word and act must we represent the Christ. With all our moral and spiritual forces, given to us of God and dedicated to His service, must we re-present the message of salvation.

Let us look for a moment at the character of the love which Christ demands of us who would serve Him truest. With Him there is no letting down either in degree or in kind. Christ asks of us the same ideal love that He spread wide about Him whithersoever He went. "Even as I have loved you," so shall ye love one another. "Not a simple comparison, but a conformity; the love is to be of the same nature," the commentators tell us. Thus we see, that, in short, we are, in our love, to be Christlike. No mere sentimentality, no passing fancy or passion, is this love of which the Christ is typal. It transcends and includes all our personal passions. All the heart's emotions are at their best when, the love of Christ reigning within us, they are expressions of that alturistic, world-including affection which the Nazarene calls forth. The influence of the Christ makes for greater beauty in all the gardens of the soul. Everywhere in life we find it to be so. The gentle light that glances from the mother's eye becomes a holy, steadfast glow when once the power of the loving, living Christ is felt within the soul. All love that is worthy of the name is beautified, ennobled, sanctified by the incoming of the Spirit of Almighty God, the Comforter from Christ. The Christ life without the Christ love cannot be. The life implies the love. The incoming Christ compels an outgoing love; and only in the measure that we pour out our love upon our fellow men do we live truest for Christ and closest to His side. Thus, we see that, in essence and in sum, our love as Christian men and women must measure true to the character of the love which was in Jesus Christ Himself.

A cursory examination of these words of the Master would lead the reader, perhaps, to conclude that this love that the Saviour showered upon His disciples and to which He bade the eleven to conform was to be confined in its application to themselves only, or at best to those who would accept the Gospel and its messenger. To be sure, there is a mighty element of truth contained even in this limited, short-sighted, rather self-centred view. Christ did mean and does mean that Christians should practice all the arts of love within the circle of those who have heard the call and have answered it. Perhaps it would be better, no not perhaps, but certainly it would be best, for the Christian household of faith, individually and collectively, to make effective in their lives the highest principles of ideal love laid down by Christ. But as we read closer and enter more fully into the mind of the Master we see a deeper and a grander message in these parting commands. Listen once again to His words: "Even as I have loved you." Do you not see the great, world-wide principle lying just within the shadow of the sentence? "Even as I have loved you." And how had He loved them? Moses, you know, brought the children of Israel up from the torrid lands of bondage, up to the confines of the land of Jehovah's promise. And the name of Moses is held in reverent memory by the host of that scattered people of God everywhere to-day. But this Christ, this despised Nazarene, had found these men struggling not only with unwholesome economic and ecclesiastical conditions, but with inner and spiritual distress. True to the purpose and motive of His life Christ had given them the way unto spiritual salvation and, with it, the means to the cleansing of the entire civil life of the world. He had come down from the Father's house beyond the immeasurable blue and, taking upon Himself the burdens and the sins of human kind, had started these men out upon the sure highway that leads to spiritual perfectness and all temporal joy. He had found them in deep darkness and had shown them the light. There was no question in Christ's mind as to the depth of their philosophy, or as to the bulk of their purses, or as to the fit of their clothes. He did not inquire, so far as we have record, into their ancestry, so to be sure that they were worthy to be in the social set of one who was of the line of David. Ah, no! Christ took them, one and all, at their face value—as men and sinners. He saw in them only men waiting and longing for the touch of a loving hand and the comfort of a sure salvation. He called them and they left their work, their families and their friends, and they followed where He led. And, as they followed, He taught them, and He showed them how, by the power that He alone could give, they might work social and spiritual miracles and transformations in their own lives and also in the lives of other men and of nations. And, withal, He loved them with that mighty, godly love wherewith none other had ever loved them before. Such was the love of Christ to His disciples. Such was the character of the affection, in the broadest interpretation, that He lavished upon them. Such was the love which, in its fullest application, He wished them to manifest to all men. He had loved them as sinners. They must love other men in sin. He had dealt kindly and patiently and with all forebearance with them. They must do the same with their fellows. To be sure, they were to strive for harmony among themselves at all times that they might be known and read of all men as His disciples. Only thus could their teachings gain or retain a merited respect. But the wider expression of the love of Christ that was spread abroad in their hearts demanded, as it demands to-day, that they look upon all men in sin, as well as upon all Christians, as brothers—and love them.

But, I hear some one ask, suppose Christian men to-day do love, specifically and generically, as Christ commanded that the disciples should love, what then?

That is just the point that I wish to consider. This command of Christ, in its application both to the relation of the Christian to the other faithful and to the world of men in sin about him, is just as imperative upon us as it was upon any of the eleven. And the outworking of that Christ principle in all the departments of human activity will ensure the final solution of all difficulties that now perplex and distress us and the consummation of the Kingdom of our Lord. It is so perfectly easy and so very simple that the ease and simplicity of it all astonishes us. We have become so accustomed to think of our problems as exceptionally hard to solve. We seem to take much joy to assure ourselves of the almost insurmountable difficulty to set the world right with the eternal plan of God. We would much rather, so it would seem, that the whole matter remain complex. We think, perhaps, that God will be easy on us if we fail in a difficult task.

Beloved, it is difficult, it is well-night, yea actually, insurmountable, this sin in the world, when squared to the possibilities of our own unaided powers. But did we open our hearts wide toward Heaven once, and let the power of the Spirit of the living Father fill us to the full; did we but empty out our Spirit-filled hearts in love upon our fellow men; did we but put into action once this simple plan of God toward the rehabilitation of the world, we would learn, and that quickly, what are the possibilities of the power that cometh from on high. And the only way to rectify the results of the spiritual, moral, economic and political sins of this world, individual and social, is to let the love of God fill you and through you the world of men about you. This done, the task is light, for our basis of action is changed. We no longer rely upon the wisdom of the philosophies of men and their theories, but we clutch tightly to the power arm of that Ruler of us all to whom all things are possible—and we seize the first thing first.

Now this command of Christ to love one another even as He has loved us, is imperative. It is mandatory and not permissive. If we would be good Christians of full and regular standing in the household of faith we must obey. It is not for us to decide whether or no in our case the law shall be valid. Christ commands, and only by obedience to His demand do we so live that all men shall know that we are His disciples. The test of fidelity is in obedience. Lip testimony is judged by fealty in service. Some one has said: "What you do speaks so loud that I cannot hear what you say." It is this central fact that Christ recognizes when He commands a loving ordering of our outward life. We are Christians, but do we live the life of love?

These words of Christ should come home to each of us with more than usual force at this season of the year. Christmas is over; shortly we shall be face to face with those sadder days which are so full of memories of Him who, for our sakes, suffered even ignoblest death. It is fitting that we should re-dedicate ourselves to the work that He so dearly loved. In His own good Providence God has seen proper to make use of us to redeem the world. It remains for us to decide to co-operate with Him and to do good work for the kingdom. Shall we put our shoulders to the wheel or shall we add weight to the load? Shall we not drink deep at the fountain of God's love; shall we not be messengers of His healing love unto this weary, sin-crushed world?

Only as we breathe the Spirit of His love do we represent Him.

Let us open then our hearts both God-ward and man-ward; and fill the world with Christ's uplifting, sanctifying love.

"A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; even as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one to another."

The True Church.

There are some few churches left to show the type to which all churches must return. Next to the home and the family the true church represents to its members helpfulness, sympathy and every gracious and homelike virtue.

Now proclaim Messiah's birth;
Come and worship
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

Shepherds in the field abiding,
Watching o'er your flocks by night,
God with man is now residing,
Yonder shines the infant-light;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

Sages, leave your contemplations,
Brighter visions beam afar;
Seek the great Desire of Nations;
Ye have seen His natal star;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

Saints, before the altar bending,
Watching long in hope and fear,
Suddenly the Lord descending,
In His temple shall appear;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

Sinners, wrung with true repentance,
Doomed for guilt, to endless pains,
Justice now revokes the sentence,
Mercy calls you—break your chains;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.
—James Montgomery.

Bringing Out the Best in Us.

Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things.—Philippians, iv., 8.

These words are an appeal to the best in human nature. In every man there is an angel and a demon—tendencies toward right, inclinations toward the wrong. There is no man so thoroughly bad that some good may not be found in him. There is no man so truly good that he is without imperfections. Every once in a while we say of a man there is no good in him whatsoever. But that judgment is rather an expression of our attitude toward him than a real estimate of his character. A Christmas card was in circulation last year which read, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it does not behoove any of us to talk about the rest of us."

We frequently talk about the fixity of character, but with almost every passing hour our consciousness is undergoing change. The mechanism of thought, feeling, purpose, is one of stupendous variability. One hour we are under the influence of one set of emotions; the next hour these emotions are succeeded by an entirely different group of sensations.

There is an unrealized self in every man. Now and then we catch gleams of our better life. They come to us in stray, sacred moments as prospects caught a few times from some lofty mountain altitude—the vision of that other being, that better self buried down deep within us, for a larger, truer, nobler, diviner life.

Two young men came to this city from a Western town. One of them had felt the narrow limitations of his boyhood. He thought, well, as a man passes through this world but once and he will be a long time dead, he might as well have his fling and see what there is in life. So he shunned the good people. He had seen enough of them at home. He visited the haunts of sin. Well, he has had his fling. His face and his eyes tell the tale.

The other young man came with the determination not only to make the best of his opportunities but also, as Jean Paul Richter said, "to make as much out of himself as it is possible to make out of the stuff." He put himself in touch with the best associations; yes, he went to the church, and was encouraged in his purpose. The passing years have witnessed not only to his material success but also to his growth in manhood. He paid attention to what was best. The difference between these two young men consisted simply in the different voices to which they responded. One responded to the highest, the other to the lowest. One endeavored to bring out the best, the other stifled and smothered the best.

My appeal to every young man who reads these words is: Overcome the lethargy and tyranny which holds you down to your lower self. Bring out the angel that is within you. Every honest effort toward the things which are true and honest and just and pure and lovely and of good report is so much gained toward the imprisoned ideal within.—Rev. William C. Stinson, D. D., Bloomingdale Reformed Church, West End avenue and 106th street, New York City, in the Sunday Herald.

A Personal Thought.

Let me remember that the kindling of the light is only part of the work that needs to be done. The other part is the sustaining and nourishing of the light when kindled, and if the first part is God's, the second part is mine. Much secret fellowship with God, much prayerful intercourse with Him, nothing else than this will maintain my light. I must watch, therefore, least my indolence, or neglect, or worldliness, my prayer-life become a fickle and constant thing, and so my candle burn too low to be of any use.—G. H. Knight.

The Doctrine of the Holy Ghost.

He is the effectively present deity. He is God continually in the midst of men and touching their daily lives. He is the God of perennial and daily aspiration, the comforter to whom we look in the most pressing needs of comfort which fill our common life. He is the God of continual contact with mankind. The doctrine of the Holy Ghost is a continual protest against every recurring tendency to separate God from the current world. —Phillips Brooks.

U. S. DISPENSATORY

Describes the Principal Ingredients Contained in Pe-ru-na.

Are we claiming too much for Peruna when we claim it to be an effective remedy for chronic catarrh? Have we abundant proof that Peruna is in reality such a catarrh remedy? Let us see what the United States Dispensatory says of the principal ingredients of Peruna.

Take, for instance, the ingredient hydrastis canadensis, or golden seal. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes, chronic rhinitis (nasal catarrh), atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), chronic intestinal catarrh, catarrhal jaundice (catarrh of the liver), and in diseased mucous membranes of the pelvic organs. It is also recommended for the treatment of various forms of diseases peculiar to women.

Another ingredient of Peruna, corydalis formosa, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic. So also is cubebs classed as a stomachic and as a tonic for the mucous membranes.

Cedron seeds is another ingredient of Peruna, an excellent drug that has been very largely overlooked by the medical profession for the past fifty years. The seeds are to be found in very few drug stores. The United States Dispensatory says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent diseases as a substitute for quinine.

Oil of copaiba, another ingredient of Peruna, is classed by the United States Dispensatory as a mild stimulant and diuretic. It acts on the stomach and intestinal tract. It acts as a stimulant on the genito-urinary membranes. Useful in chronic cystitis, chronic dysentery and diarrhea, and some chronic diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Send to us for a free book of testimonials of what the people think of Peruna as a catarrh remedy. The best evidence is the testimony of those who have tried it.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nervine. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeons' knife, would it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

Garfield Tea is made of Herbs—a great point in its favor. Take it for constipation, indigestion and liver disturbances. Guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Act.

Pigeons and turkeys have each a natural temperature of 109 degrees.

The Tiger Trick.

When we happen to witness a phenomenon which seems to violate natural laws, we are not likely to forget its cause if it be explained to us. The following experiment which I devised for my students, helped them to understand as well as to remember some chemical data.

A white cat, made of flexible pasteboard and imprisoned in a glass jar, is shown to the audience. The lecturer announces that, without opening the jar or even touching it, he will cause the cat to undergo a zoological as well as a chemical transformation. He takes the support of the jar, and pushes it forward in full view of the students. The change occurs almost instantaneously. The cat takes a rich orange color on which black transversal stripes rapidly paint themselves. The cat has become a tiger.

The whole transformation is produced by emanations of hydrogen sulphide, which is generated in the jar itself without any visible apparatus. The cat has been previously coated with a solution of chloride of antimony wherever the orange hue was to be produced, and with a solution of basic acetate of lead wherever the black stripes were to appear. Both solutions are colorless. After the coated cat has been introduced in his glass cage, a small piece of pasteboard is placed under the wooden support so as slightly to incline the jar forward. A few decigrammes of pulverized sulphide of iron folded in a piece of blotting paper are deposited behind the cat, on the elevated side of the bottom of the jar. Two or three cubic centimeters of diluted sulphuric acid are dropped with a pipette on the opposite side. When the performer wishes the transformation to take place, he takes the wooden support and pushes it forward as if he wanted everybody to see better what is going to happen. By so doing he suppresses the slight inclination which kept the iron sulphide beyond the reach of the sulphuric acid. The gas is evolved, and the formation of the orange sulphide of antimony and black sulphide of lead takes place in a few seconds.—G. Michaud in Scientific American.

Pure White Lead is the Natural Paint Pigment

Numerous compounds are being offered to take the place of white lead as a paint, but no real substitute for it has yet been found. Pure White Lead has a peculiar property of amalgamating with the wood upon which it is used—added to this it has an elasticity which permits the paint to follow the natural expansion and contraction of the wood. Pure White Lead with its full natural tenacity and elasticity, unimpaired by adulterants, more fully fills all the requirements of the ideal paint. Every keg which bears the Dutch Boy trade mark is positively guaranteed to be absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

All lead packed in 25lb. kegs bears this mark.

"I Was Pale"

writes Mrs. H. C. Robinson (formerly Miss Hazel Upson) of DeKalb, Ill., "as a result of six months suppression, following an attack of fever, that I never got over just right. I was weak and hardly able to get around. The best doctor in DeKalb gave me up and said I could not get well. Mamma was almost crazy about it. One afternoon a lady friend came to see me and told mamma to get me a bottle of so she got it, though she had little hopes of its helping. But, praise God! I had taken just three bottles, when I was relieved and began to get well right off. I kept right on taking Cardui and now I am well and strong. I feel that I owe my life to Cardui and will never be through praising it." Thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. Robinson, to tell of the wonderful relief it gave, in the various forms of female disease. For such trouble as headache, backache, falling feelings, nervousness, irregularity, misplacement, etc., you will find Cardui of true and lasting benefit. Try it.

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all these people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

Pilgrims Rest.

Here comes the Rounder again. Health of this community is fairly good at this writing, except Clifford Keen, who cut his toe almost off and is suffering some.

Mr. John Poole was thrown out of his buggy and sprained his knee and he suffered some with that.

Just one word about the piece from Jones. That young man said I signed my name right, but I don't know whether he did or not. He said he was sorry for that poor girl. I am too, for she never has a beau unless he goes from Chilton. I guess the boys where she lives are too bashful to go. He said for us to go to Evergreen church to get a sample of the Autauga county people. Yes, there are some nice looking girls down there, but why did he not say come down where he lives and see a sample? Guess he was afraid that would not be a fair sample. Autauga has an Evergreen church, and I think some Evergreen boys. Mr. Editor, I will not say any more about the Autauga boys, but hope by the next writing they will be a little tamer.

The men that are surveying the new railroad are camped at Pletcher. If they cross the M. & O. there, our little town will be on a boom some day.

Our picnic was sure fine the 22d. It was enjoyed by all present.

It seemed that our teacher, J. O. Williams and his brother Ernest hated to leave us, and of course we boys and girls hated to see them leave, but there's one thing that's cheering, all the people want them back soon. Hoping to hear from the Autauga county friend soon, I am as ever the LITTLE PILGRIM ROUNDER.

Notice to Sunday Schools.

I have appointed as delegates at large, to attend the State Sunday School Convention, to be held at Birmingham, April 9, 10 and 11, the following persons: T. U. Crumpton, Maplesville; L. H. Reynolds, Clanton; Miss Mary C. Gibson, Verbena; Miss Lizzie McNeill, Jemison; S. B. Groves, Thorsby. I wish to urge all Sunday schools to be sure and elect delegates to the State Convention, and elect only those who will be certain to attend.

Concord.

Our school at this place is progressing nicely under the able management of Miss Julia Parrish, who is the best teacher we ever had at this place. I think Miss Julia will do anything she can to advance the pupils and those who do not try are missing a golden opportunity.

We are having a lot of sickness in our community. The people are dying with pneumonia. There have been ten buried at Walnut Creek since Jan. 1:

I guess we will have good crops this year, the farmers have been plowing for the last month.

Best wishes to the Banner and its many readers.

TWO FRIENDS.

To the Churches of the Unity Association.

At the late session of your body in October past, the two following resolutions were adopted:

1. "We recommend to the churches of this Association Bros. J. C. Johnson, A. C. Yeargan and J. W. Jones as worthy of an education. Bro. J. C. Johnson is at Howard College in his 2d year, Bro. Yeargan anticipates going."

2 "Resolved, That a committee consisting of the Moderator and Clerk of this Association, and D. H. Marbury be appointed, to take up the subject of ministerial education with the churches, and urge them to help our beneficiaries in school."

In compliance with the foregoing action of your Association, we earnestly desire to call your attention to this matter. Bros. Johnson and Yeargan are both in Howard College, and all these young men are struggling bravely against many adverse influences to secure an education and qualify themselves to preach the Gospel.

They are your own boys and God has called them into His service for the highest duty and the most far-reaching in its effects upon the interests of humanity, of any in which a human being can engage. We appeal to you to help them liberally, and TO HELP THEM NOW. Will you not take up a collection, and let it be a generous one, and forward it to Bro. J. A. Hendricks, Treasurer, East Lake, Ala., care Howard College?

WILL INSPECT RIVERS.

House Committee Accepts Invitation to Meet in New Orleans.

Washington.—The house committee on rivers and harbors decided to accept an invitation from the Louisiana delegation in congress to inspect the rivers of Louisiana, and on March 25 the committee will assemble at New Orleans.

From New Orleans the party will go to the mouth of the Mississippi river and examine the locks from the river into the Bayou la Fourche and Bayou Plaquemine, going thence to the mouth of the Red river. The Atchafalaya river will then be visited and the committee will sail down this stream to the gulf.

The party will next go to Shreveport and sail down the Red river from there to New Orleans. A visit will also be made to Southwestern Louisiana for the purpose of inspecting the salt mines, oil fields and the extensive rice cultivation and sugar plantations.

Takes Honduran Towns.

Managua.—Forces for the Nicaraguan government have captured without resistance the Honduran towns of Concepcion and Marl. They also took Corpus Christi after hard fighting. No details of the engagement have been received here.

Washington.—Official advices received at the state department are to the effect that fighting in Central America has become more general with Nicaragua bearing the brunt of a three-cornered conflict. There has been constant fighting between the forces of Nicaragua and Honduras, in which Nicaragua is stated to have won the preliminary action. Great public enthusiasm and confidence exists in Nicaragua, particularly on account of the aggressions of Salvador which is lending aid to Honduras. Nicaragua is preparing to resist this interference, which is interpreted here to mean that an invasion of Salvador is in prospect.

State Convict Chaplain.

Birmingham, Ala.—Governor Comer has announced the appointment of Rev. S. R. Emerson, pastor of the Pratt City Methodist church, as the successor of Dr. George W. Brewer as state convict chaplain.

Storm at Echo.

Montgomery, Ala.—A special to the Advertiser from Ozark, Ala., says that a wind and rain storm played havoc in the village of Echo, Dale county, unroofing nearly all the houses and injuring several of the inhabitants.

Acquitted of Murder Charge.

Birmingham, Ala.—Will Darnell, the prominent young Gadsden man charged with shooting to death Will Henley, also well known there, in a house of ill fame, was found not guilty after his case had been on trial three days.

Steamship Carries Large Party.

Brunswick, Ga.—The steamer Brunswick has arrived from Havana en route to New York. The ship had on board forty-six passengers, twenty for this city and twenty-six going through to New York. The Brunswick has had a large passenger list on every trip she has made to Havana, and she carried a large party from hee Tueday.

Wins Suit Against Pullman.

Atlanta, Ga.—A verdict for $1,00 was returned by the federal jury Friday afternoon in the damage sit of Mrs. Sadie Calutz against the Pullman Palace Car Company for the recovery of $10,000 because of her ejection from a sleeper at Memphis six years ago. It is understood that the case may be appealed.

Strike for Increase.

Wayross, Ga.—The car inspectors and car workers of the second and third divisions of the Atlantic Coast line have gone out on a strike in Waycross. Forty-one men are out. The men recently asked for a 25 per cent increase, which was declined. The places of the men are so far unfilled.

Have Voted to Strike.

Philadelphia.—Though no official statement has been issued, it is authoritatively stated that about 9,660 yardmen employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, east of Pittsburg and Erie, have voted to strike. A committee was named on grievance, and the body will call on General Manager Atterbury, when an official statement as to the vote will be made.

No New Trial for Anderson.

Atlanta, Ga.—Judge Roan on Saturday denied the appeal for a new trial for C. N. Anderson, convicted of violating the provisions of the Boykin law and fined $1,000. Mr. Anderson's attorneys will now appeal to the appellate court.

If hooks for bathroom, kitchen or pantry are dipped in enamel paint there will be no trouble from rust.

BILLION DOLLARS IS APPROPRIATED.

Session of Congress Uses More Money Than Ever Before.

REVIEW OF WORK DONE.

Battleships, Rivers and Harbors Appropriations, Immigration Bill, Increased Salaries Among Work Accomplished.

Washington.—More money has been appropriated during the short session of the Fifty-ninth congress than during any previous session. The whole amount, as near as can be estimated, approximates a billion dollars.

Two big battleships were authorized for the navy and the artillery corps of the army was reorganized and enlarged. A general service pension was granted to veterans of the Mexican and civil wars, and like provisions were made for army nurses. For river and harbor improvements the appropiation aggegated $83,000,000.

Increased salaries were given to cavinet ministers, the vice president and senators, the speaker of the house and its members, to ambassadors ministers and consuls, to postoffice clerks and letter carriers.

The house made more inquiries for information from the document rooms of congress regarding the ship subsidy bill, the currency measure and the bill regulating the hours of service of railway employes than any other pending legislation. Ship subsidy died hard in the last hours. The other two measures became laws as the session closed.

The immigration bill, one of the measures brought over from the long session, was completed under the spur of the president that he might meet the California-Japanese situation by giving the administration control of coolie importation through passports. The bill further restricts the admission of aliens to this country.

A bill was passed for the establishment of an agricultural bank in the Philippines.

The free alcohol law of last session was modified that farmers may distill their waste products so as to be denatured and used in the arts and sciences.

The right of appeal in criminal cases was granted the government, a measure intended to strengthen the anti-trust legislation by affording a means whereby the supreme court may pass on the constitutionality and construction of such laws.

An investigation was authorized regarding the condition of women and child workers.

The interstate commerce commission was authorized to ascertain and report if the express companies of the country are evading the railroad rate law of the last session by buying, selling and handling on consignment fruit, vegetables and oysters.

Reed Smoot was retained by the senate as a senator from Utah, ending a four years' controversy.

The senate ratified treaties with Santa Domingo and Algeciras.

The president was authorized to use his good offices to prevent atrocities in the Congo.

TO CONSIDER CANAL SITUATION

Southern Governors, Senators and Congressmen Called to New Orleans.

New Orleans.—A call to governors senators and congressmen of the south to meet in New Orleans March 25 to consider the Panama canal situation has been issued by the New Orleans Progressive Union. W. J. Oliver, whose bid for the canal contract was not accepted, is one of those invited.

The purpose of the meeting is to secure an agreement among the gulf ports in a project to have the Panama Railroad Company's steamship service—which now runs out of New York—divided so that a division of the ships touch at gulf ports and southern states receive the benefits of any additional canal trade thus secured. Committees which have been working on this matter report that Mobile and Galveston are in favor of such a division.

Verdict of Not Guilty.

Lyons, Ga.—The jury in the case of W. T. Gilpin, charged with the murder of W. W. McDonald, a prominent attorney of Douglas, Ga., has brought in a verdict of not guilty. Gilpin shot McDonald in his wife's room in Vidalia one night last October. He had concealed himself in the closet of the room. Gilpin pleaded the "unwritten law" in his defense. Mrs. Gilpin was also under indictment, but the case against her was not pressed.

New Uniforms.

Florence, Ala.—Handsome new uniforms have been received by the Wheeler Rifles, and the company now presents a very marshal appearance. Capt. James W. Moore, recently elected to the command, is drilling the company regularly and maintaining the strictest discipline, with the hope that the Wheeler Rifles will be one of the companies selected to go to the Jamestown Exposition.

BURNETT ON IMMIGRATION.

Alabama Representatives Appointed on Committee.

Washington.—Representative Burnett, of Alabama, who has taken a prominent part in immigration matters during this congress, has been appointed a member of the immigration committee provided for in the bill just passed.

The committee consists of nine members, three appointed by the house, three by the senate and three by the president.

They will probably take a trip abroad this summer to get facts about immigrants from the European countries. Mr. Burnett hopes to be able to make a report in the next congress which will have the effect of increasing immigration to southern ports.

Killed on Troopers' Train.

Waterbury, Conn.—Three persons are known to have been killed in a collision on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, a mile and a half below this city, between the midnight passenger train and a special train bearing Company F of the Second regiment, Connecticut National Guard, which had been attending a banquet in this city as guests of Company A of the same regiment. The death list may be increased.

The number of injured has not yet been learned.

Governor Woodruff was on the special which was bearing the militia back to New Haven, and he fortunately was not injured.

Subscriptions for Silver Service.

Macon, Ga.—As a result of the belief on the part of many citizens that Macon's contribution for the silver service of the battleship Georgia must be raised by public subscription, arrangements to do so have been made and subscriptions lists were placed at each bank.

The subscription was asked from the council at the last council meeting and was practically turned down, as it was referred until another week.

Car Workers Strike.

Augusta, Ga.—All the car workers on the Georgia railroad, who recently returned to work after being on strike three weeks for an increase of wages, have quit work again, alleging that the company has violated the articles of agreement.

Street Car Dynamited.

Portland, Ore.—The fourth attempt within the past ninety days to dynamite a street car occurred here. All windows in the car were shattered and the motorman was hurled from his platform. The police say the explosion was caused by the discharge of a detonating cap.

Put to Death in the Chair.

Ossinning.—Frank Furlong, who killed his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Keeler, in New York city, in 1904, was put to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison. Furlong was 21 years of age a year older than George Granger, who was killed in the chair on Monday last.

Investigate Postoffice Department.

Washington.—Vice-President Fairbanks has appointed Senators Penrose of Pennsylvania, Carter of Montana and Clay of Georgia to represent the senate on the joint commission to make an investigation into the business systems employed by the postoffice department.

Winona's New Postoffice.

Winona, Miss.—The new postoffice building, which has been recently constructed by R. H. Hitt, has had all fixtures placed in position, and Postmaster W. T. Branch expects to occupy it next Monday. Winona will have one of the best postoffices of any town of the same size in the state.

Gilpin Declared Not Guilty.

Savannah, Ga.—The jury in the case of W. T. Gilpin returned a verdict of not guilty.

Ambassador Thompson Returns.

City of Mexico.—Ambassador Thompson has arrived in this city from Vera Cruz. The ambassador was accompanied by Mrs. Thompson and a party of friends. He has been on leave, visiting in the United States and Cuba.

D. J. Sully Improves.

New York.—D. J. Sully is reported to be resting much more comfortably than at any time since his illness developed, and the attending physicians expressed with greater confidence than before their hope of an ultimate recovery.

Killed by a Fall.

Biloxi, Miss.—Peter Adams, a well-known tinner of this city, fell from the roof of the firemen's hall and was almost instantly killed.

Will Hold Federal Court.

Macon, Ga.—Judge Speer and the members of the federal court, which has been sitting in Savannah for the greater part of the month, has arrived home. The party included Marshal White, Deputy Riley and A. H. Codington. Judge Speer will be in Macon only a few days, however, as he will leave the city again for Augusta where he will open court Monday The session will be a short term, lasting only a few days

CAR WORKERS STRIKE.

All Go Out at Montgomery and Waycross, Ga., on Coast Line.

Montgomery, Ala.—All car repairers, car cleaners and car inspectors of the Atlantic Coast Line in Montgomery went on a strike Saturday afternoon. They declare that the company has violated a wage agreement made at a conference held in Wilmington, N. C. It is asserted that the strike will extend to the entire system, and that the shops in High Springs, Fla., and Sanford, Fla., are already affected.

Flood at Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ala.—A great deal of damage and inconvenience has resulted in this city from the high waters following the continued rains. Back water in the spring branch bottom was higher than ever before known and many homes were inundated. People had to take refuge on higher ground. Bridges in the northern part of the city were nearly all washed away, and traffic on the Huntsville Electric railway had to be suspended for nearly an entire day. The electric storm put the Western Union Telegraph Company almost out of business in this section. Huntsville was cut off from the outside world with the exception of one wire.

Peacemaker Killed.

Selma, Ala.—Tim Lyles, a son of Major Lyles, a well-known negro around Selma, was killed Friday evening at the railroad camp near Pelham in Shelby county. The negro's remains were brought to Selma Saturday afternoon for interment, his home having been in this city. The particulars of the killing are said to be that Lyles was acting in the role of peacemaker and met the usual fate of that kindly disposed personage.

Speaker Martin Dead.

Montgomery, Ala.—William L. Martin, speaker of the house of representatives, died at 10:40 o'clock Sunday night after an illness of only six days of pneumonia, following an attack of grip. He was in his 57th year, and was born in Madison county. He leaves a wife and six children, two sons and four daughters. His eldest son, Thomas, is assistant attorney-general and one of the best known young lawyers in the state.

Contract Awarded.

St. Stephens, Ala.—The court of county commissioners has awarded awarded the contract to build the new jail to the firm of Youngblood Brothers, of Decatur, Ala. The contract price was a little over $9,000. The new jail is to be built on what is known as the Granade addition of Chatom. The contract for the building of the court house is still pending

Peacemaker Killed.

Selma, Ala.—Tim Lyles, a son of Major Lyles, a well-known negro around Selma, was killed Friday evening at the railroad camp near Pelham in Shelby county. The negro's remains were brought to Selma Saturday afternoon for interment, his home having been in this city. The particulars of the killing are said to be that Lyles was acting in the role of peacemaker and met the usual fate of that kindly disposed personage.

GIRL IN JAIL.

Charged With Killing a Nine-Year-Old Negro Boy.

Florence, Ala.—Frank Houston, a 9-year-old negro, died with a fractured skull, caused from being struck behind the ear with a rock by Annie Powers, a white girl, aged 14 years. Bad feeling existed between the families, who were neighbors, and as the girl passed the neighbor's cabin she picked up a rock and threw it at the boy, whose back was turned to her. After a postmortem developing the above facts the girl was locked up in the county jail.

New Foundry Plant.

Florence, Ala.—The Young Men's Commercial Club has concluded the deal with B. B. Cohen, formerly of Sheffield, which will bring to Florence a stove foundry, with an output of seventy-five stoves a day to begin with. The old site of the Florence Pump and Lumber Company has been purchased by Mr. Cohen, and work will begin at once in order to put the plant in operation by September 1 Mr. Cohen will employ fifty men at first, and will later increase the output and also the pay roll.

Serious Wreck.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—J. L. Morris, a negro fireman, was killed and several others of the train crew seriously injured as the result of a wreck on the Queen and Crescent road at Powers near Tuscaloosa. The fast mail train while moving at a good rate of speed, struck an open switch and was wrecked. The engine turned turtle and seven cars were demolished.

For Enticing Labor.

Selma, Ala.—J. D. Gipson, giving his residence as Mobile, was fined $25 in the mayor's court on the charge of attempting to entice labor. Mr. Gipson came to Selma and tried to get three operatives at the cotton mills here to accompany him to Mobile where he promised them good wages.

Governor Signs Bills.

Montgomery, Ala.—The governor has signed the general rate bill fixing rates on over 100 commodities, also classifying all the railroads of the state.

Strike Situation Serious.

Portsmouth, O.—The street railway situation is more serious. Strike sympathizers burnt a car on Delamar Hill, just east of the city. No cars have been operating, and the situation has grown so serious that the company officials threaten to ask for the militia in case the city authorities fail in giving ample protection.

Heflin for Agricultural Committee.

Washington.—The members of the Alabama delegation have united in endorsing Representative Heflin to a place in the agricultural committee in the next house. Representative Bowie now holds a place on the committee, and it is believed Mr. Heflin will succeed him.

Steamer Hits Rocks.

San Francisco.—The Merchants' Exchange has received a message from Eureka to the effect that the steamer Corona, which left here Thursday, is ashore at the entrance of Humbolt bay. The Corona was commanded by Captain Boyd, and took 95 passengers from here.

Thinks Schooner Hilda Lost.

Savannah, Ga.—Capt. J. H. Deihl, of this city, is of the opinion that the schooner Hilda was lost on Diamond Shoals, off Hatteras, on the night of February 4 or 5. Captain Diehl, who commands the Chattahoochee, of the Ocean Steamship Company's line, says remembers seeing a vessel answering the description of the Hilda near that point at that time.

Clay Addresses Meeting.

Brunswick, Ga.—At the Seamen's Mission a large number of both seamen and citizens attended the services. Music and singing was a feature of the evening. An address was given by S. Clay, of New York, son of Joseph Clay, of this city.

Speaker Martin Dead.

Montgomery, Ala.—William L. Martin, speaker of the house of representatives, died at 10:40 o'clock Sunday night after an illness of only six days of pneumonia, following an attack of grip. He was in his 57th year, and was born in Madison county. He leaves a wife and six children, two sons and four daughters. His eldest son, Thomas, is assistant attorney-general and one of the best known young lawyers in the state.

To exempt members of volunteer fire companies in incorporated towns and cities from military and jury duties, and from the payment of poll and street taxes, and to provide for their incorporation.

The house adopted an amendment providing that no money be paid the Mobile Medical College until the property thereof is entirely placed in the hands of the trustees of the university.

The agreement to increase the military appropriation from $15,000 to $20,000 was finally agreed to in the house by a vote of 44 to 27.

The bill to create police commissions in cities of over 35,000 inhabitants was set down for the first thing Monday.

The house also passed bills providing for licensed warehousemen, and vacating certain streets of Birmingham upon which are located tracks of the Southern railway.

The house also passed the Lusk judicial redistricting bill.

Monday.

The house of representatives on being officially notified of the death of Speaker W. L. Martin elected A. H. Carmichael, speaker pro tem., to the position of permanent presiding officer of the lower branch of the legislature. He was placed in nomination by Mr. Stegall, of Dale, and received the unanimous support of the members present.

The senate has passed the following bills:

To amend sections 1 and 2 of an act entitled "An act to confer additional rights and powers, including the right to acquire by purchase or by condemnation lands and easements upon corporations organized under a special act of the general assembly of the state of Alabama.

To authorize the court of county commissioners or board of revenue of any county authorized to levy a special tax for working the public roads to transfer county funds in the county treasury.

To exempt members of volunteer fire companies in incorporated towns and cities from military and jury duties and from the payment of poll and street taxes and to provide for their incorporation.

To amend an act entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to regulate the issue of garnishments and the proceedings thereon in the county of Morgan. Approved December 2, 1906.

To make a supplemental appropriation for the payment of the increased salaries of the judicial officers of this state.

Houston Man Assassinated.

Houston, Tex.—Sam Krantz, a prominent business man of this city, was assassinated here while leaving a disorderly house with officers where they had been searching for two of four men who had assaulted him the night before. Two of his assailants had been captured, and Krantz, with the officers, had gone to the house in search of the other two men. They were ordered out, and as they were descending the stairway a shot was fired from the upper floor, the bullet passing through Krantz's body. The proprietress of the house and Joe McNally are held pending investigation. A rifle which had been recently fired and an empty shell was found in a bed in the room which the couple occupied.

Arthur Brisbane Buys Village.

New York.—The deserted village of Allaire, in Monmouth county, New Jersey, has been bought by Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Journal, at private sale and is to be converted into a model farm. The place takes in some 600 acres and it is said that Mr. Brisbane paid $125,000 for the tract. For years he has been deeply interested in experimental and scientific agriculture, and he intends to make it one of the finest model farms in the Eastern states.

Blue Laws.

New Orleans.—A special from Harrison county, Mississippi, says that the Sunday blue laws are being revived there again. At Gulfport, even drug stores, soda fountains and fruit stands were closed by order of Police Justice J. T. Evans. Some visitors complained not only that they could get nothing to drink, but that it was difficult to purchase eatables.

LAWLY.

The weather is very cool, but the farmers are very busy in this neighborhood getting ready for another crop.

The health of this community is very good, and it seems like the people are interested in each other. Way not be that way all the time?

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Sarah Lawrence is very sick and has been a long time. We hope to hear she is better.

Mrs. Sallie Ellis visited Mr. J. O. Mize's this week.

Miss Lida Hall and little niece visited her brother, Mr. Cotton Hall, recently.

Mrs. Anna Latham and little daughters spent Sunday last at Mr. Noah Latham's.

Eugene McGee and family spent Sunday last at his sons, Arthur McGee's.

Mrs. Emma Maness spent Saturday evening with her son's family, Mr. P. G. Maness.

Misses Effie and Ida Vinner spent Saturday night with Mr. John Bearden's daughter.

SARAH JANE.

PLETCHER.

Dear Editor:

Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper.

The health of this community is very good.

The people are making preparations and will be making another crop.

Prof. J. O. Willias' school was out on the 22d inst. There was a picnic at Pilgrim Rest, where the school children celebrated Washington's birthday and the close of their school, and it was a very sad parting, for we school boys and girls sure hated that the time had come to part from each other, and we were very sad that we had to part from our dear teacher who we will gently miss, but we hope that he may be blessed, for we are well assured that he did all he could in trying to advance us for education.

Mr. Walter Abbott, Mr. Junie Green and Tom Green went to Autauga Spur last Saturday visiting.

I will close for this time as I guess this will reach the waste basket. So good wishes to The Banner.

SCHOOL BOY.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Editor Banner:

Will you please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the health of my daughter since being treated by Dr. N. S. Johnson, of Clanton. It is well known in this community that she has been expected to die for fifteen years, and two years ago she was taken with goitre of the neck, and many physicians said we would have to send her to the infirmary and have an operation performed, but Dr. Johnson was treating her and thought he could save this most dreaded operation, and commenced treating her for the goitre, and she is now in better health than she has been in for fifteen years. We tried many kinds of patent medicines, but nothing seemed to do her any good until Dr. Johnson commenced treating her. Since then her health has been improving rapidly and we know if it had not been for kind Providence and the skillful practice of Dr. Johnson she would have surely been dead long ago. But, thanks to God, since being treated by Dr. Johnson, who has been so faithful, I am glad to say she is now in splendid health, and we truly thank Dr. Johnson for being so reasonable in his practice. I felt it my duty to write this, as it may help some one else that has goitre or similar disease, for I think they could do no better than to place themselves under the careful treatment of Dr. Johnson.

Very respectfully,

MRS. I. W. HENLEY.

JONES.

Farmers are getting along very well with their work. Some are planting oats and some are talking about planting corn.

Now, a word in reply to the piece in last week's issue from Pilgrim's Rest. It is plain enough to see why that dear girl signed her name, "Nobody's Darling." It's because she takes too much interest in the boys' socks, for an Autauga boy thinks too much of himself to be a girl's darling that's all the time talking about his socks. Now, Mr. Rounder, I think myself that if she wants a darling she had better move up to Chilton, for all of the Autauga boys that want a darling have already got more than they can go to see. Admit that the Autauga boys are somewhat bashful, but if you will notice you will see that when the Autauga girls want to be with game boys they always walk around the Chilton boys looking for an Autauga boy.

With best wishes to The Banner and its many readers, I am one of the

JONES' SWITCH SPORTS.

JONES' SWITCH.

Dear Editor:

Please allow me a small space in the dear old Banner for a few words, as I haven't heard from Jones since I have been down here. Well, good old summer will soon be here, and oh, won't we be glad?

The crowd that went to Pilgrim's Rest to the school closing reported a fine time.

That's right, "Nobody's Darling," take up for the Chilton boys and girls, for I once was a Chilton girl, but have got in old Autauga, and I know I can say one thing—that if I ever get in old Chilton again I won't come back here, for what is down here but some old C. M. A. boys, and they think themselves better than the Chilton people; but I can tell you all right now that there are some boys in Chilton just as good as the C. M. A. boy ever gets to be. Of course you know I would never talk against the Chilton girls and boys, for I have some good old girl and boy friends up there, and if I live I expect to go back again some time in the future, for there isn't a respectable looking boy in Autauga county. If there is I haven't seen him yet. Ha! ha! He is not here. Now isn't that the truth, Chilton boys and girls.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. T. Mills has been very ill and left here about four weeks ago and went to the infirmary at Selma, but are glad to say she will be home next Sunday.

Miss Willie Mills, of Propest Saw Mill, at Jones, visited her mother Mrs. P. Mills, at Selma Wednesday and reported a nice time.

The Autauga boys say that the Chilton boys are afraid for them to go to Chilton account of beating their time with the girls. But it is just the reverse—the Autauga boys are afraid for the Chilton boys to come down here, for they know that the Chilton boys are so much better looking than the Autauga boys. No wonder they can beat your time. Well, "Nobody's Darling," we must not let the Autauga boys and girls talk about the Chilton boys and girls and not say anything to them about it.

Well, if this don't miss the waste basket I will come again. With best wishes to the dear old Banner and its many readers, I remain as ever,

THE BROWN-EYED GIRL.

MOUNT NEBO.

Editor Banner:

As I haven't seen anything from this place I will write a few lines. The health of this community at present is good.

I would like to say a few words on things in general. I will first say that we all should strive to be something for if we fail to do something and be something in this life, how can we hope for any part in the life which is yet to come, for we are told that we shall receive our rewards according to the deeds done in the body? Then how careful we should be, lest we should cast a stumbling block in the way of others. How often do we see the older ones leading off the young by the traps which satan has set on earth and baited them with such bait as he saw in his evil eye would be appropriate for the game? Some the whisky bait will catch, while others, more refined, require baits of different nature, such as it on display in the ball room, theatre and various places. I will say with all earnestness of heart be something. Whatever calling or occupation in life you may have been chosen for go at it with determination to accomplish something, and the chances are nine to ten in your favor; but, on the other hand, if you say I cannot do so and so, the chances are nine to ten you will not. In all things be patient and enduring unto the end, and success will surely crown your efforts. Again, I say, be something. There are so many claiming to be one thing when they are truly found out prove to be entirely another. This we should not do. One should be what he pretends in every walk of life. If a doctor, be a doctor; if a lawyer, be a lawyer; if a preacher, be a preacher; if a common plodder, be a common plodder, remembering that there is always room for expansion and development. Again, I repeat the simple words, be something; don't let your fellow men expect something of you when they have nothing to found their expectations upon, having been so often deceived.

Girls, if you wish to be something and do something, you should remember that it's to your interest to shun the company of those young men and boys who have no more respect for you and your moral character than to seek your company with the fumes of liquor clinging to the breath. Girls, I say you are greatly responsible for this, for if you will abandon such company entirely it will not be long till a young man will guard himself against liquor for your sake. So you see you hold the reins both for God and the devil. Now, it's up to you and your promotion which way you pull. Young men, a word to you. Do be something and hold yourself above the evil effects of rum, which is one of the chief baits to ensnare your soul and degrade your character.

Well, I will close by saying I am sorry that so many of the writers are without a darling, and those who have one cannot be content to know it alone. Thanking the kind editor in advance for publication of this, I remain.

A READER.

SAGINAW.

Hello, let me in for a chat, as we haven't seen anything in your paper from here.

Our school is progressing nicely under the management of Prof. Brigmers and has about seventy-five pupils enrolled.

The young people of Saginaw were delightfully entertained last Friday night at a fruit supper given by Mrs. G. H. Smith.

Miss Hazel McWhorter, of Birmingham, is visiting Miss Irene Smith.

Miss Lester Mills, of Kolena, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Will Nelson.

Miss Pearl Hyde, of Montevallo, paid Miss Lee Fraser a pleasant visit last Sunday.

Miss Annie McLane is at home sick from Tuscaloosa, where she has been attending school this winter.

Mr. Jim Wagner has moved to Birmingham from here, and his daughter, Miss Dixie, will be greatly missed by the young people here.

Miss Myrtle Alexander has returned home after visiting her sister, Mrs. G. T. Fulton.

A crowd of the young folks took a hay ride to Siluria cotton factory last Sunday night to preaching, but were disappointed, as there wasn't any.

Miss Lula Fraser is visiting relatives near Clanton, and her friends are wishing her return.

Mr. Boykin Murrah has returned to Birmingham after a pleasant visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Murrah.

Mrs. Sallie Whitaker and Miss Minnie Wells, of Jemison, paid a pleasant visit to Misses Alma and Myrtle Hale last Monday.

Mr. Frank Nelson and Mr. Edgar Fulton paid Miss Amelia Dunlap a pleasant call last Sunday evening.

Miss Lila Hester paid Miss Irene Smith a pleasant visit Sunday evening.

With much love to The Banner and its readers, I will ring off and come again if the waste basket don't catch us this time.

TWO BLUE-EYED GIRLS.

MULLINS' HILL.

Dear Editor:

As I am a newcomer from Mullins' Hill, I will ask for a space in your paper.

We are sorry to state that Mr. T. J. Hubbard is very sick. As he is in the care of Dr. McNeill, we think he will soon recover.

We have a great deal of sickness now.

Miss Ada Rasco visited home Saturday.

We are sorry to say our school will soon come to a close. The patrons have become so indifferent. It is bad on the people who are interested in the schoool. Say, we must do different or we will never educate our children. I will say our teacher has done her duty and has worked hard for the benefit of the children. We are treating our children wrong by keeping them out of school. I am sorry for Miss Ada to leave us. I know my children have done wonderfully well since they have been going to her. I would not exchange her for any teacher. I have visited her school, and I know what I say. If children were not corrected in school what kind of a school would it be? We will keep our children out of school, yet we can't afford to. I wish our teacher great success in her next undertaking. Master Ivan Gibbons and Miss Lord Hubbard received a prize for perfect lessons.

Well, it will soon be fishing time. Let us get our hooks and lines ready. Some of you good brothers come over and we will go hunting and fishing. Varmints are being caught rapidly.

As this is my first attempt to write I will ring off, as Mr. Editor might get scared at a frightful fellow like me.

Will close with best wishes to The Banner and its readers.

OLD TIGE.

JONES.

Editor of The Banner:

Please allow me space in your dear paper to say a few words in regard to the Pilgrim Rounder. He advised the girl that signed her name "Nobody's Darling" to move up in Chilton county and she would not have to sign her name that, for as long as she staid in Autauga among those bashful boys she would have to sign her name that way. I think he is exactly right about that, for we Autauga boys would not claim a girl for our darling that would run down the county she lived in. She says you could tell an Autauga boy by his socks. I wonder how she came to notice our socks. She must have just finished knitting her a pair and had them on and was noticing to see if any one else had on any like hers. I saw some of the Pilgrim Rounders down here at a dance, and the girls would walk around them hunting game boys, and they fooled around and got some of the Autauga boys to get them a partner and danced the next set and had to borrow the money to pay the fiddler, and after the dance was over some of the girls asked where were those boys from that got around like young goslings and to show you how game they are I will tell you what happened last summer. I yoked up Buck and Brindle and started to Pilgrim to a barbecue, and one of the Pilgrim Rounders overtook me with his girl in the buggy. He had a fine rig. I spoke a few words to the girl, and she got out of the buggy and got in the wagon with me, and after we got there and I drowned the tongue and gave Buck and Brindle some shucks she told me he had not spoken to her but three times, and that was concerning the crops and his pa's watch, which he had on. That is what they call game. The farmers are moving along nicely with their work, making preparations to plant and preparing for a big cotton crop.

I will close with best wishes to The Banner and its many readers.

THE BASHFUL BOY.

BETH-SALEM.

Editor Banner:

As we have not seen anything from this place we will write a few lines.

Mrs. R. N. Wilkins and family visited Mrs. A. T. Hathcock Sunday.

Mr. G. T. Brigmon's family visited Mr. E. B. Powell's family Sunday.

The Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gray and took away their sweet little babe, just one month old, on last Monday morning. Its little soul winging its flight to the home above. Its little rosy cheeks faded into the white lily of death. Its remains were laid in Beth-Salem graveyard to await the morn of the resurrection.

FOUR FRIENDS.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died, at her home in Clanton, on February 23, Mrs. Lizzie Sawyer. She was 43 years old. She leaves six children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. Through the long and weary eighteen months she has passed through many pains and sorrows. She never murmured, but with meek submission to the heavenly Father's will accepted the cross with angelic patience and unwavering faith, carried her burden to Jesus, the source of all strength.

The great Supreme Ruler of the universe saw fit to remove from among us one of our worthy and esteemed laborers, and the long and intimate relation held with her in the faithful discharge of her duties in the community makes it eminently befitting to show our appreciation of her.

Truly can we say no one knew her only to love her. Now, as we take a retrospection of her bright life in this world, we cannot but see that from first to last she was always prominent in the higher walks of life and the Lord did lead her alone. She left behind her a grand testimony, saying, "I am so happy; I feel that there is something good going to happen through the hand of the Lord." Truly can we say she was as meek as a little child. God in His majestic wisdom saw that her work was finished. She had suffered long enough. He called her home to rest her tired body and weary heart. She sank into a deep, peaceful sleep, with a look of sweet peace on her face, as if it were the shadow of angel wings. Her children, who came home tired and weary from the troubles of this world, found their home a heaven of rest, where the white winged dove of peace ever hovers, and shining eyes welcomed them, but soon the grim reaper laid his hand upon her, and after months of patient suffering the roses in her cheeks faded into the white lilies of death. The little hands so quick to do love's bidding were clasped over the silent breast, and tired eyes were closed to open again with enraptured gaze upon the beauties of the heavenly land. A soul has accomplished the great mission of this life when it has gained life eternal. Why should we grieve that she has gone to receive the heritage given her by her Father? God in His infinite love wants all His children to come home. She has gone to join her husband, who has crossed over and is awaiting her coming. Dear weeping friends and relatives we have nothing of this world's consolation to offer. We do not feel that we could speak any words that would ease your aching hearts or fill the vacancy of this dear one. We can only deeply sincerely and most affectionately sympathize with you in your afflictive bereavement, but in the beautiful spirit Christian's theology we dare say that He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, looks down with infinite compassion upon the motherless in the hour of their desolation, and that the same benevolent Savior who wept tears of sympathy at the grave in Bethany will fold the arms of love and protection around those who put their trust in Him. She joined the Missionary Baptist Church in early childhood and lived a faithful member until God called her home. So let us each in our respective lives so improve this solemn warning of our God that when He shall call for us we may be ready to go and meet father and mother at the beautiful gate, where they are awaiting our coming.

She has gone far away to that land where no night can fall. She has entered the realms of day where there is no pain nor death to appall. Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep, from which none ever wake to weep.

Weep not, dear children, she is at rest above, where all love and bliss. She has left this world to suffer no more;

She has gone to live on yonder bright shore.

LUCY JONES.

The True Church.

There are some few churches left to show the type to which all churches must return. Next to the home and the family the true church represents to its members helpfulness, sympathy and every goodness and homelike virtue.

Heavenly activity is fruitless without heavenly attributes.

Congress adjourned Monday The Lord be praised.

On Tuesday Dr. E. A. Matthews was duly sworn in as Mayor of Clanton, and B. E. Jones, Dr. P. I. Hopkins, J. R. Mullins and W. D. Spigener, as Councilmen; J. M. Morgan as Marshal, and E. B. Deason as Clerk.

The death of Speaker W. L. Martin of the House of Representatives is a severe blow to the Legislature of Alabama. He was an excellent gentleman of great reputation who can ill be spared. The funeral took place at Montgomery on Tuesday, being largely attended.

A. H. Carmichael, of Colbert, Speaker pro tem, has been elected permanent Speaker.

IN MEMORIAM.

On Wednesday, Feb. 20, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Roy and took away their sweet little babe Carl, about 15 months of age. The burial took place on Thursday at Pine Hill graveyard. Carl was a sweet child and he was loved by all who knew him. We do not know anything to say to the mourning father and mother, only we know that the babe is at rest. He will be missed by all and especially the loved ones at home. It is a vacant place in their home which never can be filled and our loss is his great gain. Death is but the mystic gateway to the glories we shall share. The babe was very patient during its suffering until God called it home, he thought it best. Weep not, father and mother, for you can never bring the dear babe back, but you can only go to him. It is sad to have to depart from the dear ones we love, but when God thinks best we should not grieve, for God said "Suffer little children to come unto me." The baby was taken on Sunday, Feb. 17, and on Wednesday it feel asleep in the arms of Jesus and is now waiting for friends and loved ones behind. The baby had faithful attention, the doctors did all that was in their power, but it was all in vain, for the little one's time had come and we know it was ready and prepared to go.

Thou art gone our precious darling,
Never more canst thou return,
Thou shall sleep a peaceful slumber
Till the resurrection morn

BUSINESS PROVERBS.

Not the big earner, but the wise investor, is the future capitalist.

The wise man knows that wealth is not worth getting save for the purpose of using and so gets after it early.

Investment is putting money into chicken farming; speculation is counting the chickens before they are hatched.

The chap who does his work indifferently because he thinks he is above his job thereby proves his unfitness for the job that is above him.

The man who yields to honest persuasion slowly and imperceptibly, as rock to water, may make a loyal investor when won. But he who is quick to lay hold of a good investment makes the most money.

Multitudes of people sleep soundly nights, believing their savings to be protected in the banks, not dreaming that the banks have invested them in business enterprises that the depositors themselves declined to buy shares in Because they thought their earnings were too large to be safe.—Cent Per Cent.

Willing to Chance It.

It is reported of the Earl of Mansfield that he once dismissed a servant, but wrote for him a "character," as follows: "The bearer, John ——, has served me for three years in the capacity of coachman. He is an able driver and a very sober man. I discharged him because he cheated me." A day or two later the man returned to thank his old master for the help he had afforded him in getting him a new birth. How had the testimonial helped him? The man explained that his new master had observed that ability to drive and sobriety were the qualities he required in a coachman. As for the cheating, his employer had said, "I'm a Yorkshireman, and I'll be hanged if you cheat me."

IN MEMORIAM.

On Thursday eve., Feb. 28, the death angel visited this community and took from us our esteemed friend, Mr. Mike Waggoner He had been sick only a short while, but his sufferings were great, though he never murmured against the dear Father's will, but accepted the cross with angelic patience and carried his burden to Jesus, the source of all strength. Oh how we miss his good ways and pleasant smile since God has called him home to Paradise. Truly we can say none knew him only to love him and he will be sadly missed by all. But God in His majestic power saw fit to remove him from this world. His work and suffering on this earth are finished, God has a nobler work for him to do. Oh could we but see him up in the beautiful heaven I am sure his smiles would be much brighter than they ever were here. He leaves three daughters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn the loss of a good friend and a kind and obedient father. He is at rest, his tired body and weary heart sank into a deep peaceful sleep His tired eyes were closed to open again upon the beauties of the heavenly land. He has gone to join his son, who has been dead only four days. Dear weeping relatives and friends, we have nothing of this world's consolation to offer, we do not feel that we could speak any words that would ease your aching hearts or fill the vacancy of this dear one, but remember the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away; not our will but God's must be done. He will fold his arms of love and protection around those who put their trust in Him. Oh could we live the Christian life that this man has lived, we would meet in that beautiful land where parting is no more. Oh could we see this morning robed in white at the feet of Jesus with his dear wife and son we would not want him back on this sin-cursed earth, but we would watch and wait till God shall say come and meet them at the beautiful gate where they are awaiting us. He has gone to dwell in the church of God, no more those weary paths to trod; he has gone to that home not made with hands that the Savior has prepared in that glorious land.

Dear Editor—Please allow me a small space in the Banner to say a few words. There was quite a large crowd attended the singing at Mr. T. B. Minor's last Sunday evening and all reported a nice time.

Mrs. Catchings of near Rockford is visiting her daughter's school at Vermont. She also attended the singing.

Mr. J. D. Deason preached an excellent sermon to a large congregation at Sardis Sunday last.

Misses Ella and Gertie Klinner visited Misses Isabel, Zadie and Pearl Minor recently.

The health of this community is very good at this time.

We have been having some bad weather; farmers could not do much towards farming, but today looks like the farmers should be planting their crops. With love and best wishes to the Banner, I will stop for this time.

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask: "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to recovery. Keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

Providence.

Here we come again, but haven't got any good news. We have had some mighty rainy weather, but the sun is shining mighty pretty now.

Rev. S. U. Turnipseed filled his appointment at Mt. Moriah, Sunday and preached a fine sermon.

Mr. Jim Cobb of Birmingham spent a while with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cobb.

Mr. George Shaw, Sr., and son George, Jr., visited Mr. W. H. Shaw's family, Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Martin and wife visited their daughter, Mrs. Alice Sutley, Sunday.

J. P. C. was one of our visitors Sunday, and of course the girls were all glad to see him.

Misses Esta and Ora Shaw spent Saturday at Jemison.

One of our popular young men, Mr. Abb Martin, went to Birmingham Monday to spend a few days with his friend, Mr. Jim Cobb. We will be glad to see him return.

Misses Nellie and Inez Cobb spent Sunday with Misses Ola and Annie Skipper. As everything is on a boom, we will close with our best wishes to the Banner and its readers.

State Sunday School Convention.

The twenty-fourth annual Convention of the Alabama Sunday School Association will be held in the city of Birmingham, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 9, 10, 11 next. The basis of representation is as follows: All officers of the State Association, five delegates at large from each county, all ministers of the gospel, the superintendent and two other delegates from each Sunday school.

The railroads have granted a rate of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip to delegates attending the Convention. The delegates will be entertained by the Sunday school workers of Birmingham.

For further information about the State Convention write to Joseph Carthel, General Secretary, Montgomery, Alabama, or to S. D. Monroe, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, 2021 ½, first ave., Birmingham.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO CONVENTION.

A special Sunday train will run on April 8th from Selma to Birmingham in the daytime to carry the delegates of the Sunday schools of west Chilton to the State Sunday School Convention in Birmingham, April 9, 10, 11. Fare for round trip is one way plus 25¢. Let the Sunday schools to whom this route is preferable send me the names of the delegates—two from each Sunday school—right away so I will know how many to report to the railroad officials.

Letter to W. A. Middleton

Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir: If you could get the exclusive sale of a coal that would give double heat and cost no more, you'd jump at it, wouldn't you?

You'd control the trade for a hundred miles!

Devoe is like that among paints; a short ton is as good as a long one of any paint you can name; a gallon is worth more than two of many a popular paint.

Suppose you have painted your house about once in three years ever since it was new; you buy the same number of gallons Devoe, have a third of it left, and it wears six years. Count your costs.

$1.75 a galloo for paint; $3.50 a gallon for putting it on; you saved 5 gallons: $26.25 on this job. But you save the whole job of three years hence: about $75. Put 'em together: $100.

Can't reckon so accurately as that; but you see how it goes. Paint isn't alike any more than coal. How much more is coal worth than ½ slate?

Yours truly

GIVEN UP TO DIE

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cur was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? Upchurch Drug Co.

Do Not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilirating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thorsby.

TIRED AND SICK YET MUST WORK

MRS. AUG. LYON

"Man may work from sun to sun but woman's work is never done."

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo and often suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, comes as a blessing. When the spirits are depressed, the head and back aches, there are dragging-down pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, and reluctance to go anywhere, these are only symptoms which unless heeded, are soon followed by the worst forms of Female Complaints.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

keeps the feminine organism in a strong and healthy condition. It cures Inflammation, Ulceration, displacements, and organic troubles. In preparing for child-birth and to carry women safely through the Change of Life it is most efficient.

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"For a long time I suffered from female troubles and had all kinds of aches and pains in the lower part of back and sides, I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following the advice which you gave me I feel like a new woman and I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

Frog's Hearts in Men.

Once again have the scientists proved to be wrong. Until recently it was thought that a child could only live eight or ten years with what is known as "a frog's heart"—a heart with single ventricle to perform the double purpose of propelling the pure blood throughout the system and sending the impure blood to the lungs for purification. In the normal being these two operations are performed by separate ventricles. In the course of the post-mortem examination of a man about thirty-five years old who had suffered from heart disease, in one of the Manchester hospitals, it was found that he had lived the allotted span with a heart in all its details like that of a frog, except that it was much larger. It is said that such a case is unique in the annals of medical science.—Dundee Advertiser.

The kingdom of Belgium has an area of 11,373 square miles and a population of 7,000,000, mainly divided between the Walloon and Flemish races, the latter comprising about five-eighths of the whole. These figures show Belgium to be the most densely populated country in the world.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, hang-on chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of nervous dyspepsia and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Jig Dancing Keeps Him Young.

If you wish to become a nonagenarian then dance a little every morning just before breakfast.

This tonic is advanced by Alter Silberman, ninety-one years old, an inmate of the Home of the Daughters of Jacob, situated on lower East Broadway. Silbermann for years has been dancing from ten to fifteen minutes every morning before breakfast. He declares that dancing is the greatest exercise in the world.

"Dancing puts more ambition into a man and makes him more cheerful and happier," said the white-bearded patriarch yesterday, after he danced the "Kotzatski," which is a famous Russian dance.

Silberman came to this country years ago. He was wealthy at one time, but lost his fortune in speculation. He has been at the Home of the Daughters of Jacob for years.

"My advice to the younger generation is that they should dance every morning before breakfast and also just before retiring," he said.—New York American.

THE PULPIT.

A BRILLIANT SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. C. L. PALMER.

Subject: God's Unspeakable Gift.

Kingston, N. Y.—The following impressive discourse, appropriate to the season, was delivered here Sunday in the Reformed Church of the Comforter, by the Rev. C. L. Palmer. The subject of his sermon was "God's Unspeakable Gift," preached from the text 2 Cor. 9:15, "Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift." He said:

It would increase our gratitude to recount the blessings we have received during the past year. God has been very good to us as families, communities and states. Even the distant lands have not escaped His Fatherly consideration. Our sentiment for Providential care finds expression in the words of the Psalmist, "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me; bless His holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits toward me."

But God has bestowed upon us another blessing which is not temporal or material. He has given us His Son, the Lord of Glory, to be our greatest treasure. While we should not cease to mention life's daily comforts, and constantly thank the Giver for them! nothing should make us silent respecting the greatest of gifts in the person of the beloved Son. And if recalling the material blessings which have come to us from the hand of God has the effect of making us more thankful for them, surely a short study of the text will have the tendency to make us more grateful to our Father in heaven for the incarnation of the Eternal Son. It is to Him that Paul refers in this text, "Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift."

It will not be a breach of homiletic law to intentionally disregard the context, because the text bears but a general connection with it, since this passage is an abrupt expression of thanksgiving which is not unusual with the apostle. For example, in Romans 2:33-36, "Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God; how unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past tracing out; for who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been His counsellor? or who hath first given to Him? and it shall be recompensed to Him again. For of Him, and through Him and unto Him are all things. To whom be the glory forever and ever." 1 Cor. 15: 57, "Thanks be unto God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." Gal. 1:5, "To whom be the glory forever and ever." Eph. 3:20, "Now unto Him that is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we can ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto Him be the glory in the church and in Christ Jesus unto all generations forever and ever."

An examination of the immediate Scripture in which each of the above examples are located, confirm the assertion that it is the habit of the apostle to introduce praise-songs into his writings without logical reference to the context. If we are as thankful for the material and spiritual blessings of life as we ought to be, like the sacred writer, we, too, will break forth in doxologies of gratitude to the source of every good. And the one gift to which most frequent reference will be made is the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior.

I. In What Respects May Christ Be Considered a Gift.

The term "gift" is employed by Paul to teach that Jesus was given to be our Redeemer, and to invalidate the excuse that salvation is too expensive. The Savior being a gift, makes it possible for every one to obtain His benefits, and impossible for the sinner to blame any one except himself for being unsaved.

A gift is presented voluntarily. Jesus is, therefore, such, because He is given to us as our friend and deliverer without the intervention of man. It was an act of the divine volition alone, that the Son should become man, that He should reside on the earth for a season, that His time be occupied in teaching the fundamental principles of His Kingdom, and that the cross should satisfy the justice of the Almighty. The most acute human intellect could not have thought of such a means of making our salvation possible, and even if it had flashed in some mind its own apparent impossibility would have smothered the spark. We can claim no credit for this gift. Divine volition deserves all the praise.

A gift is often presented undeservingly. It often occurs in the reception of a gift that one feels too unworthy to receive it, but on account of circumstances is indisposed to decline it. Christians constantly realize that the daily return of God's goodness is more profuse than they deserve. Absence of this feeling indicates a lack of appreciation. But if consistent disciples feel unworthy to receive the material blessings of life, because of their disinclination to honor God as they should, how much more undeserving we should feel of the great gift of the Son of God. This is not mere language; it is fact.

A gift is gratuitous. It is free. This is true of Jesus; He cost us nothing. His coming to earth has encumbered us with no financial obligation, but has made possible the liquidation of a debt we owe God which otherwise could not be canceled. "God so loved the world that He gave." "Herein is love, not that we first loved Him, but that He first loved us, and gave His Son to be the propitiation for our sins." The best of gifts cost us the least. The invitation of both the Old Testament and New is "to come every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye buy and eat, yea, come buy wine and milk without money and without price."

The Son of God was given lovingly. The only reason why the Lord Jesus vacated for a season His omnipotent throne and lived for a little more than thirty years among us, was that He and His Father loved humanity and would leave nothing undone to save lost souls. "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." "God commendeth His love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." If our Creator had possessed no love for fallen nature, He would not have sent His Son to die for the sins of the world.

II. Paul Directs Our Attention to the One by Whom He Was Given.

"Thanks be to God." Not the text alone but other sections of the Bible contain the same truth that it was God who gave the Lord Jesus Christ. "God so loved the world." "God commendeth His love." Christ said to the Samaritan woman, "If thou knewest the gift of God." Jesus is like eternal life, "the gift of God."

God alone knew our condition and need. Many centuries have elapsed since the fall of man. Each period has revealed some new phase of the corrupt character of the unsaved heart. Still we are unable to fully appreciate the horrors of an unwashed soul. And even if man had acquired a full conception of his natural state, he could have devised no way of escape. But God, who not only knew just what we were, but what we should become in sin, devised a way by which we might avoid the loss of our souls. Our condition sinful, our need a Savior.

Even if it had been the strange fortune for some one to procure full information concerning our state and requirements, it would have availed nothing, for only God could have sent His Son. It is one thing to know what we need, and quite another to supply it. In the order of things it occurs that to our ears comes the information that a certain thing is needed. We would be only too glad to furnish it if it were within our power so to do, but how often it is not. Our conception of our actual condition must ever remain the same incomplete and imperfect notion, and even if it should dawn upon us just what we are and need, all we could do would be to appeal to Divine grace in prayer. We cannot ascend to heaven and bring Christ down. Only God would be willing to make such a sacrifice for sinners. If we were controlled entirely by human nature, we would let sinners live and die sinners. What difference does it make to us? we would say. And if their redemption could be obtained at a nominal price, many would be unwilling to give of their means to satisfy Divine justice. Rare are the instances in which even the people of God are willing to make sacrifices or undergo hardships for the kingdom's sake. Are there any who would be willing to allow a son to become what Christ became? To live and labor as He did? and to close this life on the cross? Very few, if any. Another thought in connection with the heavenly gift is that not only could God give His Son but that He would. It may be that the reason Paul called attention to the one who presented the Son of Glory, was that we might not obtain the notion that it was an act independent of the Lord Almighty, but that the Father gave His Son to buy us back to Himself.

III. The Value the Apostle Attaches to This Gift.

"Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift." By which Paul means that its full value is so great that it cannot be either estimated or expressed.

The gift of God is unspeakable because of the source from which it has come. Before His incarnation He resided in heaven, where He is to-day. In different ways and at several times He appeared to chosen ones during the old dispensation, but the centre from which He radiated was the city of God. Coming from the New Jerusalem we prize Him the more, since we are striving to enter the golden gate. Sometimes a gift which in itself is of but little value, becomes of inestimable worth on account of its source. Without undervaluing the intrinsic worth of the Lord Jesus Christ, we cannot but feel that the very fact of His coming from heaven makes Him more dear to us.

The value of a gift is controlled in part by its nature. If it is constructed out of material that is but little worth, we esteem it less highly than we would if made out of fine gold. The nature of the gift to which Paul alludes is divine. The body of the Lord was human like our own, but it was simply the vehicle of His heavenly character in which He tabernacled during His short earthly stay. The perfection of His personality was a living demonstration of His divine nature.

The purpose for which a gift is intended has considerable to do with its value. The Son of God came to us from the mansion in the skies for the sole purpose of teaching us what we must do to be saved, and to make atonement on the cross for us.

IV. Paul's Expression of Gratitude. "Thanks."

He was thankful to God for this gift because it was by means of the Lord Jesus Christ that he was saved and made an apostle. At one time he was lost but now is saved. And the same effect was realized in the experiences of others. Like Paul, they were lost, but through Jesus were saved. And we can join with the apostle in the same praise, for those who are saved, are saved because of the gift of Jesus to be our Savior.

The Progress of the Church.

The progress of the Church of Jesus Christ is strikingly depicted by the pen of John, the disciple of love. I call you to follow the progress of the growth of the Christian Church in John's writings. First there was only one man who believed in Jesus—John the Baptist. Then we read of two, then of three, then of five, then of twelve, then of seventy, then of 120, then of a great multitude which no man can number, all singing, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power and riches, and strength and honor, and glory and blessing."

Winsomeness.

He who would win a soul must have a winsome spirit. It is not enough to be a good man. Some men seem to be good, but they are not attractive. They have long faces and sad countenances, and are cold as ice. The Spirit of God will make the heart warm and the countenance cheerful and bright.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR MARCH 10 BY THE REV. I. W. HENDERSON.

Subject: Isaac a Lover of Peace, Gen. 26:12-25—Golden Text, Matt. 5:9—Memory Verses, 16-17—Commentary.

Our attention shifts now from Abraham to Isaac the child of the old age of Abraham and Sarai, to Isaac the man of peace. With the circumstances of Rebekah, we are all familiar. The lesson finds him in Gerar, in close, and oftentimes unpleasant, relations with Abimelech, king of the Philistines, and his tribesmen. After a severe altercation over Rebekah Isaac is permitted by Abimelech to sow in the land. His seeding is blessed of the Lord with an unusual harvest. His wealth increases from year to year until he is the envy of the Philistines. Matters was so warm that after a season Isaac is asked by Abimelech to leave Gerar. So Isaac goes into the valley of Gerar. In that region he gets into trouble with the herdsmen of Gerar. Whenever, after the fashion of the country and the example of his father, Isaac digs a well for the satisfaction of the wants of his flocks and retainers, these herdsmen, jealously, engage the servants of Isaac in open conflict. Twice the herdsmen that are of the company of Isaac dig wells only to be compelled for the sake of peace to abandon them to their foes. At last, however, Isaac is able to finish a well over which there is no dissension. This well he calls Rehoboth (Room) for saith he, "Jehovah hath made room for us and we shall be fruitful."

From the well Rehoboth Isaac journeys to Beersheba. Here God appears to him. He erectes an altar, pitches his tent and digs a well.

The lesson shows us that the blessing of Jehovah extends to the temporal concerns of those who fear Him; that it is hard for some people to regard the prosperity of their neighbors without jealous thoughts arising in their minds; that nothing is lost by refusing to fight over matters that may, very easily, be made subjects for contention; that the blessings of a righteous father fall upon a good son; that Abraham overshadows Isaac to such an extent that Isaac seems merely to bask in the greatness of his father.

The first three verses of our lesson show us that God is intimately concerned with the material prosperity of His children. Isaac fears God and the Lord grants him material prosperity as well as spiritual happiness. And this is simply the logical outworking of the laws of the kingdom of God. If godliness is at the basis of all prosperity then the good man and the good nation should prosper. And when society is godly there is material riches for all. The godlier the land, the better off its inhabitants.

The last six words of verse 14 point the second lesson for us. And when any man or any people becomes saturated with the evil venom of jealousy then trouble comes quickly.

Verse 22 indicates that Isaac proved the truth that nothing is to be lost and that much is to be gained by not engaging in conflict over disputed matters. It is hard to fight with a man who will not defend himself.

The assurances of God given to Isaac in the twenty-third verse are an evidence that the Divine favor that is bestowed upon a godly father will descend in no unreal fashion upon a godly son. Abraham loved God and to follow His commands. Isaac did likewise. And for that reason the promise made unto Abraham was given to Isaac also.

The last lesson that we may consider here is that of the overshadowing of Isaac by the memory of Abraham. Isaac is a man of peace, he is a man of immense power in his own land. But it does seem as though in many instances he was but a mere slavish imitator of his mighty father. In fact, stories that are told of Isaac have their parallels in the stories that are related concerning Abraham. For Abraham's sake God blesses him. After the manner of his father he tills and toils and grows rich. Like Abraham he digs wells, builds altars, calls upon the name of Jehovah. To be sure, imitation of his father in these things was not evil. Abraham was as good a man as he was great in his day and generation. But it does seem as though with the example of his mighty ancestor before him, the favor of God upon him, his own capacity for righteousness, Isaac might have done something more distinctive. He is overshadowed by the magnitude of the character of his father.

These few notes are offered:

Vs. 12. "Sowed." This is the first mention of sowing. Before this we have seed, seed-time and harvest.

Vs. 19. "Springing." Better, "living."

Vs. 20. "Seek." Heb. for "contention."

Vs. 21. "Sitnah." Heb. "enmity."

Vs. 22. "Rehoboth." Heb. "broad places."

The Children's Safeguard.

The cornerstone of our nation is religious liberty. The cornerstone of the home is the family altar. The greatest safeguard we can throw around our children is to establish and keep up the family altar in our homes.—Ram's Horn.

A Delusion.

Some men seem to think that slashing up the creeds will be accepted as a substitute for deeds.—Ram's Horn.

Must Be Stamped Out.

Tuberculosis and alcoholism are so closely associated that all measures of prevention and treatment must recognize this relation if they succeed. Both of them can be stamped out, the same as yellow and typhoid fevers, and the work of the future will be in this direction.

A man would get lost if he had to spend forty cents a day for ribbons for his wife to put around her neck. But he will spend that much for stuff to pour down the inside of his own and think he has struck a bargain.—Observe Farmer.

Doan's Kidney Pills I had, heavy backaches, and my health was affected when I began using them. My feet were swollen, eyes puffed, and dizziness frequent. Kidney action was irregular and the secretions highly colored. To-day, however, I am well and I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills have made me well, keeping me well."

JAPANESE MAY RULE

All Christendom May Yet Succumb to Japan.

Count Leo Tolstoy has written a letter to Paul Sabatier, apropos of the latter's recent book, "The Disestablishment of the Church in France." In this famous Russian author discusses the possible reduction of the Christian countries of Europe to a state of vassalage to Japan and other Oriental peoples.

He bases his prediction on the ground that it is only in the religion and patriotism of Japan displays all his characteristic style and clearness of thought in part:

"Religion is truth and goodness. Church falsehood and evil. I frankly I cannot agree with you believe the Church is an indispensible for religion. It has ever been a crust of petrification, which, in securing poral advantages, has perverted the true Christian doctrine.

"All the concordats have brought nothing but compacts between State, whereby the Church sells the State in return for special advantages. Christianity has been simply a pretext for violence. I may be told that there are and still are in the Church men and women of holy life. My answer that these saints are not due to the Church but in spite of the Church.

"In spite of all the efforts of Church and State to unite the principles, true Christianity (charity and kindness) and the power of State (physical force) and the contradiction has become at this time so flagrant that a crisis is bound to come.

Several symptoms point to this. First, the religious movement confined to France, but to all Christian countries; second, the revolution in Russia; third, the extraordinary military and industrial progress which is manifesting itself in the Orient, in China and especially in Japan. The present movement which is going on in the Catholic countries, but in the whole world, is, I believe, nothing but unrest accompanying the birth of the dilemma."

Prosperous Uncle Sam.

The industrial activity manifested by the foreign trade shows that this country was never in a better condition.

CHILDREN TORTURED

Girl Had Running Sores for Months—Boy Tortured by Pimples—Both Cured by Cuticura.

"Last year, after having my daughter treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I tried the Cuticura Remedies, and was so pleased with the almost immediate relief afforded that we discontinued the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced using the Cuticura Remedies her limbs and body were covered with running sores. In six weeks we had her completely cured, and there has been no return of the trouble.

"In July of this year a little boy in our family poisoned his hands and face with poison oak, and in twenty-four hours his hands and arms were a mass of blood sores. We used only the Cuticura Remedies, washing his hands and face with the Cuticura Soap, and anointing them with the Cuticura Ointment. The Cuticura Remedies gave him the Cuticura Remedies about three weeks he was entirely healed up. So we have him and feeling grateful for the Cuticura Remedies. We find that the Cuticura Remedies are a valuable household standby. We live about twelve miles from a doctor." (Signed) Mrs. Vincent Thomas, Farmington Ridge, Tenn., Oct. 13, 1906."

May Cut Freight Rates.

Atlanta, Ga.—The railroad commission has set March 12 as the date for hearing from the Georgia and Southwestern Florida and Southern railroads as to why they should not be put from class C to class A in the classification of the commission, thereby making a reduction, of about 10 per cent in the general freight rates charged by the two lines. Of course the railroads will fight the reduction as they are worth.

TWICK-TOLD TESTIM

A Woman Who Has Suffered How to Find Relief.

The thousands of women who suffer backache, languor, urinary disorders and other ills, will find comfort in the experience of Mrs. Jane Fisher, 606 Ocean Avenue, Asbury City, N. J., who says: "I suffered all I have written before in print. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I had been troubled with heavy backaches, and my general health was affected when I began using them. My feet were swollen, my eyes puffed, and dizzy spells frequent. Kidney action was irregular and the secretions highly colored. To-day, however, I am a well woman and I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills have made me so, and are keeping me well."

JAPANESE MAY RULE W

All Christendom May Yet Become Vassal to Japan.

Count Leo Tolstoy has written a letter to Paul Sabatier, apropos of the latter's recent book on the Disestablishment of the Church in France," in which the famous Russian author discusses the possible reduction of all Christian countries of the world to a state of vassalage to the Japanese and other Oriental people.

He bases his prediction upon the ground it is only in the Orient that religion and patriotism are synonymous in this letter County Tolstoy displays all his his old-time virility style and clearness of ideas. He says in part:

"Religion is truth and good and the Church falsehood and evil. But frankly I cannot agree with those who believe the Church is an organization indispensible for religion. The Church has ever been a cruel and baneful institution, which, in seeking its own personal advantages, has perverted and distorted the true Christian doctrine.

"All the concordats have been nothing but compacts with the State, whereby the Church sanctified the State in return for specific material advantages. Christianity has been simply a pretext for these compacts. It may be told that there have been and still are in the Catholic Church men and women of holy life. My answer that these saintly people are not due to the Church but in spite of the Church.

"In spite of all the efforts of Church and State to unite the two principles, true Christianity (love, charity and kindness) and the Church State (physical force and violence), the contradiction has become at last so flagrant that a rupture is bound to come.

Several symptoms prove this. First, the religious movement, confined to France, but existing in all Christian countries; second, the revolution in Russia; third, the extraordinary military and industrial progress which is manifesting itself in the Orient, in China and especially in Japan. The present religious movement which is going on among the Catholic countries, but in the whole world, is, I believe, nothing but the unrest accompanying the solution of the dilemma."

Prosperous Uncle Sam

The industrial activity, as verified by the foreign trade, shows that this country was never in better condition.

CHILDREN TORTURED

Girl Had Running Sores For Months—Boy Tortured by Pimples—Both Cured by Cuticura.

"Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I became thoroughly disgusted with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely upon the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced using the Cuticura Remedies her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In six weeks we had her completely cured, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble.

"In July of this year a little boy in our family poisoned his hands and face with poison oak, and in twenty-four hours his hands and arms were a mass of blisters and sores. We used only the Cuticura Soap, washing his hands and face frequently with the Cuticura Soap, and anointing with the Cuticura Ointment, and this gave him the Cuticura Remedies about three weeks his hands were entirely healed up. So we have lots of reason for feeling grateful for the Cuticura Remedies. We find that the Cuticura Remedies are a valuable household standby, as they will do twelve miles from a doctor." (Signed) Mrs. Vincent Thomas, Fairmount, Ridge, Tenn., Oct. 13, 1906."

ROUND GARDDON CHURCH.

Surrey a Region Rich in Historic Interest and Picturesque Ruins.

The account of Gardson church and tower and the Washington traditions connected with them, would be complete should not make mention of the beautiful region rich in historic interest and in picturesque ruins, which abound near Malmesbury. The abbey church has associations which would render it, even if it were not in its present decay a monument of exquisite beauty, a structure of vivid and pathetic interest and the region is one of the memorials of earliest English history. To Malmesbury came, at one time or another, some of the most picturesque figures in earlier English political and literary life. The memories here must, indeed be of another order from the wonted and for this reason the less known than the more modern English reader familiar though Bath is to Somerset, take Malmesbury Malmesbury fifth century that picturesque and a monastery and Wilfrid and man in Latin a history to the "Saxon scholars valuable authorities. Say that the visitor to Garsdon may wisely tarry. He will find an English inn which has preserved, in its best tradition of an order now rapidly vanishing from the face of the earth, and in quiet and kindly a host and hostess will always be a joy forever. Louis XV. Prayer Book.

A dispatch from Brussels that Count Goblet's collection of manuscripts and miniatures, often admired at exhibitions, has been presented by its owner to the Royal Library of Belgium. Among the precious manuscripts, illuminated by Flemish artists of the fifteenth century, is a prayer book of Marie Leszcynska, wife of Louis XV of France, for which 20,000 francs was once offered. The illustrations in the book were painted by the painter, Russelet.—New York Sun.

MORE BOXES OF GOLD

And Many Greenbacks.

Boxes of Gold and Greenbacks are sent to persons who write the most interesting and truthful letters received on the following topics: How have you been affected by drinking and by changing from coffee to Postum.

Give name and account of one of the coffee drinkers who have been cured by it and have been induced to quit and use Postum.

Do you know any one who has been driven away from Postum before it came to the table weak and tasteless at the first trial?

Did you set such a person right by telling the easy way to make it right, and with a snappy, rich flavor?

Have you ever found a better way to make it than to use four heaping spoonfuls to the pint of water, and boil on stove until real boiling is reached and beginning at that time actual boiling starts, boil full five minutes more to extract the flavor and food value. (A piece of butter the size of a pea will prevent boiling over.)

This contest is confined to those who have used Postum prior to the date of this advertisement.

The most honest and truthful, don't write long or fanciful letters, just plain, truthful statements.

This contest will close June 1st, 1907, and no letters received after that date will be admitted. Examinations of the letters will be made by three judges, all members of the Postum Cereal Co. Their decisions will be final, and a neat little box containing a $10 gold piece sent to each of the five writers of the most interesting letters, a box containing a $5 gold piece to each of the 20 next best, a greenback to each of the 100 next best, and a $1 greenback to each of the 300 next best, making cash prizes distributed to 325 persons.

Every friend of Postum is urged to write, and each letter will be held in high esteem by the company, as an evidence of such friendship, while the 325 boxes of gold and envelopes of greenbacks will reach many modest homes whose plain and sensible letters contain the facts desired, although the sender may have but little faith in winning at the time of writing.

Think this subject over with your friends and see how many among you can win prizes. It is a good, honest competition and in the best kind of a game, and costs the competitors absolutely nothing.

Address your letter to the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., giving your own name and address clearly.

PAY FOR SMOOT'S FIGHT FOR SEAT.

$15,000 Included in General Deficency Appropriation Bill.

IS PASSED BY THE SENATE.

Only Discussion Occasioned by Smoot Amendment—McLaurin Wants Protestants to Get an Equal Amount.

Washington.—The senate has passed the general deficiency appropriation bill. The bill carries slightly less than $10,740,000. It was amended by the senate by the inclusion of several provisions, aggregating $80,000, among which were the following:

To provide the expenses of the United States participation in the International Maritime Exposition at Bordeaux, France, to be held from May 1 to October 31, this year, $25,000.

To defray the expenses of the senate and house at the opening of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition $7,000.

To defray the expenses of the constitutional convention in Oklahoma $135,240.

Increasing the salary of the secretary to the president from $5,000 to $6,500.

To reimburse Senator Reed Smoot for expenses incurred by him in defending his rights to his seat in the senate, $15,000.

The Smoot amendment was the only one in the bill which occasioned discussion, Senator McLaurin offering an amendment which provided that the protestants against Senator Smoot should receive an equal amount. When this was laid on the table, he proposed that half the amount should go to the protestants.

It was explained that Senator Smoot had paid his attorneys $20,000 and the amount in the bill would only reimburse him partially for this expenditure.

It was also stated in opposition to the amendment of Mr. McLaurin that the government had paid all expenses of attending witnesses, making a total of more than $26,000.

Mr. Dubois said the women who had protested against Senator Smoot had raised the funds for their attorneys through collections. He had no doubt that if reimbursed the organizations represented would use the funds for good purposes.

The second McLaurin amendment was also defeated.

GALLOWS WINS.

Death Penalty Claims John Bullard at Marietta, Ga.

Marietta, Ga.—John Bullard was hanged here for the murder of his daughter, Ruby Bullard, at Powder Springs, Cobb county, in September. The case has attracted unusual attention from the fact that Bullard has been suffering from consumption, and it appeared within the past week that his death might result from the disease before the day set for his execution. An appeal for commutation of sentence was refused by the prison board Wednesday, and the case came before Governor Terrell for his approval for the finding or a respite. Petitions for delay were finally refused by the governor.

CAN GET ARMS.

Attorney-General Orders That Rifles Cannot be Held Up.

New Orleans—Nicaragua and Honduras may now ship arms from the United States without fear of detention, according to a ruling by Attorney General Bonaparte, made public here. Shipments of arms for both governments have been held up here pending instructions from Washington. Attorney General Bonaparte wired District Attorney Howe that "the department could find no authority under existing circumstances for the detention by the collector of customs of munitions of war mentioned."

Favors Woman Suffrage.

London.—Premier Campbell-Bannerman, who up to the present time has refused to receive a deputation of the woman suffragists, has written a letter, in which he promises to support "with much pleasure" the bill presented by W. H Dickinson, M. P., to give suffrage to women.

Oldest German Editor Dies.

Chicago.—William Rapp, editor-in-chief of the Illinois Staats Zeitung and said to be the oldest German editor in the United States, is dead from the effects of a street car accident sustained four weeks ago. Mr. Rapp's son is the husband of the opera singer Madame Schumann-Heinick.

Mystery Deepens.

Brunswick, Ga.—Official inquiry into the murder of Lillian Davenport the actress, and A. P. Brown, a bartender, Wednesday night, has only deepened the mystery. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that the two came to their death by bullets fired by some unknown parties. R. L. Davenport, husband of the actress, who was held as a suspect, has been released.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the appoval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

Is Disease Hereditary?

But now medical men are coming round to the view that it is the personal history that is of primary importance, or, in other words, that a man's own manner of life, his record of health and his circumstances should be much more carefully considered than the illnesses that his ancestors had died of. Dr. Rabagliati, a medical examiner for insurance companies, who is well known in the profession which he adorns, and of high repute in the North of England, has devoted much thought to this question of heredity from a life insurance point of view. In his opinion it is not so much disease that is transmitted from one generation to another, but organization, or "humanity," as he expresses it. Any member of the human family may suffer from any disease to which humanity is subject, and when an individual so suffers it is the cause of the ailment that must be inquired into. Exposure to this or that set of conditions brings varying results. If the body is exposed to one set of conditions it will take on gout; if to another, consumption; if to a third, cancer, and so on.—P. T. O. of London.

This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia but this famous remedy digests all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach. Mr. S. Hall of Ravenswood, W. Va., says:—"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. I used Kodol and am now using it in mill row."

Kodol Digests What You Eat.

This preparation contains all the digestants and digests 2½ times the trial size bottle which sells for 50 cents.

Convalescents

NEED VINOL
for it hastens recovery by creating strength

There is just one thing the matter with a person who has been sick—that is, weakness.

To all such people in this vicinity we recommend our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as the very best strength creator for convalescents.

Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, promotes sound sleep, makes rich, red blood, and builds up a depleted system to health and vigor.

This is because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil with the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. We guarantee it.

Cooks Suit Their Taste.

"I never season things up to my own taste," said a man who has cooked in a restaurant for many years. "Very few cooks do. They have palates that crave high seasoning. The longer they cook the more salt and pepper and spices they require. If I should send up my dishes as I like them, they would be so hot and peppery that half the patrons in the restaurant would be unable to eat them."—New York Press.

The Accident.

Hixonner—You are charged with breaking a chair over your wife's head. Prisoner—It was an accident, your honor. Hixonner—What! Didn't you intend to hit her? Prisoner—Yes, but I didn't intend to break the chair.

The Lazy Horse.

An Irishman once fapped a poky horse with a whip and said, "Pick up your feet, and they'll fall theirselves." —Atchison Globe.

The readiest and surest way to get rid of censure is to correct ourselves.—Demosthenes.

How to Remain Young.

To continue young in health and strength, do as Mrs. N. F. Rowar, McDonough, Ga., did. She says: "Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured me of chronic liver and stomach trouble, complicated with such an unhealthy condition of the blood that my skin turned red as flannel. I am now practically 20 years younger than before I took Electric Bitters. I can now do all my work with ease and assist in my husband's store." Guaranteed at Upchurch Drug Co. Price 50c

MAKE MONEY.

Here is an interesting study: Make out a list of all the people you know, and estimate the amount of money each one earns in a year. Total it up. The amount will be surprisingly large. Now, of all those people, only the few who SAVE SOMETHING really MAKE anything at all. Simply earning money isn't making it; what slips through the earner's fingers is finally "made" by somebody else. Don't forget to count yourself in on the list, and if you are not "making" money, begin now to save with us. One dollar will open your bank account.

IN MEMORIAM.

There is a reaper whose name is death.
And with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath.
And the flowers that grow between.

On the 4th day of March the death angel came and took away the spirit of William Kersey Weaver to the beautiful realms above. William and his widowed sister left their home near Stanton last fall for Tampa, Fla., but had been there but about four months when he was taken with pneumonia and died. He leaves an aged father, step-mother and several brothers and sisters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Weep not, dear ones, he has gone to join his angel mother. The Heavenly Father in His wisdom saw fit to take him, yet he will be missed among all who knew him, his gentle ways and pleasant smiles made many friends. William was just in the bloom of youth, having passed his twentieth birthday a few days before his death. May the Lord in His goodness and mercy comfort the bereaved ones in their sorrow, and when the Lord calls we will be ready to go to meet in the sweet by and by where parting comes no more.

A FRIEND.

IN MEMORIAM.

On Thursday night, March 7, God saw fit to call home the infant babe of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brown. It only budded here on earth to blossom in heaven. Its vacant place can never be filled, but remember your loss is heaven's gain. It shall never know the cares and sorrows of this old sin-cursed world. We can only commend the bereaved father and mother to the mercy of God for He doeth all things well. He said "Suffer little children to come unto me." Weep not, father and mother, for you can never bring him back, but only be prepared to meet him upon that bright and glorious resurrection morn. His remains were interred at Prospect cemetery, Friday, March 8, at 4 o'clock. B. C. B.

Plantersville.

We have been having some nice weather for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Berry visited their parents last Sunday.

The reception at the home of Miss Bertha Ousley was enjoyed very much by her friends. They had nice music played by Messrs. Walter Kendrick and Walter and Clarence Abbott.

We are going to have two sermons at Bethel church on April 14, and hope to have a nice time.

Miss Minnie Dawson is spending several months with her brother, Mr. W. A. Dawson, at Arnold's mill.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mr. William Weaver. He leaves many friends and relatives to mourn his loss.

Just a word to the Autauga boys. You need not pity the girl that signs her name Nobody's Darling for she does not pity you so much. With best wishes to the Banner and its many readers.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely under the able management of our superintendent, Mr. C W. Martin. We were glad to have Messrs. Northcutt and Hilson with us Sunday in Sunday school. Come again when you have longer to stay. Also we were glad to have Misses Genie and Hersie Collins with us.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Martin visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Billingsley, Sunday.

Miss Bertha Littleton visited Miss May Billingsley, Sunday and reported a nice time.

Several of the young ladies visited Miss Genie Collins, Saturday night and reported a nice time.

On last Thursday Mr. Bill Benson and Miss Susie Collins were happily united, Rev. W. J. Armstrong performing the ceremony. Many wishes to them.

Poplar Springs.

We are sorry indeed to note that Mrs. J. P. Stonecipher is on the sick list; hope she will soon recover.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Devaughn and took away their little daughter Lura. Weep not, dear father and mother, Lura is at rest: her tired body and weary heart sank into a deep peaceful sleep; her tired eyes were closed to open again upon the beautiful heavenly land. Dear weeping relatives, we have nothing of this world's consolation to offer; we do not feel that we could speak any words that would ease your aching hearts or fill the vacancy of this dear one, but remember the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

Well, I was glad to see so many letters in last week's issue. Seems like Nobody's Darling caused a good deal of disturbance.

Political Debate.

There will be a political debate at Rockymount school house, March 16, at 7 p.m. The speakers are Jesse D. Caddell, Republican; I. W. Harrell, Socialist. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Sheffield Dies.

The death of Mrs. Lotta Sheffield occurred at her home, Montezuma, Ga., Saturday morning at six o'clock. The funeral took place Sunday morning at ten o'clock. She leaves a husband, baby and sister, Miss S. L. Bell, formerly of Clanton. Mrs. Sheffield was a beautiful character, all that knew her loved her. Her death will be lamented by many sorrowing friends and relatives.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Monday.

The house of representatives on being officially notified of the death of Speaker W. L. Martin elected A. H. Carmichael, speaker pro tem., to the position of permanent presiding officer of the lower branch of the legislature. He was placed in nomination by Mr. Stegall, of Dale, and received the nanimous support of the members present.

The senate has passed the following bills:

To amend sections 1 and 2 of an act entitled "An act to confer additional rights and powers, including the right to acquire by purchase or by condemnation lands and easements upon corporations organized under a special act of the general assembly of the state of Alabama.

To authorize the court of county commissioners or board of revenue of any county authorized to levy a special tax for working the public roads to transfer county funds in the county treasury.

To dissolve the board of trustees of the Medical College of Alabama, and to vest the ownership and control of the property of said college in the board of directors of the University of Alabama.

To authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect a license tax on all exhibitions, trades, business, vocations, occupations and professions which are now or may hereafter be engaged in or carried on within the limits of such municipal corporation.

To amend section 7 of an act approved October 1, 1903, to amend an act to establish the Tuscaloosa county law and equity court, so as to fix the salary of the judge of said court at $2,700 per annum, payable monthly.

To provide for and regulate the working of the public roads in Tallapoosa county.

To exempt members of volunteer fire companies in incorporated towns and cities from military and jury duties and from the payment of poll and street taxes and to provide for their incorporation.

To make a supplemental appropriation for the payment of the increased salaries of the judicial officers of this state.

Wednesday.

With the appointment of the house members of the recess commissions, they are reported made up as follows:

Code Commission—Lusk, Merritt and Gardner, senate; Speaker Carmichael, John, Foster, Maher and Stegall, house.

Municipal Code—Strother, Gunn and Teasley, senate; Gunter, King, Sherrod, Cranford, Norville, house.

Fertilizer Commission—Leith and Overton, senate; Pitts of Perry, Power and Sample, house.

The commissions are to sit during the interim from now to July 9, when the summer session will be held.

The house passed the bill for a state live stock commission, and adopted minor amendments to other bills returned by the governor.

The Miller bill for extending the limits of cities and towns, known sometimes as the Miller Greater Birmingham bill, was passed by the house, and now goes to the senate. This bill provides for extending the limits about like the Smyer bill, but eliminates the non-taxing feature.

The police commission bill, general in its scope, but passed with a view of reaching the situation in Birmingham, went through with a whoop in the house.

The bill providing for the manner of assessing railroad property and that prohibiting corporations from contributing to the political parties passed.

The house also passed the Reynolds vagrancy bill, which was passed by the senate. It was amended to make all punishment hard labor, eliminating the prison feature.

The only interest in the morning session of the senate was the opposition of Mr. Leith to the revenue bill. The bill was finally adopted with sewing machine, lightning rod and stove agents taxed $100 for each county and $25 for each wagon. Organ men were taxed $100 for each county when they had a place of business. Mr. Leith objected, calling this an unjust thing to the sewing machine men. However, it passed with but seven votes against it.

It was announced that the members of the recess commissions on the part of the senate would be:

Code Commission—Lusk, Merritt and Gardner.

Municipal Code Commission—Strother, Gunn and Teasley.

Fertilizer Trust Commission—Leith and Overton.

The conference report on the bill for delinquent children was accepted and the bill passed.

The skin of young fowls will peel easily. If the spurs of chickens are over a quarter of an inch long, it indicates old age.

PERSIAN AFFAIRS CONCERN LONDON.

Great Britain and Russia ready to Intervene.

WARSHIPS MAY BE SENT.

Shah Expected to Call for Help to Restore Order—No Confirmation of Germany's Demands.

London.—The internal affairs of Persia, which, according to official information, are far from satisfactory, are being closely watched by the officials of the foreign office here. While it is hoped that the intervention of the powers will not be necessary, Great Britain and Russia have decided on the steps to be taken by them in such a contingency.

Great Britain anticipates that should affairs reach a critical stage the shah, who, before he ascended the throne, frequently called upon Russia for financial assistance and sought the advice of the representatives of that country, will ask for Russia's help to restore order. The Russian government could comply with the request with the full knowledge that no objection would be made by Great Britain. Russia may even offer assistance without the invitation of the shah, an offer which Great Britain would advise the Persian ruler to accept.

Great Britain would do her part by sending warships to the Persian gulf ports, but she would not go further unless the landing of a force became necessary to protect foreigners in southern Persia, which in the agreement between Russia and Great Britain would be recognized as the latter's sphere of influence.

There is no official confirmation of the reports from Teheran that Germany has demanded an indemnity from Persia for the murder of a missionary, and that Turkey, acting for Germany, will occupy a coal field near the proposed terminus of the Bagdad railroad until this indemnity is paid. The men who murdered the German missionary have been executed, but the British minister at Teheran has been asked to ascertain the facts of the case.

The accord between Great Britain and Russia with respect to Persia is one result of the negotiations that have been going on for the past twelve months for the settlement of all outstanding differences between the two powers.

SHIPBUILDERS STRIKE MONDAY.

All in Employ of American Shipbuilding Company Ordered Out.

Cleveland, O.—Vice-President Weyand, of the International Boilermakers' and Shipbuilders' organization, has issued an order for a general strike of shipbuilders in the employ of the American Shipbuilding Company, effective Monday. The order is also made to include so-called independent companies at Ecorse and St. Clair, Mich. The yards mentioned in the strike order, according to Mr. Weyand's statement, are at Buffalo, Cleveland, Loraine, Wyandotte, Bay City, South Chicago and West Superior.

New York.—The American Shipbuilding Company has closed all its yards on the great lakes, and will spend something like $2,000,000, which it has in the banks, before it will yield to the demands of the Shipbuilders' Union.

This is the statement made by one closely in touch with the affairs of the American Shipbuilding Company. Furthermore, according to this same person, President J. C. Wallace, of the company, will likely not consent to even confer with the men who are making the demands of the company.

BOMB KILLS FOUR.

Robbers Seize $7,500 From Policemen and Get Away.

Kutais, Trans-Caucasia.—The treasurer of the local revenue, accompanied by two policemen and several local officials, were driving through the streets in a carriage with $7,500 in his custody, when three bombs were thrown at his party. This attack was followed by a volley of revolver shots from the bandits. Both the policemen, the driver of the carriage and one of the officials were killed, and the treasurer and four other officials were wounded. The robbers seized the money and escaped.

Blown Up by Dynamite.

Pikeville, Ky.—The offices and warehouse of the Henry Clay Coal and Coke Company in Marrowbone Creek, this county, were blown up by dynamite, supposedly by enemies of the company, as it is in litigation over the timber and other rights. The loss is about $8,000.

Refuse Gift Bonds.

Pierre, S. D.—Governor Crawford has received an offer of a million dollars of North Carolina bonds from a New York holding syndicate as a present to that state in case the state will start suit to collect the same. The offer was declined in the name of the state.

A WHOLE WEEK'S EVENTS.

HILL IS INTERESTED.

He Will Work for the Boys' Trade School.

Gadsden, Ala.—Former State Superintendent of Education I. W. Hill has announced that he would come here net week and begin active work in the interest of the Alabama Trade School for White Boys, in which he is greatly interested, and proposes to devote his entire time to the work.

Professor Hill is enthusiastic over the prospects of the school, and has many assurances of aid.

The school will be in this city or near here, and will teach worthy white boys a trade. Professor Hill was superintendent of the city schools here when elected state superintendent of education.

SUICIDE IN EUFAULA.

W. C. Dunnaway, Prominent Merchant, Takes Overdose of Morphine.

Eufaula, Ala.—W. C. Dunnaway, a well-known merchant here, committed suicide at his place of business on Broad street by taking an overdose of morphine.

He had been conversing with friends during the day and gave no cause for alarm even to his family. It is known that he had been drinking heavily for the past month, and despondency over financial troubles is assigned as the cause.

Dunnaway was 35 years old. He leaves a widow and four young children.

KILLED BY MARSHAL.

George Bell Is Shot by William Houston.

Eufaula, Ala.—George Bell, a prominent citizen of Barbour county, was shot and killed on the streets of Clayton by William Houston, the town marshal.

Details of the tragedy are meagre. The news was received in Eufaula by relatives of Mr. Bell.

The dead man was a prosperous farmer, who resided about four miles from Clayton. If there had been previous trouble between him and Houston it is not known here. Mr. Bell is survived by his widow and two children. He was about 40 years old.

Houston is married. He was night watchman at Clayton several years, and at the recent election defeated Marshal Lasseter for that office.

Negro Hospital to Open.

Huntsville, Ala.—A novel enterprise was started in Huntsville Monday afternoon, being a hospital for negroes, and owned and controlled by a negro physician, Dr. W. W. Derrick. Dr. Derrick says that many of the deaths among the negroes is due more to neglect than any disease, and his hospital will take care of negro patients at reasonable expense. The new institution is endorsed by the Huntsville Infirmary Association.

Furnace to Go Into Blast.

Anniston, Ala.—The repairs at the Wood stock furnaces have been completed, and provided that additional material, now ordered, is receive in time, the furnaces will be in blast by March 20. The head office of the furnaces has been transferred from Birmingham to this city.

Crematory for Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala.—Only the official sanction of the city council, which will probably be given next week, is needed to make the proposed $30,000 crematory here a certainty. The crematory will be a replica of the one in Tampa, Fla.

Musicians Out of Tune.

Birmingham, Ala.—Prof. Roy Young, one of the best known violinists in the south, was arrested upon a warrant sworn out by William Gussen, charging assault and battery upon the latter. The alleged sufferer is also one of Birmingham's most prominent physicians.

First Session Held.

Huntsville.—The first session of the new law and equity court was held Friday afternoon, and Judge Betts announced to the members of the Huntsville bar that the court is now ready for business. It is expected that the docket of the court will be light for a few weeks, because of the fact that the circuit court almost cleaned up the civil suits, and those now pending are set or the May term of the circuit court.

Troops to Help Celebrate.

Washington.—The war department has received requests from several towns in the United States for the attendance of troops of the regular army to participate in the celebration of purely patriotic or important historical events, and has decided that the troops can be put to no more legitimate use, but demands for other purposes were disapproved.

IS BURNED TO DEATH.

Horrible Accident to Bibb County Child.

Centreville, Ala.—The 12-year-old daughter of Mr. John Legal, living twelve miles south of Centreville, died from burns received in a lamp explosion.

She attempted to extinguish a lamp by blowing down the chimney, whereupon the lamp exploded and covered her clothes with kerosene oil, which immediately ignited, and before the flames could be quenched she was fatally burned.

DEMOPOLIS CONTEST.

Executive Committee Will Hear Colonel Winn's Plea Tuesday.

Demopolis, Ala.—Tuesday was the day fixed by the executive committee of Demopolis to hear the contest of the recent municipal primary election. Hon. H. T. Reese, of Selma, was here to represent Col. N. G. Winn, and the nominee was represented by a number of the local attorneys.

TALLADEGA GRAND JURY.

It Returns Twenty-eight Indictments and Is Dismissed.

Talladega, Ala.—The grand jury of the city court has adjourned after finding twenty-eight true bills. H. M. Burt was foreman of the jury.

Damage Suits at Florence.

Florence, Ala.—The Sheffield Company is the defendant in a suit brought for $5,000 by S. P. Merrill. Merrill was driving on the car track when an electric car strck his vehicle from behind and he was thrown out. He asks damages for the personal injuries received.

The case of George Dowdy against Dave Jones, in which the former asks for $10,000 damages for being shot in the leg, is now in the hands of the jury.

In Bankruptcy.

Huntsville, Ala.—Two voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States court. The petitioners are J. M. Askins, a merchant of Huntsville, whose liabilities are $2,400 and assets $800, claimed as exempt. The other is James G. Price, a laborer of Tuscumbia, whose liabilities and assets are nominal.

Improvements at Bridgeport.

Bridgeport, Ala.—The H. Wetter Manufacturing Company is erecting a brick pattern house at the rear of the foundry building, to be used exclusively for housing the many valuable patterns owned by the company. This makes two pattern houses that the company now has. The new soil pipe shop belonging to the company, which was recently enlarged, is now in operation.

Talking of a Pike Road.

Bridgeport, Ala.—The citizens of Bridgeport and Jackson county have had a survey made for a pike road from Bridgeport, Ala., to the Tennessee state line, and it is understood that they will at once begin work building the pike. Jackson county is to appropriate $2,000 toward the pike, and the balance will be raised by individual subscriptions.

Died of His Wounds.

Birmingham, Ala.—Jim Johnson, a young man who was shot at a merry-go-round last summer by Charles Montgomery, is dead at his home in Cullman. The shooting occurred at Warrior, this county. Montgomery has been rearrested upon a warrant charging murder.

Building for Sale.

Decatur, Ala.—At meeting of the city council Mrs. Lelia Seaton Wilder submitted a proposition to sell the old bank building on Bank street to the city for a city hall and jail. The matter is now in the hands of a committee of the city council. This building was erected in 1832 for a state bank and is one of the historical buildings in this part of the state.

Revoke Corporations' License.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The senate of the Missiouri legislature has passed the bill vesting the secretary of state with authority to revoke the license of foreign corporations and remove suits from state to federal courts without the written consent of the other party to the suit.

Socialists' Open-Air Meeting.

St. Petersburg.—The lower house of parliament occupied itself with the business of the organization, including the election of five assistant secretaries, each of whom had to be balloted for separately. None of the ministers were present. The opposition appropriated all the secretaryships. The socialists, bent on forcing the amnesty question to the front, are organizing monster open-air meetings for the next few days.

Russian-Japan Disputes.

St. Petersburg.—An official denial was made of the report from Vienna that the negotiations between Russia and Japan had resulted in an agreement to arbitrate future disputes between the two governments. It was stated that the negotiations were still pending without any hitch, but that definite results would not be in sight for weeks or even for months.

ANNIHILATED BY HONDURAS CAVALRY.

Nicaraguan Column Makes the Attack at Tuguare

FIGHTING LASTS 3 HOURS

Alliance Between All Central American Republics Against Nicaragua Is Planned by Bonilla to Avert Revolution.

San Salvador, Republic of Salvador.—At noon Friday a Nicaraguan column, as a reprisal for the recent victories of the Honduras army, attacked the cavalry of Honduras at Tuguare. After three hours' fighting the Nicaraguans are said to have been annihilated by the Hondurans.

Washington.—Nicaraguan sympathizers are indignant at the charges made against President Zelaya by Honduras, and maintain that the movement of Honduras against Nicaragua and the reported alliance between Honduras and other Central American republics were planned by President Bonilla of Honduras for the sole purpose of diverting serious revolutionary movements in the latter country.

A prominent supporter of President Zelaya and one authorized to speak for him, said that public sympathy cannot but be with the Nicaraguan chief executive if all the facts about the present troubles are known. He also expressed surprise and disbelief at the reported alliance of the four other Central American governments against Nicaragua, and said it is especially difficult to understand why Costa Rica should participate in any movement against Zelaya.

Boundary Dispute.

In answer to the charge that President Zelaya refused to accept the decision of the boundary dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua, handed down by the king of Spain late in 1906, the Nicaraguans insist that there is no foundation for such a charge, because the result of this arbitration has not even been submitted to decision of the Nicaraguan congress.

The assistance Salvador is reported to be giving Honduras in the present trouble may be ascribed to the fact that the two countries are supposed to be allies whose friendship was strengthened by the assistance Honduras gave to Salvador last year, when the latter republic became entangled in a war with Guatemala.

Nicaragua and Guatemala have not been on especially friendly terms for some time because of failure to negotiate reciprocity treaties and the refusal of Nicaragua to take part in the negotiation in the San Jose treaty, growing out of the conference on the United States gunboat Marblehead for the settlement of the war, in which Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador engaged last year.

Costa Rica Gets In.

Supporters of President Zelaya are at a loss to explain the reported hostility of Costa Rica to Nicaragua. It has been known for some time that the present administration of Costa Rica was not friendly to President Zelaya and his administration, but the relations between the two nations has been such that an open breach between them has never been thought of by the Nicaraguans.

The slaughter of a small Nicaraguan garrison by Honduras insurgents, who crossed into Nicaragua, was the cause of the trouble between Presidents Bonilla and Zelaya. This was being arbitrated, but President Bonilla withdrew his commissioner and provoked Nicaraga anew, giving rise to hostilities.

HARRELL KILLED BY WOMAN.

Prominent Citizen of Eastman, Ga., Is Shot by Mrs. Dreene.

Eastman, Ga.—W. P. Harrell, one of Dodge county's most prominent citizens, was shot and killed by Mrs. Shellie Dreene. The killing grew out of a dispute about past due rent, Mr. Harrell owning the house in which Mrs. Dreene lived. He had gone to her house to collect rent due, it is said, and upon being refused payment he told Mrs. Dreene she would have to move. She drew her pistol and fired two bullets, one through his heart and the other into his left eye.

Mrs. Dreene was arrested. Harrell leaves a wife and several children.

Big Bridge Destroyed by Ice.

Chamberlain, S. D.—The big bridge of the St. Paul railroad, across the Missouri river here, is being destroyed by the ice, six hundred feet of bridge and trestle work having gone out. Ferryboats are being used for passengers and baggage.

Discuss Philippine Fortifications.

Washington.—Fortifications for the Philippine Islands were discussed at the White House by the president, Major-General Bell, of staff; Brigadier General Murray, chief of coast artillery; Secretary of the Navy Metcalfe and Captain Mason, sergeant of the naval general board. There is available for this purpose $1,435,000. The president has exhibited a keen interets in the subject.

SOUTHERN FARM NOTES.

TOPICS OF INTEREST TO THE PLANTER, STOCKMAN AND TRUCK GROWER.

Fertilizer For Tobacco.

The use of fertilizers for the growing of tobacco, hastens forward the crop at least two weeks or more. It also adds greatly to the yield of the crop and to the quality of the product. Lands that under ordinary conditions would make a yield of poor, papery tobacco, lacking in gummy or oily matters and unfitted for shipping purposes, may be made to produce a very high type of tobacco by the liberal application of a well-compounded fertilizer with suitable ingredients. It is now a rare thing to plant tobacco without using some fertilizer. It not only improves the quality and increases the weight of the cured tobacco, but it gives an early start to the plant, which soon grows large enough to withstand the ravages of grasshoppers and other insects.

After the hills are made, the quicker the plants are set out the better. During the first half of May there is usually enough humidity in the soil to make the transplanting safe without rain. It is best, however, to set out immediately after a rain, provided the fall of rain is not so heavy as to thoroughly soak the ground. In this case it is better to wait until the excessive water is drained away. A peg an inch or an inch and a half in diameter and six or eight inches long and sloped for one-third of the length to a blunt point, is used for setting out the plants. A hole is made with it in the hill into which the roots of the plants are thrust. The dirt is then pressed to the plant by the thumb on one side and the peg on the other. One person usually drops for two setting out. A hand plant, that is an extra plant to begin with, facilitates greatly the planting, as it may be adjusted in the hand in passing from one hill to another. The plant dropped on one hill is the one set out in the next.

In about eight to ten days after the plants are set out in the open field they will be so well established that cultivation should begin by running a furrow on each side of the row with the single horse turning plow, the bar of the plow being run as closely as possible to the plants without disturbing the roots and so endangering their vitality. This leaves a narrow ridge with the plants standing on it. Hoes are then brought into requisition to scrap away any grass or weeds that may have made their appearance. It is a good practice to draw a little dirt up around the plants after breaking the crust which generally crowns the top of the ridge. This initial working is probably the most important. For subsequent working cultivators may be run at intervals of a week or ten days both ways through the tobacco. This is especially important after every rain. It is now the practice of the best tobacco-growers to use level cultivation. It was once thought necessary to put a supporting hill around each plant at the first cultivation. This practice has been abandoned because it diminishes the area of range for the roots of the plants and also lessens the amount of humidity within reach of the roots, and this humidity grows more important as the leaves expand. The land should never be worked when it is wet. When the plants have attained a size that makes it impossible to use a plow or cultivator without damage from the breakage of leaves, it will be found advantageous to cut out with hoes or to pull up with the hands any grass, weeds or bushes that may spring up. Every alien growth will damage the quality of the tobacco.—From Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer Almanac.

Growing Winter Lettuce.

Lettuce is grown in the Norfolk section out of doors in the open air, without protection to speak of. It is also grown under canvas, and also under glass. It is with the outdoor and under canvas lettuce that we write of at present, leaving the under glass culture to be noticed hereafter.

The seed is sown in warm sunny nooks in the open air late in September. In November and December the plants are taken up and transplanted in the fields, in rows closely enough to permit about 90,000 plants being set to the acre.

Some of the planters use the sedge grass, and the marsh grass to spread a very thin covering over the field lettuce. It is so thin a covering, however, that each lettuce plant can be plainly seen through its very thin covering of dried grass. Lettuce so planted often comes through an ordinary winter here without the loss of one per cent. of the plants.

Other truckers use more or less canvas to cover their lettuce which is set out in beds. A wide board is set up at the north side of these beds, and a narrower one at the south side, and a canvas cloth is tightly stretched over these temporary frames. The board on the north side being wide and the canvas sloping to the south, catches the southern sun nicely, and lettuce so protected grows during the winter season so that it goes to market two or three weeks earlier than that standing in the open air.

The canvas is lifted during the many warm sunny days of winter, and the plants grow slowly and steadily until ready to ship. There is no artificial heat used in such cases. The extra expense is in the boards, the canvas, and the extra labor involved. The extra price received more than makes up for the extra expense, and the business seems to be growing.

The lettuce is shipped in what is termed half baskets. If the heads are fair sized it takes about thirty-five to fill a basket. In some cases which have come to our attention, eighteen heads have filled the basket, while in other cases it takes as much as fifty heads. This means that an acre of lettuce may turn off 1800 to 2000 baskets, although it does not often happen that all plants mature. The cost of the baskets run about twelve cents each, and the freight to Northern markets about fourteen cents per basket.

The cost to cut and pack is very reasonable—say less than five cents per basket. Close, careful estimates place the cost of a basket of lettuce at a little less than fifty cents laid down in Northern markets, so that all above that is profit. The price received in Northern markees ranges from sixty cents to $3 per basket.

The crop is entirely a winter crop. Being transplanted in November and December and marketed in April, it leaves the land during the entire summer growing season for two or three other crops.

The lettuce grown in the Norfolk trucking section is either grown close to the city, or in close proximity to the many navigable "arms of the sea" or near to the electric lines which penetrate the trucking section in all directions. A single wagon load may contain fifty baskets, and a little sailing vessel may bring at least 200 or more baskets.

It is a crop requiring and repaying intensive culture and care. It generally receives about two applications of fertilizer, and the land must be in good heart in order to get best results.—Progressive Farmer.

Poultry Notes.

The beginner who buys a trio of good birds will get eggs enough to hatch a big flock. This is the cheapest way to start.

When out of two piano boxes a floored poultry house six by eleven feet can be made it seems as if every one should be able to have good houses.

Infertile eggs will keep longer than those that are fertile, hence it is more profitable not to have male birds with the flock from which eggs are to be saved for the market.

For the ordinary farmer who cannot give all his time and study to the care of chickens a hardy breed that will lay large quantities of eggs and are good foragers are the most profitable.

Some say that a mating of a cock and pullets will produce a larger number of females than males, and with a hen-cockerel mating the result will be the opposite. The idea is that the young stock, being more vigorous, will have greater influence on the offspring.

A fair estimate for the cost of feed and care for a fowl on the farm is about fifty cents per year. Often the grain a flock of 200 to 300 hens will consume would hardly be missed on many a farm. They will yield a profit of from $1 to $1.50 per head per year. Where is the other live stock that can make as good a showing?—Nashville American.

Sausage to Be Used Next Summer.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer gives the following recipe for putting up sausage for next summer's use, which is highly recommended:

"Grind the meat fine. To fifteen pounds of meat add one teacupful of salt and four level tablespoonfuls of black pepper—nothing else. Mix well with the hands. Make into cakes and fry nearly done. Be sure to place the fried cakes where they will get cold. After they are cold (which is very important) pack them in a tin can closely. Now pour the surplus lard fried out over the packed cakes. If there is not enough melt more lard and pour over until the cakes are covered half an inch with it. When you begin to use them (about next July or August) scrape the lard off enough to get enough from the top layer, then press it back carefully so that the air is excluded, and your sausage will be all right to the last cake.

Dog Went To School.

A little Indian boy who attended the Government schools at Keshena had a habit of going to school every morning at 8 o'clock with his black dog, "Nigger," and returning home every evening at 4 o'clock.

One day the little boy became sick and was unable to go to school, but "Nigger" was on deck and went alone at 8 o'clock and back at 4 o'clock every day for a whole week.—Kaukauna correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

Unfathomable.

"I can not be your wife," she replied, and added: "This is final."

He paced swiftly to and fro, several times, then halted abruptly in front of her.

"Pray be candid with me," he said, not without the note of masculine impatience. "About how final?"

This was too much. She burst into tears.

"How do I know?" she sobbed.—Puck.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE SUSPENDS BUSINESS.

President Calls on California to Stop.

THE REQUEST IS GRANRED.

Excitement in the Streets Becomes So Intense That Schools Are Dismissed Claimed That Police Protection Is Not Adequate—Other Unions May Join.

Louisville, Ky.—The first attempts of the Louisville Street Railway Company, whose employes struck Sunday, to run its street cars by non-union men Monday morning were accompanied by demonstrations in many parts of the city and by acts approaching violence. A few cars sent out early were permitted to make their runs without interruption, but as the day progressed there were several out breaks.

At Thirteenth and Main two cars bound to the city were stopped by several hundred men on their way to work, the two conductors forced to return the fares to the passengers, reverse the trolleys and take the cars back to the barns.

At Fourth and C streets the strike sympathizers surrounded a car and stoned the motorman and conductor injuring the former, Edward Pierson, seriously. The police were hastily called and dispersed the crowd. At Fourth and Hill several cars were stopped and their air brakes quickly put out of commission. The crowd threw stones through the windows of one or two cars here before the police arrived. There were numerous calls for the police in widely separated sections of the city up to 9:30, teamsters aiding the strike sympathizers in blockading the tracks in several places. The entire police force is on duty.

The first car out of the main barns at Fourth and Hill Monday morning was in charge of General manager T. J. Funk. A crowd of several hundred union men hooted and jeered the official, but there were no overt acts. The men remained about the barns until two wagon loads of police dispersed them. The railway company announced that no cars would be run after dark. The company usually operates 600 cars, but only 100 were running. Mr. T. J. Minary, president of the street car company, said:

"We are having no trouble in getting all the men we want. We are receiving reports of disorder on the part of the strikers. We do not want any more trouble, but we are prepared for all emergencies."

School Dismissed.

The excitement incident to holding up the cars and throwing stones in the vicinity of Fourth and Hill became so intense during the morning that it was found necessary to dismiss the pupils of the Girls' High School. The Teamsters' Union of this city has indicated its willingness to order a sympathetic strike at once. The union of electricians has not yet decided whether it will order a strike, although the street car men claim they will come out at the proper time.

The officials of the street railway company claim the police protection is entirely inadequate. Superintendent Funk saying:

"If the police do not furnish us proper protection I will take the matter in my own hands. I am determined to run the cars at all hazards. I do not care for broken glass."

Appeal to Mayor.

"I have complained to Mayor Barth and the board of safety. If action is not taken at once I will place my own guards on each car."

Cars are rnning on only six lines in the city. The suburban service is but slightly interfered with.

Ben Commons, of New Orleans who is in charge of the strike, declares that not more than seventy-five men, including the office force and inspectors, were working Monday, and that not over fifteen cars were taken out. He expressed complete satisfaction with the situation.

Esch Is Candidate.

La Crosse, Wis.—Congressman John J. Esch has announced his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed Senator Spooner.

Troops Are Withdrawn.

Mukden.—Japan is withdrawing all her troops from Manchuria except 15,000 railway guards. The foreign consuls are strongly protesting against the non-settlement of Likin tax question.

Sir Daniel Dixon Dies.

London.—The Right Hon. Sir Daniel Dixon, member of parliament for North Belfast, is dead. He was 63 years of age.

Vessels Are Foundered.

Berlin.—A dispatch from Suhaven reports the loss of thirty-four lives by the foundering of two vessels, a German cargo steamer, the George Wottern, and a trawler during a heavy gale in the North sea. The dispatch says no further details have been received, but that it is believed those drowned comprised all aboard both vessels.

IMPORTATION OF RAW MATERIAL

Products for Manufacturing Purposes Increase in Volume and Value.

Washington, D. C.—A statement issued by the bureau of statistics shows that the importations of manufacturers' material continues to increase, the value of the imports of raw materials for use in manufactures in the seven months ending with January 1907, was $262,000,000, against $223,000,000 in the same months of last year, while manufactures imported for further use in manufacturing amounted to $158,000,000, against $123,000,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

Crude materials formed 32.7 per cent of the total imports for use in manufacturing, and imports for further use in manufacturing, 19.5 per cent.

Cement imports aggregated $47,000,000; copper, $23,500,000; raw cotton $8,500,000; uncut diamonds, $7,000,000; diamonds cut, but not set, nearly $15,000,000; fiber, $24,333,000; hides and skins, $45,000,000; India rubber $32,000,000; pig iron, $8,200,000; silk, $44,500,000; pig tin, nearly $23,000,000.

In quantity cement imports aggregated 744,000,000 pounds and wool 95,000,000. All of these items showed large increases except wool, which decreased over 5,000,000 from the corresponding period of last year.

Normal Condition Resumed.

Paris.—The city has resumed its normal aspect. All the electric plants are working. The public is alarmed at the ease with which a few hundred workmen, at the instigation of the Confederation of Labor, are able to throw the population into confusion and the newspapers print editorials demanding legislation which will prevent workmen engaged in supplying a public necessity from striking. It is pointed out that the electricians, now that they know their power, may not rest content with present conditions. It is pointed out as a significant fact that the strike commission is still holding meetings.

Japanese Want Ships.

San Francisco, Cal.—Agents of a large Japanese steamship company, reported to be the Shoshen Kaisha, of Osaka, are trying to arrange the purchase of the three liners of the Oceanic Steamship Company, the Ventura, the Sonoma and the Sierre, which are now for sale. The Japanese are believed to wish the Oceanic steamers for the purpose of establishing another trans-Pacific line between San Francisco and the Orient, which may be affiliated with the Western Pacific railroad.

Grain Bulletin.

Washington, D. C.—The crop reporting board of the bureau of statistics of the agricultural department has reported in a bulletin that the amount of wheat remaining in farmers' hands on March 1 was 206,644,000 bushels or 28.1 per cent of last year's crop, as compared with 158,403,000 bushels or 22.9 per cent of the crop of 1905 on hand March 1, 1906.

The amount of corn on March 1 was 1,298,000,000 bushels or 44.3 per cent of last year's crop.

Of oats there were on hand 384,461,000 bushels or 39.8 per cent of last year's crop.

Child Uses Gun.

Gadsden, Ala.—Believing that two drunken men were trying to break into her mother's home by force and fearing bodily harm, Bertie Talton, a 14-year-old girl, shot and instantly killed E. H. West near Attalla Saturday night at 1 o'clock. With a single barrel shotgun the child blew a hole two inches in diameter through the right breast of West. She then calmly reloaded the weapon and fired at his retreating comrade, Oscar Tune, without effect.

May Be Suspended.

San Francisco, Cal.—Hugh M. Shaug, a postal clerk, whose run is between Los Angeles and El Paso, has been notified by Division Superintendent Stephens, of the railway mail service, that he would be given three days to show cause why he should not be suspended. Shaug was an active promoter of the Brotherhood of Railway Postal Clerks, and induced many men of the local department to join the order. His conduct is declared by his superiors to be prejudicial to the discipline of the service.

ONE KILLED; THREE INJURED.

Head Blew Out of Turpentine Retort at Burntfort, Georgia.

Flokston, Ga.—The head blew out of a turpentine retort at Burntfort, Ga., doing considerable damage, killing Thomas Byas, colored, instantly, injuring Prince Blake, Hill Gabbs and Ed Benjamin. The accident was caused from carelessness in not tightening bolts before putting on steam pressure.

No Additional Advices.

Washington, D. C.—No additional advices have been received by either the state department or the Nicaraguan minister, M. Corea, regarding the conflict between Honduras and Nicaragua. Secretary Root called at the White House twice during the day, but whether he discussed the Nicaraguan developments could not be learned.

Governor Gillette Urges Legislature to Suspend Action and the Request Acceded to—The President's Message.

Sacramento, Cal.—President Roosevelt has again appealed to the legislature of California to stop all Japanese legislation. The president has sent a telegram to Governor Gillette urging that the legislature suspend all Japanese legislation and expressing the fear that the action of the senate Saturday in passing the two Japanese bills and a resolution many render ineffective his efforts to secure exclusion of Japanese laborers by friendly agreement with Japan.

The governor transmitted the president's telegram to the assembly, where action was to have been taken on the two bills and the resolution adopted by the senate, with a message recommending and urging that the president's request be acceded to.

The assembly by a viva voce vote decided to take no action on the bills on file.

President's Message.

The message is as follows:

"Action of legislature reported in the papers most unfortunate in effect upon my efforts to secure exclusion of Japanese laborers by friendly agreement, and if continued will probably render recent legislation of congress for that purpose ineffective. Please secure suspension of further action until receipt of letter from me.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The action referred to by the president was the passage of the bill limiting the age of children when first entering primary schools to 10 years, the measure prepared by the Japanese-Korean Exclusion League submitting the question of Asiatic exclusion to a vote of the people, and a resolution protesting against Japanese naturalization.

The message created something of a sensation in the lower house.

FIRE AT MOBILE.

Two Three-Satory Buildings on Dauphin Street Are Gutted.

Mobile, Ala.—Fire broke out here in a cafe on lower Dauphin street, and soon enveloped a three-story building in the heart of the block which has suffered more from fire than any other block in the city, being the scene of the Lehnkauf & Strauss million dollar fire in 1893 and the Battle House fire ten years later. The fire communicated to other buildings and drove the guests of St. Andrew's Hotel out.

The fire department made a hard fight, and soon had the fire under control. The rear of the St. Andrew's Hotel caught, but the flames were successfully fought from this end. The loss will be $50,000.

Will Contest Law.

Omaha, Neb.—It is authoritatively announced that the railroads of Nebraska will contest the 2-cent fare law which the legislature enacted a week ago. The roads are now preparing to carry the case to the courts, and there make a vigorous contest to determine the validity of the new law. When the law was enacted it carried an emergency clause which provided for its operation upon its being signed by the governor or within five days without his signature.

Basilico Spermo Dies.

New York.—Basilico Spermo, chairman of the grievance committee of the Italian branch of the Operative Plasters' International Union, who was shot at a meeting of the local society, is dead.

Official Candidates Win.

Madrid.—The first day of the elections of the special electoral bodies, which elect half of the senate the last week of April, resulted generally today in the success of the official candidates.

Schmitz Is Endorsed.

San Francisco, Cal.—At a meeting of the Japanese Exclusion League, after a heated debate, resolutions were passed endorsing the action of Mayor Schmitz and the board of education at Washington in reference to the San Francisco school children.

Will Protect British Interests.

Victoria, B. C.—H. M. Shearwater is loading stores and provisions at Esquimault for a trip to South America to protect British interests endangered by the war in progress between Nicaragua and Honduras.

Block Is Burned.

Hammond, Ind.—An entire business block of East Chicago, Ind., a small town near here, has been destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $200,000. In the block were the Morrel Wholesale Fruit Company, the First National Bank, the telephone exchange and a saloon. Several persons narrowly escaped death.

Pigeons and turkeys have each a natural temperature of 108 degrees.

Farmers are hustling with their work, taking advantage of the beautiful spring weather. We are having a great deal of sickness in our community. Miss Minnie Klinner, we are glad to say, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Broadhead made a business to Clanton Monday.

Our school is progressing nicely, but will close in three weeks; we will be sorry to see Prof. Bone leave our community.

Mrs. L. B. Broadhead and daughter, Miss Janie, visited Mrs. Lee Hayes of Mulberry, Sunday, who, we are sorry to say, is very sick.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. S. B. McCary has been carried from our community to the infirmery at Selma, but glad to know that she is improving and hope to see her at home again soon.

On last Sunday evening at the home of Mr. Newt Burkhalter Mr. M. G. Barrow and Miss Sallie Ramsey were united in the holy bonds of marriage, Mr. Ben Glover of Maplesville officiating. We wish them many happy days together. THE GIRL.

Dear Editor—Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to chat awhile with the dear readers. We are having some fine weather and the farmers are taking advantage of it and are going to work with a will and are in high hopes of a good crop.

Mr. G. R. Roy is putting the machinery in his factory, and we hope in the near future to hear the planes and lathe making their sweet music.

The Johnston & Johnston Lumber Co. have gotten their mill in operation and to hear the whistles and buzzing saws remind us that our little town is growing fast. With three saw mills and four cigar factories I think we can build houses and smoke some when we are not in the "gas" house, for it is very dangerous to smoke there.

We are very glad to see little Clifford Sanderson again on the well list.

Mrs. J. C. King is still improving and we hope ere long to see her able to get out in the bright sunshine.

The measles have resigned, the mumps taking their place.

Mr. J. C. King still has charge of the mill which he sold sometime ago; his old customers say they do not want him to quit "mashing" corn.

Now a few words to Brown Eyes before I go, although I think she has eyes of another color. Now I think you have forgotten just how large Autauga county is, look on your map (if you have one) and you will see that Jones is not the only town in the county. Therefore you need not run down the whole county, just come down in the pleasant valley, we girls will tell you something. We have as nice young men in Autauga as in any other county in Alabama, and if you can leave home a few days, I would advise going somewhere where you would be likely to see a few Autauga boys. I think out of Autauga's population of 18,000 you would change your little mind.

Now, as to the C. M. A's. We have not seen or heard of anything that they have done that is so disrespectful and you must understand that every young man in Autauga county does not belong to the C. M. A., although it has done so much for the young men here I think it would benefit almost any community. AUTAUGA GIRL.

to get at the corn? Of course you would not. Then why should you take the greasy oil of the cod's liver to get the valuable medicinal elements contained therein?

The oil or grease has no medicinal virtue, but it is the medicinal elements enveloped in the oil which represent all the tonic and curative properties of cod liver oil.

In Vinol you get all of the medicinal and curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but no oil. The oil is thrown away for the same reason you throw away the corn husks.

A member of the Upchurch Drug Co. says: "Knowing the wonderful, medicinal, curative and body-building powers of Vinol, I wish every person in Clanton who is overworked, run down, debilitated, every old person, every weak woman, every sufferer with chronic colds, bronchitis or incipient consumption would try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to benefit." Letter to W. E. Maddox
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir: They won't fool him any more with paste paints; they'll try something else!

Editor Saulsbury, Dover, Delaware, having used 35 gallons paste paint on his house, bought 35 gallons Devoe for it. He had enough left for a new stable 20 by 20 and fence, and returned four gallons.

Paste paint has as many tricks as a bunco steerer.

GIVEN UP TO DIE

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? Upchurch Drug co.

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

Miss McDaniel Entertains.

Miss Essie McDaniel entertained a few friends Monday evening at a March party. She was assisted by her sister, Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, of Montgomery. Progressive games were the features of the evening, each table being marked by a hare, carrying out the March idea. The souvenirs were tiny eggs, around each being a verse from "Bryant's Poem on March." The color scheme of pink and green being daintily and artistically carried out. A banking of ferns and potted plants formed a unique nook in the hall for the punch table. The March idea again prevailed, the first prize being a hare, the booby prize, a tortoise. At the close of the evening a delicious buffet supper was served. The guests departed, feeling much indebted to the charming hostesses for a delightful time.

Do Not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilirating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid winter, as there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by Upchurch Drug co., Clanton; A. Horn, Thorsby.

"RULES AND LESSONS."

When first thy eyes unveil, give thy soul leave
To do the like; our bodies but forerun
The spirit's duty. True hearts spread, and heave
Unto their God, as flowers do to the sun.
Give Him thy first thought then, so shalt thou keep Him company all day, and in Him sleep.

Walk with thy fellow-creatures; note the hush
And whispers amongst them. There's not a spring
Or leaf, but hath his morn-hymn; each bush
And oak doth know I Am. Canst thou not sing?
Oh, leave thy cares and follies! go this way,
And thou art sure to prosper all the day.

Crockett's Wooing.

DAVY WAS AFRAID OF THE GIRL, NOT OF THE BEAR.

"We're lost, boys, sure as shootin'!" said Davy Crockett to his dogs. "If we'd only stuck to the open trail and not followed off after that bear we'd have been home by now. What will my good Quaker, Master Kennedy, do when he sees me? Send me packing, perhaps. And all because I ran away to a shooting match and then got lost like a fool on my way home."

All at once both dogs gave tongue savagely, the hair on their backs rising with anger.

"What's this? What's this, boys?" cried Davy eagerly. He bent down, his eyes shining as he saw deeply printed in the soft earth the deep footmark of a bear, the greatest of all the game animals in that region.

"A bear," cried Davy, "and fresh! Why, boys, what do you mean by leaving a fresh trail?"

The ardor of the young hunter gave courage to the two hounds, which for the moment had hesitated to pursue so large a beast. They gave tongue now musically and presently disappeared in the dense thicket of cane and briers. Davy plunged on after as best he might, and was not far behind when he heard the hoarse roaring challenge of the two dogs.

"Rayed up!" he gasped, running on now as swiftly as his long legs would carry him. "They've stopped him at last."

He did his best to get near enough for a shot, but he had at the moment only a glimpse of a big black body moving through the cane, the dogs snapping at its flanks and heels. Davy was too good a hunter to risk a chance shot, and so he pushed on. Suddenly, as he hurried on through the thicket, there came directly in front the scream of a woman's voice. At this sound the bear turned and came back toward him.

Seeing the young hunter, the great creature, now in confusion, concluded it would be safest to take to a tree. It did so, climbing the great trunk with a swiftness incredible for an animal of its bulk, all the while whining and protesting, half in anger and half in uneasiness. The dogs jumped up at the foot of the tree, baying loudly, but the bear looked down in safety from his perch on a great limb.

'Oh, you're safe enough now!" cried Davy, exultantly. He could have easily shot the animal but was too tired and out of breath to hasten matters. Moreover, he was curious to discover whose voice it was that had turned back the bear. "Hello! hello, there!" he cried. "Who are you? Come this way? It's safe here."

As he called he edged over toward the sound of the voice, but still kept his eye on the bear even when he heard footsteps breaking through the cane. There paused at sight of him a young girl, hardly more than seventeen years old. She looked at him half in fear, half in relief. The blood flew to Davy's face.

"I didn't know, ma'am—miss, I mean," he stammered; and then, with eagerness, "but there's your bear. There he is, treed, all right."

The girl, pale from fright, half smiled, as she now approached. "Are you afraid?" she said.

"Yes, I reckon I'm scared a good deal."

"Why, he can't hurt you now; he's up a tree."

"He? Oh, that?" said Davy, with a jerk of his thumb. "I didn't mean the bear. I'm scared of you. What are you doing here in the woods all alone? Are you lost?"

"No," she replied. "I reckon you're lost yourself, or you'd know it's only a couple of miles to our house. I'm after the cows."

"Well," said Davy, dropping the stock of his long rifle to the ground, "I've got no cows, but here's a fine bear that belongs to me. If you need any bear meat you can have it. Just watch."

As he spoke, he raised the long brown barrel of the rifle slowly to the level of his eye, the bear meanwhile being busily engaged looking down at the dogs, as it half stood and half lolled in the fork of the great oak tree.

There came the sharp, keen report of the rifle, and the great black animal slowly sank down to the limb of which it stood, then clinging with its arms to the limb, swung half out and under, gripped with its remaining force to preserve itself. Suddenly, its muscles relaxing, it came down more than fifty feet, turning over in midair, and striking the earth with a great crash. At once the dogs were upon the dead body, growling and biting furiously at their fallen foe.

"Gracious me!" said the mountain girl, now fairly free from her fright. "That was a good shot."

"Humph!" grunted Davy. "I reckon if I can hit a half-dollar at forty yards I ought to hit a thing as big as a log house up in a tree."

"Now I'll go home," said the girl.

"You won't till I go along," said Davy, growing bolder. "I'm lost."

"Where do you live?"

"I work at old man Kennedy's, the Quaker."

Davy removed the bear's hide, rolled it up and swung it across his shoulders.

"Are you a married man?" said the girl, gazing at him frankly.

"Why?"

"Well, now, you know, I can't be walking through the woods with a married man. What's your name?"

"Crockett, Davy Crockett. My dad lives over toward the Abingdon road. We're not rich, but we eat three meals a day, and no man needs more. I found my dad owed Quaker Kennedy $60. I've been working out that note for dad."

"But you didn't tell me whether you're a married man or not."

"Married? How could I get married while my dad's in debt?"

"Well, I'm glad of that." The girl gave a sigh of relief.

"Why?"

"Oh, I don't know."

"If I'm not married it's not my fault. A man ought to be honest. There came a schoolma'am down at the Quaker's. I 'lowed to marry that girl sure. She told me she was engaged to her cousin. When I heard that it was worse than war, pestilence or famine to me, but I couldn't help myself."

"My, that was pretty bad!" said the girl, laughing.

"Well, that's not all," continued Davy eagerly. "I know another family full of mighty pretty little girls. Right soon I found another one that I 'loved as much as I had the Quaker girl. She 'lowed she'd marry me quick as I got out of debt. We had the day all set. It was on a Thursday and it wasn't long ago either. Well, on a Saturday, just before I was to be married, I got so wolfish for another shootin' match that I stole away just as I did to-day, and I never did come back for two days. When I did my girl's sister told me that another fellow had got out a license and that my girl was goin' to marry him instead of me! Now if you ask me if I'm a married man or not I reckon I must say I'm not, but it certainly isn't my fault."

The girl's face clouded with sympathy, and her eyes grew soft as she turned toward the tall young man.

"Why, that was an awful thing for a girl to do," said she, with indignation. "That wasn't right. I'm sorry for you."

"It made me sick," said Davy. "Still, I got over it. Tell me, what's your name?"

"Polly. Polly Findley."

"Polly Findley," said Davy. "You must be the same family that the Dutch widow over near the Quaker's has been telling me about so long. She and her daughter told me that they'd introduce me to a little Irish girl who'd make me plumb forget these other two. I won't lie to you, but I will say that half of what they told me is true, and maybe the other half will be some day. I'll tell you right now that you're a heap handsomer than either of those others. And I like mighty well the way you act about bear."

"Well, we're on the right trail home now," said Polly. "I'll take you there."

"Home," said Davy Crockett, as if half talking to himself. "Home—that's a mighty fine word! I've got no home. My dad hasn't been just as good always as he ought to have been, and he drunk up what his children ought to have had for schoolin'. Why, I never have been to school but three or four months! I can hardly write my name. Yet here I am, just longin' for a home. I want to get out of debt. Why, you know, I'd give my rifle here if the old Quaker would take it and call the note square. I want to go to school and I want to have a home."

"Miss Polly," and he turned toward her suddenly, "you don't know me yet. This sort of life won't do for me. Davy Crockett's not going to be satisfied to hoe corn all his life, or just to go huntin' and never have a bigger ambition than that. I'd like to be a soldier, but there's no war that I can get into just yet. Some day I'm going into the Legislature, and after that I'm going to Congress."

Miss Polly laughed at him merrily. "My," said she, "you've got a mighty good opinion of yourself, haven't you?"

Two months later, Davy Crockett, still clad in moccasins and buckskin, stood before the father of Polly Findley.

"Mr. Findley," he was saying, "I've got a motto that I'm going to follow all my life. Once I knew a fellow who thought the house was on fire. He took a runnin' jump out of the window, and landed on a stump and broke his leg. He ought to have looked. So I says to myself, 'Look before you leap!' Now I'm willin' to jump into most any kind of trouble or difficulty, but I'm going to look ahead first. I've looked ahead about this girl Polly, and about you all, and I'm not scared about where I'm going to land. Maybe I've made my mistakes, Mr. Findley, but I'm going to marry Polly, and I've just come to tell you all about it."

Mr. Findley looked at the tall and earnest young man and presently gave a chuckle.

"Davy," said he, "I haven't a thing against you. You're straight as a string, don't conceal a thing. You're the best shot in this neck of woods, and you're not scared. I notice at a house-raisin' you always carry your end of a log, and you don't shirk. If any fellow is good enough for my Polly, I reckon you are, but you're got to see her mother first." The two looked at each other with a certain uneasiness.

"I'd rather face the biggest bear in the hills," said Davy, "but I reckon I'll go ahead."

So, presently, indeed, he found Polly's mother, and approached her with equal directness.

"Ma'am," said he, "I just 'lowed I'd tell you I'm going to marry Polly next Thursday, if some other fellow doesn't get her before then."

There long remained memory in all that countryside of the tongue-lashing which voluble Mrs. Findley gave this presumptuous suitor. She pointed out to him that he was too young to marry, that he had no family, no property, no prospects. Yet through it all Davy made the same straightforward and manly answer.

"What you say is true, ma'am," said he. "I've go no knife or fork or plate to put in my cabin. I've got not even a rifle, for I threw in my rifle to finish paying off that note of my dad's to old man Kennedy. I'll be married in my moccasin feet, and when Polly takes me that's all she does take. But she can spin, and when I need a shirt she can make it. I'll get a rifle somewhere. Polly says she'll teach me how to read and write better than I do. I tell you, ma'am, you can't stop me and Polly. You can't stop us gettin' on. I am sure I'm right, and now I'm goin' ahead!"

And so, indeed, Davy Crockett did go ahead. Polly's mother for a time remained unappeased, but the young suitor told Polly that on the following Thursday he would bring a horse for her and that she must then be ready to leave. The young montain girl was as plucky as her wooer and agreed to this.

To the last hour Mrs. Findley remained "hostile," as Davy expressed it, but relented at last, as she saw her daughter about to leave her. Then she called the young people into the house, told Davy to send for the parson, and so the wedding went on merrily at Polly's home.

And Polly's mother from that time on was kind. It was she who gave the young couple two cows and calves to add to their scanty stock on the small farm which Davy rented near by. Good Quaker Kennedy likewise came to their assistance and gave Davy an order on the country store for $15 worth of goods. "This fixed us up pretty grand," said Davy.

Such was the start in life of Davy Crockett: He got his schooling in great part from the kindly tuition of the mountain girl who in this abrupt fashion became his wife. She was his faithful companion when, a few years later, they took their two little sons and all their household goods and, packing everything on two young horses, started across the mountains to Lincoln County, where Davy took up land of his own at the head of the Mulberry fork of the Elk River.

This removal was the first step outward and upward of Davy Crockett, later one of the world's famous figures—Davy Crockett, the soldier, the bear hunter, the legislator, the Congressman; a man who never denied his lowly birth or his own ignorance, but who never ceased to study and to learn; who scorned any political creed which did not tally with his own ideas of honor and truthfulness, and who finally, far away from the State which bore him, met his death like a man and a gallant gentleman in that fight which made the Alamo of old San Antonio one of the earth's sacred shrines of heroism.—Youth's Companion.

Americans Use Best English.

At a meeting of the recently formed English Association for the purpose of maintaining the correct use of English and promoting its due recognition as an essential element in national education, Mr. Sidney Lee, the editor of the "Dictionary of National Biography," said that the development of English speaking in America, through both the low grade and the high grade schools, was rendering the rank and file of the American people more accurate readers, more accurate writers, and, he would have added, if President Roosevelt had not darkened counsal lately, more accurate spellers of the English language than the rank and file of our own people.—London Daily Mail.

Cedar Wood For Sleepers.

Extensive experiments have been made on American and Canadian railways with cedar wood sleepers. The Grand Trunk Railroad of Canada was the first to use cedar for this purpose to any considerable extent, and this system alone has now some 400 miles of permanent way laid on cedar sleepers. The result is said to be very satisfactory. The wood is practicably imperishable, and requires very little treatment. It is, however, brittle, and derailments have shown curious results in the way of broken sleepers. The greater proportion of the new sleepers in use on the Grand Trunk system were obtained from forests within the Dominion.

THE PULPIT

A SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. IRA W. HENDERSON, THE FAMOUS DIVINE.

Subject: Christ's Agony and Ours.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Preaching at the Irving Square Presbyterian Church on the theme, "Christ's Agony and Ours," the Rev. Ira Wemmell Henderson, pastor, took as his text Luke 13:34, "And ye would not." He said:

The lamentation of Jesus over the City of Jerusalem was occasioned by His clear vision of the depth of her need, of the completeness of her rejection of Himself and the revelation of and from the Father that He brought, and by His firm conviction that disdain for His Gospel meant death for herself. Feeling in His inmost heart that His was the truth that could save the city of His people from its sin, knowing, as He did, that He was the long-heralded Messiah who should lead His countrymen into the liberty of that life within Jehovah which should satisfy their souls; and experiencing, as He had, the temper of the minds of the ecclesiastical and clerical leaders of the synagogues, Jesus was sick at heart over the spiritual doom that was sure to overtake His people. To Jesus sin was the most awful, the most terrifying, the most fearful thing in the world. For Him the word "sin" summed up, short and quick, all those agencies which were anti-Godly and which led men far from the Father. Sin meant destruction, disapproval in the eyes of God, and its wages were the seeds of death. The Gospel, on the other hand, held for Jesus the kernel and the conclusion of all those forces that should gain men life eternal and the full, enthusiastic favor of the King, their Guide. Being born again of God and entering into the freedom of the spiritual life divine, Jesus conceived these men, His brethren, as obtaining deliverance from eternal death.

With this philosophy and this vision of the need and the issue—both of which Jesus had direct from God—is it any wonder that He wept over the City of Jerusalem? Sin is death. My Gospel is the way of sure salvation—the only way—and the true guide unto life that is eternal. Thus reasons Jesus. These men are bound in and unto sin. How gladly would I teach to them those spiritual truths that should save them, but they will not. Sin is their choice, separation from the Father is their self-willed death. Do you wonder why the Savior suffered unto bitter agony and tears? His was the wide and comprehensive view of the world, its sin, its need, its salvation, its denial, its destruction. Any smaller or less comprehending insight would have been of none avail. A great, limitless, universal understanding of the situation as it was—and is—was the one means to stir the soul of the Christ to its depths. A weaker man with a smaller horizon would have become discouraged or disgusted. A big man, full of heart and grit, with the richness of God's love flooding all his being, was the only one who could mourn. Jesus wept—not from disgust, or discouragement, but because His whole soul yearned to lead His dying brethren into life for evermore. The weight of their guilt, the certainty of their dying, the uselessness and the wickedness of it all came upon the soul of Christ with resistless force and wrung His heart in agony.

And now, beloved, this lesson from the life of our Lord points a threefold duty for each of us. The acceptance by us of this triple obligation which the agony of the Master calls to our attention, will prove to the world about us that our Christ wept not in vain. And the duties three are these: First, we must be convicted of the awfulness of that sin whose logical outcome is death. Secondly, we must have an experimental and distinct knowledge that the only sure salvation from this death-dealing sin is through Jesus Christ. Thirdly, we must, with weeping hearts, go forth into the world as living evangels to preach to all mankind salvation from this deathly sin through Jesus Christ our Lord.

The awfulness of sin is a byword rather than a belief among men today. In our earnest and quite legitimate endeavor to publish the glory of the love of God for the sinner, we have lost to a great extent our consciousness and our former denunciation of the hideousness of sin. In our endeavor to escape from the unreasonable curse of a bodily hell we have, many of us, rushed to the other extreme—that is to say, no hell at all. In our earnest preaching of the love of God toward the sinner we have become, I fear, too lenient with sin. My friends, the love of God is a reality. The punishment and the death of man brings no joy to the Father's heart. Jehovah wants every man to live within the light of His countenance of love. To the end that we might have life and that more abundantly He sent His Son our Savior to reveal Himself to us. But sin is always hateful to God. His whole nature shrinks from it, as should our natures, as from a thing unclean. He can have no communion with it—nor should we. Its pleasures are dead fruit, its enjoyments are transient and a mockery, its wages is death. Human experience has proved this to be so, and the word of the living God sustains the charge. Sin is death. In strict union with God is life. Sin and God can have no commerce. Where the Father is, sin is eclipsed, for with Him there is no evil, but only the fullness of eternal life. Sin is death. Death is the lack of life. The ruddy apple drops from the leafy, living bough and dies. The seeds of quick consumption strike the human heart and death ensues. In each case the element of destruction has entered. And as with the physical, so with the spiritual.

Godliness is life. Life is union with the principle of life. The dainty apple-blossom holds closely to the budding branch and soon we pluck the sound and luscious, wholesome fruit. The life that seems so near the brink of death's dark stream, the heart that weakly beats, the blood that boils at fever heat, all seize upon the remedies that cure, and health and healing vigor rush through the weakened frame. In each case the principle of life has been at work. As with the natural, so with the spiritual.

Ah, yes, beloved, sin is bondage, death, disgrace, unprofitable. Godliness is great gain and it will surely bring contentment. Sin is distance from God and there is no worse death or hell. Jesus leads us nearer Heaven, and within Him is the most life and the best. But sin is death and the sooner the world finds it out and we Christians really realize its awfulness the better for us and the world.

This sin, however, is susceptible of defeat. Our lives may be freed from its power and made victorious above its strength. The means are not various, nor is the way hard. There is but one means and one true and happy way. That means and that way Jesus has revealed. Coming to Him for healing we may find easement for our souls. Trust in Him will gain release from evil. A whole life spent in His service will reap a rich reward. His is the only gospel that contains the truth entire. His is the one salvation that our spirits need. His is the gift of life forever unto all who hear, believe and live for Him. Being certain that sin is death, we must preach to men the way to life through Jesus Christ our Lord. The trouble with much of our testimony is that we are a little shaky on our own foundations and that too much of our testimony is from the mouth out and is not welling up from hearts that have tasted of the joys of the Christ-blessed life. Too much of our knowledge of spiritual truths comes to us at second-hand and too little arises from the depths of personal experience. Our ideas must be cut clear as to what is the state and the future of men who are continuing in sin. We must feel that Jesus is the need and the Savior of other men, as He has been the need and the Savior of each of us. We must get that vision of the world which shall make us weep as did our Lord, which shall make us say with Paul, "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel."

Ah, yes, beloved, we must, with weeping hearts go forth to lead men up to God. If sin is death and we possess and know the way to life everlasting, we must not rest until we, too, have brought some brother home to safety. I say we must. I cannot say we may. Our orders read "go thou," not "won't you please go." Christ pleads with the sinner, but His word is law, and so it should be, to those who are His.

Come with me into the busy street on any working-day, or to any gaudy concert-hall on sunny Sabbath days, and I will show you why you should weep and work. There they are! heedless, unhearing, uncaring, bound more intent to make money or to while the hours away than to save their immortal souls. Young and old, rich and poor, hardened sinners and youths who are just entering the road to death—each of them, all of them, caring little, and thinking less of the awfulness of their sin and the outcome of their shame. Good men who are wise in everything but their conceptions of their need of Christ. Pure men who will come to Jesus if so be some one will only put them to the test. Leaders in the church who profess the Christ, but who misrepresent Him. A weary, heavy-laden host — and we can lift the crushing weight of sin. Look at them and consider. Is it any wonder now that Jesus wept? Ah, beloved, we ought to weep—weep like Jesus because men are dying right before our eyes, within reach of our hands; weep—weep unlike Jesus because we are unworthy servants of our Master, because we are recreant to our duty and our trust.

My friends, men who sin are doomed to death except Christ enters in the life and saves. To each of us the question of our God comes clear and strong to-day as it came to Isaiah the prophet in the year that King Uzziah died, "Whom shall I send and who will go for us." Will you refuse the Father or will you say with Isaiah, "Here am I, send me."

The Piety of Usefulness.

Someone once said to Cromwell: "You, sire, know well the usefulness of piety!" "I know something better," Cromwell replied, "the piety of usefulness." The phrase works both ways. Piety is useful, and usefulness is a function or activity of piety. If it is meant that simply to be busy is to be religious, a subtle terror lurks in the remark of Cromwell. But if the meaning is that the piety demanded by the age is not a self-engrossed religiousness which dwells apart in reflective unconcern, but the practical kind of faith that is busy in the King's business, an important truth is thus brought to our notice.

The Soul's Greatest Need.

Rest is the deepest want in the soul of man. All men do not desire pleasure; all men do not crave intellectual food; but all men long for rest. It is the need which sometimes makes the quiet of the grave an object of deep desire. There the weary are at rest. And it is this which, consciously or unconsciously, is the real wish that lies at the bottom of all others.

The Church's Duty.

Part of the Church's duty is to press on to their duty Christians already won to Christ; to care for their spiritual development; but first of all, and above all, the Church is here to evangelize the world.—Archbishop of Canterbury.

REVERSIBLE ALIMONY.

Ruling of a South American Justice in a Wife Desertion Case.

A judicial decision which rivals some of Sancho Panza's rulings in his island is reported from Valparaiso, in the correspondence of a German newspaper. The case was that of the wife of a fisherman and coastwise sailor who was deserted by her husband shortly before the birth of their child.

The woman complained to the authorities and the police were ordered to keep a lookout for the truant. They got him after a few months, and he was haled before the alcalde and confronted with his wife, who carried the baby in her arms.

The facts in the case were undeniable; the defendant did not attempt to deny them. It seemed as if nothing remained for the magistrate but to assess the amount of alimony.

He paused, however, and reflected solemnly for a while. Then he asked the young woman:

"What was your occupation before you married this man?"

"I was a servant girl, Excellency," she replied.

"And what used you earn in those days?"

"Ten pesos a month, sir."

"How have you supported yourself since your husband disappeared?"

"Since the birth of my boy, Excellency, I have taken a situation as a wet nurse."

"And what may be your wages in that position?"

"Thirty pesos a month, your Honor."

"Ah so! Well, it seems to me the merits of this case are very plain. In becoming the husband of this young woman the prisoner has tripled her capacity for earning a livelihood. He has plainly conferred a great benefit upon her, for which it is only fitting that he should be compensated. I therefore rule that she shall pay him every month ten pesos by way of honorarium; this still leaves her twice as well off as she was before marriage. Next case!"—New York Sun.

Worth Knowing About.

If you need a first-class laxative, there is nothing better nor safer than that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills. Each pill contains one grain of solid extract of sarsaparilla, which, with other valuable vegetable products, make it a blood purifier of excellent character. If you are troubled with constipation, one pill at night will afford great relief.

Brandreth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used. They have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness.

Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass. many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

When St. Paul's Collapses.

Speculation is rife as to what will happen to the site of St. Paul's (in the event of its collapse) when the debris has been cleared away. Dr. Clifford, interviewed on the subject, said he thought that there could be no better position than this for a Nonconformist college. Mr. Oswald Stoll, on the other hand, has already completed the plans for a new Empire, while the old cry that there is no good central city garage has again sounded, with some significance. It is also suggested that the summit of Ludgate Hill is obviously the best place on which to erect the platform from which aeroplanes leaving London for Manchester could start.—Punch.

The Blizzard That Blizzes.

"Blizzard" is an American word. The date and circumstances of its origin are obscure. Though it was first commonly used by the American newspapers as a good word for a snow squall in the winter of 1880-1881, it is said to have been known to the west in that sense nearly twenty years earlier. From an English writer of 1834 this sentence is quoted: "A gentleman at dinner asked me for a toast, and, supposing he meant to have some fun at my expense, I concluded to go ahead and give him and his likes a blizzard." Here "blizzard" might well mean a metaphorical volley, which would square with the evidence of a correspondent of an American paper who recalled that in the 40s a "blizzard" was a particular kind of volley—a rattling one fired in quick succession.—Kansas City Star.

"Words are inadequate to express my gratitude for Cuticura Remedies. I had been troubled with eczema for five years on my ear and it began to extend on my cheek. I had been doctoring with the best physicians, but found no relief whatever. When informing them that I could not bear the itching I was told by one of our best doctors, 'not to scratch.' As the medicines and salves did me no good I thought I would get the 'Magic Three,' Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, costing me one-half of one visit to my physician. After using as directed, with plenty of hot water, I can truthfully state that I found instant relief. When I had used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap I found my skin as soft and fine as a baby's. My circle of friends is very large, and I am persuading them to use Cuticura Soap and give up the kinds they were using. I find no trouble, as my case has proven to them that if Cuticura Ointment is good, Cuticura Soap must be likewise. Miss Netta Ayers, 131 Franklin Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 1 and 15, '06."
